ARE YOU QUALIFIED?

Excellent positions are now open to all those who qualify, not only for Government positions, but to fill the many vacancies in leading New York firms. It is the general opinion that stenography is a very difficult study to master. Such is not the case, as the average Moon student can take dictation at the rate of 100 words per minute at the expiration of 30 days by the Boyd Syl-lab-ic System. So confident are we that any young man or woman with an average education can attain a speed of 100 words per minute in shorthand in 30 days by our Syl-lab-ic System that we invite you to enroll at our risk. If, after becoming a student at one of our schools and attending for three days, you feel that it will be impossible for you to master stenography in 30 days' time, we will cheerfully return the entire fee.

SHOULD WE BUILD CHANNEL TUNNEL?

An Argument That the United States Should Furnish Tools and Labor for Linking England and France

By WALTER LITTLEFIELD.

WITH the completion of the boring of the tunnels of the great system of New York's subways thousands of trained men and tons of highly specialized machinery become inactive.

If no similar gigantic subterranean work be forthcoming, these engineers, miners, borers, diggers, &c., will have no further use for the great knowledge and experience, the solution of many problems, the establishing and proving of countless hypotheses which they have acquired through years of patient toil and experimentation. The machinery will go to the scrap heap.

That would be a great pity. Fortunately, a work of even greater magnitude, the same in principle but differing in the nature of the obstacles to be overcome, is at hand. This is the great tunnel between France and England, for generations a dream, now a practical enterprise within the grasp of scientific attainment—and of early realization, too, with the aid of New York machinery and the specialized labor now about to be discarded.

Conceived over a century ago, opposed by Francophobes in England and Anglophobes in France and by the timid in both countries, its possibility disputed by science and its practicability denied by commerce, the idea found transitory expression in holes dug on one side of the Channel or the other until the war came and proved it to be one of the thousand things that should have been done and was not. The tunnel now looms as a strategic necessity whatever may be its post-bellum usefulness.

Forgotten in the turmoil of lesser things demanding immediate realization, one of the last official acts of Mr. Asquith a year ago was to pledge his Government to an immediate consideration of the scheme. In addressing a deputation of Parliament on Oct. 26, 1916, he said that the Government was ready to proceed with a bill authorizing the construction of the Channel tunnel, said authorization to be based on a review of the subject by the War Committee or the Committee of Imperial Defense.

He traced the history of the project before his Government and its predecessors—under Lord Lansdowne, Salisbury, Gladstone, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman—and added the judgment of his own Government given on the eve of the war—"the Committee of Imperial Defense in reconsidering the strategic aspects of the tunnel were of the opinion that the strategic conditions have not so altered as to justify a reversal of the conclusion reached by his Majesty's Government in 1907."

He then said:

"You have suggested today that our experience of the war, which no one could possibly have foreshadowed, has shown that those adverse conclusions were wrong, and that if the tunnel had existed at the time the war broke out we should have been in a better position than we, in fact, were, not only for the transport of the expeditionary force, but for the general purposes of war; and that, in view of future possibilities, the existence of such a tunnel would be a source not of weakness, but of strength, both as a safeguard against invasion and valuable from its generally strategic and economic position.

"The experience gained by the war is undoubtedly a new factor, and a new factor of enormous and immeasurable importance, enabling statesmen and military and naval experts to estimate the full value of this proposal. I fully recognize that. * * * I can assure you that, subject to the paramount obligations that weigh upon us every day in making provision for the successful prosecution of the war, I will see that time is found and opportunity given for a full review of the question in the light of the new experience we have acquired."

But neither time nor opportunity was found. The French had hailed with delight the seeming revival of the scheme—for years it had had the approval of successive Governments and successive generations of public opinion, but with the fall of the Asquith Ministry interest ceased to register itself on the other side of the Channel.

It is now heard from a well-informed source that what the Asquith administration failed to do that of Lloyd George has accomplished—the Committee of Imperial Defense finds the project not only feasible but strategically desirable, but three obstacles make it inexpedient to bid for public interest in it at the present time. These obstacles are understood to be (1) the cost of the undertaking which is estimated to be between $80,000,000 and $80,000,000, (2) the undesirability of diverting to it scientific labor from the engineering work on the battle front, and (3) the lack of adequate machinery and the time necessary for experimentation and construction.

Here is where New York and America come in—here is where the capital, the labor, and the machinery may be found, practically ready for immediate transportation and use.

It seems quite likely that Sir Francis Fox, consulting engineer of the City of London and one of the three designers of the great Simplon Tunnel, spoke with a mandate more powerful than his profession when he recently devoted an entire evening to "The Geographical Aspects of the Channel Tunnel" before the Royal Geographical Society.

In the light of this address the difficulties involved in the execution of the gigantic enterprise seem to melt away, and the tunnel to burrow already a hundred feet below the sea floor, disgorging in England express trains with wounded from France and in France from England crammed with troops and munitions.

One may rest assured that the strategical objections to the scheme which have hitherto outweighed all its hypothetical advantages have already been met by the naval and military experts of the Government. These objections have to do principally with defenses against mine and torpedo. As to the economic and industrial obstructions—the capital, the labor, the machinery—it may be the privilege of Americans to remove these.

Surely there could be no more tangible monument to this country's participation in the war than her aid in joining England to the Continent of Europe. And what vistas of post-bellum diplomatic discussion does the joining not entail—England no longer isolated, would she still interpret, as she always has, "the freedom of the seas"? Most likely until proportional naval disarmament became an accomplished fact.

He said that the depth of the British Channel north and south of that remarkable ravine near Guernsey, known as "La Grande Fosse," averaged from 34 fathoms (204 feet) to 35 fathoms, but that soundings in the ravine itself rapidly increased until they reached 110 fathoms.

That ravine was nothing less than the remains of the great river of past geological ages, which was an active agent in eventually separating England from France. The white chalk cliffs of England and France in the neighborhood of Cape Grisnez rested upon a lower bed of gray chalk, "the Cenomian," some 200 feet in thickness, and that in turn lay upon a solid bed of gault. Both beds were very suitable for tunnel construction, being almost, if not wholly, impervious to water. In deciding upon the actual route of the channel tunnel the one great precaution which had to be, and had been, taken was to keep the work well within the thickness of the gray chalk, but as the line might, near the two coasts, have for a short distance to run out of that bed, it was so arranged as there to enter the gault, which was another equally good and watertight material. Owing to the observance of these precautions the tunnel would not make a "bee line" from England to France, but the slight curve introduced was otherwise of no importance.

In the Channel above the sea-bed the maximum depth of water would be from 160 feet to 180 feet, and, as they would be asked to leave undisturbed such a cover of chalk over the roof of the structure as would guard against any possible hostile contingency, that solid protection had been fixed at a minimum of 100 feet. The tunnel would consist of two tubes, as in the case of the great Simplon tunnel (twelve and one-quarter miles in length) in the Alps.

The reasons for adopting twin tunnels were numerous, and included better facilities for ventilation, drainage, repairs to the structure and permanent way when required during traffic, as well as greatly increased safety in case of derailments. It was proposed that the work of excavation should be performed by revolving cutters fixed in Greathead shields, by which system a rapid rate of advance would be attained, the débris being removed from the "face" by high-speed endless belts. These would be so arranged as to deliver their load direct into wagons without the necessity of shoveling or of manual labor. All the work would be carried on by electrically driven machinery, by which the volume of air required for ventilation would be greatly reduced, and arrangements would be made so that excavations and other operations could be carried on simultaneously at many points, thus abbreviating the period required for construction.

"The diameter of each tunnel should be 18 feet, so as to accommodate main line rolling stock. At intervals of 200 yards along the entire length cross tunnels would be formed, both to enable empty wagons to be brought in by one line, full wagons dispatched on the other, and also to permit a most excellent system of ventilation to be installed. Foul air should be considered as a slur on the management, as unfair to the workmen and injurious to the progress, in addition to its being an unnecessary expense to the company. In the Simplon tunnel a very large volume of fresh air was always provided, even at the most distant places at which operations were proceeding. The workmen would be conveyed to their various duties and brought out again at the end of their shift by electrical trains.

It was anticipated that the daily rate of progress would be such as had never been attained heretofore in any tunnel. To secure this no work would be permitted on Sunday, except for ventilation, pumping, and cases of urgent repair. The tunnel could be worked, ventilated, and pumped by electricity supplied from a power-station in Kent, possibly 10 miles inland. The problem of ventilation when regular traffic was running would consequently be comparatively simple, no combustion of coal on the railway being necessary. The tunnel would be maintained under the authority of the War Office, and a dip in the level of the rails, forming a "water lock"—by which the tunnel could in case of emergency be filled with water from floor to roof for a length of a mile—would also be under the control of the Commandants of Dover Castle and the neighboring forts. That water would not injure the tunnel works, and it could only be pumped out by the energy developed at the power-station inland. Entrance and exit of both tunnels would likewise be under the gunfire of all the forts and of vessels in the naval harbor of Dover.

The gauges of the English and French railways were very similar, as was proved by the fact that at the present time hundreds of the largest English and Scottish locomotives with thousands of trucks were running in regular traffic on French railways, rendering invaluable service in the transport of the allied forces. Trains would be run direct from London to Paris in less than six hours, and these could, if required, travel at a "headway" of not more than five to ten minutes. Doubtless in course of time more than two pairs of rails would be required to deal with the enormous volume of traffic which must inevitably develop in each direction.

It should be remembered that, owing to dislike of the Channel crossing, our Continental neighbors never went on shipboard if they could avoid it, and the pre-war traffic from all Continental ports to England and vice versa did not exceed 1,000,000 passengers a year, as compared with 4,000,000 traveling between France and Belgium and 4,000,000 between France and Germany. The probabilities were confidently anticipated by Baron Emile d'Erlanger, Chairman of the Channel Tunnel Company, that the traffic would, as the result of the opening of a submarine railway, double or treble itself not only in regard to passengers, but also in respect of perishable goods requiring prompt delivery; and, further, that the financial return upon the capital expended would be highly satisfactory.

It must not be forgotten that a tunnel would require no terminal stations with expensive staffs, nor would it have to provide locomotives and rolling stock, as all those would be supplied by the main line British and French systems. The Tunnel Company would simply be required to construct the works, operate the pumping and ventilation machinery, maintain the permanent way, and keep the signaling and telegraphic equipment in order. Every one could now realize of what enormous value the tunnel would have proved had it existed at the beginning of the present war, in saving so many valuable lives, in vastly reduced suffering of the sick and wounded, and in immunity of ships from floating mines and submarines.

The immense reduction which would have been possible in the army of dock laborers at the Channel ports of England and France must also be taken into account, and, added to that, the great facilities available for the transport of troops, stores, guns, ammunition—advantages beyond computation. Certainly the entire cost of that great and desirable work would have been defrayed several times over. There was, however, perhaps one advantage in the fact that a tunnel constructed at the present time, with our increased knowledge of the problems involved, would be superior in several important respects to what would have been the case had it been built twenty-five years ago.

So soon as trains could pass under the Channel they would be able to traverse France, Belgium, Holland, Spain, Italy, Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Turkey as far as Constantinople without any difficulty as to gauge or minimum structures.

The present express connection formerly left London at 9 A. M., an inconvenient hour for many; but so soon as the Channel tunnel was an accomplished fact it could be arranged to leave at noon and still depart from Paris at the usual hour. It would pass through Germany and Austria-Hungary to Bucharest, or through Bulgaria to Constantinople. A quarter of an hour later a train would leave Charing Cross as the Nord express for Brussels, Berlin, and Königsberg to Petrograd, and for Warsaw, Minsk, and Moscow, where it would correspond with the Siberian Railway express to the Far East, and provide communications also with the charming and healthy watering places in the Southern Crimea, where great developments were taking place.

At further intervals of a quarter of an hour the Rome express would leave for Paris—the Riviera, Rome via Turin and Milan, and Brindisi; followed by the Sud express to Paris, Bordeaux, Madrid, Algeria on the one hand, or to Lisbon on the other. Communication would be provided not only with Belgium, Holland, and Denmark, but also with Finland, Sweden, and Norway via Tornea.

That wonderful network of railways dealt only with Europe, but the lecturer proceeded to show that far greater developments were possible. It might seem today to be a very remarkable prospect, but it was by no means impossible of realization that within a comparatively few years travelers from London would be able to reach such distant places as India and China and the Malay States without leaving the railway systems of the world through the medium of the Channel tunnel.

WOMAN'S HOSPITAL UNIT FOR FRANCE

Chief Work of the Eighty Members Will be Done Among Population in Devastated Districts

EX-Ppremier RIBOT of France, new Minister for Foreign Affairs, promised in a cable dispatch a few days ago that an officer of the French Army would be on the dock to meet members of the women's hospital unit which has just been organized for work in the war zone, and that they would be fittingly escorted to Paris. The dispatch has been received by M. Tardieu, the French High Commissioner at Washington, who has accepted on behalf of his country the offer of the women for hospital service in the devastated areas. The former Premier expressed great interest in the plan, and said that he hoped the women would embark for France at an early date.

"That is just what we are endeavoring to do," said Dr. Caroline S. Finley, director and organizer of the enterprise. "It is a big job, and we are confronted with the necessity of taking everything we may need for at least a year. That means not only the complete equipment for an operating room, a great quantity of medical supplies and utensils, but personal necessities, such as beds, bedding, chairs, tables, warm clothing, and barrels of food supplies. Four automobiles have already been presented to us, including two motor ambulances and a motor truck. Our hospital unit will be exclusively women. There will be twelve physicians, twenty-one nurses, an assistant for each nurse, several aids, and a few practical working women such as electricians. We have been fortunate enough to enroll a woman who understands the art of sanitary plumbing. Contributions of money and necessities are coming in satisfactorily, and within a few weeks we will be ready to start."

Dr. Finley will arrange with the French authorities for a hospital site. Several places have been suggested, among them Noyon, Soissons, and somewhere in the valley of the Meuse. The unit will be made up of about eighty women, the first woman's hospital unit organized in America for work in the war territory. Other organizers are Dr. Alice Gregory, Dr. Mary Lee Edward, and Dr. Anna I. von Sholly. It is known officially as the Women's Medical Unit for Foreign Service of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children, as most of its members are connected with that hospital at Stuyvesant Square and Fifteenth Street. Its medical staff of twelve includes some of the best known women gynecologists, obstetricians, pediatricians, and surgeons in the United States. There will be two representatives of the Women's Medical College of Philadelphia, Dr. Marie K. Formad, who will be one of the general surgeons, and Dr. Laura E. Hunt, a specialist in diseases of the nose, throat, and head. Other members will be Dr. Mabel Seegrave of Seattle and Olga R. Povitzky, a bacteriologist from the New York Board of Health. There will also be an X-ray expert and half a dozen women chauffeurs. Shipping arrangements are now being made in co-operation with the Government.

"Although our original offer was not accepted by the Government, as no provision has been made to accept women in the United States Medical Reserve Corps," said Dr. Finley, "our plan has received the hearty sanction of the Surgeon General's office and the Government is assisting us in every possible way, so our unit will sail with the approval and moral backing of the United States Army authorities.

"We are not organized as a military hospital. Our offer to the French Government is that we will be ready to go anywhere in the war devastated area where medical work is most urgently needed. It is possible that we may do some military medical work, but our chief duty will be among the civilian population. Just back of the firing line are thousands of people in need of medical attention. The civilian population has suffered greatly for lack of medical care, especially women and children. I have been informed of some extremely sad conditions.

"We hope to get in some important centre a serviceable building that can readily be fitted up for hospital work. We are planning to carry enough material to equip one hundred beds. That will be our hospital base, but our work will by no means be limited to the immediate locality. We intend to send our flying squadrons, if they may be so called, into the surrounding villages and towns to treat the sick in their homes or bring them, if in need of hospital care, to our main building.

"The plan has been under discussion for several weeks. Several of our leading New York women physicians felt that they ought to do something for their country in this world war. Some of us, I may say, are giving up incomes as large as those received by the men; all of the women, in fact, are making sacrifices on the financial side. But we firmly believe that we have a great work to do for humanity, one for which the medical women of this country are peculiarly fitted. We cannot, perhaps, do the rough and laborious work of military doctors in the field as well as they, but there has been very little organized work, so far as I know, for hospital service among the afflicted women and children of the war devastated areas. We believe this to be our field and are more than pleased by the encouragement received from the Surgeon General of our army and the members of the French Commission."

Dr. Finley stated that she had discussed many of the details of the work with Col. Dercle and Major Rist of the French Commission, both of whom said it was a splendid offer from the medical women of the United States. Major Rist was sent here with the Commission to study tuberculosis and, with Col. Dercle, is attached to the Surgeon General's office of the United States Army.

SEVENTH HAS A NEWSPAPER

THE first company, of the Seventh New York Infantry, at Spartanburg, has issued the first number of a newspaper called "Att-A-Boy." It is a four-page journal, of which Edward Burton is the editor, and Frank Totten, business manager. David J. Farley, who formerly had a newsstand in Times Square, is circulation manager. The price of the publication is quoted as "A jitney a copy." Its raison d'etre is stated by the editor to be twofold.

"Those of us who experienced the Border," the editor says, "realize that much that helped there to make life endurable has passed from recollection; and no other record exists. Att-a-boy will attempt to be a record of our fortes and foibles, in other words, our joys. Our second considerable objective shall be to keep the folks at home informed of what their boy is doing. How much better will they understand us if given a chance to know what our mates say of us."

At the top of the second page appears a word of praise from Colonel William C. Fisk, as follows:

"The enterprise which prompts this publication is to be commended. Everything that tends to bind closer those serving in military life is of distinct benefit. What is before us no man can foresee, but when the strain comes the unity of spirit in a regiment does much to carry us over the top to success."

A CHANGE LOVE MAKES.

The Engaged Man Wants His Fiancee to be Conventional.

So long as he looks upon woman as an amusing curiosity, man is rather glad to have her wear queer garments and do unconventional things for his diversion, says Mary Margaret McBride in The Columbia Times.

"But just you wait until he falls in love," she continues. "At once he becomes a different creature. The prunes and prisms of conventionality begin to hedge him round, and before anybody knows what has happened to him, he is laying down a whole category of don'ts for the poor feminine thing who is blessed with his lordly love. No longer does it strike him as amusing or interesting for a girl to be different.

"He wishes her to be cut from the same cloth as all the rest of them, and he looks upon himself as a mistreated individual if she isn't. All of which is merely another way of saying there isn't any such animal as a modern man."—Kansas City Times.

That is the test we want you to apply to the one-ton Maxwell truck—its first cost—and its operating cost.

A Maxwell truck—which is a REAL truck, worm-driven—sells at a price that can not be met in any other motor vehicle of like efficiency, durability, and economy.

A Maxwell truck will cover 100 miles in a work day—twice the distance covered by two teams and two drivers.

It will do this at an operating cost of less than that of one team of horses.

Moreover, it is of a size and capacity adapted to the needs of almost every form and phase of commerce, industry, or farming.

The question is not, "Can I afford to have a Maxwell truck?"

The FACT is, Mr. Business Man, you can not afford to be without one.

OWEN MAGNETIC

Like Sailing on a Smooth Lake

Smart People choose the Owen Magnetic

NEW YORK'S social register is practically a list of Owen Magnetic owners. They are people of distinction—men and women who are connoisseurs.

The Owen Magnetic means to these discriminating patrons the quintessence of motoring.

It brings a delightfully different sensation—a relief from the tension of usual motor motion.

It means no more gear shifting, no more throwing on of clutch, and no more clanking—but a smooth, quiet, floating sensation—quite inconceivable until experienced.

No longer are there the pulsing, throbbing jerks common with ordinary cars. For power of a thousand speeds is transmitted from the engine to the wheels through an air cushion.

Like Magic

At the touch of a finger the speed is diminished or increased from standing still to 60 miles per hour.

One rolls over the roads, the car clinging to earth. Shut your eyes and it is like a journey in your favorite easy chair.

Most of the time one is "coasting," often up grade. Never a jerk nor a lunge. And no noise.

All this means remarkable economy of gas and tires.

The Personal Favorite

But in every case the Owen Magnetic is the master's or mistress's personal favorite. They drive it themselves—none would give it up.

WAR'S LOSSES LESS THAN ARE THOUGHT

Insurance Man Analyzes Lists and Shows That Some Mortality Reports Were German Propaganda.

By Edward A. Woods.

NO one will claim that war is a healthy occupation. But it is wholly unnecessary to exaggerate the dangers of something quite dangerous enough and which is, on the whole, no more dangerous than certain civilian avocations. Those who know assert that statements heard on all sides concerning the "terrible mortality," from officers to mules, are not altogether the result of the human tendency to exaggerate, but are part of the German propaganda. No matter how heroic a mother may be it does not help her to believe that "the average life of an aviator is three days." American men are brave enough to face even certain death, but millions naturally shrink from a service when persuaded they will not return alive. To believe such stories makes it unnecessarily hard for brave men.

Current comment would have it that every branch has "the worst mortality in the service"—often repeated with bated breath. For example, a nursing unit believed the statement of its head that none of the nurses who returned from Europe would be physically capable to work afterward, and that most of the women who would get back to this country would be treated by German officers and soldiers as the women of Belgium and France had been—a story obviously wild. A letter in a prominent journal signed "Pacifist" (pro-German?) last month appealed for us to stop the war upon the statement that it is too bad that "60,000 British physicians had been killed." The American Medical Journal stated in its issue of June 23 that not only were there only 12,000 medical men in the British Army, but that the total lives lost instead of being 60,000 were not 2 per cent. of that number. Colonel T. H. Goodwin of the British Army Medical Service cabled to the British War Office for the actual facts and was informed that from the beginning of the war to June 23 of this year, on the western front, there were killed 195, wounded 707, died of disease 62, a total of 962—of whom 159 were killed—quite a distance from the 60,000 claimed. The "Pacifist" (pro-German?) also seemed to forget that there are probably not 60,000 physicians in the entire British Empire.

I heard some one in New York say of the signal corps the other day that the average life of a soldier in its service was eighteen hours! Any red-blooded man wishes facts. Fortunately there are data available, certainly known and studied by statisticians, actuaries of our life insurance companies whose business it is to study these figures. Casualties are not deaths, exclusively, but include wounded—and we are told Great Britain is now sending back to the front 90 per cent. of its wounded—also missing and prisoners. Some of the missing turn up; prisoners are not necessarily dead. It will be noticed, as a rather rough rule, that about 20 per cent. only of the total casualties are actual deaths. For example, Canada reported, a short time ago, that out of 414,000 enlisted Canadians, the casualties were about 89,000, and of these 21,000 were deaths in battle and as a result of wounds received in battle and disease. We do not know how many of the 414,000 enlisted men of Canada have been exposed to service, but, assuming such round numbers as, say, 300,000, the percentage of mortality that Canada, after nearly three years of war, had sustained would be 7 per cent. We must remember that among 300,000 persons in peace over the same period there would have been certain deaths. What we are to consider as the war hazard is the excessive mortality, and, if the total was 7 per cent., this was subject to a reduction of at least 1 per cent. for ordinary mortality.

Canada's first expeditionary force numbered 33,000 men. It comprised cavalry, artillery, infantry, engineers, signalers, supply and ammunition columns, field ambulances, and hospital staffs. It arrived in England on Oct. 14, 1914. It included the Princess Patricia Regiment, the mortality of which is one of the notable horrors of the war. The casualties of this division are as follows:

| | Officers. | Other Ranks. | Total. |
| Died of wounds | 23 | 714 | 743 |
| Died of disease | 4 | 104 | 108 |
| Total deaths | 131 | 2,496 | 2,627 |
| Wounded | 307 | 7,177 | 7,484 |
| Prisoners of war | 57 | 1,246 | 1,303 |
| Missing | 20 | 976 | 996 |
| Total casualties | 493 | 11,915 | 12,410 |

Making every allowance for replacements, the actuary of one of the important Canadian insurance companies has estimated that the mortality of this division, which has certainly seen fighting, is 12.2 per cent. among officers, 9.1 per cent. among other ranks, and 9.2 per cent. for all. And yet we have known Americans to leave for the front with the stated belief that they felt the chances to be 19 out of 20 that they would never return.

It is interesting to notice the trifling mortality from disease. In the table above, out of some 30,000 men exposed for ten months, there were only 108 deaths from disease. The mortality of veteran troops is less than that of raw recruits. Veterans learn to avoid risks and to protect themselves in various ways. This is illustrated in the mortality of the French Army, the figures for which have been recently published by our Government upon the authority of M. Andre Tardieu, High Commissioner of the French Republic in the United States. He gives officially what he calls the definitive casualties, (killed, missing, and those taken prisoners,) as distinguished from the merely wounded, although it must be remembered that the missing sometimes turn up, although counted for conservatism among the definitive losses—the killed or prisoners. And the 5,000,000 living in the prison camps of Europe show that all prisoners do not die.

Definitive casualties, the entire mobilized French Army:

| | Per Cent. |
| First five months of 1914 | 5.41 |
| Twelve months, 1915 | 4.07 |
| Total, twenty-nine months | 12.23 |

The following table, showing the mortality among British regular officers during the first year of war, a mortality which we may safely assume to have been excessive as compared with the mortality of the same branch of service now, is interesting:

| | Total officers. | Of whom killed or died. | P.C. |
| Royal Garrison Artillery | 1,068 | 19 | 1.8 |
| Royal Engineers | 970 | 43 | 4.4 |
| Infantry | 6,029 | 1,105 | 18.3 |
| Army Service Corps | 393 | 1 | .3 |
| Royal Army Medical Corps | 1,004 | 25 | 2.5 |
| | 11,819 | 1,404 | 11.9 |

The mortality of our civil war was but 5.3 per cent.

Perhaps the most convincing data are the conclusions of the life insurance companies. It is true that life insurance companies both of England and Canada are not assuming the risk of aviators. They have insured certain aviators in time of peace. Yet American life insurance companies are assuming risks, for reasonable amounts, of persons known to have enlisted or who are subject to draft, at a yearly extra premium of 10 per cent., or $100 a thousand. And almost all companies imposing this extra—and some impose less—either for the whole army or different branches, are agreeing to return such part of this as may not be used for excessive war mortality at the conclusion of the war in the same manner as they did during the Spanish-American War. Many companies do not begin this extra charge until service overseas begins, so that it is the opinion of these life insurance companies that there is an annual chance maximum of death, beginning when service overseas begins, of one in ten, with the hope that it may be less."

LEARNING TRICKS OF GERMAN SPIES

Basil Thomson, London's Assistant Commissioner of Police, Tells How to Meet the Problem.

The man in London to whom is intrusted the enforcement of the British espionage laws is Basil Thomson, the Assistant Commissioner of Police. In all the allied countries no other official has to deal with so many German suspects. In the following interview, which was obtained by an attache of the British Official Press Bureau, Mr. Thomson says some interesting things about German spy activities in England, and refers to the somewhat similar situation that now exists in the United States. The interview is now published for the first time.

IT was because the United States is now the most fertile country for enemy spies, in view of the fact that things are happening there which took place in the beginning of the war in England, that I asked Mr. Thomson if he would give me an interview, and he consented. I met Mr. Thomson in the same office in which some of the enemy's sub rosa envoys had been subjected to clever interrogation, finally ending in their capitulation. He pointed out that the United States had no cut-and-dried plan of procedure, perhaps, at the beginning of war with Germany, whereas at the start England had the skeleton of the Defense of the Realm act practically ready. The disadvantage of being so near the enemy was counterbalanced, he said, by the fact that England was a small country, and at the outset of hostilities all were ready to help the police.

"In fact," he added, "we were nearly killed by kindness. For the first eighteen months of the war we were swamped with information from all kinds of people. Most of it was inaccurate. Then there were the various crises. Take the wireless, for instance. Every old typewriter which was heard tapping at night was supposed to be a wireless apparatus. Also there were the lights. They died hard. Persons fancied that neighbors were signaling to a house opposite by lights in the window. In some cases the flashes were due to branches of trees swaying before a lighted window; in one, they were due to a girl brushing her hair before an electric light. None seemed to consider that if the supposed enemy wished to communicate with the person on the other side of the street an easy way would have been to walk over or drop a letter in the box.

"We had the tricks of schoolboys, who wrote spying letters, dropped them, and waited to see what would happen. Followed the woman who had heard a foreign language on a tram. She usually was certain that a woman had been talking to a Prussian officer. Generally we received this information a day late. Of course, you have heard of the famous German recognized in the street by his English fiancée, who always exclaimed, 'Oh, Fritz!' whereupon the man jumped into a taxi and disappeared—not an unnatural proceeding for an Englishman suddenly and reproachfully addressed as 'Fritz' by a charming stranger. The man in these cases varied from a German professor up to the late Governor General of Belgium.

"Now and again we received word of the governess who was known to have a box full of bombs. Mixed up with one of these yarns came the pseudo information that a dying German, grateful to his English nurse, had, before breathing his last, whispered, 'Beware of the tubes after May.' From one person to another we discovered that one of the governess bomb stories had emanated from a charwoman in a board school on the south side of the river. The charwoman had told the housekeeper and the housekeeper told the assistant mistress, who told it to the mistress, and so forth, until, embellished, it reached Scotland Yard. However, I can say that in many instances useful information has been received from the public.

"It must be taken into consideration that in the early stages of the war espionage in England might have been extremely valuable, if successful. The enemy wants to know the movements of troops, how many, their quality, the number of guns, and so forth. But when the war has been on for three years the enemy knows that every available man is at the firing line. Therefore, he probably wants to obtain the information quickly from behind the front. Of course, there is the perennial question as to what the navy is doing. But military espionage in England has greatly dwindled in importance.

"America is at the stage when this military espionage is extremely valuable. There is the vexed question of censorship. Postal censorship for a country newly entering the war is, perhaps, the most important step against espionage. In the beginning of the war information was always sent by post or telegraph as soon as the carrying of letters by passengers was prohibited. It is possible to circumvent ciphers because, though you can stop all the cipher which does not make sense, there are always the trade and business letters that can be used to any extent by spies. You have only to call a battleship a sardine tin and a battle cruiser Quaker Oats and send an order for groceries, and, unless the police can show that the person receiving the order is a piano tuner or something equally remote from the grocery trade, little can be done."

Asked about the fascinating German blonde, spying for her country, always able to imitate a French manner of speaking English, and so forth, Mr. Thomson said, bluntly:

"Women spies on the enemy side have been utterly unsuccessful in this war. In France the German women contrived to give themselves away and in England they were handicapped by their ignorance concerning military matters and technical names. They didn't know the difference between a battleship, a destroyer, and a cruiser. They would call a platoon a division, and a battalion a division.

"The German has been persistent in his effort to make use of the lower-class Belgians. They are, of course, primed with a story of their escape; they have braved the electric wires around Belgium, and a thousand things. The yarn is generally overcolored, and after a little questioning they break down. When a story is lurid and melodramatic it's time to look it up.

"Out of the numerous nationalities engaged in espionage I should say that the simplest and easiest to detect is the German, and next the Belgian. The German has his story pat and as long as he's allowed to keep to the lines he runs as smoothly as a tram car; but once you get him on to the side track and ask him about his school life, the name of his schoolmaster, a description of his old home in America, he breaks down, and, once having broken down, he owns up and tells the truth.

"The Latin, on the other hand, has a quicker-moving brain when it comes to lying. Convicted out of his own mouth, he cheerfully tells a fresh series of lies and asks you to forget all about the former story. The most difficult of all to handle are the Irish. The Irish spy is as frank and open as you could wish, but unless you have unexpected documentary evidence you are not likely to get any further with him."

GARIBALDI'S GRANDDAUGHTER TELLS OF ITALIAN HOSPITALS

A STORY of the inadequacy of camp hospitals on the Italian front is told in a letter from Signorina Italia Garibaldi, granddaughter of the Italian Liberator. She writes that in the little Red Cross hospital on the Carso, where she has been working for nine months, she and one nurse have 200 wounded men in their wards in ordinary times, and after a recent attack she had to take care of 600 wounded men until they were taken to the base hospitals, with only one nurse to help her. This little hospital has 200 beds, scattered in sheds and tents near a farmhouse. Even its modest equipment has been the target of enemy airplanes and big gun bombardments, and the hospital has been threatened with destruction.

Italia Garibaldi is the daughter of General Ricciotti Garibaldi, the second son of the Liberator. General Garibaldi was in command of the Italian Legion of Garibaldians that fought with the French in the first battles in the Argonne. With him were his seven sons. Two were killed. Just as the body of Lieutenant Bruno Garibaldi was being received by the populace of Rome with all the honor and respect built upon the admiration of the valor and liberty and ideals of three generations of liberators, Costante Garibaldi, the chief adjutant of the legion, fell in a charge in the ravine of Courte Chausse, in the Argonne. Both had been sent into the thickest fighting by their brothers, who were in command, and who shouted encouragement to them as they marched to the assault.

When Italy entered the war against Austria the Garibaldis returned to Italy, and, as the letter says, Colonel Teppino, or Giuseppi, who was with Kitchener in South Africa and on the staff of Madero in his revolution against Diaz in Mexico, is in command of a sector of the line. Ezio, the youngest son, has been wounded after months of service in France and Serbia. The father, General Ricciotti, is also inactive, although he asked the Italian Ministry of War to send him and his six sons to America to aid in the training of the draft armies. He thought that their knowledge of warfare, and the American appreciation of the qualities of the Liberator, who was asked by President Lincoln to accept a commission in the Union Army, would make him able to perform a greater work for democracy and liberty than in the trenches in Austria.

Italia Garibaldi, with her two sisters, received her training as a nurse in the hospitals established by her mother, an Englishwoman, in the wars in which General Ricciotti Garibaldi has fought. While the father and the sons were fighting with the Greeks in 1912 the mother and daughters took charge of the hospitals and ambulance service for the Garibaldians. And they had volunteered to do the same work when General Garibaldi suggested the formation of a volunteer army of Americans and Italians to make a drive upon Constantinople through Serbia.

For many years before the war Signorina Italia was Principal of the Home School for Girls, one of the branches of the Methodist Mission in Rome, and in 1912 she visited the United States as a delegate to the Methodist General Conference in Minneapolis. She had visited the United States before, however, for she had been a student at the Woman's College in Baltimore for two years. She writes and speaks English fluently. Her letter to Mrs. Florence Reid Underhill of 29 North Fullerton Avenue, Montclair, N. J., Chairman of the newly organized Garibaldi Relief Committee, follows:

"Rome, via Pompeo Magno 1.

"Dear Mrs. Underhill: Through the kindness of the Marchesa di Rosales your very welcome letter has reached me in my own home in Rome, where I am for fifteen days' rest. I have worked for a year in our Red Cross hospital in this city, and for the last nine months it has been my privilege to assist our wounded and sick soldiers near the first lines on the Carso.

"It is a very wonderful work a woman can do where so little that speaks of home and home comfort can reach the brave soldiers in the zone of operations; but how often my hands are tied because I miss many of the necessities with which to supply their needs, and which would make it much easier for them to stand the suffering of their wounds and material discomfort.

"Maybe it will interest you to know that we have often airplane incursions and bombs have fallen in our garden—the surgical department which is my charge—200 beds between a little farmhouse, three wooden sheds and eight tents out in the fields, ten minutes' walk from the cottage where I have a little room, and as a village at the back of us was bombarded by 305 shells we nearly were wiped out of existence by them.

"But, coming in such close contact with death, and seeing so many beautiful young lives pass as swiftly as a Summer day, makes one consider how much we worry unnecessarily and how really beautiful is life when it is simply lived and understood. Whatever kind and thoughtful friends have sent to my little hospital has been most useful to the uttermost particle—and as I look forward to the long, icy Winter months, with 15 under zero and sticks of wood counted out to keep the wards warm, I assure you that a prayer of thankfulness is very often in my heart for the blessed help Divine Providence sends us through our friends on the other side of the ocean.

"The last action gave us day and night work, and then I profited in a lull to come home and begin to rest—but my thoughts and my heart are up there among the soldiers, who need me and all I can give them. * * *

"I know that America, too, is feeling something of the thrill of war and that Americans are landing in France to stand by us in the great struggle against the Huns and barbarians—God bless you!—and that thought gives us double strength to bear and go on, for each one of us has paid the toll, giving up our loved ones and standing sacrifices which are no sacrifices at all, for are they not for our country and the great cause of liberty, for which our fathers fought and died? I do not know if we shall see the American troops on our front; but if we do, and they have to come to our hospital, I am sure it will not seem to be so far from home when they come across goods that have been sent from their own country.

"With kindest regards and grateful thanks,

"Yours very sincerely,

"ITALIA GARIBALDI."

PORTO RICAN CROPS BIGGER.

Increase Largely Due to Work of the Food Commission.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 20, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The first crop census ever taken in Porto Rico shows that small food crops valued at $4,000,000 to the planters had been raised up to Sept. 1. The crops included red and white beans, frijoles, gandules, (pigeon peas,) corn, rice, batatas, (sweet potatoes,) yautias, yuca, and yams.

The large yield of beans has stopped all imports of that vegetable, one of the chief items of the Porto Rico diet, and for the first time has permitted the island to export rather than import this food. More than 2,000,000 pounds of beans had been exported up to September. The corn crop also is the largest ever produced and the harvest has been so plentiful as to have reduced the importation of corn and considerably checked the importation of cornmeal.

The production of food crops for home consumption is due to a very large degree to the work of the Food Commission in stimulating interest in the growing of minor crops and impressing on the island the necessity to feed itself. Through the commission fifteen tons of seed for planting have been distributed.

Members of the Food Commission believe the island is capable of producing possibly four crops a year equal to the crops grown during the last few weeks. It is believed that beans, at least, will grow the year round and that a crop can be planted and brought to maturity inside of six or seven weeks. Vegetables and possibly other grain crops can be planted at every season, it is believed.

The work of the Agriculture Committee of the Food Commission has to a large degree been made possible by the assistance of the Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, of which H. C. Henricksen is in charge in Porto Rico, and by the employment of a large number of agricultural agents who have been put in charge of specific districts of the island under the supervision of traveling Inspectors.

Since September this field service has been reorganized and the work in the future is expected to show even better results than obtained during the first two and a half months of the new work.

THE NASH SIX

PERFECTED VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTOR

THE NASH SIX

It's Here—the New Nash Car

THIS is the car—this is the finished result of a year of effort—designing, building, testing, refining.

This is the Nash Six, the car with the perfected valve-in-head motor; the car that embodies the 25 years' manufacturing experience of C. W. Nash.

Behind him lay a record of building and selling one million fine-grade motor cars.

Together with his associates, all men of noteworthy experience, he bent his energies toward a new car that would embody his ideals and bear his name.

They purchased the vast plant at Kenosha. To its already highly complete mechanical equipment was added a half million dollars' worth of new and modern machinery.

It was no secret that Mr. Nash and his engineers were preparing to bring forth a new car of value.

All motordom knew it.

And here it is.

It's a big chested motor, breathing deep, full inhalations of live gas vapor, wringing the last bit of mileage and power from each atom, expelling instantly the dead gases.

Lift the bonnet. Look at the motor. See how clean it is. No tangle of wires. No mess of mechanism. Trim as a cut block of steel. Just simplicity throughout.

And the body—real beauty there—handsome and graceful. A double-cowl, air-line design. Finished in Nash blue. Low-hung on a sturdy chassis. The wheelbase is 121 inches.

Just an easy, natural step from running board to tonneau. Settle back in the comfort of the broad, rear seat. Deep upholstery of genuine leather.

Front compartment is roomy, too. Note the extreme compactness of the instrument board. All control centered at your finger tips.

It's Nash designed, built 93 per cent complete in Nash shops, and the price moderate—$1,295.

Truthfully, a fine car. A remarkable value.

And it's here now. We invite your early inspection.

HOW CHURCH CAN HELP THE NATION

New Faith in Immortality Is One of the Great Needs of a Country in Time of War.

By CHARLES LEWIS SLATTERY, D. D., Rector of Grace Church, New York.

THESE are the days when men who love both Church and country ask how the Church may serve the nation. Whatever people may have thought of the ability of the Church to help them in the past, they find the demand of the hour so great—if the war has come at all close to them—that they would be honestly glad if an institution which tries at least to see events as in God's sight could give them inspiration for action, steadfastness in trial, and assurance of an invincible control which makes for righteousness. It is because the opportunity before the Church is stupendous that those who love both Church and country should ask the Church to serve the nation with the best in its power, and should ask the nation to expect from the Church a help which is real.

The Church at its best, while eager to identify itself with all the interests of men, has a certain detachment. Its unworldliness is indifference not to persons but to things. It puts the emphasis not on the passing and the convenient, but on that which in the end is satisfying. Never cynical or despairing, it is inspired by a hope founded on conviction and on life. However the Church in any man or time may fall short of such an ideal, the ideal is there, trying to break through the crust of imperfection. The Church does humbly and sanely look to God for direction, and, with stumbling and faltering words, tells what it hears from Him. John Baptist before Herod, Savonarola before Lorenzo, indicate the clear sight and courage of religion. The Herods and Lorenzos do not like such exponents of religion; but the people are grateful for a sincere word which pierces the conventional and the safe, and seems, through whatever medium, to come from God.

Is it possible to catch any notes of such a message in this time of stress and agony? There are loud voices which use God's name too easily; of these one is at least suspicious. The genuine help comes from the quiet and the modest, who to their wisdom add goodness and mercy; and such live most often where there is little shouting, but intensity of thought and simple effort to express the thought. There is a drift of leadership which the attentive observer can discern through the general Church. One may hope that by describing its qualities these qualities may be emphasized in the leadership of the immediate future.

I.

The Church at its best will permit no shrugging of shoulders when the object of the nation in this war is mentioned. We are at war not because our commerce was threatened; not because if autocracy should have won, without our opposition to it, we should have been its next victim; certainly not because we wished land or money by way of reward; but only because we as a nation came one day to see that freedom in the world was at stake, and we cared enough about it to sacrifice, if need be, all that we have and all that we are. We are perceiving anew how much democracy is worth: it is worth dying for, if our sacrifice will save it—and we believe it can.

In the sacrifice which the whole nation is making, our own democracy is to be purified. A fine type of man, in officer's uniform, about to sail for France, said to me a few days ago that he hoped peace would not come till our people had tasted the cup of sorrow and sacrifice, for, he said, we need it; and, bare of self-consciouness, he was standing ready to be himself part of that sacrifice. A speech like that, when its implications are flashed through the mind and heart, catches one's breath: it is the sort of speech which the Church dwells upon and holds before the people. It shows that we are not a commercial, selfish nation; we are to win no indemnity, no land, but we shall gain a sterner righteousness, a more beautiful face. In losing our life for the sake of human freedom, we shall find it in the glory of what has right to stand in the light of the Cross.

The Church can take the best words men say to one another and make them the common talk. The ideal of the noblest may be held boldly before all. From the President to the schoolboy who declaims his first war message, there shall be but one reason given why America is at war; and the Church will have helped to clarify it and make it universal.

II.

The Church ought always to be expected to stimulate the national conscience.

We rightly condemn the Russian bureaucrats who made their country's peril an opportunity to swindle and cheat. We are apt to forget that we once had citizens who, supposedly filling government contracts for which they received full pay, sent to our Indian wards such abominations as tin shovels; and it is not altogether clear that there are not today citizens who would, if they could, take advantage of a world's misery to overcharge for necessary food, to sell defective machinery, and in a thousand other ways to make capital out of a nation's haste. The Church calls to repentance: in these days it ought to call with sufficient voice to make such men hear its scorn though they never may darken a church's door.

Still others there are whose consciences need to be sharpened. These are not bad men so much as stupid. We condemn the false prophets of the Old Testament who cried, "Peace! Peace!" when there was no peace. We condemn the faint-hearted counselors of 1864 who attempted to involve our Government in compromise with the opponents of its avowed purpose. But we may not be aware how insidious is the argument of men dull, but otherwise good, who would have us today recede from the one purpose for which we are at war, and to be content with what could only be a truce with autocracy. Vigorous words were said by Christ about people who put their hands to plows and turned back. The Church of Christ can have no milder words for those who enter a sacrificial act and, when half-way through, doubt Him so far as to beg to stop, content with an evasion and a compromise. Kant used to say that he could dispose of his enemies; his friends gave him the real trouble. So the nation today has most to fear from the soft-hearted, not quite clear-headed, advocates of half-measures. The Church once more may send out the Divine call, "Repent!" Gentleness without strength is as far from Christ as force without love. The Church must beat its own breast and ask for itself and for all it can reach a straight vision of the truth and the right. And there must be no playing with shadows. The Church here may have the more power because the man who puts peace before righteousness is often sincerely and humbly within the Church's inner influence.

III.

A million of the Church to the Nation more important than any of these already mentioned is the fixing in the mind of the soldier the dignity of his task. After the farewell to home, after the parade through revering crowds, it may sweep over him that he is leaving long and beautiful years of happiness for a doubtful end. Easy and loving friends will have told him how truly great it is to risk life for one's country, but he will think their words only good nature and kindness. If an institution which weighs its words, which, fearing God, tries to speak as before Him, candidly asserts the worth of a short life uncompromisingly given for the highest sacrifice, then the soldier may indeed be reassured that his exultation at his highest moment was not mockery.

The records of the Church are filled with the praise of the man who counts not the cost when a supreme duty shines before him. Stephen, Telemachus, Damien, and their fellow-martyrs all down the ages, are, whether young or old, complete in years, because in each case the man gave his all for what was worth all. It is to be a follower of Christ in a literal sense if a man attain the love which lays down life for friends. As we know that Christ living to old age could not have won for man what He achieved by His uncompromising conflict, ending in early death, so we dare to say to the soldier in this war that, if he die before another Summer, he will still have accomplished what long years of ordinary life could not have accomplished. He will have done for humanity and for his own country the utmost that any life could do. The very brevity will but declare its thoroughness. Every hero who takes no thought for his life in the presence of a truth which compels his sacrifice makes it easier for a nation and a world to fulfill its God-given destiny and to rise to its victory.

By words, by glance, by homage, the Church can send the soldier across the sea lighthearted and joyful, because there awaits him a work to do for which the longest and most crowded life, giving its utmost, could give no more than he will give, even if he die on the morrow. The nation, taught by the Church, shall have happy warriors:

"Glad did I live, and gladly die,
And I laid me down with a will."

We hope and pray that the soldiers and sailors and aviators whom we know shall return to us safe, to lead us into the difficult days of peace, but every man is conscious of his risk. The Church can assure him that this willingness to run the final risk is the gift which he presents to God. And nothing in human experience can surpass it.

IV.

The greatest boon which the Church can today bestow upon the world is to give it fresh conviction of immortality. An English soldier is reported to have said that he did not mind dying, only, he added, it is "so permanent." Not by argument, not by pompous assertion, but by the confidence of an interior trust, the Church must proclaim that dying is not permanent.

The common approach to belief in immortality has been along the road of justice to man. We have told ourselves that it would not be fair to man if God put into man's heart ideals and ambitions, and snapped off the current of life when these ideals and ambitions were, by even the best men, only beginning to be fulfilled. The promise men have most depended upon is, "Let not your heart be troubled"; it is, from man's point of view. Now the war has perceptibly changed the attitude. It is clear from books written during the war that there is a new and vivid awareness of God. All sorts of people, people quite outside conventional attachment to religion and the Church, have this new sense of Presence. And within the Church a perpetual conviction is vastly deepened. With this fresh consciousness of God's reality we look at problems, as it were, from His point of view. We see immortality, among other hopes and fears, in a new way—it is no longer man's need of it that we are contemplating; we discover that there is something in the universe which requires man's immortality for the bewildering plans of God.

More and more the serious people of the world are standing with upturned faces. We are all watching and listening. It is a mad conception of the Church which believes that it is content with past records and revelations. In a moment like this, the Church knows itself to be in contact with a living God who speaks here and now; and, in the forefront of the listening, waiting world, are the organized forces of religion. Old hopes are verified, but they are often filled so full of new life that the Church will think it has a new confidence and a new inspiration to give to humanity.

We look down, to find that the noblest men of all nations are willing to die for what is to them truth and right. These men are trained in mind, heart, and soul to live to old age for the good of the community; the causes which God has inspired men to champion they will, if they live, carry forward with superb energy. Tomorrow a huge proportion may be dead. Is that the end? every one is asking. Does God allow men to be equipped for His plans, does He use them up in the early dawn, and throw them away, never again to use them? As we have the belief that we are made to co-operate with the Creator, we can never truly believe such waste possible. We look down at the seeming waste; we look up to the onrushing plan of God—and we know, as by revelation, that the brave and the strong, giving all here, shall go on to serve the Master in the spaces which for us are still invisible. They are already, we say, pushing on to greater and happier victories. And we see the heroes here melt into the innumerable company of heroes there, one endless throng of servants of a patient and loving God.

Probably the chief sacrifice of this war falls upon the mothers who see their sons go out into the unknown. They abide at home seemingly far from the conflict. Their very inaction is part of their tragedy; they can only love and pray and wait. But doing that, possibly they may be doing the superlative share of the conflict. The things which are not seen are always more powerful than the things which are seen. If the Church can, with an unimpeachable authority, tell these mothers that their sons sink not even to sleep, (not to speak of forgetfulness,) but rise again from their earthly warfare to a yet more glorious warfare in the nearer consciousness of the Divine Leader—then the Church may be giving spirit and faith to those whose courage is the deep essential of a righteous and enduring peace.

JAPANESE FAVOR INDEPENDENT CHINA

IN a recent issue of the Magazine Section of THE NEW YORK TIMES ex-Judge L. R. Wilfley, formerly of the United States Court in China, arrests our attention and challenges our interest while discussing a "Delicate Situation in Our Relations with Japan."

Taking the article as a whole, the impression left upon the mind of the reader is that Japan in diplomacy must be met with suspicion and distrust. The Judge starts out by assuming that Japan will seek the recognition of her predominate interests in the Far East, especially in China, and that she now seeks a settlement of the problems involved because the United States will have her hands full with the European war.

The prospect of a strong United States is regarded as particularly distasteful to Japan. "It is doubtful if she was pleased at the entrance of the United States into this war, for the reason that in the event the Allies win, the United States, by reason of her increased shipping facilities, because of her more highly developed industrial facilities at home, of her enhanced prestige and of the improved state of her military preparedness, will become a far more formidable rival than she has hitherto been in the contest for supremacy in this new and rapidly developing trade area."

In short, Judge Wilfley would have us believe that the United States, by destroying a few billions of wealth and probably many lives, the very flower of American industry and commerce, will be in a better position to compete for trade than she would be by following the paths of peace. It is known to all men familiar with Far Eastern problems that for more than fifty years trade with the Far East was ours for the taking. We took it not. Why should we complain because Japan had the sense and energy, the organizing ability, to take and hold this trade in large measure while the world was at peace?

But things commercial aside, what are the professed motives on the part of Japan in sending a mission of most distinguished men to this country? First, "to convey the high appreciation of the Japanese Imperial Government that the United States has become an ally of Japan in this world war." Second, "to confer with the Government of the United States and with the representatives of her other allies on the high questions of the war and of the mutual interests involved." These are the published objects in sending the mission. What reason have we to aver that these are not the main motives, though the occasion may be mutually advantageous to the elucidating of other subjects of interest?

When the British, French, Italian, and Russian missions visited this country it was not necessary for distinguished jurists of our land to question the motives or to suggest deep and dark designs prejudicial to the interests of the United States. The visits of these commissions and others yet to appear are looked upon as a compliment to the strength, power, and wisdom of the United States. Why should the advent of these most eminent men from the Orient be prefaced with solemn warnings and insinuations of sharp practice on the part of our visitors?

Let us look into this question below the surface. Judge Wilfley says: "Japan's openly avowed and well-known purpose is to unite all of the many hundreds of millions of people of the Orient under her own hegemony. Her intention is to suck the strength of China into her own veins and make herself the greatest military power in the world. For many years all of the energies of the empire have been bent to the accomplishment of this purpose."

The writer of the above offers absolutely nothing to substantiate the statement. It sounds strangely familiar, as we have heard such statements in clubs, on hotel verandas, and steamer decks of the Far East. They are no more true than would be the assertion "the United States desires to suck the strength of all the Americas into her own veins and make herself the greatest commercial nation in the world." Indeed, there be not a few of our neighbors who would fain believe this of us.

He who has noted the gradual encroachment of the Occidental nations and races in all parts of the world, the development of "spheres of influence" followed by "peaceful penetration" and "benevolent assimilation," and these by "annexation," can scarcely blame the one plucky little nation of the Orient for guarding well her interests in that part of the world.

The most enlightened and far-seeing Japanese statesmen—and there are many of them—desire nothing so much as a peaceful, well-ordered, self-governing China. They know that a weak, turbulent China ultimately means intervention from afar, and they have the wisdom to avoid this calamity. However, if China must seek foreign direction, especially for her army and navy, Japan wishes to furnish the teachers to the end—perfectly clear and simple—that the army and navy shall not be trained to fight against the Orient.

Would any intelligent citizen of the United States desire to see Mexico, Central America, or South America fall under German influence and tutelage? Would the United States sit idly by and allow such a thing to be done? Let us judge Japan as we would wish to be judged. Let us contend for our manifest rights in the commercially "open doors" of the Far East and elsewhere. Let us very frankly combine with other nations to secure this against all opposition. But let us deal fairly with those nations whose paramount political interests lie in fields remote from us.

A word as to Japanese diplomacy which Judge Wilfley compliments as to thoroughness and alertness. It should also be said that Japan is most loyal in observing her treaties. For many years Japan conducted her foreign relations under the "exterritorial" treaties. Every one of the fifteen or more powers having treaties with Japan extended their sovereignty into Japan to the shame and embarrassment of the whole nation, and to the great loss of revenue, since under these treaties practically free trade prevailed. Ministries fell, statesmen were assassinated, a spirit of intense nationalism developed, demanding the abrogation of these unequal treaties, but Japan held firm and administered the treaties until they were revised with all the powers. Japan fought two wars to maintain her right of independent national existence.

Observe, too, how Japan kept the terms of her present treaty with Great Britain at the outbreak of this world war. Though under a great debt, though many interests were pulling the other way, Japan placed her army and navy in fighting trim and soon ousted Germany from her Gibraltar of the Far East which had cost untold millions of dollars. It will one day be known that Germany tried to win Japan away from her alliance with Great Britain. Suppose this trick had succeeded.

Kiao-Chau would have been strengthened. All China would have become Germano-Japanese, the naval control of the Far East would have passed from England, or the Entente would have been obliged greatly to weaken their European navies in attempting to control the Far East. Hongkong would have been attacked and promptly captured, all the Russian littoral would have passed into other hands; India might have been threatened, and, possibly, the Suez Canal cut. A mighty Chinese Army would, before this have been fighting for the Central Powers.

England never made a better treaty than that with Japan and she never made one more loyally observed. Japan never regards her treaties as "scraps of paper." There is no nation more exact and punctilious in the observance of treaties than is Japan. It is, therefore, entirely true, as Judge Wilfley states, that our relations with Japan are of the greatest importance at this time. These two nations can and should co-operate in guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China and her safe conduct on the road to constitutional liberty and domestic progress.

Utter frankness, the absence of suspicion, the making of proper treaties and conventions to which China, as well as Japan, shall be a party are manifestly needed in this crisis. The immigration question, which is even more delicate than the Chinese question, can be settled on a basis of absolute equality, just as we would settle a similar question with any other nation.

Nothing worth while can be accomplished in an atmosphere of suspicion and distrust. It is to be hoped that we are entirely wrong in detecting these qualities in Judge Wilfley's very interesting article. Among the many world questions crying for settlement, that of the proper guidance of China takes a most important place. May Japan and the United States co-operate to this end!

NAVY BEGINS SEASON BY LOSING TO W. VA.

Sailors Play Fast Game, but Lack Team Work and Are Beaten, 7 to 0.

GAME WON NEAR THE END

Defeat First for Gilmour Dobie, Coach of Admirals, in Twelve Years.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 6.—West Virginia, 7; Navy, 0. This tells the story of how Gilmour Dobie, coach of the Sailor aggregation, today met his first defeat in twelve years. But it does not tell the story of one of the best football games played at Annapolis in a number of years.

Through the first half each team played one another almost to a standstill. If there was any advantage it was with the Middies during this session. The decisive point was not reached until the final period was well past its middle. Twelve minutes of the period remained to be played when Harris, veteran of former West Virginia struggles, and well acquainted with the Annapolis field through having played here last season, got away for forty yards around left end and was not stopped until he downed the leather behind the Sailors' posts. Rodgers, who had shared with him the visitors' honors in offensive work, booted the leather over the bar and between the posts for the additional point.

Although the Admirals gave him his first black eye during a long and successful career, Dobie has the satisfaction of knowing that the team he had on Farragut Field this afternoon showed during the whole of the struggle more of pep and more of scrap than has been delivered by any Navy team this early in the season, for many years past. Crude, largely because they have not been working together any great length of time, the sailors showed several rather glaring faults. Probably more prominent among these were poor tackling and lack of cohesive interference. The latter weakness was particularly noticeable when the sailor back field had to receive a punt. In eight or ten times out of a dozen chances the lad taking the kick would get his catch nicely hugged to his jersey and make a good start on the return run only to find that the one or two or mayhap three men with him had failed to get their opponents. Throughout, the game was a pleasure to the spectators. The teams were well matched, when it came to fight on the final inches of a down, but both were guilty of taking chances when the fight was not a tight pinch on any particular play.

From the Navy standpoint there was much of encouragement in the way the sailor lads showed the grasp of the forward pass. In the department of aerial advance the Middies for some years had been notoriously crude. Today, although they failed to net any great amount of gain their willingness to make the try and the execution on these tries was most gratifying to their adherents.

Fresh from their excellent showing against Pitt's strong team last Saturday, the visitors came to Annapolis this afternoon chuck full of confidence. This confidence was shown in the willingness of their supporters to put up money to back of their choice. That money remained in the balance straight through four-fifths of the struggle, and was not actually earned until the lucky break that shot Harris around the end and across the line for the deciding tally.

The line-up:

| West Va., (7.) | Position. | Navy, (0.) |
|---|---|---|
| Mills | L. E. | Vonheimberg |
| Harrice | L. T. | Scaffee |
| Meredith | L. G. | Saunders |

LEHIGH DEFEATS URSINUS.

Brown and White Victors in Early Game by 13 to 7.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Penn., Oct. 6.—Lehigh today defeated Ursinus, 13 to 7. The Brown and White did not speed up its machine at any time, being content to win by a small score, as Coach Keady did not want to take too many chances, in view of the hard game next week with Pittsburgh. There was no scoring in the first period, which ended, however, with Lehigh in possession of the ball on Ursinus's 20-yard line. After the second period began, Nolan and Halsted took the ball to the 6-yard line, whence Halsted plunged over. Lehigh's next score came in the fourth period. The Brown and White had possession of the ball on the 4-yard line, the result of hard work in the third period. On the very first play Harrington went over for the score, Halsted kicking the goal.

Ursinus's score resulted from a fluke. There was only a few minutes to play when McNamara fumbled, and Gulick, who played a star game for Ursinus, picked up the ball and ran 45 yards. Woods kicked the goal.

Line-up:

| Lehigh, (13.) | Position. | Ursinus, (7.) |
|---|---|---|
| Wysocki | L. E. | Vedder |
| Spagne | L. T. | Wood |
| Owens | L. G. | Helfrich |
| McDonald | C. | Light |
| Farly | R. G. | Lentz |
| Johnson | R. T. | Gulick |

Touchdowns — Halsted, Harrington, Gulick. Goal from touchdown—Halsted and Wood. Referee—Mr. Thorpe, Columbia. Umpire—Mr. Fenda, Stevens. Head linesman—Mr. Chenoweth, Lehigh. Time of periods—10 minutes.

WESLEYAN PLAYS A TIE.

Fight Scoreless Game with Rhode Island State College.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETON, Conn., Oct. 6.—Wesleyan opened its season on Andrus Field this afternoon with a no score tie with Rhode Island State College. Fumbling and poor work in the Wesleyan backfield characterized the game. In the third quarter the home team succeeded, after several attempts, in working its only forward pass, Boote throwing to Hahn for a gain of twelve yards.

In the first quarter Rhode Island rushed the ball to the Wesleyan's four-yard line. The nearest the Wesleyans got to its opponents' goal was the twelve-yard line in the third quarter. Berlew, Hahn, Markthaler, E. E. Dixon, and Anderson played well for Wesleyan, and Captain O'Brien, Keegan, Eastwood, and Seabury for Rhode Island.

FOOTBALL TEST FOR COACH.

Elevens Tutored by Brothers to Meet at Rochester.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 5.—Because of the fact that a brother of Coach Edgar Fauver of the Wesleyan football team is coaching at the University of Rochester this fall, Wesleyan has arranged a game with that institution, to be played in Rochester Nov. 10. At that time Rochester will christen its new athletic field. Wesleyan was able to take the date because Bowdoin canceled the game it was to have played here then.

TRINITY AND SOLDIERS TIE.

Machine Gunners Put Up Fast Game at Hartford.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 6.—Trinity in its opening football game this afternoon was saved from defeat through a 65-yard run by Right Halfback Murray in the third period. The game ended Trinity 7, Company B 102, Machine Gun Battalion, 7. The Machine Gunners were formerly in Troop B, Connecticut Cavalry.

Trinity Field never had a larger or more enthusiastic crowd than when the soldiers marched on with their goat mascot and led by Scottish pipers. In the first period Jones, a former Trinity star, playing left tackle this afternoon for the Machine Gunners, blocked Brackett's attempted punt behind the line and scored a touchdown. The Machine Gunners had a number of former Yale, Harvard and Trinity players in their lineup and individually their playing was strong. The lineup:

| Trinity, (7.) | Position. | Gunners, (7.) |
| King | L. E. | Robinson |
| Nordstrom | L. T. | Jones |

BROWN WINS FAST GAME.

Defeats Snappy Johns Hopkins Eleven, 20 to 0.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 6.—By two touchdowns, grabbed by taking advantage of the breaks of the game, and another by straight football, Brown handed the fast Johns Hopkins eleven a 20 to 0 defeat on Andrews Field this afternoon.

The strength of the visitors is hardly indicated by the score, for they threatened to become dangerous several times. It was the first game of the season for the Southerners, while Brown has had the advantage of the contest with Rhode Island State.

Shaw again starred in the Brown backfield, and though taken out of the game twice he made one of Brown's scores and was responsible for a second. Ralph Gordon, the back whose punting and forward passing make him one of the best football men on the hill, but who was out of the game all last season, went in today in the last period, and his work was a revelation to the fans who had not seen him in action. Fast on his feet and a hard line bucker he will be a big asset to the team and a great partner for Shaw.

Line up:

| Brown, (20.) | Position. | Johns Hopkins, (0.) |
|---|---|---|
| Sinclair | L. E. | Winslow |
| Murphy | L. T. | Schmidt |
| Bowman | L. G. | Stanley |
| Hoving | C. | S. Hecht |
| Grabb | R. G. | Katencamp |
| Nichols | R. T. | Hearn |
| Weeks | R. E. | Wolfe |
| Albright | Q. B. | Purcell |
| Shaw | L. H. B. | Carey |
| Brooks | R. H. B. | E. Jones |
| Armstrong | F. B. | Casey |

Touchdowns—Shaw, Albright, Weeks. Goals from touchdowns—Albright, Gordon. Substitutes—Brown—Albright for Shaw, Huggins for Albright, Edson for Bowman, Shaw for Armstrong, Gordon for Albright, Hindmarsh for Sinclair, Kettredge for Shaw, Brisk for Weeks. Johns Hopkins—McKeithen for Hearn, Sheffley for Carey, Gould for Cashell.

Time—Two 10 and two 15 minute periods.

OHIO STATE IN FORM.

Western Conference Champions Beat Wesleyan Team, 53 to 0.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 6.—The Ohio State University football team, last year's Western Conference champions, overwhelmed Ohio Wesleyan here today by a score of 53 to 0.

Coach Wilce used many of his second string men and at no time had his entire regular team on the field. "Chick" Harley, all-American fullback, led Ohio State's attack, scoring three touchdowns and kicking as many goals.

Indiana Finds Wabash Easy.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 6.—The Indiana University football team found Wabash easy today, and won the game 51 to 0. Only once, in the first period, was Wabash able to make a showing, holding the University team to the five-yard line. Coach Stiehm of Indiana sent in many substitutes.

ARMY VICTORIOUS, LED BY OLIPHANT

Spectacular Work Wins First Game for Cadets by the Score of 28 to 0.

SOLDIERS OFF IN A RUSH

Keep Pittsburghers on Defensive All the Way with Rushing Offensive.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Flashing the best early season form in years, the Army's football eleven smothered Carnegie Tech by a score of 28 to 0 here today in the initial contest of the local season.

Spectacular work by Oliphant, Vandegraff, March, and McQuarrie featured in the Cadets' offensive drive, while on the line the veteran Knight and two or three new men distinguished themselves by their stonewall defense to Tech's onslaughts, which at times were formidably launched. Oliphant, the Army Captain, displayed all his old time form throughout. The Cadets' big "tank tractor" bowled over the opposition, and by spectacular straight-arm work, during which he spilled would-be tacklers right and left, got away with several long dashes, one of them for forty yards and a touchdown. Oliphant's scoring record for the day was two touchdowns and four goals from touchdowns.

McQuarrie, the former University of Montana Captain, garnered the balance of the points for the soldiers, both his touchdowns resulting from short dashes off tackle, a play in which he featured largely and with great success today. Vandegraff, the erstwhile All-Southern tackle, until his injury took him out of the game in the final period, negotiated two long runs and did most of the Army's kicking, which was better than early season calibre.

March, on long tosses from Oliphant and Murrill, was on the receiving end of several well executed air line plays. The Cadets' passing game averaged well, only a few of their attempts being spoiled.

Tech, with Early carrying the ball in a puzzling revolving shift, succeeded in geting a trio of first downs during the contest, but the Pittsburghers were never within striking distance of the soldiers' goal line. The Army line looked good and weighed heavier than usual for Army teams.

The Cadets got away to an early start when a poor kick gave them the ball on Tech's 20-yard mark. Wicks, McQuarrie, and Oliphant carried it to the score without a halt, the latter going over and kicking goal a few minutes after the opening of the initial period. A successful forward pass to Shrader and a short jab at the line by McQuarrie resulted in the second score.

The half closed 14 to 0. McQuarrie chalked up another score in the third quarter and Oliphant, catching one of Williams's punts on Tech's 40-yard line, ran the remaining distance for a touchdown.

Lineup:

| Army, (28.) | Position. | Carnegie Tech., (0.) |
|---|---|---|
| March | L. E. | Levison |
| Vandegraff | L. T. | McFeaters |
| Watkins | L. G. | Nemser |

| Murrill | Q. B. | Bloom |
| Wicks | L. H. B. | Early |

| Score by periods: | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|

PITT OPENS WITH VICTORY.

Bethany Helpless While Warner's Regulars Are in the Fray.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Oct. 6.—The University of Pittsburgh football team opened its home season at Forbes Field today with a victory over Bethany College, by a score of 40 to 0. Against Warner's first string men the visitors were helpless, and Pitt piled up twenty points in the first period. In the second period Bethany braced, and aided by some loose play by Pitt, held the Panther squad scoreless. Pitt's subs played the third period and were held without a score. Bethany played its best game in this period.

Warner sent his regulars in to finish the game, and they duplicated the score of the first period. Two of the touchdowns were the result of long runs. Pitler broke loose and ran twenty-five yards, and then Carlson caught a forward pass and traveled thirty-two yards for a score.

The lineup:

| Pittsburgh, (40.) | Position. | Bethany, (0.) |
|---|---|---|
| Carlson | L. E. | Roach |
| Hilty | L. T. | Gwinn |
| Sutherland | L. G. | Tharpe |

Graham Again Title Contestant.

Archie Graham, who has several times held the club championship of the Arcola Country Club, seems well on the road to annex again the golf title. In the semi-final round play yesterday Graham had for his opponent Fred Case, and after nineteen holes of interesting play Graham was returned the victor by 1 up. This victory put the former champion into the final play for the title, which will be held next week, against Victor Maude. The latter yesterday in his semi-final round match defeated Robert Cunningham by 3 up and 2 to play.

CORNELL RIPS UP OBERLIN.

Defeats the Ohio Eleven Very Easily by a Score of 22 to 0.

ITHACA, Oct. 6.—Cornell beat Oberlin by the score of 22 to 0 in the opening game of the football season, on Schoellkopf Field this afternoon. The Ithacans experienced no difficulty in acquiring three touchdowns, while Hoffman made a drop kick from the twenty-yard line after four minutes of play. Oberlin made only two first downs in the course of the game, and never threatened to score. Hoffman was the only varsity man in the lineup in either team, and taking that fact into consideration the game was interesting and fairly well played. Cornell showed the need of more physical groundwork, but the playing of Vanhorn and Carry, in the backfield, Reuther at center, and Colvin at left end, was encouraging to the Cornell coaches.

"Room for a lot of improvement," was Dr. Sharpe's comment. Besides Hoffman's drop kick, Cornell scored in the first period on a series of advances by Carry and Vanhorn, Carry tallying, and a similar advance in the second half took Vanhorn across. Colvin recovered Nicholas's fumble of Hoffman's punt on the Oberlin fifteen-yard line in the third period, but Cornell failed to profit. In the fourth quarter, when Harris blocked an Oberlin punt on the visitors' five-yard line, Colvin recovered, and Carry plunged over for a score.

The lineup and summary:

| Cornell, (22.) | Position. | Oberlin, (0.) |
|---|---|---|
| Colvin | L. E. | Bailey |
| Harriman | L. T. | Traenkle |
| Huntington | L. G. | Gray |
| Reuther | C. | Hillbrandt |
| Swanson | R. G. | Lansdale |
| Wipperman | R. T. | Martin |
| Rubenstein | R. E. | Brace |
| Carry | Q. B. | Nicholls |
| Hoffman | L. H. B. | Frey |
| Vanhorn | R. H. B. | Farquhar |
| Pendleton | F. B. | Steller |

Touchdowns—Cornell: Carry, (2,) Vanhorn. Goal from field—Hoffman. Goal from touchdown — Pendleton. Substitutions — Cornell: Spiegelberg for Reuther, Myron for Huntington, Harris for Rubenstein, A. Trowbridge for Harriman, Bowker for Swanson, Nethercott for Carry, G. Minier for Hoffman; Oberlin: Vincent for Nicholas, Milton for Brace, Cheney for Gray, Burneson for Farquhar, Harmon for Burneson, Converse for Frey.

NO TIGER 'VARSITY ELEVEN.

Sports Restricted to Those That Pay Their Way at Princeton.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, Oct. 6.—According to a decision of the Board of Athletic Control at Princeton, the Tigers will resume athletic relations with other colleges in sports that can be made to pay expenses. This will probably mean athletics in Tigertown this year on a less extensive scale than usual, and with colleges situated nearer. It has also been announced that there will be no 'Varsity football this Fall.

It will be up to the undergraduates as to what sports are indulged in and how extensively. The undergraduate manager of each sport will have to submit his schedule to the board with reasonable proof that the contests arranged can be made self-supporting. Baseball and basketball schedules are almost a certainty and probably several other minor sports, including swimming. It is extremely dubious, however, as to whether there will be a 'Varsity crew schedule or track contests.

Dean Howard McClenahan, Chairman of the Board of Athletic Control, stated this morning that every encouragement would be given all sports. "Contests will be arranged with colleges nearer Princeton in order that the expenses may not be so great," he said.

The various intercollegiate leagues of which the Tigers were members have been notified that Princeton will not be able to participate in the league schedules this year.

Freshman football will be played this Fall, and will probably net a profit for the first time in years because of the much greater interest it will attract. Interclass football, arranged so that as many men as are willing may be able to play, is also to be conducted under the direction of J. H. Rush, the Tiger coach.

WEIGHT MEN ENTER TEST.

Record Holders to Meet in Irish Federation Games.

An interesting program of track and field events has been arranged for the annual athletic meet of the Irish Federation of the U. S. A., which will be held at Celtic Park Oct 14. This meet will ring down the curtain on the local outdoor track and field season. The chief interest should centre in the all-around weight throwing competition, which brings together Pat Ryan, Irish-American A. C. record holder with the sixteen-pound hammer; Matt McGrath, weight throwing champion, and Pat McDonald, holder of Olympic championship laurels, with the shot. The test will consist of three events, the sixteen-pound shot, sixteen-pound hammer, and fifty-six-pound weight.

"On the track the best event looms up in the 1,000-yard run, a scratch race, in which Mike Devaney, national champion; Willie Gordon, and Eddie Frick, both of the New York A. C., will match strides with other fleet-footed middle distance runners of the metropolitan district. Other events are a three-mile scratch bicycle race, a two-mile handicap run, 220-yard handicap dash, and an 880-yard novice run.

Wolverton Quits Baseball.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Harry Wolverton, former manager of the New York Yankees, announced today that he had retired from baseball and would enter business here. Wolverton was dismissed as manager of the San Francisco Pacific Coast Club in mid-season because of a dispute over financial matters.

Dispute Stops Soccer Game.

A misunderstanding over the award of a penalty by the referee against De Witt Clinton stopped the high school soccer championship match with Curtis High at St. George, S. I., after ten minutes of playing yesterday. As the visitors declined to continue and protested the decision the game was awarded to Curtis High, the champion team of the league.

Parrott of Rensselaer Eleven Makes Touchdown Which Wins for Tech by 6 to 3.

EGAN KICKS FIELD GOAL

Tech Boys Surprise University Heights Players with New Play, Which Works Well Twice.

Special to The New York Times.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute defeated New York University in a brief and fast gridiron contest on '87 Field this afternoon by a score of 6 to 3, both teams scoring in the last quarter only. The game was marked by much open play, in which Egan, Gardner, and Buckley featured for the New York team and Parrott, Foster, Sweet, and Piloff for the Polytechnic.

In the first three-quarters neither side made progress, the ball remaining near the centre of the field. While New York University's heavier line was invulnerable to bucking tactics, they lost the advantage by fumbles at crucial times. Near the end of the third quarter two cleanly-executed forward passes from Egan to Buckley and Egan to Gardner netted nineteen yards, and after Rensselaer had been penalized five yards for holding, the quarter ended with the ball on Rensselaer's 24-yard line.

On the first play of the last quarter Egan dropkicked neatly over the goal. Egan kicked off the Frank, who made a free catch on his twenty-seven-yard line. On a fake kick formation Foster made a forty-five-yard run around the left end, clearing the interference and headed for goal, when Ebenfeld in a burst of speed overtook and downed Foster thirty yards from the line. Foster kicked to Egan, who fumbled, and Sweet recovered the ball on New York's thirty-five-yard line.

At this point the Teach boys tried out an entirely new play formation, which Coach "Jack" Reed has been developing, and which took the vesitors completely by surprise. It was a split formation, with the team in two groups far out on the ends and the centre facing the fullback. Parrott gaine dtwenty yards on it. Piloff fumbled on the three-yard line and Buckley fell on ball. Egan kicked out from behind the goal line to Piloff, who ran the ball back to the thirty-five-yard line. Richards netted ten yards on a forward pass, and on another split formation Foster reached the twelve-yard line, where he was knocked out by a hard tackle. Then Parrott, skirting across the left end on a wide run crossed the goal line near the corner of the gridiron for the only touchdown. Sweet failed to kick the goal.

STEVENS IN TIE GAME.

Engineers and Haverford Each Score 7 on Castle Point Field.

Stevens opened its football season at Castle Point Field, Hoboken, yesterday, and in a game in which all the scoring was done in the first half, battled to a tie with Haverford, at 7—7. Both teams played open football, with Goodale and Bloss doing the best work for Stevens, while Leonard and Dewees played brilliantly for Haverford.

At the end of the first quarter plunges by Goodale had larded the ball on Haverford's 5-yard line, and at the beginning of the second period Goodale pierced the line for a touchdown. The same player kicked the goal. Haverford's touchdown followed after Bloss of Stevens had been knocked over while receiving a kick, by his teammate, Deghnee. Nevins recovered the ball and had a clean path for a score. Nevins kicked the goal.

The line-up:

| Haverford, (7.) | Position. | Stevens, (7.) |

NO REST FOR FORDHAM.

Maroon Eleven Works Hard for Game to Come.

There was no rest for the Fordham eleven yesterday. Coach McCaffery needs every day to whip the Maroon team into shape for the games to come and is loath to declare a holiday. Although Colletti, Frisch, Crowley, and McGrath were excused from practice, the other regulars and all of the scrub players turned out.

Matty Golden, a first string end, was shifted to centre yesterday. Coach McCaffery is paying considerable attention to developing the scrub material, as Fordham's success will depend to some degree on the reserve forces when Georgetown, Rutgers, and Cornell are met. These elevens will outweigh the Maroon.

Manager Delehanty received a telegram from Notre Dame yesterday to the effect that the South Bend team would be unable to meet Fordham on Thanksgiving Day. The Westerners are scheduled for one trip East to West Point and were unable to come a second time.

CRIMSON ELEVEN TRIED.

Defeats Dean Preparatory School in One-Sided Game, 27 to 0.

FRANKLIN, Mass., Oct. 6.—Harvard's informal 'Varsity football team played its first game of the season at Dean Academy here today, beating the schoolboys 27 to 0, scoring one touchdown in each of the short periods. Two scores were made by straight rushing, and the others were made possible because of Woods's ability to follow the ball on Dean's poor handling of kicks.

The crimson had the heavier team, but Captain Snow was the only old 'Varsity squad player in the lot, and was the strength of the whole rushline.

Arnold Horween, brother of last year's 'Varsity back, made most of Harvard's gains against Dean today and scored two of the touchdowns. Dean had no attack, making first down only once by rushing except for a pretty twenty-yard end run by Caldwell.

Both teams held to straight football, not a forward pass being made in the game, no tries for goals, and only about half a dozen punts.

In the first quarter Harvard rushed the ball from the kickoff to Dean's seven-yard line, where the schoolboys did some fine tackling and took the ball on downs, but only to lose it immediately in the same way while trying to rush out. Harvard then covered seventeen yards in four plays for its first score. The touchdown was made by Horween, who also scored Harvard's second touchdown at the end of an eighty-yard journey from the next kickoff, fifteen plays covering the distance. In the third quarter a fumble by Blanchard cost Harvard a score after Woods had recovered a muffed kick near Dean's goal, but when Mullin of Dean dropped another punt Woods recovered the ball again and a score quickly followed.

In the last quarter when Caldwell dropped a kick, Woods was on the job a third time, getting the ball on Dean's forty-yard line, but being caught just outside the goal by Lallor, it taking only one play for the Crimson to score after that. R. Hoffman made an eighty-five-yard run after receiving a kickoff, but his touchdown was not allowed because of holding.

The summary:

|---|---|---|
| Whitney | L. E. | Keefe |
| Woods | L. T. | Lucier |
| Snow | L. G. | Kenyon |

LAFAYETTE BEATS SOLDIERS

Defeats, 20 to 0, Team from American Ambulance Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Penn., Oct. 6.—Mingling the educational and the military in football, Lafayette today defeated a team selected from the American Ambulance camp at Allentown, in the opening game of the season, by the score of 20 to 0. While it was the first contest of the season, the number of spectators, and the gray, cold weather gave the contest the aspect of a mid-season game.

It was the first game Lafayette had played under the coaching of Robert N. Berryman, and he made a very favorable impression, reflected by a team in which only one man had ever played in a college football game before. The Ambulance team was strong in its individuals, but its strength was not coordinated. The soldier players got away with a jump and carried the ball well down the field from the kickoff before Lafayette woke up. Just when it looked like a score for them, Lehr intercepted a forward pass and made a substantial gain to the Lafayette goal. Sigel and Loux then took the ball for good gains. Lehr made some more, and Lafayette quickly scored. The second touchdown came in the second period, when Lafayette, by means of straight football, carried the ball half the length of the field and over the goal line. The Ambulance defense tightened in the second half, and it was only by a fumble at the very end of the game that the Eastonians were able to score again. An Ambulance player received a punt on his six-yard line. He fumbled, and Wolf, who had just been sent into the game, recovered the ball and traversed the six yards in short order.

The lineup:

LEONARD TO BOX BRITTON.

The Two Boxers to Meet at 139 Pounds at Harlem S. C. Oct. 19.

Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion boxer, is now training for what is probably the most important bout of his career. He is matched to box ten rounds with Jack Britton, the Chicago welterweight, who formerly was recognized as a world's champion, at the Harlem S. C. on Oct. 19.

The match calls for the boxers to weigh in at 139 pounds shortly before entering the ring, and this figure is a decided factor in favor of Leonard, for it is doubtful if Britton can get down to the required weight and still be strong enough to do himself justice in a bout of ten rounds. The match has been hanging fire for some time, and is attracting an unusual amount of attention, inasmuch as it brings together two of the cleverest of boxers, although in different classes.

LOCAL RACING ENDS IN DAY OF UPSETS

Five of Six Favorites Defeated in Final Card of Aqueduct Program.

ROAMER AMONG LOSERS

Lady Dorothy Makes Poor Showing in Oakdale Handicap, Won Easily by Lanius.

Racing for the season closed yesterday in a manner characteristic of the final three weeks of the local campaign at Aqueduct. Five of the six favorites were defeated, and the beaten choices included Andrew Miller's great Roamer, a 1 to 2 favorite for the Edgemere Handicap, in which he met only two competitors.

In previous races at this track the son of Knight Errant had won so easily that few considered that either J. E. Widener's Chiclet or James Butler's Capra had a chance, even though both were in receipt of big weight allowances. Roamer's chance to finish the season in a blaze of glory was spoiled by neat combination work on the part of his despised opponents, Capra leading him a merry dance in the early part of the race, and leaving the finishing touches to Chiclet, who came strongly in the last half of the journey, and fairly ran Roamer off his feet. Though beaten, Roamer was not disgraced, for he carried 130 pounds to the 114 on Chiclet, and, in all probability, was not suited by the track, which was slow from the heavy rain of Friday.

As another feature of the getaway card the Oakdale Handicap attracted a good lot of two-year-olds, though some of the top weights were seeking laurels elsewhere. There were two surprises in this—one the defeat of the Quincy Stable's Lady Dorothy, and the other the manner in which G. D. Widener's Lanius disproved the estimate of his ability formed by the official handicapper. It is seldom that Mr. Vosburgh's weights are far out of the way, but Lanius, though carrying top weight of 114 pounds, won with such ridiculous ease that the event looked more like a condition race than a handicap.

Lady Dorothy's Failure.

Lady Dorothy's failure was almost as unexplainable as the great improvement of Lanius. Burlingame managed to get the favorite pinched off at the start, and she was shuffled back so that she was absolutely last at the far turn. Keogh hustled James Butler's Top Coat to the front, but he was closely followed by Enfilade, Lanius, and Nepperhan. Entering the stretch, Burlingame moved up with Lady Dorothy, and for a few strides it looked as if she might justify the confidence of her supporters. No sooner had Lady Dorothy ranged alongside the contenders than McTaggart called on Lanius for his effort. The Irish-bred horse showed a world of speed and left the others as though they were standing still. He simply romped over the line six lengths in front of Nepperhan, the outsider of the half a dozen starters. W. R. Coe's Nutcracker came strongly in the stretch and took third place from Top Coat by half a length. Lady Dorothy gave up the struggle and finished last.

Roamer was at a disadvantage in having Johnny McTaggart as his jockey instead of Shuttinger, who has ridden him in his recent victories. The old gelding likes to go to the front and set the pace, but this was prevented by Capra, the Butler filly, outrunning Roamer for the first quarter of a mile of the route of a mile and a sixteenth. Roamer got his head in front at the end of the back stretch and at this stage Chiclet was being rated along two lengths in the rear.

Going around the turn Roamer began to draw away from Capra and the backers of the favorite were already counting their winnings when Chiclet moved up on the outside of Capra. Keogh did not ask Mr. Widener's horse to do his best, but just enough to get on even terms with Roamer as they turned into the home stretch. Other horses have ranged alongside of Roamer and have been left behind when he made his real effort, but just before they reached the eighth pole it was seen that the old gelding was in trouble and was unable to respond to the touch of McTaggart's whip. The struggle was brief, for Roamer had nothing left, and Chiclet had little difficulty in leading him home by three lengths.

Form Players' Bad Day.

Form players started the day with a setback when W. P. Orr's Lucius, an even money favorite, was only able to finish third in the first race, a selling handicap at six and a half furlongs. Starfinch, running in the colors of W. H. Travers, took the lead on entering the stretch, and though Buxton made a bid with Lucius at the eighth pole he was never able to get up. Starfinch scored in the easiest possible manner, and Gifford A. Cochran's two-year-old Ballast outgamed Lucius for the place.

C. W. Cahill's Blue Thistle scored for the first time in many moons in the second race, for nonwinners at the meeting. The old son of Blue was opposed by a very poor lot and closed favorite, with Ting-a-Ling a strong second choice. Ting-a-Ling was away winging, but Blue Thistle was closer to the early pace than usual. Andes made an attempt to get up at the eighth pole, but both he and Ting-a-Ling gave way before the rush of Blue Thistle, which won handily by a length and a half.

The Washington contingent served up a hot favorite in the fifth race, for maiden two-year-olds, in Colonel Cluff, an imported colt that was having his first outing under colors. Buxton had the mount on the favorite, but could not prevent him swerving to the outside at the bend in the track, carrying A. L. Aste's well-played Eyelid with him. After crossing to the outside both Colonel Cluff and Eyelid lost more ground by dodging back to the rail. The erratic course spoiled the Washington coup and Andrew Miller's Snapdragon II., another imported colt, which maintained a straight course under McTaggart's guidance, won rather easily by two lengths from Eyelid, which beat Colonel Cluff by a length and a half for the place.

Just to hand out good measure to the mistaken supporters of favorites Andrew Miller's Killarney was beaten in the last race, for maiden two-year-olds. There was a bumping match at the head of the stretch from which S. Lewis's H. C. Basch escaped. Killarney was in the mêlée, and when McTaggart got her clear it was too late to overtake H. C. Basch, which was hustled to the finish by Troxler in time to win by a length from Medusa. Killarney got up to beat Golding a head for third money.

YACHT AURORA BROKEN UP.

Col. Vanderbilt Replaces Noted Racer with Schooner Elena.

Colonel Cornelius Vanderbilt's eighty-five-foot racing schooner Aurora, winner of both the Astor and King's Cups in 1910, and probably the fastest and best yacht of her type ever sailed, has been broken up and her fittings sold for junk. This is the outcome of ex-Commodore Vanderbilt's purchase of Morton F. Plant's racing schooner, Elena, which he intends to sail on his return from France and abandonment of his military career as Commandant of the Twenty-second Regiment of Engineers.

Aurora's hull is to be converted into a houseboat, which is the fate of Winsome, against which Aurora sailed a successful series of races during the cruise of the New York Yacht Club in 1916. Aurora was a Herreshoff yacht, which was built in 1907, and one of the most successful cup winners in the New York Yacht Club fleet.

LOCAL GIRL BEST SWIMMER.

Miss Galligan Set Three Records During Season.

Miss Claire Galligan, of the local National Women's Lifesaving League, stands today America's foremost girl swimmer. Her brilliant performances of the waning outdoor season give her undisputable all round leadership.

Competing in open water she was only defeated at one of the classic distances, 100 yards, and in that instance her vanquisher, Miss Dorothy Burns, of the Los Angeles A. C., was forced to register a world's straightaway record of 1 minute 7 4-5 seconds in order to beat Miss Galligan by a mere touch.

For the rest, Miss Galligan not only defeated all rivals from the furlong to one mile, but she shattered standard marks whenever unusually bad conditions did not preclude all chance of fast time.

At 220 yards she set a new American record of 3 minutes 5 1-5 seconds, over a 100-yard outdoor stretch; at 440 yards, same course, she clipped some 40 seconds from the old figures, placing them at 6 minutes 39 4-5 seconds; at 500 yards, in a pool, she did 7 minutes 31 1-5 seconds, beating international time by 1 1-5 seconds; in winning the one-mile national A. A. U. championship she finished in 33 minutes 4-5 second, battling all the way against extremely rough water and a strong cross tide.

Of the regulation outdoor championships, one escaped Miss Galligan. She was unable to attend the 440-yard event, and it went to Miss Olga Dorfner of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde. It should be noted, however, that the New York girl beat the latters best mark for both the quarter mile and the full distance in capturing the 500-yard national title.

It is one of the most remarkable features of Miss Galligan's unusually successful career that she has been in the competitive field little more than two years. She was a green novice when she took part in her first race in July, 1915. How rapidly she developed thereafter may be gathered from the fact that within eight months of her début, in March, 1916, she won the national 500-yard championship, and lowered three records in the race.

Miss Galligan swims the four-beat trudgeon-crawl at all distances, and holds it with machine-like precision whatever the length of the course. She is not at her best in sprinting, but from 440 yards to four miles she never has been defeated in open water.

SHIMNA TO BE HOUSEBOAT.

Former Flagship of Eastern Yacht Club Sold to Shipwrecker.

Another of the yachts for which that enthusiastic yachtsman, Morton F. Plant, was responsible has gone the way of worn-out yachts. Shimna, one-time flagship of the Eastern Yacht Club, has been sold by Commodore Robert Treat Paine of that club to a shipwrecker of this city, and she has been brought to these waters to be stripped of her valuable lead and metal fittings and then converted into a houseboat, for which sort of craft there is an unusual demand in the waters of the Sound. Her hull is good enough to stand the installation of power, so that she will be a remarkably good houseboat. Though built for racing, she has proven a wonderfully comfortable cruising craft, as those who have enjoyed the hospitality of her owner know.

Shimna was built especially to defeat Robert W. Emmons's sloop Avenger, which had been having wonderful success in winning the Astor, the King's, and other cups; Shimna, built in 1910, was designed by Capt. Natt G. Herreshoff, but was never a success, though she did win a number of races. But she was no prenomenon, and so Mr. Plant disposed of her to Commodore Paine of Boston, where she flew the flagship pennant of the Eastern Club as she had previously flown that of the Larchmont. Francis B. Crowninshield of Marblehead sailed her in many races against Avenger after both went to Eastern waters.

Boston has this season also lost the 65-footer Acushla, the 25-footer Flirt, the 94-foot yawl Scotia, and the sloop Narcissus, all of which have recently been sold to speculators looking after bottoms for the coastwise trade. Narcissus and Scotia will both be sent to Chile, the latter converted into an auxiliary schooner

Sparks Stars for Michigan.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 6.—Michigan's untried but powerful football eleven defeated the light Case College team 41 to 0 here this afternoon. The Wolverines started with a rush, and never were in danger. In the third period the visitors braced and kept Michigan from scoring. Sparks, the Michigan quarter back, was the star.

TOWN HALL TAKES HARBOR HILL CUP

MANY COMPETITORS FALL

Melodrama Comes to Grief When Leading Favorite at Last Jump—Cherry Malotte a Winner.

Society folk from the Long Island colonies turned out in force yesterday for the opening day's program of the Piping Rock Racing Association at the picturesque course at Locust Valley. There were fully 3,000 persons present when the first race was run, and this gathering was steadily augmented by new arrivals until the meeting was nearly half over. The grand stand was crowded, with here and there a sprinkling of the olive drab uniforms of army officers and the blue of navy to blend into a color scheme that was a riot of brilliant hues. Up on the knoll to the right of the grand stand the spectators overflowed to camp chairs, and the club house at the quarter pole held a goodly quota.

The chief attraction of the day, the steeplechase for the Harbor Hill Cup, a trophy given by Clarence H. Mackay, proved to be rather more of a falling race than a steeplechase, for out of nine starters in the event only two finished. Town Hall, W. R. Coe's bay gelding, which was the popular choice, finished in front some ten lengths ahead of the Beverwyck Stable's Crack O'Day. On the face of it this looks like an easy victory, but in reality Town Hall was beaten until the last jump intervened as an insurmountable obstacle to J. E. Davis's Melodrama. This jumper was a length in front with the journey's end just ahead when he toppled over the brush and gave his rider Nicklaus, a nasty fall.

Melodrama Falls Near Finish.

As the horses came around the last turn it appeared to be all over as far as Town Hall was concerned. Even plying the whip freely for the last furlong could not bring him nearer to Melodrama, and then out of a clear sky came the fall that then and there decided things. For the greater part of the distance Melodrama had made the running, only to be robbed of the fruits of his achievement within a hundred yards of the finish.

Earlier in the race the field had narrowed down to small proportions. At the first jump two horses were down, and, recovering their feet a minute later, raced riderless over the turf. It was not long before another horse was down, and from then on they toppled one by one until only three were left in the race—Town Hall, Melodrama, and Crack O'Day. After a mile Crack O'Day fell behind and the race was evidently between Melodrama and Town Hall, striding along just behind him. It would have been a thrilling finish had Melodrama not faltered and fallen at the final jump. As it was, the star attraction turned out to be a hollow victory and something of a disappointment.

Belle of Bryn Mawr in Front.

In the other races scratches left the fields rather withered up. In the Oak Ridge Steeplechase, which was of next importance on the program, Belle of Bryn Mawr, W. A. Prime's brown mare, made the running almost from the start, and managed to eke out a victory over Bet, owned by W. R. Coe. There were five starters in this race, and one of these, Stonewood, owned by J. E. Widener, came to grief after the race was a little better than half over. Hitting the jump just in front of the clubhouse, he turned a complete somersault, and Haynes, his rider, was taken to the Nassau Hospital suffering from a broken nose and shock.

After a mile of the race had been covered Bet, which had been held back, began to come up, and on the second trip down the back stretch was racing along not far behind Belle of Bryn Mawr. The latter stretched out a bit and increased her lead, but as the horses rounded into the stretch Bet, under the incentive of the whip, again challenegd, and there was a pretty race for the last 200 yards, the two racing down to the finish with only a half length separating them.

Champion Weldship Is Beaten.

Edward M. Weld's champion Weldship turned out for the Brook Cup Steeplechase, but his weight of 166 pounds proved too heavy a burden and he was beaten in the stretch by the Greentree Stable's Cherry Malotte.

Among the boxholders were J. E. Aldred, C. K. G. Billings, Middleton S. Burrill, William M. Baldwin, Anson W. Burchard, Howard C. Brokaw, George T. Brokaw, Frank J. Bryan, Major Gen. J. ## DOG SHOW ON FRIDAY.

Bronx County Kennel Club Will Hold One-Day Exhibit.

The Bronx County Kennel Club will hold a show at the old Second Battery Armory in the Bronx on Friday, Columbus Day. Entries for this one-day event number nearly 700.

Of the fifty-two breeds represented there has been entered a representative of each breed, and the majority of the breeds will have under the new A. K. C. rating from three to five points toward their championship. Entries have been received from the leading kennels throughout the United States and Canada, and with a good attendance the day of the show there is no doubt that a substantial sum will be donated to the local Red Cross Fund. The leading breed is the popular Boston terrier, with over eighty dogs entered.

BELMONT REPLIES TO TURF CRITICS

Defends Construction of Track and Gives Reasons for Running Reverse Way.

RACING SEASON A SUCCESS

Chairman of The Jockey Club Points Out Good Work Done at Great Expense by Westchester Racing Association.

August Belmont, Chairman of the Jockey Club, in talking of the successful racing season that closed at Aqueduct yesterday, paid considerable attention to the criticism that has been directed at the Westchester Racing Association for building and maintaining its course at Belmont Park so that the horses have to run the reverse way to other tracks in this country. Mr. Belmont referred to the great improvement in the sport over that of 1916 and to the general excellence of the horses competing. He foreshadowed an even greater advance in quality for the racing of 1918.

Speaking about the sport, he said: "The meeting at Belmont Park was eminently successful, thanks to an indulgent public, who put up with many inconveniences that were incidental to the attempted destruction of our property last Spring by pro-German sympathizers who somehow had gained the idea that the place was to be turned over to the Government. More than $30,000 was expended in the way of restoration before our Spring meeting could be held.

"I suppose you know that the Westchester Racing Association was stripped of all its surplus since 1908 and when we started racing again there was a floating debt of over $120,000. This debt was met by two other stockholders and myself, each advancing $40,000. When the other stockholders were asked to participate, only one—a very small stockholder—took a proportionate share. It was impossible, therefore, to do more than we did in the way of rehabilitation. Now, thanks to the patronage of the public, this year we are in a position to make further improvements for our Spring meeting in 1918, which would include an augmented program for racing tests.

"The brunt of the fight to maintain racing has always fallen on Belmont Park. The Westchester Racing Association was the organization selected in time of difficulties to open the season, both on account of its prestige and the tacit acknowledgment that it was not a commercial enterprise, being concerned as a serious addition to the turf. When able to pay dividends they never exceeded 5 per cent., and the average return on the money invested has been 1¾ per cent.

"While not asking for indulgence for mistakes, willful neglect of duty or any justifiable criticism," resumed Mr. Belmont, "any sane man will question the policy at this early stage of the rehabilitation of racing, in general, of finding fault with the tools we have for the tests, and threatening any racing association with withdrawing its support if a radical alteration of its course is not made. I am referring to the crusade which has been started among certain horsemen and trainers, assisted by some well meaning and loyal turf writers on the subject of racing the 'wrong way' as they call it, at Belmont Park.

"I have been given to understand that some of these trainers have gone so far as to advise owners not to race at Belmont Park unless the events are run from right to left—the conventional way. One of our most carping critics is a trainer who came to me in the lean days of racing and said that he did not have money enough to support his family. In helping to bring back racing I believe I did this trainer and others of his kind a greater service than would have been conferred by lending him money.

"We thought we were doing the turf a service by constructing Belmont Park as it stands at present. We were actuated by a desire to preserve the natural beauty of our property. Horses are raced abroad from left to right, and go to other courses the following week and run the conventional way. They race up and down hill, and these varying proving grounds test the quality of their horses and help to make them superior to ours. Horses with faulty shoulders cannot negotiate hilly courses. Perhaps the most comprehensive answer to the question is contained in a letter which I recently sent to a well-known turf writer in response to a communication to me referring to a change at Belmont Park."

Excerpts from the letter referred to follow:

"You cannot call the racing bad just because some of the trainers and owners do not care to run the reverse way. It is one of the features of racing in this country which some owners and trainers do not like to accept because mere habit and blind custom is broken into. In like manner some owners and trainers make it impossible to establish genuine selling races.

"From time immemorial races have been run from right to left on the flat and over standard courses. All track builders aim at a particular and accepted standard. Abroad races are run over varying ground, either to the right or to the left. Qualities of the horses abroad are very much better established as a result than they are in our American racing. The improvement in their breed is therefore admittedly more scientific. It is unwise to pander to these prejudices. I do not think they are entertained by the more intelligent owners and trainers, who know something of racing outside of our own country.

"With regard to racing in the reverse way at Belmont Park, it was in a measure due to the peculiar lay of the land, the necessity for transportation, and the unfortunate fact that the Manice place, with its magnificent trees, happened to be located in the southwest corner of the property. The shape of Belmont Park, bounded on the north by the railroad, on the east by the highway and on the south by a highway, is an unequal quadrilateral, its widest portion being on the eastern side, with Fulton Street on the south and the Long Island Railroad running at divergent angles. This would have made it almost impossible, in fact it was impossible, to lay out railroad accommodation, for the Long Island Railroad would not consider the construction of its spur on the eastern side, because it would have involved a great curve, whereas going in from the west in the manner in which it was finally established made the property conveniently served by both railroad and trolley.

"Having the precedent of Sandown and numberless tracks abroad for running what people call 'the wrong way,' we believed it for the good of racing that the change should be made, and we were under the delusion that it would furnish a relief from the monotony which it appears now the public seem to prefer. At all events, the reasons why seem never to be touched upon and we are criticised for doing something which our critics believed would give us no trouble to change but for our pigheadedness.

"It is unfortunate that just as we are drawing the kind of people to the support of racing who make the turf strong and inspire confidence, those who contribute little but get a great deal out of the turf and are wholly dependent upon it, such as trainers and professional owners, an attack is made upon the association which has stood the brunt of the fight for racing. Mistakes it has made and will continue to make, but its policy has been controlled by its interest in racing and nothing else.

"The dastardly efforts to destroy its property did not wholly succeed, but that we were able to recover from the blow as well as we did, and that we received such indulgent treatment from the public, makes me feel that we may not be as unpopular as you may imagine. This does not mean that we intend to close our ears to what we hear and read, but will respond to the extent in our power. We cannot do the impossible, however."

MOTOR BOATS GOING SOUTH.

Miss Detroit and Miss Miami Likely to Meet in Races.

There will be an added zest to the motor boat racing in Florida waters this Winter. The owners of the Miss Detroit, winner of the Gold Challenge Cup, have decided to take her south and race her against anything that may show up in Miami waters. Her chief antagonist will probably be Glenn Curtiss's speed boat Miss Miami, which will be put in commission in order that the great aviator may have a chance to drive her during the vacation he thinks he will manage to get during the Winter.

A number of express cruisers will go south this Winter as usual both by the inside and outside routes, those taking the latter route carrying parties of friends of owners, while the inside route will be taken by boats sent on down for racing use. A race for these craft from Miami to the Bermudas is being arranged, and there is to be a week's regatta in February, at which time Miss Detroit and Miss Miami are expected to try conclusions.

The new clubhouse of the St. Petersburg Yacht Club, which is the handsomest in the South, is finished and opened for Winter visitors. There is a fine basin for both power and sailing boats in front of the house and a great stretch of smooth water in Tampa Bay, where it is proposed to have a couple of regattas during the Winter for visiting craft from the North.

SENTIMENT SAVES ONLY CUP LIFTER

Boston Yachtsmen Act Quicker Than New Yorkers in Purchase of America.

MAY BE MARINE MUSEUM

Famous Racing Schooner Will Be Preserved and May Yet See Active Service in Local Waters.

That the famous old schooner yacht America, which on Aug. 22, 1851, won the Queen's Cup from fifteen competitors over the British course off Cowes, and so was instrumental in bringing about the series of international races popularly known as the America's Cup races, will neither go to the junk heap nor into the Cape Verde trade is now certain. A syndicate of members of the Eastern Yacht Club of Boston has purchased her, taken her to Quincy and there quartered her for the Winter. Sentiment saved the one-time revered craft from a junk-heap fate and may convert her into a museum to be permanently anchored in the Charles River and filled with the relics now owned by the incorporated Marine Museum of Boston, which relics are now in the old State House at the Hub. Quick action saved her from coming to New York waters, while New York yachtsmen deliberated.

New York yachting sentiment created the racing schooner, which revolutionized the sport as well as the modeling and rigging of racing yachts. New York sentiment was about to save her for the waters of this harbor, but that sentiment failed to crystalize in time. While New York yachtsmen talked Boston yachtsmen acted. So the wonderful old yacht, which should have been in New York waters, where all the races in defense of the cup she won originally have been sailed and where the club having custody of the trophy is located, will probably end her career in waters other than those where she, sentimentally at least, belonged. Designed and built here, her trophy defended from here. New York waters would seem to be the natural place for her to pass the declining years of her existence. Had plans not miscarried that would have been her fate.

New York Yachtsmen Too Slow.

New York yachtsmen had a scheme to buy her, when it was learned that the heirs of the General Ben Butler estate were willing to dispose of her, put power into her and then use her as a regatta committee boat to be used jointly by all the clubs racing in the waters of Long Island Sound. Such would have been an eminently fitting fate for the historic yacht. Before these plans could be perfected, owing to the necessity of unwinding a lot of red tape, Boston yachtsmen stepped in and secured the prize. It may not yet be too late for the plans to materialize, as the Eastern Club yachtsmen bought America solely as a sentimental matter and may be induced to turn her over to a New York syndicate for the purpose for which they desired her, and which had pure yachting sentiment as a basis, a desire to preserve the only craft which had ever "lifted" the America's Cup.

Actually there is little of the original cup winner to be preserved. The America, since winning the cup, has been once wrecked and twice rebuilt so completely that but little of her original frame timbers remain. Yet, sentimentally, she is still the cup winner. After winning the Queen's cup and showing her heels to everything in the way of a racing yacht which Britain owned, she was sold into British ownership, and there remained, with all her American frame and planking, rig and sails, until 1859. Hauled out then in a yard at Gravesend, she was found to be almost dropping apart from dry rot, and British oak, teak and elm replaced the New England timbers and planking.

Failed to Run Blockade.

In the civil war she became a blockade runner, and under Savannah ownership was sunk by a U. S. N. gunboat while on such work in the St. John's River in 1862. Raised by the United States Government after the war, she was taken to Annapolis, and for several years was used as a training ship by the naval cadets, and in 1870 raced in Government ownership in defense of the cup she won originally, in a contest in which the Cambria was the challenger and the American-owned Magic the winner, America finishing fourth and Cambria tenth. Three years later General Butler bought her for $5,000, for use as his private cruising yacht, and she has been in possession of the family ever since.

Gen. Butler never was able to race America very successfully, as the better lines of the newer model yachts had made her a back number. In 1880 he had her very thoroughly overhauled and practically rebuilt, the British timbers giving way to American hackmatack and pine, both above and below the waterline. Edward Burgess in 1885 furnished her with a new sail and spar plan, a lead keel and a bowsprit in place of her old jibboom, and it is with that fitting she now lies in Eastern waters. America's last appearance in New York waters was at the time of the Columbia-Shamrock II. cup races in 1901, when her appearance off Sandy Hook Lightship was in the nature of an ovation, guns booming, and sirens and whistles screeching as she sailed up to the starting lines with Butler Ames at the tiller.

Further Use for Great Racer.

When built a golden eagle and a wonderful bit of scroll work adorned America's stern. That was removed when she passed into British ownership, as her titled owner did not care for the screaming American eagle as a decoration. So the handiwork of American carvers of the old shipbuilding school was sold to an innkeeper of the Pickwickian type, who had it placed over the entrance to his "Golden Eagle Inn." The whereabouts of that bit of carving is unknown just now.

There is some talk among Boston yachtsmen of presenting the America to the Government for restoration to her one time duty as a training ship for midshipmen at Annapolis but most of them favor her conversion to a maritime museum of some sort. It is known that some of them favor a transfer to a New York syndicate of yachtsmen or to members of the New York Yacht Club, if they wish her, for the more active uses to which it had been proposed to use her here. It has been intimated that a little pressure brought to bear on the patriotic yachtsmen of the Eastern Yacht Club would result in the transfer of the title to New York yachtsmen if there is shown a strong sentiment here for the possession of the old cup winner, so that she may end her days in the racing game which she did so much to bring into being.

RINK TO OPEN ON OCT. 20.

Season at St. Nicholas Plant to Begin in Two Weeks.

The 1917-18 season of St. Nicholas Rink, 66 West Sixty-ninth Street, will open on Saturday, Oct. 20, with three sessions daily. An important new aspect of the opening will be the operation of an electric tractor which in one process planes, sweeps, and sprinkles the ice. By means of this device a new surface may be put on the ice in less than five minutes.

Consideration this year will be given the wearers of racing skates, and they will be admitted at the discretion of the management at all afternoon and evening sessions. Bror Meyer of St. Moritz, champion professional figure skater; his partner, Miss Emmy Bergfeldt, and Arthur Held, a well-known professional skater, will have charge of the instruction in advanced figure skating.

STRONG CONTENDERS FOR WOMEN'S TITLE

OTHER PLAYERS IMPROVE

War Prevents Play for National Honors—Four-Ball Match Today—Other Golf News.

Had it not been for the war the women golfers of this country would have just finished a week of enjoyment at their favorite sport, and it is just possible that Miss Alexa Stirling would have been accepting congratulations upon her second national championship.

The women were to have gathered at the picturesque and hazardous Shawnee Country Club links, at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, last week to play for the supreme feminine title of this country. They were to have been playing all of the week, and that Mars or any one else was so unchivalrous as to place obstacles in the way of such enjoyment can be used as another one of the innumerable arguments against war.

There were great possibilities in store for the 1917 national struggle for the women's title. There were not many newcomers among the field of expert players but several women had bettered their efforts of past years and gave promise of offering every resistance to Miss Stirling. There is little doubt that the long, hard Shawnee journey would have found many women playing the course with as much brilliance as most of the men who have been fortunate enough to have played there.

Mrs. Gavin Shows Improvement.

Both the East and West have developed two strong contenders for Miss Stirling's title. Mrs. William A. Gavin of Baltusrol, former British women's champion, and Eastern champion and present metropolitan champion, has acquired a greater ability at golf. During the past Summer she has never failed to please her followers. She won the metropolitan title without any untoward opposition, notwithstanding she was carried to the eighteenth green to defeat Miss Marion Hollins in the first round of the match play. Thereafter Mrs. Gavin disposed of the rest of the field by a big margin in every case. She is the outstanding player of this district and many think that her game has improved to such an extent that she would have been the dangerous factor in the title tourney had that affair been held.

Mrs. Frederick, C. Letts, Jr., the present Western champion who only recently so ably defended her title against such formidable oppostion as Miss Elaine V. Rosenthal, United North and South champion, is another player who seems to get better every time she plays. Mrs. Letts not only proved able enough to again carry off the Western title but she added the championship of Chicago to her list. Mrs. Letts and Mrs. Gavin undoubtedly have developed a firmer game of golf.

In Philadelphia Mrs. Ronald C. Barlow seems to have picked up in her game again, and threatens for distance the younger players if she gets a chance. There are any number of feminine pitch and putt experts in Philadelphia, and all of them would have been found at Shawnee had the tournament been played.

Miss Stirling has played little golf since she defeated Miss Mildred Caverly at Belmont Spring last season, and won the women's title. She did get a few practice rounds at Boston several months ago, and also was seen around Chicago, and at Mayfield, Cleveland, but in the main she has left golf alone. She hardly would have been in the proper condition to defend her laurels if the tournament were not canceled.

Ruling Body Cancels Title Play.

Again it was the United States Golf Association which decided the women's affair should not be held. The executive committee of the national golf body canceled the women's tournament and decided against a substitute affair, which would have been held in the nature of a Red Cross patriotic event. The committee did not act, however, until the women's committee decided it unwise to hold the tourney. This committee was made up of Miss Marion Hollins of New York, Miss Fanny Osgood of Boston, Miss Eleanor Chandler of Philadelphia, Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta and Mrs. Bruce Smith of Chicago, representing the respective sections of the country.

Feminine golf enthusiasts of the Metropolitan district are finding it so hard to get a chance to enjoy the royal and ancient sport that they are planning to build a course of their own. Almost all of the clubs in the district restrict the play of women to the early days of the week and reserve the links for the men during Saturday and Sunday. It happens that several of the women find it impossible to play during the day on which they are free to use the course, and these women refuse to bow to the edict of man.

There are several leading players interested in the project, all of whom are confident that the necessary money can be raised without trouble. There is a plot of ground in Westchester that is suitable for an eighteen hole course, and it is just possible that this place will be purchased in the near future and a woman's course be built upon it. The course would be strictly for women and without any place for the male devotee of the sport.

Another of the attractive Red Cross tournaments held on different occasions during the Summer at Van Cortlandt Park will be held over that public links Columbus Day, Oct 12. It will be under the auspices of the three clubs which have their homes on the course, the New York Newspaper Golf Club, the New York Golf Club and the Scottish-American Club. A cup has been offered to the player having the best net score and there will be numerous prizes for different events.

The outcome of the mixed foursomes held each week at Van Cortlandt is to be a woman's team next year, which hopes to take part in the team matches played with such success throughout the district. As many as fifty couples have been attracted by these mixed foursomes, and several feminine players are being developed through the game.

The Knollwood women's team, champions of Westchester last season, has not defended its laurels this season, because most of the players have been so deeply engaged in war work they have not found time to play golf. Miss Louise Freeman, Miss Constance Robeson and Mrs. Myra D. Paterson all are doing war work either here or abroad.

An exhibition fourball match between Philadelphia's best amateurs and professionals will be palyed over the Whitemarsh Valley course Oct. 14. James Barnes, Western and Philadelphia open champion, will be paired with Norman H. Maxwell, United North and South amateur champion, against Eddie Loos, Shawnee open champion, and Cameron B. Buxton, ranking amateur of Philadelphia.

TERRIER SHOW OCT. 27.

Boston Breed Will Be Exhibited at Waldorf-Astoria.

The tenth annual show of the Boston Terrier Club of New York to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Saturday, Oct. 27, is expected to be the largest event given in the history of the club. Cash and trophies to be offered as specials in the various classes are being received with each mail.

The club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Hotel Gregorian, New York City, tomorrow evening. The committee has provided a member match show open to dogs owned by members and their friends.

MATCH RACE STIRS TURF ENTHUSIASTS

Big Crowd Going to Laurel for Final Test of Hourless and Omar Khayyam.

Racing men who witnessed the great struggle between Omar Khayyam and Hourless, in the Realization Stake at Belmont Park, are enthusiastic over the prospects for another meeting of these two grand three-year-olds provided by the special race arranged to be run at Laurel next Thursday. The event, which is called the American Champion Sweepstakes, is practically a match race, as it is unlikely that any other three-year-old will be entered to dispute the championship with these wonderful thoroughbreds.

The coming engagement has been arranged on a magnificent scale by the Maryland State Fair Association, which offers a purse of $10,000 to the winner, in addition to the gold cup emblematic of the championship which has been offered by Edward B. McLean. As the race will take place only if the weather is fine, it is assured that the largest crowd that ever attended the Laurel track will be present, but this will not benefit the association, as all the profits from this big sporting event will be donated to the Red Cross.

During the last few days at Aqueduct turfmen have been busy discussing the most interesting turf feature that has been arranged in many years, and the majority of them are laying plans for a hurried trip to Laurel to see the rivals in their third meeting. Thousands of other sportsmen are expected to make the trip from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

Though Omar Khayyam has defeated Hourless on the two occasions on which they met this year, it can safely be said that on neither time was it demonstrated that Omar Khayyam was so far superior as to establish his claim to the three-year-old title. In the Brooklyn Derby, Hourless, unsuited by the track and, probably affected by the illness that kept him in the barn later, was so badly outrun that it was generally understood that it was not the real Hourless than was beaten. In the Realization there was only the margin of a nose between victory and defeat for Mr. Belmont's colt, and that nose is attributed by trainer Hildreth to the loss of Butwell's whip at a critical moment.

What makes the interest in the coming contest more keen is the feeling that in the Realization the horses only raced for the last quarter of a mile and that they were only galloping for the early part of the mile and a half. It was a trial of strategy, rather than a test of stamina, and with Hourless beaten in the final burst of speed it may be taken for granted that the Belmont candidate will try new tactics in the race next Thursday.

Except when he met Omar Khayyam, the pride of the Belmont stable has raced out in front of his field and set such a pace that no ordinary horse could follow. The trouble even with this method in racing against Omar Khayyam is that up to the present time no horse has been found capable of moving at a rate that would thoroughly extend the English-bred colt.

The reduction of the route to be covered from a mile and a half to a mile and a quarter was made at the suggestion of Mr. Belmont's trainer, and, as usual, Mr. Viau's representative assented rather than lose another chance of showing the real worth of his colt. Since the Realization Omar Khayyam has had a workout under colors and had difficulty in defeating a rather ordinary field. That amounts to little where a horse of the calibre of Omar Khayyam is concerned, for it is well known now that he will not race any harder than he has to, but up to the present time has invariably risen to the occasion when called on to make a winning spurt.

In the Viau camp there is the same feeling of supreme confidence that dominated the stable before the Realization. Mr. Viau and his trainer, Richard Carman, believe they have the best three-year-old in the country and are willing to put him to the test on any occasion and at any reasonable distance.

In a race in which the horses are so closely matched, as indicated by the Realization result, a good deal depends on the jockeys. In this respect the balance is in favor of Hourless, who will again be ridden by Jimmy Butwell. This lad in addition to being a good judge of pace and a strong finisher, has had the advantage of riding Hourless in all his races, while Mr. Viau has had to depend on any jockey he could corral for the different competitions in which his champion was engaged.

Butwell has a still further edge in this particular race, as he was engaged to pilot Omar Khayyam in the races that horse won at Saratoga. That even such a good judge as Butwell can be mistaken as to the merits of his mounts was proved in a measure at Belmont Park. After his first mount on Omar Khayyam at Saratoga the jockey expressed the opinion that Mr. Belmont's horse would defeat Omar Khayyam if they met again. Butwell had his chnce to carry out the prediction in the Realization, but little Buxton on the plucky Omar Khayyam upset the plan.

Latest reports from Laurel are to the effect that for the coming race Mr. Viau will intrust Omar Kayyam to the care of Jockey Everett Haynes. For a race of this character this may be an improvement on Buxton, as Haynes is one of the few of the younger generation of riders who has judgment of pace, an esssential for a race of a mile and a quarter. This lad is now permanently engaged to ride for the Viau and Carman stables and has been showing great form at the Laurel meet.

LEADING ATHLETES IN MEET.

Frick and Sellers Enter Special Race at N. Y. A. C. Games.

Officials of the New York Athletic Club are making preparations for a large turnout of local athletes at their games to be held at Travers Island next Friday. The program is divided equally for enlisted athletes and local A. A. U. performers. Four events are set aside for each class, and with the usual entry fee omitted a record entry is expected.

Entries have been received from Eddie Frick, of the Winged Foot organization, the senior metropolitan half-mile champion, and Jack R. Sellers, a clubmate. They will be rivals in the 600-yard run for A. A. U. athletes. It will be a return exhibition between these two runners, with Frick out for revenge. In a special 600-yard race during the games of the Jersey City Police Department recently Frick and Sellers matched strides with a large field and Sellers scored a convincing victory.

Other prominent athletes who will be seen in action are Pat McDonald shot-put title holder, and Matt McGrath, weight throwing champion, both of whom recently transfered their registration to the New York A. C. Each will compete in the 16-pound shot and the 56-pound weight, handicap, unlimited run and follow. McGrath recently was credited with a better distance for heavyweight than is on the record books, but because of the fact that the weight was found to be three-quarters of a pound short of the required "56" the mark was not recognized.

A five mile handicap walk is to be held in which a number of new local pedestrians are entered. This event will be conducted as a preliminary to the seven-mile national walking championship which will be held a few weeks later, and will give aspiring walkers a chance to test their endurance for the titular competition.

The military events include a hand grenade throwing contest, an equipment race, a half-mile novice run for soldiers in athletic costume and a two-lap relay race open to post teams. No entry blanks will be issued, but entries may be made by letter or on any entry blank. The entries close tomorrow with Paul H. Pilgrim, New York A. C.

RECORD PRIZE LIST FOR HORSE EXHIBIT

RECEIPTS FOR RED CROSS

Donation of Specials in Order to Aid Fund Swells Number of Competitions.

Directors of the National Horse Show Association yesterday announced the list of prizes for the thirty-second annual exhibition at Madison Square Garden on Nov. 12-16, the entire receipts of which the association will this year give to the American Red Cross. The list is the largest in the history of the Horse Show, embracing 165 classes, as compared with 156 in 1908, when the previous high-water mark was made.

The donation of many special prizes by horse fanciers who wish to aid in raising $100,000 for the war relief fund through the medium of the Horse Show is responsible for the unprecedented number of competitions this season.

These donors include William du Pont and Reginald C. Vanderbilt, each of whom has given a prize for hackneys; James Cox Brady, who offers $200 for the best runabout horse in the show; John R. Townsend, who gives $200 for saddle horses ridden by women; the Smithtown Hunt Club, which has donated a $250 trophy for hunters ridden by members of recognized hunt clubs; an anonymous "friend of the Association" who gives $250 for teams of three qualified hunters; F. Ambrose Clark, who gives $350 for registered thoroughbred horses suitable to become hunters, and John McE. Bowman, who offers the Commodore Cup, valued at $250 for jumpers and three other cups for children's ponies.

The most valuable prize of the Horse Show is the Alfred G. Vanderbilt Memorial Gold Cup, costing $1,000, given by Mrs. Vanderbilt for road four-in-hand teams. Others who have donated prizes are Lord Decies, Sir Adam Beck, James McLean, the new President of the National Horse Show Association; Prescott Lawrence, J. W. Harriman, Edward T. Stotesbury, Judge William H. Moore, J. Cammbell Thompson, Charles A. Baudouline, Harry Content, Alfred B. Maclay, Charles E. Coxe, I. J. R. Murling, Rufus Patterson, Louis Sherry, Udo N. Fleishmann, George B. Hulme, the Jockey Club, the Arabian Horse Club, the American Hackney Horse Society, the Canadian Hackney Horse Society, the Newport Horse Show Association, the Plaza Hotel, the Waldorf-Astoria, and the Biltmore Hotel.

Although the vogue of the automobile has hit the harness horse a staggering blow for every-day use he still leads in the show ring. Of the 165 classes in this year's prize list, thirty-six are for harness horses, not to mention eleven more for harness ponies. Hunters and jumpers come next in order with thirty classes, saddle horses with twenty-five classes, Hackneys with twenty, trotters fourteen, and military horses nine.

Entries for the show will close on Wednesday, Oct. 17.

Individuality

Our offering of custom-built Broughams and Landaulets enables you to secure the smartness and individuality so desirable in a town car without the delay, inconvenience and uncertainty usually experienced in the development of a really fine car.

Last Spring we gave two of America's foremost body builders a commission for a series of Broughams and Landaulets on Willys-Knight and Willys-Six Chassis.

Each car was to be different—each developed individually. For each a different color scheme was planned and for each a distinctive interior was developed.

These cars are now on exhibition at our showrooms and the range of selection they offer is ample to afford the most discriminating choice.

WARTIME AUTO SHOW TO BE LARGEST YET HELD

Utility of Motor Car in Promoting National and Individual Efficiency to be Emphasized—Expect 300 Exhibitors.

The first announcement of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce as to the scope of the automobile show has been awaited with more interest this year than in any previous year for a decade. The opening of the lists for the show, it was recognized, would be the most significant expression of opinion by the automobile manufacturers as to the war's effect on the motor industry, present and prospective, since the United States entered into the conflict with Germany.

This first announcement was made yesterday, and the Chamber reports that the number of exhibitors in the New York show and also in the Chicago show, the other national exhibition of automobiles, will be larger than in any previous year. This is taken as a statement by the manufacturers of their confidence in the automobile as an aid to the country in time of war as well as of peace, and that as the demand for national efficiency grows the service of the automobile, whether in speeding up hours of work or in providing needed relaxation, will be more and more recognized. At last year's show the idea was brought out for the first time that the automobile was primarily a new public utility, in the class with the railroad and the telephone in promoting national growth and individual well-being. In the 1918 show this idea will be given more marked emphasis.

"The drawing for space was held Oct. 4 at a general meeting in New York, with more than 100 companies represented," says the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in the announcement. "The number of exhibitors for both cars and accessories is greater than for any previous show, and all the space on the four floors of Grand Central Palace and the Chicago exhibition buildings will be filled to overflowing. The New York show will be held the week of Jan. 5 to 12, and the Chicago show from Jan. 26 to Feb. 2.

"The exhibitions will be devoted exclusively to passenger-carrying cars designed for private use, while the accessory division will offer the hundreds of parts and accessories that go to make up the modern motor car. The motor and accessory manufacturers division has applications to allot space to about 100 of its members, and when the final allotment of accessory space is made the total of exhibitors will reach close to 300 for each show.

"The following makes as members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce were served at the first drawing for both shows: (gasoline) Abbott, Allen, Apperson, Auburn, Austin, Brisco, Buick, Cadillac, Case, Chalmers, Chandler, Chevrolet, Cole, Columbia, Crow, Davis, Detroiter, Dodge, Dorris, Dort, Elgin, Elkhardt, Empire, Fiat, Franklin, Grant, Glide, Hackett, Hal, Haynes, Hudson, Hupp, Interstate, Jackson, Jordan, King, Kissel, Kline, Lewis, Lexington, Liberty, Marion-Handley, Marmon, Maxwell, McFarlan, Mercer, Mitchell, Moline, Monroe, Moon, Nash, National, Oakland, Olds, Overland, Owen, Packard, Paige, Paterson, Peerless, Pierce-Arrow, Premier, Regal, Reo, Roamer, Saxon, Scripps, Standard, Stearns, Stephens, Studebaker, Stutz, Velie, Wescott, Willys, and Winton; (electrics) Anderson, Baker, Milburn, Ohio, and Wood. The Glide, Dorris, Hackett, and Stephens will be shown at Chicago only, while the Kline will be exhibited at New York only.

"Space was allotted to the following concerns, not members of the N. A. C. C.: American, Harroun, Monitor, and Stanley, (steam.) The American will exhibit at the New York show only, while the others will be at both shows. Allotment to other non-members will be announced later.

"At the October meeting the automobile manufacturers discussed the new 3 per cent. tax on the industry imposed by the War Revenue act, which became effective Oct. 4. It being the intention of Congress in placing this tax that it be paid by the buyer of the car, it was the sense of the meeting that the amount of the tax should be added as a separate war item on each car and truck sold.

"It was voted to invest $50,000 of the organization's funds in the second issue of the Liberty Loan, and also to carry bonds for employes of the association.

"New divisions of the chamber were voted upon, to be known as the passenger car division and motor truck division, to be headed by Vice Presidents H. H. Rice for the passenger cars and Windsor T. White for the trucks. Charles Clifton presided at the meetings of the directors and members, which were attended by most of the presidents or executives of the leading companies of the industry."

NEW MOTOR KITCHEN CAPABLE OF SERVING 2,000 SOLDIERS.

In a test at New Haven, Conn., 1,750 soldiers were fed in less than an hour by this new motor kitchen, designed for use in the army. Cooking is done by steam. The inventor is a New Haven hotel manager.

6,000 MEALS A DAY FROM NEW ARMY MOTOR KITCHEN

A new army kitchen mounted on a motor truck capable of serving 2,000 soldiers with three hot meals a day is the invention of J. C. La Vin, manager of the Hotel Taft of New Haven, Conn. Its coffee capacity is a cup for 1,000 men every ten minutes. Cooking is done by steam. After a test at New Haven the results were considered so promising that it was ordered on to Washington to be tried out there.

At the New Haven test 1,750 men of the 102d Regiment were fed in less than an hour. By its use, the inventor says, two cooks take the place of twenty company kitchen units requiring eighty men and forty horses for operation.

The kitchen consists of a ten-horse power boiler, two ninety-gallon stew, soup, or pot-roast kettles, and two fifty-gallon coffee urns. The vertical boiler burns coal, oil, or wood. Everything has been designed for speed in service. Kettles and urns are steam-jacketed, and by a stop watch test in New Haven fifty gallons of coffee were made in nine minutes. Pressure of the steam varies from forty to fifty pounds. Besides doing the cooking the steam can be turned on mess tins for sterilizing. The body consists of a roof and flare boards which drop down to serve as a platform. The outfit is mounted on a four-ton Riker truck chassis. Over good roads the estimated speed of the unit is fifteen miles an hour. Weight is about nine tons.

The unit is designed to accompany or precede a battalion on the march. Hot food is ready when the battalion halts, as the food can be cooked while the unit is moving to the place selected for the stop. When the battalion entrains the kitchen is put on a flat car and is just as serviceable there for cooking as on the road. The invention has been given the name of the Taft Army Field Kitchen.

TOUR TO WHET HUNTING AND FISHING APPETITE

Attractive Run to New Jersey Fish Hatchery and Game Preserve—All Stages of Trout Growth.

Motorists who are interested in hunting and fishing will find much that is instructive in a trip by motor to the New Jersey State Fish Hatchery at Hackettstown and the new game preserve at Buckwood Park, says The Touring Bureau of the American Automobile Association, which describes the route as follows:

"The best way to reach these places from New York is by way of the Forty-second Street ferry to Weehawken. At the top of the hill, after leaving the ferry house, turn left and at once right on Third Street. Follow this through the towns of Weehawken and Union Hill to the Hudson County Boulevard, where again turn to the left. After a run of about five miles along the Boulevard, which is becoming rather badly worn in places, turn right through West Side Park, coming out on the Newark Plank Road, which leads direct to Newark.

"Here keep on across Broad Street to the Court House, where bear to the left on Springfield Avenue, and shortly turn left into High Street. Follow this latter to Clinton Avenue, where turn right and continue via Clinton and Springfield Avenues to Springfield. From this point the usual route via Morristown to Hackettstown cannot be used at present, as the road between Morristown and Mendham is under construction. However, there is a very good alternate available running via Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Liberty Corners, and Far Hills to a junction with the main route again at Chester.

"From this point to Hackettstown the road passes first through German Valley and then over the well-known Schooley's Mountain. While the grade over the mountain is somewhat steep in places, the road surface is fairly good all the way and this part of the trip need cause no one any anxiety.

"Hackettstown itself is a pretty town, but its interest to the motorist is greatly enhanced by its being the site of the State Fish Hatchery. Abounding in small ponds and park-like effects, the hatchery grounds are exceedingly attractive. Here may be observed the methods of rearing trout, bass, salmon, and other fish from the egg state to adults ready to be "planted" in public waters throughout the State.

"In order to reach the State game preserve at Buckwood Park from Hackettstown, run west on Main Street, bear right into Hope Street and continue over a good road, which was improved last season, through the villages of Vienna, Great Meadows, Pequest, and Buttzville to Bridgeville. About two miles beyond this latter place turn right uphill and continue over a poor and rough road running along the east bank of the Delaware River to Delaware.

"Here there is a tollbridge crossing the river, and a fairly good road leads from the Pennsylvania end of the bridge to Portland. Thus far the route has coincided exactly with the trunk route to the Delaware Water Gap, but now, instead of continuing along the west side of the river to the Gap, it is necessary to recross again to the New Jersey side at Columbia.

"The only available road for reaching Buckwood Park from Columbia is a poor and very hilly one, following closely the east bank of the river for about ten miles. The wildness and beauty of the scenery in the reservation is, however, ample reward for the strenuous driving necessary to reach it."

MAP COMPILED BY AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION.

NEW CAR AT $500.

Foreshadows Contest Between Two Largest Auto Makers.

A new rivalry in the low-price field between the two largest producers of automobiles is foreshadowed in the confirmation from Toledo of the report that the Willys-Overland Company will put out a car to cost about $500. The factory price of the Ford touring model is $360, but full equipment, which it lacks, notably electric starting, will be included in the price of the new Overland car, according to the information from Toledo, so that the challenge to the Ford will be more direct than appears in the first comparison of the prices.

The engine will be a four-cylinder, weight of car about 1,500 pounds, and wheelbase 100 inches. It will be ready for exhibition at the New York Automobile Show in January.

DUAL LIFE OF CAR.

"Business and Pleasure Combined to Increase Efficiency."

"This season has proved to American motorists the real value of the automobile," says L. F. Ollier, general sales manager of one of the larger automobile companies. "Never before has the worth of the motor car as a dual business and pleasure necessity so forcibly been brought home to the man or woman owning a machine. In this time of pressing business and the increasing shortage of labor the man with a motor car has been able to do twice and in many instances many times as much work as he was formerly able to do. The time saved in going to and from the office and to and from appointments has been one of the big features of the use of the automobile in business. And the man owning motor trucks, while his competitor still sticks to the old method of 'horse-drawn drays and trucks,' has found the 'going' and the business results far in advance of his neighbor."

STATE A. A. A. MEETS.

Representatives of 117 Clubs Expected at Gathering at Corning.

The New York State Automobile Association will hold its annual convention at Corning Wednesday and Thursday of this week. There are 117 local clubs in the State. The first day will be entirely taken up with business of the association. Election of officers will take place Thursday morning, and in the afternoon there will be a trip by automobile to Hammondsport, a sail on the steamer Penn Yan and an out of door meeting and luncheon at Urbana, where the principal speeches will be delivered.

The Federal Automobile Tax, proposed amendments to the Uniform Traffic, Headlight, and Motor Vehicle laws will be discussed at the convention and definite action decided upon.

CHERRY FOR ROADS.

The State Highway Commissioner of Pennsylvania has called upon the people of that State to celebrate Arbor Day, Oct. 26, by planting trees along the roads. As many of the roadways are now narrow and must eventually be widened, particularly on curves, he recommends planting the trees within a foot of the right-of-way line. For use where only shade trees are desired he recommends setting out the sugar maples or red oak, but the commissioner gives fruit trees preference over shade trees. First choice is the oxheart cherry, on the ground that it is both ornamental and fruit-bearing and will grow to a large size. Second choice is the apple tree.

AMONG MAKERS AND DEALERS

The Kauffmann-Morris Company, Fifty-seventh and Broadway, will have charge of the retail distribution in this territory of both passenger and commercial cars of the Nash Motors Company. The new "Nash Six," the first car to bear the name of the President of the Nash Motors Company, is fitted with a valve-in-head motor, seats five passengers and has a 121-inch wheel base. In addition there are a four-passenger roadster and a sedan. The only car remaining over from the former Jeffery line is the seven-passenger car. The name of Nash has been substituted for Jeffery on the "Quad." The Warren-Nash Company will be the wholesale representatives of the company in New York.

The first Fageol car, made in Oakland, Cal., and which boasts the costliest chassis in the world, $10,000, was on exhibition in New York for the first time last week, at the Biltmore. The engine is a Hall-Scott six-cylinder aviation motor, and the makers assert that a speed of 116 miles an hour can be attained and sixty miles "with the throttle half open and the motor making only 750 revolutions a minute." The Hester Motors Company of 24 Stone Street have taken the New York agency of the car.

The Bronx automobile dealers have organized the Bronx Automobile Dealers' Association, with headquarters at 607 Bergen Avenue. The association plans to hold an automobile show in the Bronx. The officers elected are: E. W. Lowrus, President; D. J. Barrett, Treasurer; John B. Elsey, Vice President, and J. Lloyd White, Secretary.

The Colt-Stratton Company, New York representative of Dodge Brothers, moved last week to its new quarters at 1,847 Broadway. H. R. Bliss, formerly sales manager of the company, has been elected Vice President, and will be in active charge of the business.

Warner F. Russell, Superintendent of the New York branch of the Buick Motor Car Company, has been appointed First Lieutenant in the Ordinance Department of the army. He was formerly in the racing game and drove Buick cars in the races in 1911. In 1912 he had a more exciting time fleeing from a revolution in Mexico City, where he represented the Buick car.

R. H. Collins, President of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, has been elected a Director of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Wilfred G. Leland, who has entered the aeronautical industry.

Morton W. Smith Company, Inc., New York representative of the Murray car, has moved from Fifty-seventh Street, near Broadway, to larger quarters at 10 and 21 West Forty-fourth Street.

William C. Poertner predicts that scarcity of chauffeurs on account of the war will result in an increased demand for sedans which the owner can drive and still be one of the passengers, so to say.

The Franklin Automobile Company reports that for the week ending Sept. 29 285 cars were turned out, making a new record in production for the company.

ONE OF THE 1918 LOWER-PRICED SEDANS.

Nineteen hundred and eighteen models are coming out in larger numbers each week. The car shown here is a 1918 sedan in the price class that ranges from $1,000 to $1,200, made by the Maxwell Motor Car Company. Splash guards have been dropped, with the result of a wider running board, and the wheelbase has been increased to 109 inches.

HOW TO AVOID DRAG OF POOR COMPRESSION

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

It is surprising how many motors pull irregularly because of weak compression without any suspicion on the part of the owners as to the real causes of the trouble. Formerly when the engine was cranked by hand one knew instantly when a cylinder or cylinders began to lose compression. Nowadays the self-starter does the work, and we have no means of telling that compression is weak unless we take out the starting handle and test for it.

Compression is an important factor in developing the full power of the motor. The explosion pressure runs from three to four times that of compression. If the compression drops one-half, then the explosion pressure drops, but the loss is in more than direct proportion. It would seem that if the explosion pressure was one-half, the power developed would be one-half. But one must realize that it takes a certain amount of power merely to keep the engine moving. That is, to overcome the inertia and friction of the moving parts. This amount is constant. All power developed beyond this amount is available to run the car. If the compression and power drop to one-half, just as much power is required to run the engine, so that the available power drops in much greater degree.

The most satisfactory way to test compression is by hand. Install the starting handle and crank the motor over compression on each cylinder. If one of them is weak there will be but little resistence compared to that of the others. This cylinder must be located so that the loss may be remedied. Proceed as follows: Leave the compression cock closed on number one cylinder and open on the others. Crank engine and note resistance. Open that compression cock and close the next one. Crank and compare resistance with the first. Continue with remaining cylinders. If one or more are found to be weak then locate the cause. Run engine and inject oil around valve caps, spark plugs, and compression cocks. Bubbles show leakage and these parts must be tightened until leakage stops. Test these cylinders again and see if compression is restored. If not, inspect exhaust valve to see if it needs grinding. Having ground that, pour kerosene into defective cylinder to soak into carbon around piston rings. These rings may be gummed with soot and so unable to function properly. Then spin motor by means of the starter in order to shake the rings and allow the kerosene to work in back of them. After this treatment compression should be restored. If not, the trouble is a serious one, requiring removal of cylinders. The piston rings may be broken, scored, or badly worn, or the cylinders may be scored also. Such troubles require the services of a well-equipped repair shop, as new rings must be fitted and the cylinders reground. Keep in touch, so to speak, with the compression in your engine if you wish to obtain best results.

WILL SHOW ELECTRICS.

These Vehicles to be Prominent Electrical Exposition.

Preparations are being made by the electric vehicle industry for a comprehensive exhibit at the annual Electrical Exposition, which opens in Grand Central Palace, Oct. 10, for ten days. Electric cars and trucks, batteries and other accessories have heretofore been a prominent feature of these expositions in which the year's progress in things electrical are shown and demonstrated.

"The electrical vehicle industry," says the management of the show, "might almost be called a 'war bride' because it has benefited greatly from conditions resulting from the war, especially the gasoline situation. This benefit is world wide and electric vehicle manufacturers in this country have been shipping their product to every part of the world. For example scores of electrics have recently been placed in service in the cities and towns of South Africa, where gasoline now sells around a dollar a gallon. Thus prosperity will be much in evidence at the vehicle battery and accessory exhibits at the forthcoming Electrical Exposition."

Liberty Loan Auto Meeting.

With the aim of taking steps that the automobile trade do its part in making the second Liberty Loan a success, a meeting of the automobile and allied trades will be held at Reisenweber's, Eighth Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street, Monday, Oct. 8, at 12:30 P. M.

Three Reasons Why Willard Leads

First, The Willard organization is never satisfied with a good battery, but is always seeking to make a better battery.

The Still Better Willard, with Threaded Rubber Insulation is the latest evidence of this spirit.

Second, Willard is never satisfied merely to put a Willard Battery on a car. Willard advertising, Willard booklets on battery care, and Willard Service Station Men tell you how to take care of your battery so as to get the best use and longest life out of it.

Third, Willard Service Stations provide convenient, reliable places where you can get help in battery care, or have it done for you; and where you can get expert repair and recharging service when you need it.

The Car With The Half Million Dollar Motor

"Twelve hundred ninety-seven and seven-tenths miles over heart-breaking roads on forty-eight gallons and two quarts of gasolene, or an average of 26.7 miles to the gallon for the entire distance, is a record that any cross-country driver would be expected to boast about.

"This performance, which is nothing out of the ordinary for a Briscoe car, was made by Charles F. Hopkins, Jr., in a brand new stock Briscoe from Jackson, Mich., to his home city, St. Augustine, Fla."—From N. Y. Telegraph, Sept. 30th.

26.7 miles per gallon proves conclusively that there is real economy in driving a Briscoe.
Let us demonstrate how much value can be crowded into an automobile selling for as low a price as $725.

MOTORING has its proprieties just as does fashion.

That is why it has been necessary to have more than one type of car at your disposal.

Social occasions, business requirements and weather conditions have demanded it.

But—now that is no longer necessary.

The arrival of the new Cole Eight Four-Door Toursedan eliminates the necessity of owning more than one motor car.

Here in one unit you have all the advantages of an open touring model or the privacy and protection of a Sedan or Limousine.

In each condition the car has all of the appearance of permanence. It is completely transformed from one type to another—not temporarily converted!

The appointments are faultless. If made to your personal order they could offer nothing more.

It is advisable to place orders for the Cole Eight Four-Door Toursedan at once to insure immediate delivery.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—That ear-splitting roar which shook the quiet Sabbath of Cook County this afternoon was caused by the fighting White Sox as they thumped the haughty Giants into a tottering wreck, tumbling McGraw's club, which was Manhattan's pride, into the humiliating depths of a 7-to-2 defeat in the second game of the world's series at Comiskey Park.

For a baseball club which was supposed to have an even chance with Rowland's men the Giants fought back with pitiful weakness. Fully 32,000 rabid, shouting fans rejoiced in the Giants' second downfall, as the Sox batsmen hammered Ferdinand Schupp and Andy Anderson out of the box in an avalanche of hits.

Jeers and hoots followed the Giants as they made themselves scarce after the game. "Where, oh where," yelled the stock yard fans, "was John McGraw's wonderful galaxy of diamond stars?" "Where was the great baseball machine which a year ago broke the records of all time with twenty-six straight victories?"

The Sox crumpled the New York Club without half trying. McGraw's ace in the pitching line, young Schupp, was slammed out of the game in the second inning, when Anderson was rushed to the rescue.

All Pitchers Roughly Treated.

For one inning Anderson baffled the Sox, and then in the fourth Chicago fell upon Andy's moist ball tosses with the same fury that Schupp had faced, and Anderson was derricked from the débris to give Pol Perritt a chance to halt the onrushing Sox. Pol stopped them, but by that time it was all over, and the Giants had become the laughing stock of the most partisan gathering of fans in the world.

A team has never been beaten so thoroughly in a world's series game as the Giants were on this balmy Autumn afternoon. McGraw's men were whipped so badly that their stamina was gone and their spirit broken.

Not once did they show an encouraging sign of hitting back at the scrappy Sox. They took defeat in an indifferent, matter-of-course way. The drive, the resources, the undeniable punch which has characterized the playing of McGraw's men—all those elements which carried the Giants to the National League pennant—were missing. This extravagantly praised New York team was thrashed into a limpid, lifeless ruin.

Sox Overcome Disaster.

It was the Sox this afternoon who showed that they were the uphill fighters and not the Giants. Urban Faber, slashed dangerously in the second inning for three hits and two runs, looked as if he were on the slippery chute of defeat. New York seemed to have him on the run, and when the White Sox took their turn at the bat in the last of the second chapter, they faced a 2 to 0 handicap and McGraw's best pitcher, Schupp, was spinning his southpaw shoots at them with a cunning which McGraw figured would baffle. But before the inning was over, Schupp, a dejected figure, was slowly making his way to the bench, and the Sox had tied the score at 2 to 2.

Even then the Giants had no inkling of what was coming. Anderson had halted the Sox uprising by fanning Nemo Liebold and New York seemed to have gained its equilibrium again. The Giants' opposition, however, was only a temporary tissue paper affair and in the fourth inning Rowland's boys rose in their might and sent Anderson to join Schupp in his sad meditation in the clubhouse.

Red Faber, hurt by the sting of the Giants' attack in that second inning, came back with an abundance of nerve and aided by the skillful support of his fellow-Sox, he held the Giants at bay and subdued their batting ambition with a varied array of flitting tangents. Faber recovered gamely from the staggering blow the Giants gave him and survived the test to add to their punishment in eight more innings of hopeless battle.

Jackson Once More a Hero.

While Chicago is praising Faber for his great work, it also is giving General Joe Jackson his just deserts. This same Shoeless Joe, who saved the Sox yesterday with his wonderful catch off the top of the grass, brought his trusty bat into play and had a perfect day. In four times up Jackson got three hits and a base on balls, a batting average of 1000. He's a hero with the left field bleacher crowd now. Every time he came to the plate in the left terrace he

Ship Silver and Keep Gold to Bolster German Exchange

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 7.—The Germans are now shipping silver instead of gold out of the country in an effort to improve exchange rate. Three cars of silver bars, in charge of Imperial Bank officials, crossed the Danish frontier at Vamrup yesterday.

EPISCOPAL FUND REACHES $8,712,000

Pension Campaign Closes with Amount Sought 75 Per Cent. Oversubscribed.

NEW YORK GIVES $2,131,592

System to Aid Clergymen in Operation with Payments at Rate of $203,000 a Year.

The campaign to raise a $5,000,000 pension fund for retired Episcopal clergymen, which has been going on now for a year, has closed with the fund almost 75 per cent. oversubscribed, it was announced yesterday. The total subscriptions in the hands of J. P. Morgan, Treasurer of the fund, amount to $8,712,000. Of this $5,164,000 has been paid.

New York City contributed $2,131,592, or nearly twenty-five per cent of the total. In this city there were 2,537 subscribers whose names are recorded as having given a total of $1,678,947. More than half a million dollars were raised in this city in cash church collections.

The Church Pension Fund is the largest of the kind ever raised, and, next to the Red Cross $100,000,000 fund, the largest charitable fund ever gathered in the United States for one purpose. When the campaign was started a year ago, $5,000,000 was announced as the goal to be reached. Later it was asked that this fund be oversubscribed in order to place it on the soundest possible financial footing.

The campaign was made under the direction of Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts. The fund had been so well subscribed by Feb. 28 of this year that the pension plan was at that time put into operation with Bishop Lawrence as President. At the present time pensions are being paid at the rate of $203,000 a year, part being paid to aged or disabled clergymen, part to widows and part to minor orphans.

The names of 47,713 subscribers are actually on the books of the fund, but the number of those who actually gave is estimated in hundreds of thousands, as in numerous instances an entire congregation's gift was entered and no record kept of contributions. A total of $2,019,610 was received in cash from contributors of whose names no record was kept.

The largest contribution was one of $324,744 made by the Carnegie Corporation. Two persons gave $250,000 each. Nine gave $100,000 each. Twelve subscribed $50,000 each; twenty-nine, $25,000; fifty-four, $10,000; 221, $5,000, and 764, $1,000. There were 37,974 gifts of less than $100.

Geographically the contributions were divided as follows: $3,381,354 from New York and New Jersey; $1,222,768 from New England; $2,115,934 from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia; $306,478 from Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, and Kentucky; $1,102,927 from Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin; $172,947 from Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Montana, the Dakotas, and Wyoming; $91,841 from Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico; $255,607 from Oregon, California, Idaho, Arizona, Utah, Washington, Nevada, Alaska, and the Philippine Islands.

It was announced, when the campaign was started, that the old age pensions would be available at the age of 68 years to those retiring from regular cures (1¼ per cent of average salary multiplied by year of service), the minimum being $600 a year and the maximum half of average salary. The disability pension fund is available at any age, amounting to 40 per cent of the average salary for the last five years, with a minimum of $600. The widow's pension is one-half the pension of the pension the husband would have been entitled to, the minimum being $300. Benefits for orphans are $100 a year up to seven years; $200 between seven and fourteen years, and $300 from then until majority.

BELGIAN AVIATORS CARRY OUT REPRISALS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Bombing of German cantonments by Belgian aviators in reprisal for German bomb dropping behind the fighting lines, is announced in an official communiqué reviewing operations during the past week which was issued tonight by the Belgian Legation. The communiqué, dated at Havre yesterday, says:

"Along the whole Belgian front enemy artillery operations have been very active during the past week, particularly in the region of Ramscapelle, where action has been most violent, and where the Germans made use of gas bombs. We have successfully replied to the enemy's fire, their works, communications, and cantonments at Finsdyk, Essen, Boesgevelt, and Woumen have been heavily shelled by our artillery.

"Vigorous bomb fighting and a bombardment north of Dixmude ended in our favor. In the region of Woumen our artillery co-operated with the French and British during the offensive of our allies on Oct. 4. Several enemy patrols attempted to approach our lines in the sector of Ramscapelle and Dixmude, but were repulsed.

"Our aviators made over 250 flights during the week. Our scouting patrols were very busy and brought down two enemy planes. During these offensive air operations, various other planes were forced to land within their lines, completely out of control. These operations efficaciously protected our reconnoitering planes.

"German cantonments have been subjected to heavy bombardment from our aviators as a reprisal against numerous bombs thrown at different points in our rear zone."

SENATORS URGE FEDERAL CONTROL OF PRINT PAPER

Committee Recommends Seizure and Operation of the Entire Industry at Once

TO SAFEGUARD FREE PRESS

Declares Greed for Excessive Profits Is Imposing a Most Unjust Burden.

FINDS PRODUCERS DEFIANT

Pooling and Distribution Plan Advocated as a Means of Immediate Relief.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Just before the Senate adjourned yesterday the Committee on Printing submitted through Senator Smith of Arizona an exhaustive report on the news print situation, which was made public tonight. The report advocates the adoption of a resolution, directing the Federal Trade Commission to supervise, control, and regulate the production and distribution of print paper and mechanical and chemical pulp in the United States, which will be taken up by the Senate at the regular session of Congress in December.

In concluding the report the committee says:

"The committee submits the resolution for the consideration of the Senate with the question whether it is better to safeguard the continuance of a free press in this country by assuring it an adequate supply of print paper at a fair and reasonable price or whether to permit a further increase in the excessive profits of the paper industry, which the Federal Trade Commission declares is about to exact $17,500,000 more in excessive profits from the American publishers who are loyally and patriotically supporting their Government in this fateful hour."

The report reviews the news print situation and quotes from reports of the Federal Trade Commission to show that the bulk of American newspapers are in danger of being driven to the wall on account of excessive prices for news print and the inability to obtain a sufficient supply.

Copious extracts are given from resolutions of editorial associations to show that the press of the country have no fear that Government control of news print production will mean a Government censorship of newspapers. The committee pays a high tribute to the patriotism of the American press in the present crisis.

The Proposed Resolution.

The resolution which the committee asks the Senate to adopt reads as follows:

Whereas, By reason of a state of war now existing it is essential to the national security and defense for the successful prosecution of the war to assure a supply of print paper and its equitable distribution at a fair price in order that the Government of the United States may be assured an adequate supply of paper products, and that all proper news may be generally and efficiently disseminated; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Federal Trade Commission is hereby authorized and empowered to supervise, control, and regulate the production and distribution of print paper and mechanical and chemical pulp in the United States, and that all mills producing and all agencies distributing print paper and mechanical and chemical pulp in the United States shall be operated on Government account; that these products be pooled in the hands of the Federal Trade Commission for the term of the war and the emergency occasioned thereby, and equitably distributed at a price based on cost of production and distribution plus a fair profit per ton as determined by the Federal Trade Commission.

Provided, That if the compensation so determined be not satisfactory to the person, company or corporation entitled to receive the same, such person, company, or corporation shall be paid 75 percentum of the amount so determined by the Federal Trade Commission and shall be entitled to sue the United States to recover such further sum as, added to said 75 percentum, will make up such amount as will be just compensation for such paper, and jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the United States District Courts to hear and determine all such controversies.

Need Relief at Once.

After reviewing the news print situation and the efforts of the Federal Trade Commission to effect a betterment of conditions, which resulted in the indictment of seven large papermaking concerns for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, the report continues:

"Most of the newspapers of the country are now up to the point where they will soon have to make contracts for paper for the coming year and if any adequate relief is to be obtained for them it must be had without waiting for the prosecution of the indictments in the Federal Court or the formal complaint filed by the Trade Commission. On this point Trade Commissioner Colver said, in his letter to the committee, under date of Aug. 15, 1917:

"'About Jan. 1 the majority of publishers must make new contracts. There is every indication that they will be plundered. The bill prepared in your committee at the time Mr. Davies and myself appeared before you is respectfully called to your attention.'

"Discussing the seriousness of the news print situation not only to consumers of paper but to the public generally, the Trade Commission says in its report, 'The commission has reason to believe that this situation will be still more aggravated and serious in the coming months,' and adds that 'the consequences to thousands of smaller newspapers and to many of the larger

London Mob Sets Pacifist's Church Afire After Hurling Him from the Pulpit

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Wild scenes, including an attempt to burn down the building, marked the pacifist meeting today at the Brotherhood Church, Kingsland Road. The meeting was to have been addressed by Bertrand Russell on the subject of "International Relations," and that the police expected disturbances was evident from the fact that there was a force of at least 200 men on duty.

Half an hour before the meeting was to begin a large crowd, which included a number of soldiers, assembled in the vicinity of the church. When service began only about fifty persons were in the edifice. The pulpit was occupied by the pastor, the Rev. F. R. Swan, and seated close to him was Russell. The opening hymn was sung without interruption, after which Swan attempted to speak, but was met with a howl of derision, and cries of "You ought to be ashamed of yourself" from some women.

Seeing that it was impossible for him to proceed, the Rev. Mr. Swan proposed that a hymn should be sung. The organist began, but immediately was interrupted by strains of "Keep the Home Fires Burning," which was sung for several minutes and was followed by cries of "Three cheers for the soldiers!" The din continued for a little while and then the pulpit was rushed. By this time Russell had disappeared. A soldier made for Swan and threw him into the body of the hall toward a door close to the pulpit, through which he vanished.

One of the men who had taken possession of the pulpit called for the National Anthem, which was immediately begun, but before the first verse ended a flame shot up beside the pulpit, caught the carpets at the bottom of the pulpit and inside of a minute some of the rails at the back of it caught fire. The fire evidently was caused by petrol. Police dashed into the building and beat out the blaze.

All this time the crowds outside had made frantic efforts to get through the police cordons. Subsequently some of those connected with the meeting were recognized as they left the church and despite the attempts of the police to save them were roughly handled. Women formed a considerable portion of the infuriated mob. It was with the utmost difficulty that the police prevented the wrecking of the building.

LA FOLLETTE CASE MAY HINGE ON BRYAN

Ex-Secretary to be Heard Regarding Alleged Statement About the Lusitania.

INQUIRY TO BEGIN TODAY

Committee Expects to End It in a Week or Ten Days—La Follette Prepares Defense.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The exodus from the Capital, following adjournment of Congress yesterday, was in full swing tonight.

Investigation by a Senate Privileges and Elections Committee of Senator La Follette's speech at St. Paul on Sept. 20 before the Nonpartisan League promises to be brief. The committee, headed by Senator Pomerene, with Senators Walsh, James, Dillingham, and Fall, will hold a preliminary meeting tomorrow to determine procedure. They expect to conclude the inquiry within a week or ten days because of its limitation solely to the accuracy of the recorded speech and accuracy of Senator La Follette's statements.

Whether public hearings will be held is to be determined tomorrow. Senator La Follette and William J. Bryan may be the principal witnesses. As to whether Mr. Bryan knew the Lusitania had munitions aboard at New York and urged President Wilson to detain the vessel, as stated by the Senator, is the chief point of fact at issue. Mr. Bryan already has publicly denied the statement.

Mr. La Follette was working tonight on a statement regarding the controversy. Tomorrow he hopes to submit to the Pomerene Committee a correct transcript of his St. Paul speech.

Another investigation during the recess will be the Newlands Committee's railroad inquiry to be resumed at San Francisco on Nov. 1.

Most of the members of Congress plan to go on the stump throughout their districts for the second Liberty loan, and to discuss the causes and objects of the war. Members of the Senate and House Naval Committees plan to visit naval establishments during the recess, while members of the Military Committees hope to inspect many of the army's activities.

FOUGHT TWO U-BOATS FOR HALF AN HOUR

Baltimore Boy Writes Home of the Experience of a Convoyed Vessel.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—A fight at sea with a German submarine, which continued more than a half hour, is described by August J. Zilonka, a Baltimore boy, in a letter to his former employer, Charles W. Pentz, Vice President and sales manager of the Frederick W. Lipps Company. In his letter Zilonka writes:

"We left on Sunday morning, Aug. 19. * * * Passing through the war zone were passed several lifeboats turned over. One had three dead bodies stretched across it.

"One thing we can be thankful for, was passing a mine about five feet off the port side during the afternoon, and seeing it in time to prevent us from being blown up, for this certainly would have happened if it were at night. British destroyers met us and convoyed us as far as where we met a United States and a French patrol boat.

"The British ships and destroyers then left us and headed for Liverpool, while we made the run for port. That was the night of Sept. 5. It was a fine moonlight night, one which I will never forget, as we received messages almost all night of submarine positions.

"The hours went by like days, and at exactly 7:19 A. M. we had a battle with two U-boats, which lasted about thirty-five minutes. We were firing steadily, and one time, by zigzagging, were almost hit by a shell from one of our own ships. The two wireless men manned the machine gun, while our senior operator was stationed at the key.

"We fired about 300 shots, but finally had to stop because of the positions of the other ships. I still have several shells as a remembrance of our battle, which I will never forget.

"Reports combined from all our ships state that one U-boat was sunk while trying to make a dive."

REGISTER TODAY.

Registration begins today and continues all week. On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

AGREEMENT NEAR IN RUSSIAN CRISIS

PAPERMAKERS ON STRIKE

Workers on Several Railroads Refuse to Obey Order of Leaders to Quit Work.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 7.—After a day of conferences between the Moscow industrial workers and the representatives of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates on the subject of the Coalition Government plan, the Moscow delegates left for home last night to put the situation before the Moscow political leaders. They will return to Petrograd and resume the conference tomorrow. The Government expresses confidence that the crisis has been passed, though an agreement on all points in the controversy has not yet been reached.

At 1 o'clock yesterday morning delegates from the various parties entered into private deliberations, while members of the Government held a separate meeting. The joint meeting was resumed an hour later. M. Nabokoff, on behalf of the bourgeois party, announced the terms on which that party would consent to participate in a coalition Government. M. Tseretelli, former Minister of the Interior, speaking on behalf of the Democratic Conference, favored the general plan under discussion, provided the conditions were acceptable to his party, and finally sanctioned by its delegates.

When a committee from the Democratic Congress visited Premier Kerensky yesterday he addressed the committeemen as follows:

"The growth of anarchy, the condition of political ruin which confronts the country, the extravagant demands of various groups, and the strivings in certain quarters to restore the former regime force a recognition of the necessity of union and coalition. Only the union of the bourgeoisie and democratic elements can save the country."

Minister of Foreign Affairs Terestchenke pleaded for a reconstruction of the nation's forces so that "the delegates who will participate in the Paris conference on Oct. 16 may point out to the Allies that our fighting force has been renewed and that our boast of strength is no myth." He added: "Owing to the vacillating character of the Congresses, which one day welcome the War Minister with his aims for reconstruction of the army, and the next day applaud the Bolsheviks program, the Government has passed 56 out of 197 days in a state of crisis."

The Parliament called by the Democratic Congress held its first meeting today for the purpose of organizing.

The Railwaymen's Congress has given its approval to the strike on all the railway lines, as decided upon by the Railwaymen's Committee, while the Congress declaring that the strike does not run contrary to the interests of the State, as a refusal of the Government to grant the demands of the men for an increase in wages threatens to precipitate conditions of anarchy on the lines. The congress, however, has agreed that the strike shall not affect the railways serving the fighting front.

Premier Kerensky telegraphed the railwaymen on Friday that their demands would be met next Tuesday, and asked them to countermand the strike order. The semi-official news agency today announced that the employes of the important Vladikavkas Railway system, (Ciscaucasia,) as well as a number of other lines, have decided not to join in the strike. This news, says the statement, "gives ground for hope that the efforts of the Government and the Soldiers' and Workmen's Council to avert the strike will be successful."

The workmen in all the paper factories of Petrograd have gone on strike. The strike threatens, if prolonged, to seriously embarrass the early convocation of the Constituent Assembly owing to the demand for paper for the electoral bulletins which had been ordered from the factories affected.

Eight thousand soldiers at Gomel, in the Province of Mohilev, following a meeting, refused to go to the front, says a telegram from Gomel. The soldiers afterward became disorderly, and to prevent excesses they were surrounded by Cossacks, when they promptly surrendered.

CIVIL TRIAL FOR KORNILOFF.

General Likely Through Technicalities to Escape Court-Martial.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 7.—General Korniloff probably will escape trial by court-martial, because of technicalities, and be judged, instead, by a civil court on the charge of insubordination, says the Novaia Zhizn.

It is pointed out that General Korniloff's march toward Petrograd was by order of the Government, which three days after the "rebellion" continues the newspaper, commanded that all orders issued by General Korniloff at the front be carried out. Therefore, it is argued, he can only be considered blamable from the moment when he

URUGUAY BREAKS WITH GERMANY ON GROUND OF HONOR

Rupture Announced Officially After Deputies Vote For It, 74 to 23.

CHAMPIONS SMALL NATIONS

President Viera Declares It Necessary to Defend the Cause of Justice.

PERU CALLS BACK MINISTER

Fifteen Countries Have Followed Our Lead in Severing Diplomatic Relations.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 7.—Uruguay has severed diplomatic relations with Germany. A Presidential decree announced the rupture, following a vote in favor of it by the Chamber of Deputies, 74 to 23. Passports have been sent to the German Minister.

The vote in the Chamber was taken at 2 o'clock this morning.

President Viera in his message to the Parliament declared that the Uruguayan Government had not received any direct offense from Germany, but that it was necessary to espouse the cause of the defenders of justice, democracy, and small nationalities.

Uruguay, with other neutrals, has been a sufferer from Germany's U-boat warfare and other actions in disregarding international rights. In a note to the United States Government on April 14, the Montevideo Government said it did not recognize Germany's unrestricted warfare, and did recognize that the action of the United States in declaring war was a proper answer to Germany's actions.

Uruguay, on May 1, sent a note to London and Paris, asking for information as to the sinking of the Gorizia a Uruguayan ship, and later made a protest to Germany. In May it joined in the suggestion for concerted action by South American countries toward Germany. On Sept. 14 the Uruguayan Government, in a note to Argentina, approved the action of the Buenos Aires Government in handing his passports to Count von Luxburg. At the same time, Uruguay seized the German ships in her harbors and interned the crews.

Several times in the last month there have been anti-German demonstrations.

HOSTILITY TO BERLIN GROWS.

Argentina Expected to Follow Uruguay in Breaking Relations.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Uruguay's action in breaking diplomatic relations with Germany, which had been expected by Pan American and Entente diplomats and State Department officials in Washington, is construed here as evidence of the growing hostility toward Germany through South and Central America. It will still further isolate German agents who have tried to make South America a base for propaganda and intrigue. Fifteen nations have severed relations with Germany or declared war on her since the United States entered the conflict on April 6.

Uruguayan marines boarded all the German ships in the harbor at Montevideo two weeks ago, when the Uruguayan Government heard of plans to sink the vessels. Before that President Viera, on June 18, issued an executive order declaring that "No American country which, in defense of its own rights, should find itself in a state of war with nations of other continents will be treated as belligerent." Following this Uruguay welcomed the American naval squadron that was sent to Brazil, Uruguay, and later to Argentina.

Uruguay's step in breaking with Germany, coming quickly on the heels of Peru's action, is expected to be followed by Argentina soon, and before long by the complete isolation of Germany. South American nations that have broken relations with Germany are Brazil, Peru, Bolivia, and Uruguay. The Central American Governments breaking with Germany are Guatemala, Nicaraguan, Costa Rica, and Honduras. Panama and Cuba declared war on Germany on April 7, the day following the American declaration. Haiti broke relations with Germany in June. The Pan American nations that have not yet severed diplomatic relations are Colombia, Venezuela, Ecuador, Chile, Argentina, Paraguay, Salvador, and Mexico. Other nations that have declared war or severed relations since April 6 are Siam, Greece, China, and Liberia.

The action of Peru, Bolivia and Brazil means that three South American nations situated in a row, immediately south of the Equator, and which spread across the full width of the continent where it is broadest, have gone against Germany. North of this broad belt are only Ecuador, Colombia, and Venezuela, and south are Uruguay, Argentina, both branches of whose legislatures have voted for a break in relations, and Chile, where sentiment is steadily growing against Germany.

The action of Peru, Brazil, and Uruguay, and of the nations to follow in their footsteps is important to the United States and the Entente, for it will result in embargoes against the shipment of goods to neutral nations contiguous to Germany, and place at the disposal of Germany's enemies the German vessels that were marooned in Peruvian, Brazilian, and Uruguayan ports when the war began.

PERU RECALLS HER MINISTER.

Also Orders Withdrawal of All Consuls from Germany.

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 7.—The Peruvian Government, which yesterday handed his passports to the German Minister, today ordered the Peruvian Minister to Germany, A. von der Heyde, to leave Berlin.

British Seeking von Luxburg Hold Up a Spanish Steamer

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 7.—A British cruiser stopped an outward-bound Spanish steamer seven miles off the coast, according to advices here today.

The steamer was held up, it is supposed, in the belief that Count Karl von Luxburg, the former German Minister to Argentina, who recently received his passports, might be on board.

A Buenos Aires dispatch on Oct. 5 said that Count von Luxburg left Argentina on that day, taking a tug to Colonia, Uruguay, and proceeding by train to Montevideo, where he boarded a Spanish steamer, which later sailed for Spain. He was said to have a Spanish safe conduct, which diplomats in Argentina considered sufficient to protect his person, but not his papers, from capture.

RAIN AND SNOW ON WESTERN FRONT

Haig's Artillery Is Active All Day, but Wet Weather Checks Infantry.

GERMANS BEGIN BARRAGE

Heavy Shelling of British Lines on Wide Ypres Front in Progress Last Evening.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The unfavorable weather has interfered with military operations of the Ypres front, a heavy rain having prevailed all day, with a decided fall in temperature. The Germans began a heavy barrage this evening against the newly won positions of the British between Broodseinde and Hollebeke, to the east of Ypres, but no infantry action followed, nor was there any last night or today.

The British guns were also active throughout the day, replying to German fire. Last night Field Marshal Haig's men made two successful raids on the German lines, bringing back twenty prisoners and a German machine gun from a position southeast of Broodseinde.

Notwithstanding the weather, British aviators on Saturday dropped one and a half tons of bombs on enemy targets, one a railway station.

The weather is stormy and a heavy rain has fallen all day. An advance the enemy attempted at dawn was broken by our artillery, rifle, and machine gun fire. Toward dusk this evening the enemy put down a heavy artillery barrage on the greater part of our front between Broodseinde and Hollebeke, but no infantry action followed.

The artillery activity on both sides was considerable today on the battle front. There was nothing of importance on the remainder of the British front.

The weather was still very unfavorable for flying on Saturday, but a little artillery work was done. One and a half tons of bombs were dropped on enemy targets, including a railway station, and our fighting machines went out whenever possible. One failed to return. One bombing machine also is missing, which went out Thursday night.

Following is the text of the afternoon communication:

There was considerable artillery activity on the battle front during the night. We successfully raided the enemy's positions southeast of Broodseinde, inflicted several casualties, and brought back twenty prisoners and a machine gun. A raid attempted by the enemy south of the Ypres-Comines Canal was repulsed. Another successful raid was carried out by Leicestershire troops west of Cité St. Elie, (near Lens.)

The weather is showery and much colder.

In the last two days our artillery has taken to task enemy organizations and detachments of infantry pioneers in the neighborhood of Clercken, Essen, and Woumen in reply to bombardments in the region of Ramscapelle of our advanced posts and first line trenches in this sector and also near Dixmude.

Wulpen, Avecappelle, Loo, and Nieucapelle were subjected to the fire of long-range guns. We silenced several batteries and shelled strong organization of points in the enemy's first lines. On the night of Oct. 6-7 a German patrol was dispersed by our infantry fire at close range.

Cold Wave Over Eastern France.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—A cold wave is moving over Eastern France. Snow has made its first appearance of the season on the frontier heights of the Vosges.

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—(Via London—British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—A destructive artillery fire, with occasional outbursts of extreme severity, is being kept up in Flanders along the line between Poelcapelle and Zandvoorde (approximately a ten-mile front), according to today's army headquarter's report. The statement announces that it has been ascertained that serious damage was done the harbor and railway works at Dunkirk by the recent German air attack, with the result that the British will be hampered in handling reinforcements for their armies.

Because of the rainfall and the wind, the fighting activity with almost all the armies was slight.

In Flanders a continuous, strong, destructive fire, interspersed with violent outbursts, was directed on the terrain between Poelcapelle and Zandvoorde.

Reports Heavy Damage at Dunkirk.

Photographs taken by our aviators confirm the conclusion that our bomb-attacks on the fortress of Dunkirk caused great destruction in several quarters of the town, especially among the harbor, warehouses and railway works. Considerable hindrance will be caused thereby to British reinforcements.

The supplementary report this evening from General Headquarters says:

In the evening the firing increased

WAR AIMS DEBATE IS SET FOR TODAY IN THE REICHSTAG

Long-Expected Discussion Apparently Forced Against Ministers' Will.

HELFFERICH ANNOUNCES IT

Michaelis Said to Have Given Majority Leaders Information About Alsace.

'HOLD ON,' SAYS HINDENBURG

Must Wait, He Asserts, Till the Allies Come to Their Senses on Peace.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7.—The Reichstag is at last to take up the troublesome matter of Germany's war aims.

The Cologne Gazette, which is almost an official organ, in its report of the address of Dr. Karl Helfferich, Minister of the Interior, in the Reichstag Saturday, represents him as saying:

"The question of war aims will be discussed in the course of a big debate next week."

The Rhenish Westphalian Gazette, in its version, says that the "big debate will take place Monday."

This newspaper also states that Dr. Michaelis, the Imperial Chancellor, has given information concerning the future political situation of Alsace-Lorraine to the leaders of the majority parties in the Reichstag.

Belated reports of the debate in the Reichstag Saturday when the Socialist interpellation as to the new von Tirpitz Party was the occasion of a spirited debate in which General von Stein, the Minister of War, was jeered and Helfferich's speech was interrupted, says that at the conclusion of the discussion Herr Haas, Progressive, said:

"We protest against the Pan German agitation. There are no more peaceable people in the world than the Germans. Abroad people think otherwise about us in consequence of the frivolous talk of the Pan Germans. We need peace at home to make us invincible, but this wild agitation makes it impossible.

Herr Haas, Independent Socialist, submitted a resolution that the Chancellor's treatment of the subject did not correspond with the views of the Reichstag.

No action was taken on the resolution, and the debate was adjourned until Monday.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in replying to a congratulatory telegram from the Catholic People's Union of Essen, advised a policy of holding on and waiting as the one for Germany to pursue, according to a Berlin dispatch. His message read:

"We, too, desire what the Pope desires, namely, the termination of the war, which was forced upon us. Our enemies, however, are not willing.

"President Wilson's note was not only an insult to the German people, but was also an insult to the Pope's good-will.

"Our enemies, however, will gradually come to their senses. Therefore, we must wait. Let us continue to be victorious and hold our peace."

The definite forecasts from Germany that a "big debate" on the war aims of the nation is imminent in the Reichstag would seem to indicate that the apparent efforts to prevent any discussion of this very explosive subject had failed.

The Reichstag opened its formal sessions on Sept. 27, and within a day adjourned for a week, presumably until last Thursday or Friday. Very little has been divulged as to the nature of the deliberations, either in the brief session of week before last or in those since the reassembling last week previous to Saturday.

Saturday, however, was a field day for the critics of the Government, the Socialists making a determined onslaught upon the Pan Germans and the new von Tirpitz party whose agitation, they intimated, was being furthered and supported by the heads of the army and the ministry.

Von Stein, the War Minister, was greeted with a chorus of "Oh's" when he asserted that the high command did not permit political agitation within the army. The President of the Chamber had to appeal to the Deputies to resume their seats.

Dr. Helfferich, Minister of the Interior, who followed von Stein, was treated with similar scant courtesy. He finally cried: "If you have no confidence in the men at the head of the army and the Government, then"— and was greeted with shouts of "No" from the Left. More disorder followed, and the Minister refused to proceed.

SEES PEACE GUARANTEE IN SOCIETY OF NATIONS

French Majority Socialist's Forecast Jeered by Minority Members of the Party.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 7.—The National Socialist Congress, now in session here, after settling some trifling disputes between the majority and minority, resumed today the discussion of questions relating to the war and eventual peace.

Alexandre Varenne, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, and one of the spokesmen for the majority, said that he would not discuss the origin of the war, responsibility for which was indisputably fastened upon the Central Empires, but would take up the only question that was to be disposed of, not the date, but the value of eventual peace. He asserted that peace would be assured by a society of nations. This provoked ironical protestations from the minority, whereupon he cried:

"It is really curious that you cannot at that idea; yet it is precisely Germany had thought its worst [illegible] the universe against her she would have hesitated to declare war."

An unusual incident occurred at the session last night. Pierre Brizon, one of the Socialist members of the Chamber of Deputies, was hooted from the tribune while he was trying to justify himself for not having paid his dues to the party. As nearly as could be made out, M. Brizon was endeavoring to explain that he would pay up when the Socialists, after peace was declared, returned to "the true ideal of the struggle between the classes."

The dues in question amount to 100 francs monthly, which all Socialist members of the Chamber of Deputies are required to contribute to the party's funds from their annual compensation.

M. Brizon has several times caused scenes in the Chamber of Deputies by his opposition to war measures, and on one such occasion last December was ordered from the chamber.

CONDEMN ALIEN CONSCRIPTING

Reichstag Committee Opposes Forcing Americans to Serve.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 6.—Dispatches from Berlin show that the discussion in the Reichstag Main Committee on compulsory war service for aliens dealt almost entirely with Americans, although Belgians and Poles were mentioned.

Herr Hausz, Deputy from Alsace, asserted that foreigners were simply declared to be without nationality by the police, and were then incorporated into the army. America had already threatened reprisals, he added, and men without nationality composed the majority of the deserters to the enemy.

Colonel Marquardt promised that the matter should be remedied as soon as it was established that the incorporated men were foreigners. Herr Landsberg, Socialist, asserted that it was a fact that attempts had been made to impress Americans into the army merely because their passports had expired, and that this procedure was in every respect very objectionable.

Herr Gothien, Progressive, sharply condemned the practice complained of because the incorporation of such men was of no service to the German Army. Other speakers generally joined in condemnation of the practice.

Dr. Kriege, Director of the Foreign Office, said that in cases of Americans who had been naturalized only in America, such citizenship expired after two years of renewed residence in the home country. Where, however, they had obtained American passports and always had these renewed, he added, they thereby proclaimed they wished to remain Americans and could not be incorporated in the German Army. If, under certain circumstances, these passports were not obtainable, that situation would be taken into consideration.

Herr Heine, Socialist, said that the assurances given were tranquilizing, but the establishment of the facts was so delayed that aliens sometimes remained months in barracks. The right of protest, with the effect of postponement, he added, must unconditionally be given to those who were branded as being without nationality.

General Scheuch said that the views of the army authorities were in entire accord with those of the Foreign Office, and that everything would be done in conformity with the desire expressed in the Main Committee.

LACK OF FATS OFFSETS GERMANY'S GOOD CROPS

American Embargo Calculated to Make Worse a Situation Already Desperate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Information reaching the Government today from abroad indicates that, while Germany is preparing to increase the bread and potato ration because of good crops, the nation is in desperate need of fats.

The American embargo if maintained, officials say, will still further reduce Germany's fat supply, since Holland cannot continue to send across the border large amounts of dairy products unless she receives American feedstuffs.

SEES ASCENDENCY WON BY THE ALLIES

EXPECTS NEW VICTORIES

Full Success in Flanders Would Mean the Evacuation of German Submarine Bases.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—American expert military opinion regards the battle of Flanders, now in progress east of Ypres, as the greatest of the war. This is the view of American staff officers, indicated tonight, when Secretary Baker, in his third weekly review of military operations in Europe, described the present battle as one of "wholly unprecedented scope and potentialities."

The Secretary says that the Germans have massed their greatest war strength along this battle front; that a supreme test of the battle strength of the contending belligerents is taking place, and that "allied ascendency would appear decisive." Air control and shell supply are declared to be the two immediately contributing factors of this success. The British are attacking the Germans at their strongest point, and this is regarded by Secretary Baker and his military advisers as sound strategy.

The full success of the Flanders operations, the Secretary says, means that the Belgian coast and its numerous submarine bases—Zeebrugge, Ostend, and the system of canals leading out of Bruges—will become untenable to the enemy. As a result of the forward movement of the British war machine in Flanders, which has forced the Germans to mass their greatest war strength on this battle front, German pressure along the eastern battle front has been relieved.

A Battle "of Unprecedented Scope."

"The attention of the world is focussed on the titanic struggle now going on in Flanders. The battle raging there is proving an engagement of wholly unprecedented scope and potentialities.

"The latest advices indicate that the Allies have renewed their attack north of the Tower Hamlets to the Ypres-Staden Railway. It would appear that they have gained a firm foothold on the northwestern slope of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt ridge.

"Along this eight-mile front in the Ypres salient British have everywhere attained their first objectives, and are busy consolidating their newly won positions.

"Slowly, but, therefore, the more irresistibly, the allied drive at the heart of the German line in the west is sweeping forward.

"The wisdom of the British in maintaining a great density of front, which is, as they believe, a coefficient of victory, would appear justified by the results achieved during the past week. It must be borne in mind that it is due to the depth of the British line, as much as to any other one factor, that while the enemy is still reeling under one blow the Allies are ready to deliver another, and still a third.

"It has been characteristic of the campaign in Flanders hitherto that neither belligerent has attained what we may call a decisive success. The Germans have massed their greatest war strength along this battle front. To attack them at their strongest point of resistance is sound strategy.

"The defeats inflicted upon them during the last fortnight are conclusive indications of allied superiority. In the light of past experience it may be premature to assert that the British have succeeded in forcing a decision; but it may be stated with emphasis that in no engagement hitherto has such vigor, energy, and concerted speed of action been displayed.

"The full success of these operations means that the Belgian coast with its numerous submarine bases, will become untenable to the enemy. Zeebrugge, Ostend, and the system of canals leading out of Bruges are threatened.

"The supreme test of the battle strength of the contending belligerents is taking place. Allied ascendency would appear decisive.

"The two immediate contributing factors of this success are air control and shell supply.

"The former made it possible for the Allies to locate enemy concentrations, the latter to break them up before they could develop into serious offensive actions, at the same time permitting their own concentration of men and guns to be carried out with clockwork regularity, unhampered by enemy interference.

"The British are thus able to report that since July 31 last they have not lost a single gun, while they have captured 33[illegible] field and heavy guns and taken 51,435 prisoners. During the fighting of the last two days they have added 4,446 prisoners, including 114 officers, to this imposing total.

Looks for New Allied Victories.

"The enemy realizes the danger he is facing. We may expect him to counterattack in force. He may even regain certain secondary objectives temporarily, but the British war machine is moving forward, and if time permits and the combat season remains open, with the weather continuing favorable for reconnoissance and careful aircraft observation, the allied victories of the last two weeks will in all probability be repeated and extended.

"Along the other sectors of the western front artillery duels have been frequent, more particularly on the east bank of the Meuse, north of Verdun, as well as along the Aisne front in the region of Panthéon and Hurtebise.

"The Germans also showed a certain activity along the Verdun sector, particularly in the vicinity of Hill 344.

"East of Rheims they were apparently massing troops for an attack. Those preparations, however, were broken up by allied artillery fire, and the attack failed to materialize.

"The enemy pressure along the eastern front has been relieved by the strong allied offensive in Flanders. No engagements of more than local importance are reported in the east.

"The German advance in the northeast has apparently slackened, and the Russians have been able to reorganize their positions in the Riga sector.

"In the Italian war zone unsuccessful attacks by the Austrians on the Italian positions in the Monte San Gabriele sector are reported. The enemy's efforts to gain ground in this sector in every case failed.

"In another powerful drive the Italians captured the hill ground south of Podlaca, taking 1,400 prisoners, including 40 officers.

"News from the Russian front is more encouraging. Heavy fighting is reported as taking place there. Enemy attack was checked by Russian artillery fire, and a Bulgarian advance was also driven back.

Decided Success in Mesopotamia.

"From Mesopotamia news reaches us that the British have scored a decided success. After an encounter with the Turkish forces lasting twenty-four hours, they occupied the town of Ramadie, an important junction of roads sixty-five miles west of Bagdad, taking a considerable number of prisoners.

"The activity in the air during the past week has been marked. Important raids by the Allies were conducted against strategic objectives on the Flemish coast, along enemy lines of communications and supply dumps.

"A well co-ordinated aerial attack by the British naval aircraft was carried out against the lock gates at Zeebrugge and the airdomes in the vicinity of Bruges. The Allies are, furthermore, extending their raids to the interior of Germany, especially in the Rhineland. Stuttgart and Frankfort-on-the-Main were again bombarded."

CAPTURE OF RAMADIE A BRILLIANT EXPLOIT

FEW SWIM THE EUPHRATES

Troopers Foil Attempt to Break Through Them, and See Ahmed Bey Turn and Surrender.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Edmund Candler, representative of the British press with the expeditionary force in Mesopotamia, telegraphs from Ramadie the following description of the capture of that Turkish base on the River Euphrates:

Our force moved in two columns on the night of Sept. 27, one column on the right and the other on the left, and at dawn attacked Mushaid Ridge, a low line of dunes running north and south from the Euphrates to the Habbaniyah Canal. To clear the ridge and cross the canal was the first objective.

"By 8 A. M. the dam of the canal fell into our hands and it was rendered passable for all arms. At dawn we bombarded the main crest of the ridge, but the Turks had evacuated it. As soon as it became clear that the Turks were evacuating Mushaid Ridge we changed our line of attack. The right column was withdrawn, and swinging around to the west behind the left column became the left wing of the force. Our front, three and a half miles in breadth, now lay between the Habbaniyah Canal on the right and the Aziziyah Canal on the left at a point nine miles from the Euphrates.

"As soon as the infantry had carried Mushaid Ridge, our cavalry made a wide, sweeping movement across the desert around the right flank of the Turks. They by 4 P. M. were established astride the Aleppo road on a regular line of hills running to the river at right angles, within five miles west of Ramadie. By this move the Turks were cornered. They had no bridge behind them, and were cut off from all reinforcement or supplies. Their only chance was to drive in determined counterattacks and break through before we drew the ring in closer. Meanwhile our infantry was closing in.

"At 1 o'clock, after bombardment, one column attacked Ramadie Ridge, on the right, while the other was working around to Aziziyah Ridge, on the left. The capture and holding of Ramadie Ridge by the British and Indian infantry was a most gallant affair. It offered no cover of any kind, and our infantry became fully visible to the Turks a full 200 yards before they reached the top of the rise.

"As soon as they came into view the enemy opened a concentrated rifle and machine-gun fire on our front and on our right flank, while their guns, which were perfectly registered, opened an intense enfilade fire from batteries on our left. The situation at night was that the infantry were holding the enemy between the two canals, while our cavalry, astride the Aleppo road, five miles west of Ramadie, completely cut off their retreat.

"At night our cavalry, who occupied strong points on a front of three miles along the ridge, prepared for a desperate struggle. The expected attack began after 3 o'clock when the Turks tried to break through between the cavalry and the river. The action continued for two hours till dawn, when it degenerated into casual sniping.

"It was now daylight and the cavalry, whose gallant defense had rendered the Turks' case well-night hopeless, had the unique experience of watching the battle from the rear of the enemy. A small detachment of Turkish cavalry swam the river and escaped, with a score or so of infantry, but the main force, with all their guns, was trapped, and their one hope of salvation lay in determined counterattacks against the line of cavalry who held the road to the west.

"Our cavalry soon saw dark masses of the enemy approaching, and apparently prepared for a bloody battle. They watched this advance, as they thought it, for over an hour, but there came a moment when, to their astonishment, they saw the Turks turn and walk in mass formation towards the British front. The Turkish guns were silent, and white flags went up all along the line.

"It was a general surrender. Ahmed Bey, the Turkish commander, who had been on the Euphrates all through the campaign from the battle of Shaiba in March, 1915, and whose troops confronted us at Nasarayah all last Summer and Autumn, came out and surrendered with his whole force."

SWEDES ADMIT FEAR OF WAR

Ready to Suffer Severely Rather Than Incur German Enmity.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Sweden is in danger of being drawn into the war if she cuts off her trade with Germany, the Swedish mission announces, but rather than take such a risk she is prepared to endure sufferings and hardships.

Declaring that the question of manufactured iron and iron ore exports to Germany is the stumbling block in the negotiations with this country for the release of commodities to Sweden, the mission gives details of these exports intended to show that Germany receives only a small percentage compared to the amount exported to the Allies.

Regarding iron ore exports, the statement says that Germany this year will receive about two million tons less than she is entitled to under existing contracts, some of which are fifteen years old. It is contended also that in 1911 a treaty was signed between Sweden and Germany under which Sweden pledged herself not to make difficult or restrict iron ore exports to Germany. Sweden holds that this treaty cannot be broken without loss of self-respect and the respect of other nations.

Paris Car Strike Is Voted.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Because their demand for an increase in pay had been refused the employes of the automobile omnibus and tramway lines voted a twenty-four hour strike for today.

GERMAN NAVY PLANS DRIVE AT HELSINGFORS

Strong Forces of Warships Have Been Seen Off the Coast of Sweden.

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 8.—Strong German naval forces have been observed off the Island of Bornholm and off the coast of Sweden, apparently confirming rumors of an intended German offensive against Helsingfors and Petrograd.

According to a dispatch to the Morning Post from Stockholm, a traveler who has arrived in the Swedish capital says that he learned from a trustworthy source that considerable German forces were soon to be assembled in the Baltic, including numerous mine sweepers, seaplanes, and transports. The German plan is believed to include an attack on Helsingfors by land and sea.

NEW CHANCE FOR ENGINEERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The Engineer Corps is looking for 10,500 men with road construction experience to serve in an engineer brigade which is soon to go to France to do roadbuilding work with General Pershing's expeditionary force. The regiment will be made up entirely of volunteers. No man actually called for military service is eligible.

Rapid advancement is promised men with special qualifications, and a few college men, preferably with military experience, are wanted as noncommissioned officers.

Ex-Khedive Sees Emperor Charles.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7.—Abbas Hilmi, former Khedive of Egypt, who recently left Switzerland for Vienna, has reached the Austrian capital, says a Vienna dispatch received today, and has been received by Emperor Charles.

SPY LINK SUSPECTED.

Government Officials Had Watched Man Named by Schmidt.

When under examination by Deputy Attorney General Becker a few days ago, Hugo Schmidt, the Deutsche Bank representative in New York, who by order of Count von Bernstorff, the then German Ambassador to the United States, paid to Bolo Pacha the $1,683,500 to be used to debauch the French press in an effort to bring about a separate peace between Germany and France, mentioned the name of a man believed to have been the link between Bernstorff and certain spies, some of whom were Americans, who were sent from New York to work in England and France.

For months it has been suspected by Government authorities that the man named by Schmidt knew a great deal about certain activities in England which were directed from New York, but until Schmidt admitted that he turned thousands of dollars over to this man by order of Bernstorff, the Government is said to have had no evidence of value to prove that the man named by Schmidt received money from the plotting Ambassador.

A high official of the Secret Service had his attention called yesterday to Adolph Pavenstedt's statement when on the stand Saturday, that until war was declared he kept the Bolo-Bernstorff contract in a metal filing case at the German Club. The Secret Service man was asked if the rooms which had been occupied by men known to be German agents had been searched. He replied that they had not been, for the reason that as soon as war was declared those men lost no time in transferring such data into other hands which under international law the Government could not reach.

Historical Exhibition Extended.

The Public Library announced yesterday that the collection of historical prints and early views of American cities would remain on exhibition in the print gallery until Nov. 1. It had been intended to return the collection to its owners on Oct. 15, but an extension has been made so that visitors from other cities may see the prints.

refused to resign as Commander in Chief, and this demand only emanated from Premier Kerensky, whereas General Korniloff had been appointed by the Provinsial Government.

It is further pointed out that M. Lvoff, who acted as messenger between the General and the Premier, admits that he garbled General Korniloff's message, transmitting it in the form of an ultimatum without having received instructions to do so.

CAPTURE 762 TEUTONS ON RUMANIAN FRONT

Russians Also Take Village Near Sereth, but Are Driven Out by Gunfire.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 7.—Russian troops on the Rumanian front captured a height and part of the village of Vaskoutoy northwest of the town of Sereth in a well-prepared attack yesterday, but later abandoned the ground, which was being subjected to heavy fire by the hostile artillery. Prisoners to the number of 762 and seven machine guns were taken, says the official announcement. The statement on the operations along the various fronts reads:

Northern Front.—There was a livelier fusillade in the Jacobstadt region.

Western and Southwestern Fronts. —There were fusillades.

Rumanian Front.—At 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, after artillery preparation, detachments from one of our regiments captured as the result of a bold attack the height and half of the village of Vaskoutoy, two versts northwest of the town of Sereth. At 1 o'clock and again at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the enemy launched counterattacks, which we repelled. Owing to the terrific fire of the enemy artillery our detachments, having performed their task, abandoned the village of Vasqoutoy and returned to their previous position. The number of prisoners enumerated up to the present totals twelve officers and 750 men. Seven machine guns also were captured.

BERLIN, Oct. 7. (via London.)—German and Austro-Hungarian troops repulsed a Russian attack in Bukowina, driving the Russians out of Vaskoutoy, which village they had entered, by a counterattack, Army Headquarters announced today. The official statement reads:

Eastern War Theatre—Front of Prince Leopold.—Northeast of Riga, near Dvinsk and on the Zbrocz, the artillery actions several times grew lively.

Front of Archduke Joseph.—In Bukowina the Russians, supported by armored cars, attacked our positions near St. Onufry and Vaskoutoy. The enemy was repulsed by our fire and driven out of Vaskoutoy by a counterthrust of German and Austro-Hungarian troops. Prisoners remained in our hands.

AVERTS RUMANIAN FAMINE.

Col. Boyle Ends Crisis That Would Have Forced Evacuation.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 7.—The crisis in Rumania which threatened to force evacuations on a large scale has been solved and a food supply sufficient for sixteen months guaranteed, according to Colonel J. W. Boyle of the Canadian militia, widely known in America as a mining engineer, who for four months has been reorganizing the transport system on the Russo-Rumanian front.

By virtue of correlating the waterways and the railways, and systematizing the transport of foodstuffs and materials throughout the southern provinces, the danger of famine has been averted, Colonel Boyle believes.

Colonel Boyle, in referring to conditions on the Rumanian front, spoke in complimentary terms of the Rumanian troops and their Russian comrades. That far-off sector has suffered little from the demoralization that affected other parts of the front, and the returning engineer reports the spirits of the men excellent, and that there is every reason to believe they can continue to hold their present line.

American Red Cross at Jassy.

JASSY, Rumania, Sept. 17, (via Petrograd, Oct. 7.)—The arrival in Jassy of the American Red Cross Mission was most opportune. The normal population of the present Rumanian capital is 80,000, but it has been increased to 275,000, and the coming of the American Mission to deal with the problem of feeding and clothing 25,000 orphans and to assume charge of the direction of the work of stamping out typhus, which is making gains in the various villages, was greeted with much enthusiasm. The members of the mission at present are housed in residences, but ultimately larger quarters will be given them. It is probable that Jassy will be the permanent headquarters of the mission.

Food is scarce, and wearing apparel and shoes are virtually unpurchasable. The condition of the people promises to become acute with the approach of Winter. Thus far there has been no typhus in Jassy, but there are a few cases of typhoid fever and other illnesses due to insanitary conditions.

in the battle between Langemarck and Zonnebeke. On the other fronts there was nothing of importance.

CHAMPAGNE ATTACK FAILS.

French Capture Some of the Germans Who Charged Their Trenches.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—A strong surprise attack was delivered by the Germans upon French trenches at Navarin Farm, in the Champagne region, last night. The assault was repulsed, says this afternoon's War Office statement, the Germans suffering considerable casualties and leaving prisoners in the hands of the French. The statement reads:

Our own and the enemy's artillery were active in the Vauxaillon, Laffaux and Hurtebise sectors and on the right bank of the Meuse, particularly to the north of Hill 344 and in the direction of Bezonvaux.

In Champagne at the close of the day we repulsed a strong surprise attack against our Navarin Farm trenches. The enemy suffered appreciable losses and left prisoners in our hands without attaining any success.

There is nothing to report from the other portions of the front.

The official communication issued tonight says:

There was no infantry action. The artillery action was violent at times in Belgium, at various points on the Aisne front and on the right bank of the Meuse.

BERLIN, Oct. 7, (via London, British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—The communication from Army Headquarters says:

Before Verdun the firing activity revived at times on the eastern bank of the Meuse. Reconnoitring engagements there and in many other sectors resulted in a temporary increase in the reciprocal firing.

HAIG'S GUNNERS WORK WITH TIRELESS ENERGY

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS IN BELGIUM, Oct. 7.—The scene of war since Thursday has been dark and grim and overcast, with a brooding sky, where storm clouds are blown into wild and fantastic shapes. Yesterday rain fell heavily for most of the day, as nearly all night, and as it rains today and a wet fog rises from the ground, where the shell craters are already pools brimming over into swamps of mud. Through the mirk the British guns fired incessantly, with almost as intense a barrage as that which precedes an attack, though there was no attack from their side or that of the enemy.

I marveled at the gunners who had gone on so long feeding those monsters. The infantry have had a hard time of it—they who fight with flesh and blood against the machinery of slaughter which is set against them; but the gunners standing by the "heavies" and eighteen-pounders in sodden fields, with piles of shells about them and great dumps nearby, have no easy, pleasant time. On the morning of the last battle I saw the enemy's shells searching for them, flinging up earth about their batteries, and ploughing deep holes on either side of them.

They worked in the close neighborhood of death, and at any moment, between one round and another, a battery and its gun teams might be blown up by one of those howling beasts which seem to gather strength and ferocity at the end of their flight, before the final roar of destruction. Now and again a lucky shell of the enemy's gets an ammunition dump and a great torch rises to the dark sky, and in its flames are wild explosions as shells are touched off; but the gunners go on with their work in all the tumult of their own batteries, deafening and ear-splitting and nerve-destroying, and the young gunner officers—muddy, unshaven, unwashed, with sleep-drawn eyes—pace up and down the line of guns, saying: "Are you ready, No. 1? No. 1, fire!" with no sign of the strain that keeps them on the rack when a big battle is in progress.

For them the battle lasts longer than for the infantry. It begins before the infantry advance. It lulls a little and then breaks out into new fury when the German counterattacks begin. It does not end when the S O S signals have been answered by hours of bombardment, but goes on again, to keep the Germans' roads under fire, to smother their back areas, to batter their gun positions.

So yesterday, when the German guns were getting back behind Passchendaele, hauled back out of the mud to take up new emplacements from which they could pour explosives on the ground the British had captured, the English gunners could not rest, but made this work hideous for the enemy and followed his guns along their tracks. The British gunners in these frightful battles have worked with courage and endurance to the limit of human nature, and the infantry are the first to praise them and marvel at them.

New Zealanders Great.

The New Zealanders had many fights on the way up to Gravenstafel and Abraham Heights. One thing that surprised them was the number of pill-boxes and blockhouses inhabited by the enemy close to their own lines. They believed the foremost ones had been deserted, but it must not be forgotten that running all through the narrative of this battle is the thwarted plan of the enemy to attack in strength the same morning and at nearly the same hour. For that reason he had thrust little groups of men into advanced posts and into these most forward blockhouses, with orders to hold them at all costs until the attacking divisions should reach and pass them. For that reason, as we know, the enemy's guns laid down a heavy barrage over the British lines half an hour before the British attack started.

The New Zealanders did not escape this shelling, and their brigadiers were under the strain of intense anxiety, not knowing in their dugouts, over which the enemy's fire passed, whether their boys were so cut up that a successful assault would be impossible. As it happened, the New Zealanders were not seriously hurt nor thrown into disorder. When the moment came they went away in waves with the spirit of a pack of hounds on a good hunting morning. They had not gone more than a few yards before they had fifty prisoners.

Mortars were brought up, fired their rounds in two minutes and then with a yell the New Zealanders rushed the position on both sides and flung pea bombs through the back door until part of the garrison streamed out, shouting the words of surrender. The other men were dead inside.

A battalion commander and his staff were taken prisoners in another farm, and the New Zealanders drank soda water and smoked high class cigarettes, which they found in this place, where the German officers were well provided.

After that refreshment they went on to Berlin Wood, where there were several pill boxes hidden among fallen trees and mud heaps. They had to make their way through a machine gun barrage, and the platoon commanders assembled their Lewis gunners and riflemen to attack the house in detail.

This was at the blockhouses just outside the New Zealand assembly line. There was not a fight there, but the garrison surrendered as soon as the attackers were round their shelter.

Hannebeke stream flows this way, but it was no longer within bounds. The British gunfire had smashed up its track, and all about was a swamp made deeper by the rains.

Gave Some Relief.

The New Zealand lads had a devil of a time in getting across. Some of them stuck up to the knees and others fell into shell holes, deep in the mud as far as their belts. Men with the solid ground under their feet hauled out the others in the slough.

All that was at great risk of time, while the barrage was traveling slowly on with its protecting screen of shells. The only safety in these battles is to keep close to the barrage, risking the shorts, for if it is once passed and leaves any enemy there with a machine gun, there is certain death for many men.

The New Zealand boys nearly lost that wall of shells because of the mud, but somehow or other they managed to scramble on over the 800 yards in time to catch up to it.

Many blockhouses yielded up their batches of prisoners. The first fight for a blockhouse took place at Van Meulen Farm, just outside of the New Zealanders' first objective. The barrage went ahead and sat down, (as one of the officers put it, though the sitting down of a barrage is a queer simile for that monstrous eruption of explosive force) for a space.

From Van Meulen Farm came the swish of machine-gun bullets, and the New Zealand boys began to drop. They were held up for half an hour until "the leap frog" battalions (that is to say, the men who were to pass through the first waves to the next objective) came up to help.

It was a New Zealand Captain, beloved by all his men for his gallantry and generous-hearted ways, who led the rush of Lewis gunners and bombers and riflemen. He fell dead with a machine-gun bullet in his heart, but with cries of rage because of this great loss the other men ran on each side of the blockhouse and stormed it.

On the left of the New Zealanders' line one of their battalions could see the Germans firing from concrete houses on the slopes of Gravenstafel, and although they had to lose the barrage, which was sweeping ahead again, they covered that ground and went straight for those places under sharp fire.

Some of them worked round the concrete walls and hauled out more prisoners. There was hardly a New Zealander who would go back with them to act as an escort, so it happended that a Brigadier, getting out of his dugout to see what was happening to his men away there over the slopes, received the first news of the success from batches of Germans who came marching in company formation under the command of their own officers and without escort. That was how I saw many of them coming back on another part of the field.

From Abraham Heights there was a steady stream of machine gun fire until the New Zealanders had climbed them and routed out the enemy from the dugouts. Only their great gallantry could have done that, and it is an episode which proved the quality of the New Zealand troops on that morning of the battle, so keen to do as well, and so reckless of the cost.

On Abraham Heights a lot of prisoners were taken and joined the long trail that hurried back through the miles of scattered shellfire from their own guns. The next resistance was at Berlin, and the New Zealanders are proud of having taken that place because of its name, which they will write on their scroll of honor. It was not an imperial place. It was a row of dirty concrete pill-boxes above a deep cave, on the pattern of the old type of dugouts, but it was a strong fortress for the German machine gunners, and they defended it stubbornly. It was a five minutes' job.

From one of these a German officer directed the fire, and when the gun was silenced inside, he came out with another and fired round a corner of a wall until he was rushed. Even then he raised a revolver as if to shoot a Sergeant who was closest to him, but was killed by a bayonet thrust.

At other parts of the lines English men were fighting hard and with equal courage, and some of them against greater fire. It was on the right that the enemy's gunfire was most fierce, and the old English county regiments opposite Cheluvelt and Polderhoek and Reutelbeke had to endure some bad hours. The British hold the outer houses of Cheluvelt.

Meanwhile on the north in the district of the Schreiboom astride the Thourott Railway some Scottish and Irish troops were fighting on a small front, but on a heroic scale. It was the Irish who fought most recklessly. They had begged to go first into this battle and they went with a wild and exultant spirit. The ground in front of them was a mud pit and they had to swing round to get beyond. They did not wait for the barrage. They did not halt on their final objective, but still went away into the blue, chasing the enemy and uplifted with a fierce enthusiasm until they were called back to the line the commander wanted to hold.

REGISTRATION WEEK BEGINS THIS EVENING

Polls Will Be Open Each Evening and from 7 A. M. Till 10:30 P. M. on Saturday.

This is registration week. Beginning today and continuing every day until Saturday the polling places will be open, and every citizen who wishes to vote at the election on Nov. 6 must register.

The polls will be open each day, except Saturday, from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will remain open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M.

All parties will make a determined effort to get the voters throughout the city to register. The Mitchel supporters will make a special effort to get the independent and Republican voters to the polls. Working independently of the Fusion Committee's canvassers, the Republican district leaders will make unusual appeals for a large registration. An amendment to the election law two years ago changed the registration days so that all the days to register fall within one week. Unless a citizen registers some day this week he will not be able to vote at the November election.

Women Fly at Biplane Test.

A new type of training biplane in which the operator and the student sit side by side, was tested yesterday at Central Park, Long Island. The machine was flown by Pilot Acosta, army instructor at Mineola. Among those who went up with him were Alan R. Hawley, President of the Aero Club, Henry Woodhouse, Mrs. J. K. Harbreck, Mrs. N. G. Rose, Mrs. R. W. Wadman, and Walter H. Phipps. The machine was built by the Ordnance Engineering Company and is equipped with a four-cylinder 100-horse power Dusenberg motor. The tests were witnessed by navy and army officers.

WHITMAN EXPECTED TO INDORSE MITCHEL

Governor Said to Have Refused an Appeal from Hearst That He Support Bennett.

SULZER OUT AGAINST HYLAN

Wilson May Write a Letter for the Mayor or Send a Cabinet Officer to Speak for Him.

Governor Charles S. Whitman will announce within a few days his support of the candidacy of Mayor Mitchel, it was said yesterday by Republican leaders who have the Governor's confidence. This action on the Governor's part is expected to have an important effect upon what the Kings, Bronx, Queens, and Richmond Republican County Committees do when they meet this week to consider the question of indorsing a Mayoralty candidate. Ever since the New York Republican County Committee refused Friday to one to indorse Mr. Bennett pressure has been brought to bear upon the Governor to take a definite stand regarding the Mayoralty situation.

Before the primaries the Governor declared emphatically for Fusion and Mayor Mitchel. The victory of Mr. Bennett in the primaries changed the situation materially so far as the Republicans are concerned. While a number of the prominent national leaders of the party, such as Charles E. Hughes and William H. Taft, immediately repudiated the primary result and declared for the Mayor, a number of the State leaders, including Governor Whitman, have taken no action. The Bennett forces appealed to the Governor to come out for their candidate. William R. Hearst, who is backing Judge Hylan, the Democratic nominee, added his persuasion that the Governor support Bennett, and it was reported that the Governor intended to give a formal indorsement to Mr. Bennett and the ntake no further action in the campaign.

Since giving audience to the Bennett and Hearst sympathizers, however, the Governor, according to the information reaching the Mitchel Republicans yesterday, has decided that, far transcending party regularity is the issue of keeping Tammany out of the control of the city government. Republican leaders all over the city will take the Governor's action with great seriousness, as he is the nominal leader of the party in the State, and, by giving his sanction to the Mitchel candidacy, it is expected that the county organizations in the various boroughs will follow his decision. Mitchel Republicans predicted yesterday that if the Governor should come out in support of their candidate the Kings, Bronx, Queens, and Richmond organizations would do the same.

Sulzer Fights Murphy.

Another element was injected into the Mayoralty situation yesterday, when it was announced that William Sulzer would enter the campaign, and make a vigorous fight against Tammany Hall. It was admitted even by Tammany men that Sulzer's influence among Democrats in the city is still large, and that a campaign such as he conducted four years ago against the Tammany candidate would have far-reaching results. Sulzer is still connected with the American Party, and that organization at a convention on Saturday at its headquarters, 675 Broadway, adopted a resolution denouncing Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, and declaring its support of Mayor Mitchel and the Fusion candidates for city office. The resolution read in part:

Resolved, That the American Party asserts that the only issue in this campaign is whether or not the taxpayers of New York City are willing to turn the government of the city over to Charles F. Murphy, the boss of Tammany Hall, to pillage and plunder in the future as it has been pillaged and plundered under Tammany in the past; and we declare that Tammany cannot be trusted under the Murphy leadership, and that it will be a blunder worse than a crime for the citizens of our city under any pretense to now give a vote of confidence to the discredited dictator of Delmonico's, because it follows as the day the night, that we can never have honest and efficient and economic and progressive government in New York while Boss Murphy dictates nominations and rules the so-called Democratic organization with an iron hand—from his throne in Delmonico's—for personal profit; and be it further

Resolved, That we declare that the only way to beat the boss is to beat the candidates of the boss, and to that end we hereby indorse and ratify the excellent nominations of the Hon. John Purroy Mitchel for Mayor, the Hon. William A. Prendergast for Controller, and the Hon. Robert Adamson for President of the Board of Aldermen; and we urge all patriotic and self-respecting citizens, regardless of political affiliations, in their own interest, and for the good name and fame of New York, to support them and vote for them on their records as able, honest, loyal, capable servants of the people, and faithful, conscientious, nonpartisan administrators of the affairs of our city.

Buckner's Joke on Murphy.

Mayor Mitchel held a long conference yesterday with his campaign managers and laid out his work for the week. The Mayor will speak at many meetings, and will continue to emphasize the patriotic issue in the campaign. It was rumored that the Washington Administration may take a hand in the local situation, either to the extent of having President Wilson write a letter indorsing Mayor Mitchel or having a Cabinet officer take the stump in the Mayor's interest. Just who the Cabinet officer will be was not disclosed, but it is expected that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, will reach New York today. At Fusion headquarters entire ignorance was professed regarding Mr. Roosevelt's visit. Emory R. Buckner, Chairman of the Mitchel Campaign Committee, said he had heard nothing definite from Washington, and did not know what part, if any, the Administration would take in the campaign.

"I see by the papers," said Mr. Buckner, "that Mr. Murphy is going to quit. This cannot be true, because the law does not permit a candidate for Mayor to withdraw after being nominated. I also see by the papers that Mr. Hearst, Mr. Murphy's Siamese twin in the running for Mayor, may not reach New York in time to register. If that is true, Mr. Hearst will probably be the first Mayoralty candidate who will be unable to vote for himself."

At Tammany Hall it was denied flatly that Mr. Murphy was considering resigning as leader before the election.

"What he may do after the election," said a leader, "is another matter. It has been known for a long time that Mr. Murphy has said that he will retire after the election this year, whether the ticket wins or loses. I believe he is of the same mind now."

Speaking of the Mayor's meeting in the Bronx on Saturday night, when he attacked Henry Bruckner, Democratic candidate for Borough President, Chairman Buckner said the Mayor received the most applause when he declared he had not raised the patriotic issue, that he was no more patriotic than a hundred thousand other men in the city but that because he had talked so strongly on the patriotic issue he was marked for slaughter by the enemies of the country. Mr. Buckner said he had not heard that Mr. Sulzer was to take the stump in favor of Mayor Mitchel; that Mr. Sulzer had not offered his services to the committee and that the committee had not asked for them.

It was predicted yesterday that when the Republican County Committee of Queens meets to take action on the Mayoralty situation it will either refuse to support Mr. Bennett or declare for Mr. Mitchel. This information was based principally on the fact that Warren B. Ashmead, Republican chairman of the Fourth Assembly District and former County Chairman William H. Wade declared on Saturday that they would support Mr. Mitchel.

Asked what he thought about the statement of Thomas W. Whittle, Republican candidate for Borough President of the Bronx, that, if elected, he would not vote for a continuance of the Gary school system, Chairman Buckner said he thought Mr. Whittle had been misunderstood.

"As I understand his position," said Mr. Buckner, "Mr. Whittle wants the Gary system expanded in the Bronx only so fast as parents learn to appreciate its advantages."

Mayor Mitchel will make two speeches tonight, one at a non-political meeting at Labor Forum, Fourteenth Street and Second Avenue, and the other at a Fusion meeting at Blaney's Hall, 181st Street and St. Nicholas Avenue.

BENNETT CENTRES ATTACK ON HYLAN

SEES MAYOR RUNNING THIRD

Tells Audience in Quaker Meeting House That He Expects 200 Arrests in Primary Fraud.

William M. Bennett, the Republican primary candidate for Mayor, from whom the New York County committeemen of his party withheld indorsement at their meeting on Friday night, began his campaign last night in the Forum of the Quaker Meeting House, Twentieth Street and Gramercy Park. He attacked Judge Hylan for retaining his judicial position while appearing as the candidate of Tammany Hall, and announced that he would hereafter ignore Mayor Mitchel as an opponent in this election.

Republicans, Tammany men, and supporters of Mayor Mitchel made up the larger part of the audience, which led the Chairman to remark when introducing the speaker:

"There are many strangers here whom I have never before seen at a Quaker meeting, and I hope Mr. Bennett will be received in a way appropriate to a meeting in a place like this."

Mr. Bennett had prepared his speech in advance and had included therein an attack on the administration concerning the police "wiretapping" in the investigation of the private charity schools partly supported by the city, but he omitted all reference to this in his address. He was applauded by the Tammany men present and by a few Republicans, but at the end of his talk when the audience were permitted to put questions to him, several persons arose and announced that they thought Mayor Mitchel should be reelected, and that they intended to vote for him.

Says Mayor Will Run Third.

"I have been invited here to speak on 'The Moral Issues of the Municipal Campaign,'" said Mr. Bennett. "One of the moral issues in this campaign is Tammany Hall. Judge Hylan stands for Tammany Hall. He cannot be elected. He admits that himself by his refusal to resign from the County Court bench in Brooklyn, which pays him $1,000 a month. Has any Tammany candidate ever furnished such a shameful spectacle of clinging to his place upon the bench while running for a political office? The examples furnished by Alton B. Parker, the late Mayor Gaynor, and Charles E. Hughes, all of whom resigned their judicial positions when nominated, apparently means nothing to Judge Hylan. Judge Hylan seems to be under some sort of supervision, which appears to be hidden from the public. By whom and for what purpose?"

Mr. Bennett declared that the Mayor could not do more than "run third" in the municipal election, and that the continuation of his candidacy after his defeat in the Republican primaries and the fraud disclosed by the recount would be only to the benefit of Tammany.

"The Mayor," he said, "is trying to run this war from the City of New York. I am behind the President and I am in favor of the selective draft, but the war is a matter for the Federal Government, and my campaign concerns this municipality. I shall not again refer to the Mayor as my opponent, nor shall I again refer to that patriotism of his, which consists of wrapping himself in the American flag. From now on he opponent of good government is Judge Hylan.

Predicts 200 More Arrests.

After criticising the Republican and Fusion managers and the "Fusion press" for failure to insist on an investigation of the primary ballot frauds Mr. Bennett said:

"Where was the Honest Ballot Association? After I had shown up the frauds the Secretary of the Honest Ballot Association requested me to deliver my data to him for 'study.' It was not a matter that required study, but action, and so I turned all evidence over to the District Attorney, and I predict that within a week or so there will be 200 more arrests.

"I've made up my mind, whether I am elected Mayor or not, that this will be the last dishonest primary election in this city so long as I live."

Mr. Bennett said he understood there had been no roll call at the meeting of the Republican committeemen, but that their vote was announced by the Chairman of each district. George R. Bishop, a committeeman from the Twenty-seventh District Republican Club, informed Mr. Bennett that the committeemen had previously met and announced their vote, so that the Chairman of each district at the county meeting was authorized to act as he had done.

"What do you think of the direct primary, now, as an instrument in nominations for which you have contended and worked?" smilingly queried Mr. Bishop. Mr. Bennett hesitated a moment and replied::

"If there had not been a primary I would not have got the nomination. Governor Whitman told me that had it not been for the primary he would not have been nominated."

J. J. CHAPMAN FOR MITCHEL.

Father of Aviator Killed in France Praises the Mayor.

John J. Chapman, father of Victor Chapman, who was the first American aviator to fall in the war, sent a letter yesterday to the Fusion Committee of 1917 announcing that he intended to support Mayor Mitchel. In his letter Mr. Chapman said:

"It was a national blessing that Mayor Mitchel happened to be in office when the United States declared war upon Germany. He is not only the greatest Mayor that New York ever had, but is one of the most eminent men in our public life. In times before the war Mr. Mitchel had shown to the world that American City Government was no longer the corrupt thing that we used to think it. He had filled our city offices with able, expert, and honest men; and he himself had been the soul of his own administration.

"Every American soldier in Europe is in debt to Mayor Mitchel for work the Mayor did in arousing our nation to the meaning of the war; and every New Yorker among them must glow with local pride as well as with national patriotism when he remembers the record of our Mayor. The defeat of Mayor Mitchel would be a national calamity."

SAYS MAYOR BROKE FAITH.

Tammany Candidate Declares He Violated Riverside Park Pledge.

Charles L. Craig, Tammany candidate for Controller, yesterday accused Mayor Mitchel of breaking faith with the West End Association, of which he was the unpaid counsel, in an effort to aid the New York Central Railroad regarding the west side improvement. Mr. Craig declared that Mr. Mitchel, as the Fusion candidate for Mayor in 1913, gave a voluntary pledge over his own signature that he would, if elected, co-operate with the West End Association in all efforts to settle the Riverside Park problem. Relying on this pledge, he said, citizens of the upper west side generally supported Mr. Mitchel for Mayor, only to find out soon after he took office "how little sincerity there was in his pre-election pledge." Mr. Craig said:

"R. A. C. Smith was reappointed Dock Commissioner and Controller Prendergast became Chairman of the Port and Terminals Committee of the Board of Estimate, and from the outset the New York Central influence urged them both to a renewed attempt to put the Riverside waterfront into the railroad's grip.

"New plans were prepared, Dock Commissioner Smith, under the direction of Mayor Mitchel, participating actively in their development. In order to put the west side residents in a proper state of mind, so that anything proposed would be an improvement upon existing conditions upon the Riverside Park waterfront, a garbage dump was established in front of the park at Seventy-seventh Street and a great enlargement of the garbage and refuse operations was had at Ninety-sixth Street, while both locations were utilized as a sort of headquarters or storage place for the carts and equipment of the Street Cleaning Department. The park itself was wholly neglected, erosion of the paths and landscape was unchecked, and the grass, shrubs, and trees were left largely to grow wild. Surely, in the face of such conditions, the people would accept anything that promised relief, even though it involved the surrender of the waterfront to the railroad.

"In the Spring of 1916 new plans were made public and a report was made by Mr. Prendergast's committee as to the terms of the proposed agreement with the New York Central. An effort was made to rush the matter to a vote in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment before any adequate understanding could be had of the plans by those whose experience had taught them that the official statements and press publications were not to be taken at their face value.

"Backed by the determination of the West End Association to see that justice was done to the upper west side, although I was seriously ill, I undertook the effort of combating the falsehoods that had been so assiduously and widely circulated. I soon found that the discussion could not be confined to those features of the plans and proposed agreement that directly affected Riverside Park, for, as a part of the propaganda for the plans, the social and commercial influences had been led to believe that so great was the commercial advantage to the city a sacrifice of Riverside Park was justified.

"It was therefore necessary for me to show that there was no benefit whatever to the City of New York that could justify the serious consideration of the Mitchel-Prendergast plans. In this determination I was backed by a strong committee, and our report was adopted by the West End Association with but two dissenting votes—one a friend of Dock Commissioner Smith and the other a friend of Mayor Mitchel. In 1916 plans differed only in matters of detail from those nursed by Mr. Mitchel for a year and a half and attempted to be put through by him in 1913."

500 WORKERS FOR ADAMSON

Prominent Men Start Personal Campaign for Him Today.

With a committee of 500 New Yorkers, representing all political faiths and including leaders in various business fields, a personal campaign for the election of Fire Commissioner Robert Adamson as President of the Aldermen, covering every part of the city, will be started today.

Henry Morgenthau is honorary chairman of the committee, and the vice chairmen include Frederic C. Howe, Charles E. Hughes, Frederic R. Coudert, Frederick C. Tanner, Jacob H. Schiff, Edward C. Blum, George T. McGuire, Timothy Healy, Adolph Lewisohn, William M. Calder, Frank K. Moss, Morgan J. O'Brien, Jr., and Nathaniel Phillips. Perley Morse is chairman of the main committee, and Colonel J. De M. Thompson is Treasurer. Headquarters have been established in the Putnam Building, 1,493 Broadway. Mr. Morgenthau, explaining the plan of campaign yesterday, said:

"Not only is it necessary for the community to make every effort to re-elect Mayor Mitchel, but it is almost of equal importance to secure as President of the Board of Aldermen Robert Adamson, a man of the same type, who will ably second the Mayor's efforts to sustain the good government we have had during the last four years. It would be a great misfortune to the city if the unseen government which always prevails when Tammany officials are in the City Hall should be restored. No matter who the man may be, no matter what his independence or strength of character or splendid precedents, he will be unable to resist the influence and dictations of the inner circle of Tammany Hall if he owes his election exclusively to that organization.

"We want no divided control in the Board of Estimate, and, above all, we must prevent Tammany control of that body. The President of the Board of Aldermen has three votes out of sixteen in the Board of Estimate. He also presides over the Aldermen, and in the event of a vacancy in the Mayoralty he would become Mayor of the city. The position, therefore, is a keystone position in the control of the city government. By all means Tammany must be kept out of it."

"Keep Tammany out of the Board of Estimate" is to be Commissioner Adamson's slogan.

NEW CLUBS TO AID MITCHEL.

City Democracy Has Organizations in Manhattan and the Bronx.

The establishment of thirty-six club houses and active working organizations under leaders in the twenty-three Manhattan and eight Bronx Assembly Districts was announced last night at the headquarters of the City Democracy, which is supporting the Fusion ticket.

The emblem of the City Democracy, which appears on the ballot as the City Party, is the rooster. Charles Steckler, Chairman of the Manhattan Executive Committee, stated at a meeting of the district leaders last night that the coming week would produce no less than ten additional City Democracy club houses. In some districts there will be three headquarters.

SENATORS URGE CONTROL OF PAPER

ones, and through them to the reading public, will be most serious.'

"The resolution is intended to put into effect the following recommendations that the Trade Commission submitted to Congress in its reports on the newsprint and book paper industries, both of which were referred to the Committee on Printing:

"(1). That all mills producing, and all agencies distributing, print paper and mechanical and chemical pulp in the United States be operated on Government account, that these products be pooled in the hands of a Government agency and equitably distributed at a price based upon cost of production and distribution, plus a fair profit per ton.

"(2.) That pursuant thereto some Federal agency be empowered and directed to assume the supervision and control thereof during the pendency of the war.

"(3.) That by reason of the fact that approximately 75 per cent. of the production of news print paper in Canada comes into the United States, proper action be taken to secure the co-operation of the Canadian Government in the creation of a similar Governmental agency for the same functions which will be clothed with power and authority to act jointly with the Governmental agency of the United States for the protection of the consumers and manufacturers of print paper and the public of the United States and Canada.

"(4.) That, in case the Canadian Government shall not join in such a co-operative enterprise, then the importation of paper and mechanical and chemical pulp into the United States shall be made only on Government account to or through the Federal agency charged with such supervision and distribution.

"To make the resolution conform to the view of Congress as expressed in the Food Control act, a provision has been inserted authorizing suit in the United States District Courts if the price fixed by the Trade Commission is not satisfactory to the person entitled to receive the same, in which event only 75 per cent. of the amount allowed by the commission shall be paid until the full compensation is determined by the court. To insure adequate authority to the Trade Commission to make the resolution effective a penalty provision has been added similar to that contained in the section for the purchase of military supplies of the National Defense act."

"The committee has been moved to report the resolution for the consideration of the Senate at this time in the hope that some relief may be speedily accorded the many publications that are in grave danger of destruction by the unbearable prices now exacted for print paper. To jeopardize the existence of the press is to imperil the life of the Government itself, so dependent is a democracy upon the prompt and widespread information of its people. Therefore, whatever affects the publication of its newspapers and periodicals likewise affects the welfare of the Government, and the necessities of such publications become in fact public necessities.

"If print paper cannot be obtained in adequate quantities the information of the public will be restricted in the same measure as the output of the paper mills is limited; or, if the price of paper is held so high that many newspapers cannot afford to continue publication, the information of the public will likewise be curtailed and the interests of the Government suffer thereby. It seems imperative, therefore, that the Government should do everything in its power to insure the preservation of the press, especially in a time like the present, when newspapers and periodicals are such a vital force in helping the cause of humanity against military madness.

Small Papers Distressed.

The Committee on Printing tells of the distress caused to newspapers by the situation, and particularly the small newspapers, and quotes from the report of the Federal Trade Commission in this connection. Three reports of the commission are cited to show the burdens that had been caused to newspapers and the public.

These reports assert that, while some of the larger newspapers might be able to weather the situation, it is of paramount importance that the great body of newspapers should be able to obtain their newsprint paper at a fair price. The commission, it is shown, urged Congress to take prompt legislative action to keep newspapers from going to the wall.

16,000 Papers Affected.

"There are 2,000 small dailies and some 14,000 weekly newspapers in the United States that have to depend largely on the open market for their supplies of newsprint," says the Senate report. "In the latter part of 1916 many of these smaller papers had extreme difficulty in obtaining a supply of paper except at prices which, if maintained, will drive them out of business, and yet the Federal Trade Commission, which spent more than a year investigating the newsprint situation, reports to Congress that 'The efforts of the commission to restore competitive conditions in the newsprint industry expeditiously and to arbitrate and effectively project a fair price for newsprint paper have failed.'

"The Federal Trade Commission in its report states that at prices now prevailing newsprint will cost the publishers in 1917 more than $105,000,000, which is an increase of $35,000,000, or 50 per cent. The commission further declares that one-half of this $35,000,000 increase in paper cost, or $17,500,000, alone represents additional profits to the manufacturers.

"The International Paper Company of New York, which produces nearly 40 per cent. of the newsprint made in the United States, and thereby largely fixes its price, is reported to have added $7,465,827 to its profits in 1916, an increase of $4,344,146 over its profits for 1915. It is likewise interesting to note that the common stock of the International Paper Company jumped from 9½ to 75½ in 1916, and recently was quoted around 35, while its preferred stock ranged in 1916 from 42½ to 109½, the current quotations being about 65. Unless Congress takes some such action as here proposed, the International will likewise get the lion's share out of the $17,500,000 of additional profits which the Federal Trade Commission reports are in sight this year for the newsprint manufacturers.

"The Laurentide Company of Montreal, another large manufacturer of newsprint paper, also shows the largest profits in its history, according to reports submitted at the recent annual meeting of that company. Its net earnings, including returns from investments, amounted to $2,220,680 for the year ended June 30, 1917, as against its previous record of $1,241,283. In other words, the gain amounted to $976,377, or about 77 per cent., over the best previous profits of the Laurentide Company. After deducting the usual charges for interest, depreciation, &c., the Laurentide Company's reports show a balance of $1,888,195, equal to a little less than 21 per cent. This represents earnings on common stock at the rate of 17.9 per cent. The President of the Laurentide company is one of the the Laurentide Company is one of the violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Big Profits for Mills.

"In connection with the vast profits now being made by the manufacturers of newsprint paper, the report of the Committee on Paper of the American Newspaper Publishers Association states:

"'There is not a single paper mill which has been built in the United States or Canada in the last ten years which has not made 15 to 20 per cent. on the money invested. The very fact that stock jobbers and watered stock promoters are able to get away with so much in the paper business is prima facie evidence that the margins are more than liberal. Many companies have millions of dollars of watered stock which was only promotion and organization bonus stock. Under the liberal profits being made, this stock is in many cases worth away above par.

"'Of course it is very evident from these tremendous profits that the manufacturers of newsprint paper do not want any governmental supervision or control over their products. In fact the President of the International Paper Company, Philip T. Dodge, has been quoted as saying: 'I wish to say emphatically that our company will be unalterably opposed to Government regulation. The minute that begins, we will start putting our machines out of business. I oppose Government supervision of our business.'

"It is sufficient to observe in this connection that Mr. Dodge is under indictment for violation of the anti-trust law in the conduct of the business of the International Paper Company, the particulars of charge against him, together with the President of the Laurentide Company and certain other members of the Newsprint Manufacturers' Association, being that they had agreed in carrying on their trade:

"(a) To refrain from competing with each other in the matter of securing new customers for their paper.

"(b) To refrain from competing with each other as to the quality of the paper to be sold.

"(c) To refrain from competing with each other as to delivery of and furnishing storage for paper sold but not delivered.

"(d) To refrain from competing with each other as to terms of credit, rate of interest on open accounts, dates of beginning and ending of contracts, the methods of making sales of paper through salesmen, dealers, and jobbers, the payment of return freight on the cores upon which their paper was wrapped, payment of charges for cartage, and allowing of claims for waste or damaged paper.

"(e) To engage in simultaneous representations to the public, to their customers, and to each other, of the alleged increased cost of manufacture and of the alleged shortage of newsprint paper, and to manufacture insufficient quantities of such paper, with the object of concertedly working for materially higher prices.

"(f) To co-operate in discouraging the erection of new mills or the installation of new machines for the manufacture of news print.

"(g) To co-operate in preventing new concerns from competing with them by transferring orders and contracts for paper to new concerns on condition that such new companies should not compete with them.

"(h) To furnish from time to time to the News Print Manufacturers' Association at 18 East Forty-first Street, New York City, for the information of the defendants, full and complete information concerning contracts with their customers and the quantity of the paper manufactured, carried in stock or sold by them, also the capacity of their various plants and other details of their business.

"In view of the attitude of these news print manufacturers the committee does not believe that Congress should concern itself at this time over their opposition to Government regulation and control of their product.

"Their conduct is particularly conspicuous in comparison with the views expressed by other American business men who, at the recent Atlantic City convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States adopted resolutions urging Government price-fixing for all essential products, not only in sales to the Government, but to the public as well, and advocating a general Government purchasing department, which, in addition to fixing prices, would have power to distribute the output of industries in a manner most necessary to the conduct of the war.

No Censorship Fear.

"In some quarters, however, it has been suggested that a proposition for Government supervision and control over the production and distribution of print paper is not to the best interest of the newspaper publishers and that it might, in effect, create a censorship over the press of the country.

"The best answer to this suggestion comes from the newspapermen themselves. Their answer is an overwhelming indorsement of the proposition to place the newsprint paper industry under Federal control during the period of the war. In this connection the following letter from Hon. Frank P. Glass, editor of the Birmingham (Ala.) News and Vice President and Chairman of the Executive Committee on Paper of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, is submitted:

Birmingham, Ala., July 5, 1917.

My Dear Senator:

The following resolution, favoring Government control of white print paper during the war period, was lately submitted to the members of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association on a referendum vote:

"'Whereas, in view of the fact that the long-continued tension of the print-paper situation has not been relieved, and that the plan of relief worked out by the Federal Trade Commission has been nullified by the fact that the commission is without legal power to enforce its remedies; therefore, be it

"'Resolved, That the newspapers earnestly urge upon Congress the granting to the Federal Trade Commission the necessary power to fix the price of product of American paper manufacturers and brokers and representatives and selling agencies in America representing or acting in behalf of paper manufacturers and mills manufacturing paper outside of the United States.'

I beg leave to inform you that this referendum vote has been sufficiently completed to authorize a statement of the result. The resolution has been indorsed by a vote of 2 to 1.

It gives me pleasure to convey this information to you, believing that it will have decided weight with your committee and with all members of Congress upon the matter of the Government's taking charge of the regulation of the print-paper trade. This step has been taken by all Governments of the allies of the United States, and the necessity of a similar step here is constantly becoming plainer.

Trusting that this expression of opinion by a large majority of the publishers of daily newspapers of the country may be useful to you, I am, very respectfully yours,

F. P. GLASS,

Gave Some Relief.

"The fact is," the report continues, "the Federal Trade Commission has already undertaken in a small way and without specific authority of law to distribute a limited quantity of news print paper in sheet form, which it succeeded in having placed to its account by one or two independent mills. In directing the distribution of this paper through the jobbers, who agreed to handle it at a reasonable charge, or through certain newspaper associations, the Federal Trade Commission has actually relieved a number of the smaller newspapers that were being oppressed by the excessively high prices demanded for sheet news print.

"Concerning this effort of the Federal Trade Commission, Mr. Hosmer, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the National Editorial Association, says:

"'The smaller newspapers are particularly thankful to the Trade Commission at this time for the paper they have furnished them since last April, even though the big manufacturers, who agreed to furnish paper at a reasonable price, failed. Independent mills have furnished the paper through the commission to newspapers in more than twenty States at prices from 25 to 33 1-8 per cent. under the prices quoted by jobbers and mills direct. In some cases this paper has been distributed through designated jobbers, who have been paid about 10 per cent. for handling; in other cases through State associations or committees from associations, who have handled it as a patriotic duty, without expense to the newspaper men.'

"The Canadian Government has undertaken to control the production and distribution of news print paper through its orders in Council. It is stated that a pool is actually in existence in Canada, the news print manufacturers selling to Canadian publishers at $2.50 per 100, free on board mill, and $3 per 100, free on board mill, when shipped to destinations outside of that country. In this connection it is interesting to note that $2.50 is the price that the Federal Trade Commission has fixed upon as a fair and reasonable price for news print paper in this country. In comparison with this price, the Trade Commission reports that the largest consumers of news print have had to pay from $3 to $3.50 per 100 pounds, and in some cases even up to $4.50, while the small publishers have been forced to pay prices as high as $7.50 to $9 per 100, free on board mill. This same paper sold before the war as low as $2 per 100 pounds, delivered.

"By indorsing the proposition for Government control over the production and distribution of print paper during the war, the newspaper publishers have indicated that they have no fear whatever of Government censorship under such plan. What the newspapers do fear, and justly so, is that their very existence may be placed in jeopardy by the paper combine, which already, by its greed for excess profits, has forced hundreds of smaller newspapers throughout the country to discontinue publication. Could any Government censorship be more drastic or fatal to a free press than that which the indicated paper clique already has exercised for their own selfish interest?"

RAINBOW DIVISION AGAIN IN REVIEW

CHEER FOR NEW YORK'S 69TH

Command Shows the Improvement Wrought by Week of Drill Since Secretary Baker Saw It.

The Rainbow (Forty-second) Division was reviewed yesterday afternoon at Camp Mills, L. I., by Major General W. A. Mann, commanding the division, and United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama before 75,000 spectators, including relatives and friends of the soldiers from all of the twenty-seven States which have units in the Rainbow Division.

The spectators, who were kept off the marching field by ropes, completely surrounded the field of 600 acres in which the parade took place. They began to cheer when the soldiers of the division, totaling about 24,000 men, marched upon the field and began to form in six sections.

The parade was more spectacular and exhibited more finished marching than that which was reviewed a week ago by Secretary of War Baker. Before the Secretary the division marched in squads. Yesterday they were in extended company formation, each company divided into two platoons of 125 men each, and made a more compact and eye-filling spectacle. At a distance, the spectators could see the entire division at one view, moving rhythmically and precisely, the 24,000 men fused perfectly into a unit.

Most of Nassau County heard the shouts which greeted the 165th Regiment, formerly the Fighting Sixty-ninth, the first troop unit, following Brig. Gen. R. A. Brown and his staff. As they saluted and passed the reviewing staff, Brig. Gen. Brown and his staff joined the reviewers, and the soldiers broke into double time.

The 165th was followed by the 150th Wisconsin Machine Gun Company, marching in uniforms without weapons, as they have not yet received their machine-gun equipment. Then, in order named, followed the 166th Ohio Infantry, the 167th Alabama Infantry, the 168th Iowa Infantry, the 151st Georgia Machine Gun Battalion, also without machine guns; the 150th Indiana Heavy Field Artillery, equipped with rifles but lacking field pieces; the 151st Minnesota Light Field Artillery, the 117th Trench Mortar Battalion of Maryland, also without arms; the 149th Illinois Field Artillery, the 117th Engineer Regiment, composed of South Carolina and California Engineers; the 149th Machine Gun Battalion of Pennsylvania, and the 117th Field Battalion Signal Troops of Missouri. None of the soldiers except the infantry had their equipment of arms. The others are to be supplied with weapons and trained intensively in their use after arrival in France.

After the 165th had passed the crowd broke into cheers irregularly, as spectators from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, and other States recognized their home contingents and gave them a shout. The spectators were far more numerous than they have ever been before at Camp Mills, and about 5,000 automobiles were parked outside the parade grounds.

After the review Senator Underwood, who came to review the division because it included an Alabama unit, and because his son, Captain Oscar W. Underwood, Jr., is on the staff of Major Gen. Mann, said that the spectacle was the finest that he had ever witnessed.

"It was a wonderful and a stirring demonstration," he said. "When our troops get over there next Spring and hit the blow it is going to be all over and settled. The United States is engaged in preparations for two years more of war, but I do not believe that the Germans will last that long. I am glad that Alabama is represented in this division, and I am proud that my son is there."

ASKS AID IN SCHOOL FIGHT.

Public Education Committee Will Wage War on Tammany.

A call for volunteers to oppose the election of Tammany candidates, because of "the prospect that the New York schools may be exploited," has been sent out by John Collier, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Committee on Public Education, of which Michael Friedsam is Chairman. The call charges that a campaign of misrepresentation of the conditions of schools and the Gary experiment has been carried on, and it is planned to have the volunteers speak at public meetings and make house-to-house visits to oppose "the proposal of Tammany Hall to exclude health-giving recreation from the schools."

F. C. Hamilton, Treasurer of the Anti-Gary League, yesterday gave out a letter written to William O. Willcox, President of the Board of Education, demanding figures upon the number of pupils accommodated in the Gary plans schools here, and the cost of individual instruction. Mr. Hamilton said he had asked twice for the information upon the cost of the schools, and he challenged the assertion of Mayor Mitchel that "the school building is used to its maximum capacity for a full school day, and for almost twice the number of children that would use the building under the old plan."

A WARNING TO THE NATION

Dr. Nydegger Urges Medical Examination of All School Children and Corrective Measures.

The percentage of young men rejected as unfit for military service because of physical defects has been considerably larger among men from rural districts than among city residents, according to a statement issued yesterday by Dr. J. A. Nydegger, in charge of the United States Public Health Service in Baltimore.

Contrary to the prevailing view that the countrybred youth is stronger and healthier than the young man from the cities, the statistics so far gathered by the Government show the number of children and young men defective or in need of medical attention is from 7 to 20 per cent. higher in rural districts. While there was an alarming number of instances of poor eyesight, underweight, bad teeth, flat feet and other defects among young men examined in cities, the results were even more startling in the rural districts, and this was due, according to Dr. Nydegger, to the fact that the health of school children is almost entirely neglected in country schools.

While physicians who had made extensive studies of the condition of health and physique of the youth of the country expected the percentage of rejections to be high, few believed that conditions would be as bad as they were shown to be by the medical examinations of drafted men. The showing made by this medical survey will have great moral value in awakening the country to the need for better medical and sanitary care for children in schools, especially in rural schools, Dr. Nydegger said. He added that the United States was behind most European countries in provisions for the health of school children. In Europe, the need for strong and healthy men for armies has turned the attention of governments to the health of school children. England was aroused, Dr. Nydegger said, when the medical examination of recruits during the Boer war showed that many were unhealthy and defective, and that their troubles in a vast number of cases could be traced to bad physical surroundings and methods in English schools.

"As soon as the Boer war was over," Dr. Nydegger said, the British Government proceeded to introduce throughout the United Kingdom a well-devised medical inspection of schools, compulsory athletics and mild military training to correct, as far as human endeavor was able, the physical defectives. Other European countries arrived at the realisation of this defect in their school systems at an even earlier date, and provided systems of athletic training and medical inspection in their schools, beginning with kindergartens.

"While in this country most of the city schools have adopted medical inspection, most of the rural institutions have none. In this lies the fact that the unsanitary conditions in these places produce 75 per cent. of the physical defects which are today barring men from the United States forces. Defective eyes, ears, teeth and throats among the youth of rural communities have been found to be due largely to conditions in the rural schools. Improper desks and seats also have caused much spinal curvature, leading to other faulty conditions. These conditions ought to be corrected at once, and school children all over the country should be examined because defects arising at their period of life as a rule cannot be overcome later.

"The introduction of a single innovation or procedure is not going to correct all of the physical defects existing in our young men. It must be a gradual process, beginning with an efficient universal medical inspection in our public schools at the age of 6 years, coupled with a well-devised system of physical training and mild military exercises to harden young men for the more strenuous universal military training which is to follow after school days are over.

"This is a great national problem, and the Federal Government should handle it, or at least co-operate with the States to the extent of seeing that defects are corrected, with the view of remedying conditions, if not for the present generation of young men, for the generations of the future."

FUND FOR JEWISH SOLDIERS.

Welfare Board Will Begin Campaign for $1,000,000.

Colonel Harry Cutler, Chairman of the Jewish Board for Welfare Work in the United States Army and Navy, announces an active campaign for a fund of $1,000,000 in behalf of the board, with which to prosecute welfare work among the Jewish soldiers at the various cantonments of the national army and at the front in France, as well as in behalf of the Jewish sailors in the navy.

There are more than 50,000 Jewish soldiers in the national army and enlisted in the regular army, a percentage far in excess of the ratio of population of the Jews. The American Jewish Soldiers' Bureau, of which Dr. William J. Sirovich of New York has been temporary Chairman, has agreed to turn over to the Jewish Board for Welfare Work its entire lists of membership, card catalogues, and data of every sort. This organization will thus go out of existence, giving the entire support to the organization of which Colonel Cutler is the head.

Other organizations which will do all their work for the soldiers under the Jewish Board for Welfare Work in the future, are the Jewish Chautauqua, of which Abram I. Elkus, ex-Ambassador to Turkey, is the head; the Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, the Council of Jewish Women, and the B'nai B'rith.

SOLDIERS' NEWSPAPER APPEARS THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—In the first issue of Trench and Camp, the weekly newspaper for national army and National Guard training camps which makes its appearance this week, there will be a letter from President Wilson to John Stewart Bryan of Richmond, Va., editor-in-chief, as follows:

"My dear Mr. Bryan:

"I am happy to have a chance to say very special sense, a soldiers' newspaper which you and your associates are so generously providing to be issued in our great training camps.

"I understand that this is to be, in a very special sense, a soldiers' newspaper and that it will no doubt be devoted in substantial part to matters of local and peculiar interest in the camps in which they appear, but that they will also have a general influence in interpreting to the soldiers the hope and enthusiasm of the nation behind them and interpreting to the nation the fine determination and spirit of our men in arms.

"It is important that there should be no loss of touch between the nation and its soldiers and the series of papers so generously provided will be helpful in maintaining the spirit and understanding of both.

"Cordially yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

Trench and Camp is to be published simultaneously for each of the camps by the newspaper of a nearby city. The newspaper will get out the paper without charge and turn it over to the Y. M. C. A. for distribution.

MENTAL TESTS READY FOR DRAFTED MEN

Psychologists Will Rate Soldiers According to Their Aptness for Different Work.

UNFIT TO BE WEEDED OUT

Tests to be Applied First to 167,000 Men at Camps Devens, Dix, Lee and Taylor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Announcement was made tonight that the psychological examination of draft army men in four of the big national army cantonments had been begun. The cantonments in which this work has been initiated are Camp Devens, at Ayer, Mass.; Camp Dix, at Wrightstown, N. J.; Camp Lee, at Petersburg, Va., and Camp Taylor, at Louisville, Ky. There are about 160,000 men to be trained in these cantonments, and each of the 160,000 will receive an intelligent rating as a result of this psychological examination, which is being conducted by the section of pathology of Surgeon Gen. Gorgas's office.

This work is undertaken, first, to supplement the medical examination and, second, to give line officers estimates of the mental ability of their men. Reports of the psychological examinations will be made to the chief surgeon of the camp or the psychiatric officer in order that mentally incompetent or psychotic men may be considered for discharge, and to the regimental and company commanders in order that they may use this additional information concerning their men for the improvement of the service.

Sets of examinations have been prepared, involving scores of tests, to enable the examiners to grade each man according to his intelligence or manual skill. Each man's record will be placed at the disposal of his company commander to assist him in picking men for promotion or for special lines of work. Commanding officers will, of course, be free to use their own judgment, for it is intended that the ratings shall merely assist them in such selections as they may be called upon to make.

Worked Out by Seven Men.

A group of distinguished psychologists got together, pooled their knowledge and experience and designed a method for psychological examination of soldiers. It was not a question as to whether this or that school of practice should be followed, but a case of considering the facts to be brought out, the use for which the results were destined, and the time which would be available for the examinations. For two weeks seven men worked night and day, making a method, designing new tests and preparing the hundreds of problems and mental and manual exercises which, graduated according to difficulty, go into the completed method.

The seven men separated, went to various parts of the country, and applied the new method in actual practice. After giving some 500 examinations with it the men gathered again for two weeks and worked over their method, making some big changes and many little ones, just as a piece of mechanism might be changed and refined after its first tests.

Six weeks from the first gathering of these psychologists their test sheets, report blanks, &c., were all ready for the printer. Arrangements were then made for a real try-out of the method under working conditions with large numbers of men. About 4,000 men in regular army reorganization camps, officers' training camps, and naval stations were examined and special attention was given to correlating the ratings from the psychological examinations with the ratings prepared by the usual military methods.

The results of these thousands of examinations were sent to a central office in New York, where ten persons worked a month assembling and analyzing the statistical results. Again the seven psychologists went over their methods in the light of these 4,000 examinations to make further improvements. Now work is under way to examine the men at Camps Devens, Dix, Lee, and Taylor.

This work was privately financed up to the final revision of the methods and the beginning of organization for examining men in the four national army cantonments; at that time the Section of Psychology was formed in the Surgeon General's office. The preliminary work began in Philadelphia on April 21, when the Council of the American Psychological Association authorized the appointment of twelve committees to deal with various aspects of the relations of psychology to the war. One of these, the Committee on the Psychological Examining of Recruits, prepared and tested the method now to be applied in the four cantonments.

Those in Charge of the Work.

The members of that committee were R. M. Yerkes, ex-Professor of Comparative Psychology at Harvard University, recently elected Professor of Psychology at the University of Minnesota and now a Major in the Sanitary Corps in charge of the Section of Psychology in the office of the Surgeon General; W. V. Bingham, Professor of Psychology, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh; H. H. Goddard, Director of Research, the Training School, Vineland, N. J.; T. H. Haines, Professor of Medicine, Ohio State University; L. M. Terman, Professor of Educational Psychology, Stanford University, California; F. L. Wells, Psychopathologist, McLean Hospital, Waverley, Mass., and G. M. Whipple, Professor of Educational Psychology, University of Illinois.

The psychological staff making the tests at each of the four cantonments comprises four officers and six civilians as follows:

Camp Taylor—First Lieutenants M. R. Trabue, K. T. Waugh, H. B. Cummings, Dr. A. Doll, and the following civilians: L. W. Bridges, J. Crosby Chapman, J. E. Norton, E. C. Rowe, J. D. Houser, and C. P. Stone.

Camp Dix—First Lieuts.—J. W. Hayes, H. A. Richmond, H. T. Manuel, C. C. Brigham, and the following civilians: T. H. Haines, N. J. Melville, H. P. Crowder; T. M. Stokes, J. J. B. Morgan, C. Stech.

SOLDIERS' BALLOTS MAY BE INVALIDATED

Those Sent Abroad Lack Corrigan's Name and Have Other Candidates Queerly Placed.

COURT TO BE ASKED TO ACT

Election Officials Shift Blame and Plead a "Mixup"—25,000 Already Sent to Europe.

Because the names of independent candidates running for office this Fall are not printed on the official war ballot to be sent to soldiers abroad and in home camps, legal proceedings may be instituted today which may hold up the ballots so that they will not reach the soldiers in time for the election. A copy of the official war ballot reached the city from the Secretary of State's office last night. Nowhere on the ballot does the name of Joseph E. Corrigan, independent candidate for District Attorney, appear, and Mr. Corrigan said last night that he would apply to the Supreme Court today for an injunction to prevent the ballots from being used.

Mayor Mitchel's name appears upon the ballot in only one place, opposite the emblem of the bullseye, the official emblem chosen by the Fusion Committee of 1917 which nominated him. Although Controller Prendergast, Robert Adamson, candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, and all other Fusion candidates were nominated on the same ticket with Mayor Mitchel, the emblem does not appear opposite their names. As they have been nominated by the Republican Party, however, the Republican emblem, the eagle, appears in the space opposite their names.

City Democracy Missing.

The same candidates, headed by Mayor Mitchel, were nominated by the City Democracy and that organization chose the rooster as its emblem. This emblem is not on the ballot, however, and the City Democracy has no representation there. William M. Bennett, as the regular nominee of the Republican Party, occupies the first space in the section for Mayor on the ballot. The Mayor's name, opposite the bullseye, occupies the east name space in the section devoted to Mayoralty candidates. The list in order reads: William M. Bennett, John F. Hylan, Democratic nominee; Morris Hillquit, Socialist candidate; David Leigh Colvin, candidate of the Prohibitionists, and Mayor Mitchel.

Edward T. O'Loughlin, candidate on a non-partisan ticket for Borough President of Brooklyn, obtained a place on the ballot opposite the emblem of an arrow. Martin Mager, running independently for Borough President of Queens, did not get upon the ballot.

Election officials here and in Albany admitted last night that the situation was serious and that the discrepancies could only be explained by the fact that a "mixup" had occurred. The Albany officials placed all the blame on the officials of the Board of Elections in this city. About 25,000 of the ballots have already been shipped to Europe. The remainder have not yet been distributed to the various camps in this country.

It was explained last night that under the Election law it is not necessary for the names of independent candidates to be printed on the ballots, and that the names of such independent candidates have been sent abroad, so that the soldier can write in the name of any candidate he desires to vote for. The explanation made by an official of the State Bureau of Elections follows:

"As the election abroad will begin on Oct. 26, it was necessary to go to press early with the printing of the ballots in order to get them sent off in time. At the same time the time for filing petitions for independent nominations expires on Oct. 17, and it was impossible to wait until all such nominations were filed. The State Bureau of Elections did not get the names of the independent candidates, and therefore went to press with the ballots incomplete. For this reason the City Democracy ticket with the emblem of the rooster, and that of Judge Corrigan, whose emblem is the anchor, were not printed on the ballot."

President Edward F. Boyle of the Board of Elections here said last night that the list of candidates had been gotten up informally and sent to the Secretary of State's office, with all the information available. It was done in a very informal manner, as many of the candidates running independently have not filed their petitions.

Vote Under New Law.

Under a law that was enacted by the present Legislature the work of taking the soldiers' vote may begin on Oct. 26 and continue until and including Election Day, Nov. 6. The commanding officer of the highest rank in the territory or with the fleet where the election is held will have power to fix a day on which the vote among the forces under his command is to be taken.

The soldiers and sailors' vote under the new law will be canvassed on the sixth Tuesday after election by the election inspectors in the various election districts where absentee soldiers and sailors in the military or naval service of the United States are entitled to vote. The Secretary of State in his office at Albany has a carefully compiled card index, giving all the names of voters by county and election district.

In order to provide against accident the Secretary of State, in providing for the polling of the soldiers' vote at the western front in France and the vote of sailors and marines with the fleet doing patrol duty in French and British waters, arranged to have all the election paraphernalia, including ballot boxes, sent across the Atlantic in duplicate. One set left an Atlantic port last Thursday. Another set will be dispatched by a steamship sailing next Tuesday. With each consignment go assistants from the Secretary of State's office, who will assemble and see to the proper return of ballot boxes and ballots when the vote has been taken. They will make their headquarters at the American Embassies in Paris and London. The taking of the vote of the sailors and marines on the naval vessels and patrol boats will be conducted from the London headquarters, and that of the sailors behind the allied lines in France from the headquarters in Paris. Immediate control and supervision of the election will be in the hands of the military and naval commanders, and the balloting, of course, will be at the military camps.

In order to save space in the restricted tonnage, now available, the Secretary of State has had manufactured a set of collapsible ballot boxes, which will not occupy more than one-tenth the space of an ordinary ballot box.

The Secretary of State, as soon as practicable after having the ballots in his custody, is required to issue a summons to the Chairman of the Republican State Committee and the Democratic State Committee and fix a day on which he will open the ballot boxes in their presence and compare the envelopes in which the ballots are with the poll books. From the poll books and the envelopes, on which appears the name of the voter, his county, and his place of residence, the Secretary of State is required to separate the vote by counties, and to forward the envelopes without opening them to the respective counties where the ballots would have been cast had the voter been at home. There they will be canvassed by the local inspectors.

In discussing the taking of the war vote Mr. Hugo said that in all likelihood the ballot boxes would be returned to this country either on a warship or under convoy.

LONG SESSION FOR CONGRESS

Clark Predicts That It Will Last Nearly a Year.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The next session of Congress will be extended possibly into September or October, Speaker Clark predicts, but its total appropriations will be less than those of the present one.

"Unless an arrangement can be made to eliminate the Christmas holidays, we will be here until late in the Fall," said the Speaker. "With the initial expenditures for our national defenses met, including the cost of cantonments and equipping our great army, the cost next year will be lessened."

WED HERE BY PHONE TO GIRL IN GEORGIA

ENGAGED FOR THREE YEARS

But Army Assignments Kept Lieut. Taylor in Other Parts of the World.

Lieutenant James O. aylor, a West Point graduate, serving at Camp Mills with Company M of the 165th Alabama Infantry, was joined yesterday by his bride, formerly Miss Ruby R. Knight of Bainbridge, Ga., to whom he was married on Sept. 28 of this year by a telephone ceremony, which now holds the long distance record. The fact that the marriage was by telephone was announced by friends yesterday.

Lieutenant Taylor and Miss Knight became engaged three years ago. Since then the young officer has always drawn assignments which kept most of the world between him and his fiancee. During three years, beginning shortly after their engagement, he did not see the young woman. Most of the time he was from 5,000 to 12,000 miles away from her. Shortly after the engagement the War Department assigned Lieutenant Taylor to the Presidio at San Francisco, something over 3,000 miles away. After that he was sent to serve in China. He was summoned back to service on the border, after the trouble with Mexico, and then assigned to Camp Mills.

When he learned that he was soon to go to France, Lieutenant Mills sought a leave of absence in order to go to Georgia to be married, but this could not be obtained. Then a friend suggested the marriage by telephone. This was arranged with the New York Telephone Company after it had been discussed over the telephone between Lieutenant Taylor and Miss Knight. The Rev. Mr. J. Shers of Bainbridge read the wedding ceremony over the long-distance telephone in the presence of Miss Knight, while her family, and friends listened. Lieutenant Taylor listened over the long-distance telephone and made the responses. The ring was placed on the young woman's finger by proxy. Lieutenant Austin Humphreys stood by the side of Lieutenant Taylor, acting as best man.

In addition to the men from Manhattan and Brooklyn, 474 men from Nassau and Suffolk Counties, 377 from Westchester County, 104 from Dutchess County, and 26 from Putnam will report for service at Camp Upton this afternoon.

The War and Navy Department Commissions on Training Camp Activities, of which Raymond B. Fosdick is the Chairman, and among the New York members of which are Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, Adolph Lewisohn, and Charles H. Sabin, announced last night a nation-wide campaign for a special fund which will, in effect, mean a contribution of $3 for every enlisted man in the army, in order to insure conditions about the camps of the most wholesome nature.

The appeal issued last night says: "A determined and nation-wide drive will be inaugurated in the immediate future to raise a fund of not less than $4,000,000 to be spent in providing recreation facilities that will be a substitute for the sinister influences that invariably have established themselves in the vicinity of military training camps.

"The purpose of the fund can be seen in the following extract from a letter of President Wilson to Joseph Lee of Boston, a member of the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities:

"The spirit with which our soldiers leave America, and their efficiency on the battle fronts of Europe will be vitally affected by the character of the environments surrounding our military training camps. I understand that your association finds it necessary to raise funds to carry on your work, and I earnestly hope that you will be successful in this endeavor.

Perhaps the local Chambers of Commerce in the cities and towns throughout the country could be appealed to with entire propriety to assist you in this matter. In any event, let me assure you of my warm support.

The organization of a special committee for New York and vicinity to carry on this work is under way, and will be completed this week.

JEWS TO FIGHT PACIFISTS.

Socialist League Will Make Campaign on the East Side.

In making public plans for an anti-pacifist campaign in New York this week, the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy announced yesterday that on the East Side the fight would be led by the Jewish Socialist League and issued a proclamation by the League to all Jews in America.

"The Jewish Socialist League of America was organized with the object of bringing about a clear understanding among the Jewish Socialists of America of the issues involved in the war," the proclamation said. "We hold that the interests of democracy are on the Allies' side and that liberty would be subverted by the victory of German militarism. The majority of Jews are loyal in their support of the United States in this war. Yet there are a large number who, under the influence of ancient prejudices, fell victims to German pacifist propaganda and have been misled into opposing the United States in its righteous course.

"Were the Socialists pacifists in the civil war? No! So strenuously did Karl Marx, the great teacher of modern socialism, support the North against the South that he earned the thanks of President Lincoln. Were the Socialists pacifists during the Crimean war? No! Karl Marx urged England to declare war on Russia and denounced Lord Palmerston as a traitor for hesitating.

"In every war Socialists fought on the side of democracy, and it is the great tragedy of the Socialist movement that in this war there should have been found Socialists fighting against democracy and for tyranny.

"Socialists and Jews! Think of what Germany is now doing to Russia and of what our country is doing for Russia! Germany is supporting counter-revolutions, aiming at the restoration of the old tyranny. America is upholding democracy and liberty, aiming at the establishment of a Russian free republic on a firm basis. Jews of America, lay aside other considerations. Unite in the support of the United States, of freedom, and democracy the world over."

The Alliance will have 100 speakers at work in New York this week in a campaign against pacifists.

This fall Hudson closed cars are more beautiful and luxurious than ever. The smartness and individuality of the limousines, town cars and the landaulets will appeal.

The motor world looks each year to Hudson for closed car mode. It is unnecessary to buy expensive custom-made bodies to secure exclusiveness of design. The variety of Hudson closed cars is large enough to avoid any possibility of their appearing commonplace.

This fall on the Avenue, the parkways and boulevards, observe the closed cars that pass. Hudsons predominate.

We can give reasonably prompt deliveries on these new models, but selections must be made early.

CHICAGO GAINS DECISIVE TRIUMPH OVER THE GIANTS IN SECOND GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

WHITE SOX ROUT HOPE OF GIANTS

was greeted with a storm of applause. Jackson can have anything he wants in Chicago.

Faber not only gave his host of Chicago admirers a thrill by his pitching, but he also supplied much merriment by making one of the stupidest plays ever seen in a world's series. In the fifth inning with Weaver at third and Faber on second, the White Sox pitcher made the big crowd gasp by trying to steal third. Trying to pilfer a base with all the available room at that habitat occupied takes its place in baseball lore with the famous mistake once made by a player named John Anderson, who brazenly tried to annex second base with the bases crowded to suffocation.

Faber's marble top play was taken in a forbearing spirit, as the Sox had the game tucked away and were too happy to be bothered by anything. If Faber had staged this gem in a close game it might have resulted in a tragedy. Chicago baseball fans would have sent him to Siberia to join Nick Romanoff.

Another Capacity Crowd.

Another crowd which jammed the stands at Comiskey Park reveled in the second White Sox victory. Thousands were turned away from the park, and it was only the deep-dyed fans who patiently waited in line all night who got a chance at the 15,000 tickets which were placed on sale. As the fans did not have to go to work today, they stayed out all night for a chance to see the second battle. They kept themselves warm around the bonfires which lighted up the dark streets around the park.

Those who came from out of town to see Saturday's game made a week-end holiday of it and saw the struggle today. They are satisfied now that the Sox will take the next two games in New York and that Rowland's men will repeat the record feat of the Boston Braves in 1914 and will take four games straight. The fans who came here from New York had to suffer a good deal of good-natured comment from the crowd.

White Sox Confident.

The Sox now are the personification of supreme confidence. They were a happy lot as they boarded their special train for New York. There was nothing but gloom, however, when the Giants quietly boarded their train. It was a happy, joyous trip on the way out to Chicago, but the journey back will be a sad affair. The Giants have no excuses to offer for today's upset. They faced the Sox with the best they had, and it was not half good enough.

The Giants were all the more dejected because of an accident which put their best catcher and reliable hitter, Lew McCarty, out of the game. In that nightmarish fourth inning, when the Sox runs were flowing swiftly over the plate, McCarty took a throw from Dave Robertson in right and dove to touch Nemo Leibold as he was sliding home. McCarty missed the little Sox player and tumbled over, striking the ground with such force on his shoulder that he was shaken up, and had to retire in favor of Rariden. McCarty broke his leg in Cincinnati last June, and has not fully recovered from his injury. It is a question whether he will be able to play in the games in New York on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Weather Is Perfect.

It was more like July than October here. The weather was so mild that overcoats were left at home, and everybody wore his or her Sunday best. The crowd viewed this world's series spectacle in the spirit of "The better the day, the better the deed." The only difference between Saturday and Sunday with Chicago baseball fans is that the two are just different figures on the calendar.

It was a noisier game than Saturday's, and that undercurrent of respect and fear that Chicago fans had for Heinie Zim, Herzog, Kauff, Schupp and the other supposed McGraw stars had completely disappeared. All the wild-eyed gamblers here now are wondering why they ever waited for odds from the Giants on the big series. They were willing to bet today, oh yes, and bet as much as the New Yorkers wished.

The happiest folk at the game aside from Charley Comiskey were the members of the Cicotte family. They had the best box in the park, and received congratulations on all sides. Miss Rose Cicotte, who is 10 years old, is a fan, and so is Mrs. Cicotte. The younger Cicotte lassie does not quite know what it is all about yet, as she is only a baby. It seems that on Saturday morning, when Eddie Cicotte left his happy family hearthstone to go forth to do battle with the Giants, the law of the household was laid down to him forcibly by Mrs. Cicotte and Rose. Eddie was informed that if he dared to lose the game, or if he even dared to think of losing it, he might just as well start right out to find another boarding place.

Faber Selected Early.

Handsome Billy Evans of Cleveland was behind the bat as umpire this afternoon, and Rigler was at first, Klem at second, and Silk O'Loughlin at third. After Reb Russell and Faber had warmed up for the Sox under the keen eyes of Rowland and Kid Gleason, Faber was nominated and accepted the honor.

McGraw had Schupp and Perritt warming up, and picked the Louisville Kid. Schupp was tickled, for his father had traveled a long way to see Ferdie in his first major league game. Schupp started out well enough, but he became noticeably nervous and disconcerted as the battle raged. Schupp had everything but experience, but he has not been in the thick of the fight quite long enough to stand the everlasting assault of a crowd of batters like these Red, White, and Blue Sox.

Just as soon as Evans yelled "Play ball!" and the roar of the crowd had subsided and everybody had settled back in his seat, George Burns slung a single to right centre, and it looked as if the Giants were on the right road.

They got under way in the second inning in the most approved Giant fashion. After Fletcher had died at first on Weaver's heave, Robertson beat out an infield hit. Much noise came from that part of the stand occupied by Willie Collier, Magistrate McQuade, and John B. Foster. Holke cracked a single to centre on the hit and run play. Robertson had to pull up at second, whereas if the hit had been a few yards either way from where it dropped he could have sneaked to third, which was the original hit and run play as planned by Strategist McGraw.

McCarty Scores Robertson.

Lew McCarty did something for the cause when he slapped a humming single to left and sent Robertson across the plate. Joe Jackson soaked the ball home to Schalk, who failed to stop it in its flight, and Holke also scored. For the first time in the World's Series of 1917 those who had the best interest of the Giants at heart had a chance to yell as much as they liked, and they took advantage of it.

In ten more minutes that two-run lead, which caused all the jollification in the New York contingent, faded like a morning glory in the sun. Joe Jackson opened up on Ferdie Schupp with a one-base punch to center. Bang! went a hit by Home Run Hap Felsch, and Jackson went to third. Thump! and Gandil got an infield hit, a high hopper over Ferdie's roof, Jackson scoring. Crack! went Buck Weaver's bat against the ball for another single, and Felsch scored with the tying run.

Then the crowd cut loose. After Schalk hit to Schupp, and Gandil was forced at third, Ferdie gave Faber a pass, and was then invited out of the game. Anderson came in and fanned Nemo Leibold, who was sent in to bat against Anderson's right handed flinging. John Collins, who hit so hard on Saturday, taking a forced vacation until the Giants submit another southpaw.

Giants Crushed in Fourth.

Weaver opened the fourth inning upheaval, which developed into something awful even to think about. Buck's single went through second, and Schalk followed suit with a rap to right. After Faber had popped to Zim, Leibold thumped a hit to centre, which sent Weaver home. Boom! Boom! came the hits, sounding like some one pounding on a basedrum. McMullin slashed a single to centre, scoring Schalk. "Help! Help!" was the faint cry from the Giants' bench.

Anderson was dizzy now under the fusilade and McGraw sent a hurry call out to Pol Perritt, who was warming up in right field. Eddie Collins was the first Chicago citizen to face Pol. The whole White Sox outfit seemed to have been taken with the batting fever, and Eddie smashed a single to right which sent Leibold home.

It was getting very warm for the Giants. Perritt wiped the perspiration from his feverish brow. He looked around and saw Jeff Tesreau warming up. It seemed as if Chicago fans were going to get their money's worth anyway and see the whole blamed Giants' pitching staff for the price of one admission.

Look, Perritt, look! See who's up! General Joe Jackson. Herzog and Fletcher came in and whispered to Perritt. They had also whispered to Schupp, and later they had whispered to Anderson. This whispering, mates, does not win ball games. After Perritt had received all the advice that was running loose he turned his battery of curves on Jackson.

Jackson Again in Front.

The ball came up to Joe and in his eyes it seemed the generous proportions of a pumpkin. Joe's mighty bat swung at the plaything and he had the nerve to bang it out to poor, tired Dave Robertson again. Dave, panting like a deer which had been chased about 20 miles, went after the ball and when he had corralled Jackson's single, McMullin and Eddie Collins were at the White Sox bench getting a drink of water. As they walked in to the bench, the Giants looked just as jolly as a crowd of invalids taking their constitutional on the lawn of Doctor Killum's Sanitarium.

The disgruntled fans who swore that they would neever go into Comiskey Park again when they failed to get tickets for the series, have forgotten all about that now and are rejoicing with the others about the great feat of the Sox in taking two straight from the Giants. All the visitors will now go back to the farms, glad that they spent all their money to see these two great games in which the West showed those all-fired smart Easterners how to play baseball.

After that fourth inning, they fanned Pol Perritt with a towel and he went back. After that the Sox did no damage. In the eighth inning Pol was taken out to permit Wilheit to go in as a pinch hitter. As a World's Series pinch hitter, Wilheit chucked a cannon cracker into the soup by hitting into a double play.

NEW YORK PITCHERS BUSY.

Rattle of White Sox Bats Keeps Giants Working Overtime.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The analysis of the balls pitched at today's game showed that Faber threw two less balls than Cicotte did in Saturday's game, while the four New York pitchers were forced to pitch forty-four more balls than Sallee threw on the opening day. The totals were: Faber, 99; the four New York pitchers, 130.

The New York pitchers were called upon to pitch a total of sixty-nine balls in the second, fourth, and sixth innings, while the inning that proved hardest in point of work by Faber was the second, when he had a total of seventeen. His three most difficult innings only totaled forty-six. The compilation shows that Perritt handled the ball more than any of the three other Giant pitchers, while Tesreau, working in only one inning, had the least charged to him.

Perritt, however, has the honor among the Giant quartet of pitching the least number of balls in an inning having only eight in the fifth and a like number in the seventh. Faber carried off the premier honors of the day in this respect when he retired the visitors on six thrown balls in the sixth inning. Faber equalled Perritt's figure of 8 in the fifth, and again retired the side in the ninth with eight pitched balls.

In the whole game the totals of the various kinds of pitchers were as follows: Balls—Faber, 36; Schupp, 14; Anderson, 6; Perritt, 16; Tesreau, 7—New York total, 43. Strikes—Faber, 20; Schupp, 9; Anderson, 10; Perritt, 8; Tesreau, 6—New York total, 33. Foul strikes—Faber, 9; Schupp, 3; Anderson, 5; Perritt, 8; Tesreau, 1—New York total, 17. Fouls—Off Faber, 3; off Schupp, 1; off Anderson, 7; off Perritt, 2; off Tesreau, 0—New York total, 9. Safe hits—Off Faber, 8; off Schupp, 4; off Anderson, 5; off Perritt, 5; off Tesreau, 0—New York total, 14. Hit to fielder—Off Faber, 23; off Schupp, 2; off Anderson, 2; off Perritt, 9; off Tesreau, 1—New York total, 14.

LOCAL RESPECT FOR WHITE SOX GROWS

Giants Will Return Today and Crowds Are Already at Hotels to See Contests Here.

New York's estimation of the White Sox as a world series contender underwent a decided change shortly after 5:15 last evening. When the ticker gave out the final depressing news that four of John McGraw's tried and found true pitchers had been shelled from the mound by Chicago's artillerists, and that the Giants had suffered a second and greater disaster in the October classic, local fans began to believe that Chicago has a baseball representative of worth after all.

The betting element hurried to get rid of the bets that had unwisely been made before the first game, and Chicago odds leaped to the fore. Last night the White Sox were 1 to 2 favorites to win the series, and there was little New York money at that price, since the gamblers insist that it should be 1 to 3 now.

The apparent lack of outward enthusiasm in New York yesterday may be accredited to the Sabbath for one thing, and then to New York's attitude toward all things unusual. New York hardly waxes enthusiastic about anything, as a whole.

The shifting of the scene to the Polo Grounds tomorrow is expected to release whatever latent enthusiasm there is under control now. In fact, several of the local hotels already are beginning to feel an influx of visitors, and all because of the world series. The Biltmore Hotel, which will be the headquarters of the Giants during the games here, will house the greater number of those vitally interested in the games.

Reservations were made at the Biltmore several days ago by Charles Comiskey, President of the victorious White Sox; Charles Dineen, formerly Governor of Illinois and a rooting fan; Roger Sullivan, Chicago's political leader, and many other celebrities from distant parts. Mr. Comiskey tried to obtain quarters for his team at the Biltmore, but the management was unable to take care of the players, and it is possible they will be at the Manhattan Hotel.

At the Waldorf Astoria, where the National Commission will hold forth during the series, it was stated that almost every available room had been set aside for men of national prominence who have forgotten the war for the time and are making a holiday of baseball. The rest of the local hotels are filling rapidly, and it is expected that tonight, when the vanguard of the Western army reaches town, that sleeping space will be at a premium.

Both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania lines are running special trains from Chicago to New York with loads of baseball enthused humanity, which should begin arriving early this evening and continue to come until nearly midnight. The players of each team left on train immediately after the game, and should get here late this afternoon, since the specials are running on the best schedule.

While New York's outward excitement created no diversion, in several halls crowds were packed watching electric score boards detail the plays of the game. It was estimated that at the Madison Square Garden and the Seventy-first Regiment Armory more than 25,000 persons saw the lifelike baseball player boards depict the happenings at Chicago.

Plans for the game at New York are complete, according to Harry N. Hempstead, President of the Giants, who did not go to Chicago, and who still can smile regardless of the atrocities committed there against the Giants. The gates for the unreserved seats in the grand stand and bleachers will open shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning, and at noon the gates to the reserved sections will be opened. There will be no public sale of reserved seats, as the management of the club insists that every reserved seat has gone to a responsible party and that the name of the purchaser has been written on that ticket. However, fans who care to withstand the suffering of paying two or three times the original price for seats should have no trouble in securing pasteboards, as New York speculators are liberally supplied.

One ticket agency yesterday indignantly denied that there are no reserved seat tickets for sale as announced by the management of the New York club. "We have any number of choice seats on sale," declared the agency representative. "All we ask is a little advance over the usual price."

"Where did you get your tickets?" he was asked.

"We never have any trouble on that score," was his assurance. "Why, we were offered more tickets, but decided we could not handle them. Anyway, they had names of prominent baseball men on them, and we did not care to risk the chances which a sale might bring about."

Street speculators around Times Square continue to offer tickets at an increase of 300 and 400 per cent, and they, too, appear to have more than enough to supply the demand.

DETAILED ACCOUNT OF GAME BY INNINGS

BURNS RECEIVES NO HELP

Giant Left Fielder Again Starts Contest with Single, but His Teammates Fall Down.

Special to The New York Times.

First Inning.

GIANTS—George Burns, first to face the newly appointed Giant-killer Uuban Faber, withdrew from the first offering of the White Sox twirler, which threatened to crease his anatomy. Umpire Evans called the next one a strike and also its successor, which whizzed over the heart of the plate without arousing Burns' interest. The left-fielder fouled off one and then came a bad one which Burns thought had hit him. He appeared disposed to take first on the episode but Evans had seen no evidence of mayhem and refused permission for the trip. Burns appeared miffed and lashed the next one over Eddie Collins' head to short right centre for a neat single.

Charley Herzog heard one strike called upon him and then drifted a grounder down the first-base line in fair territory. Gandil scooped up the ball and shot it to Weaver at second, forcing out Burns. The return throw to first was too late to get Herzog. Benny Kauff took one ball and got into action with a high fly to John Collins in right field. Collins dropped the ball, but caught Herzog, who had dallied around first thinking the catch as good as made. Herzog was forced at second, Collins throwing to Weaver. Heinie Zimmerman slashed at the first ball offered and grounded to Eddie Collins, who had plenty of time to get the ball to Gandil ahead of Zim. No runs, no hits, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Two bad ones, the first away outside and the next erring as badly in the other direction, were Schupp's initial heaves to John Collins. Then one slipped over the inside corner for a strike. Collins lofted the next one straight toward the zenith. It fell in front of the plate into the palms of Zimmerman, who had galloped in, shielding his eyes from the sun. McMullin took a called strike and two balls, and then fouled one into the Giants' dugout for a second strike. The fifth delivery to McMullin clipped the centre of the plate waist high, and the batter was called out. Eddie Collins heard three balls and two strikes announced by the arbiter and glanced contemptuously at the next which Schupp submitted for his attention. It whirled by and Collins headed for first. Umpire Evans prevented the pleasant trip, however, by the raucous announcement that it was "strike three." No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning.

GIANTS—Faber gave Fletcher a wide one and then a good one. The Giants' short-fielder thrust at the second and grounded to Weaver, who did his duty, aided by Gandil. Davey Robertson lashed vigorously at the first ball and drove a grass clipper, which Eddie Collins dove for and stopped thirty feet behind the path between first and second. Robertson beat the throw by a narrow margin and was credited with a hit. Holke smashed tthe second ball pitched over second base for a clean single and Felsch's throw to Eddie Collins held Dave at second. At this juncture Russell started to warm up for the Sox. McCarty singled sharply to left, and Robertson scored when Jackson's throw got away from Schalk at the plate. The ball escaped far enough for Holke to score also. McCarty went to second on the throw home. The throw was good and fast, and it was Schalk's error. Schupp grouded one to Faber and was thrown out to Gandil. McCarty went to third on the play. With McCarty on third, Burns bounced one to Weaver at short and was thrown out to Gandil at first. Two runs, three hits, one error.

WHITE SOX—After drawing three straight balls and one strike Joe Jackson poked a single to center. On the hit and run play Felsch smacked the first ball to right for a single, and Jackson went to third. Schupp and McCarty held a conference, and the fans howled. Gandil laid on the first ball pitched and bounced a hard single off Schupp's glove. Herzog ran in to get the ball, but was too late. Jackson scored and Felsch rested on the keystone bag. Weaver started up and Rowland whispered something to him. Evidently he told Buck to sacrifice, as the Sox shortstop tried to lay the first ball down on the left foul line, but it rolled outside. Buck tried it a second time, with the same result, then, leaning on a straight one that Schupp tried to sneak over, Buck put a single in short left and Felsch scored with the tying run. Gandil went to second on the play.

The New York captain, pitcher and catcher held a council of war, while McGraw sent his reserve men out to warm up. Schalk tried to sacrifice, but forced Gandil at third, Schupp to the great Zim. Faber looked at two balls and two called strikes and then let a wide one float by. Red watched one more on the inside of the plate and walked, which filled the sacks. It was Schupp's Waterloo. McGraw removed him, and the man who was most expected to take the Sox's measure walked crestfallen to the Giants' dugout.

Anderson, a righthander, took up the burden for the Gothamites amid yells from the Sox partisans. Rowland switched his plans, too, and sent up Leibold, who hits from the port side, to bat for Shano Collins. Nemo, as Leibold is called here, put a short foul grounder to the right stands. He followed with a short tap toward first that rolled slightly foul before Holke fielded the ball. Weaver beat Holke's throw to the plate, but the play was not allowed. Leibold then struck out, and McMullen died, Fletcher to Herzog. Two runs, four hits, no errors.

Third Inning.

GIANTS—Leibold went into leftfield for the White Sox. Herzog, first to face Faber in this inning, struck out on four pitched balls, getting a called strike, fouling a couple off and then swinging his club fervently at a wide one which evaded him without difficulty. Kauff let two offerings go by and then a strike was called on him. The next was low and inside the plate, and the Giants' centre fielder had visions of a free passage. Faber dribbled over another called strike, however, and on the next Kauff sent a slow roller to ward first which Faber fielded. Gandil was off the sack and the pitcher slid to the bag for the put-out on his maltreated stomach. Zimmerman was received by the crowd with the courteous chorus of booing which is the accustomed greeting for him here. He tried unsuccessfully to bunt the first ball offered, and struck eagerly but in vain at the second. A little bounder to Faber then sealed his fate, while the multitude expressed derisive sympathy. No runs, no hits, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Eddie Collins sent a sharp bounder to Anderson and expired without undue fuss at first. Jackson took a ball and fouled the second down the first base line for a strike. Then he sent a grounder skipping just to the right of second base. Herzog could not reach it, and it proved to be a single. Felsch struck at a wide one and then got a ball. He slashed at a beauty next, but failed to connect. The White Sox custodian of centre field now fouled off a couple, the first of which it seemed as if Holke could have caught with a little dash. On the next delivery Felsch fanned. McCarty dropped the third strike, but the batter was out as first base was occupied at the time. An instant later it was entirely unoccupied, however, save by Holke, for Jackson stole second. Gandil lashed futilely at two fast ones from Anderson's digits, fouled off the next two and then struck without avail at the next. Anderson got a gratifying salvo from the Giant rooters as he walked to the bench. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

GIANTS—Fletcher flied to short left on the first pitch and Weaver ran out to gather it in. Robertson, with a ball and a couple of strikes recorded, thrashed a sharp bounder over Faber's head, the pitcher barely getting his finger tips on the ball. Weaver nailed the sphere but rolled over and could not get it to Gandil in time, so Dave got a scratch single. Holke grounded to McMullin, and Robertson was forced at second, Collins making the put-out. McCarty had two strikes and a ball in the annals when Holke tried to steal and was out by a goodly fraction of a mile, Schalk to Collins. No runs, one hit, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Buck Weaver took two balls and a foul strike and then bunted a roller to Herzog, who nailed it with one hand, but could not get it over to Holke in time to get his man. It was a single, and Schalk duplicated, only one more cleanly, to right field an instant later. Weaver was held at second base. Faber went to bat and Holke played up half way to the plate to snare any bunts that might appear. The White Sox pitcher had nothing more dangerous to offer than a foul fly to Heinie Zim over near the third-base boxes.

Nemo Leibold poked a grass-skipping single between short and second, and Weaver scored, while Schalk got around to third. McMullin singled to short centre on the first ball pitched, and Schalk completed his trip home, while Leibold was held at second. At this juncture McGraw essayed to check the bombardment by supplanting Anderson with Perritt. Eddie Collins singled to right on the second offering of Perritt and Leibold scored, McMullin going to third.

Taking Robertson's throw and trying to head off Leibold at the plate, McCarty fell over the runner and injured his throwing arm. Rariden took his place behind the bat. The slaughter was not yet over. Jackson lined the first pitch to right for another single, upon which McMullin and Eddie Collins came home. Herzog ended the dismal proceedings by clutching Felsch's line drive and nailing Jackson at second for an unassisted double play. Five runs, six hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

GIANTS—Rariden took a strike and then sent an easy bounder to McMullin, perishing at first. Perritt startled the crowd by rapping a sharp bounder over Faber's head to short centre for a single. Burns hit into a double play on a soft grounder to Faber, Weaver and Gandil participating in the execution. No runs, one hit, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Gandil flied to Robertson on the second ball pitched. Weaver gave Fletcher a grounder, which was severely booted by the shortstop. Schalk died at first on a skipper to Zimmerman. Faber took two strikes and a ball, and then singled to deep right. Robertson's throw held Weaver at third, and Faber took second on the throw in. An instant later the White Sox pitcher became discontented with his location and decided to move along to third base. The presence of Weaver at that station failed to restrain him, because he thought it would be all the cozier, and, besides, there were matters which he wanted to talk over with Weaver, so he cantered briskly down the pathway, only to be awakened from his revery by a throw from Rariden to Zimmerman. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Inning.

GIANTS—Three mighty New York batters perished hurriedly in this frame. Herzog grounded to Weaver on the first ball pitched and went out at first. Kauff liked the first ball also, and flied to Felsch. Zimmerman swung at a very wide one and then flied to Eddie Collins in short right. No runs, no hits, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Nemo Leibold, with two strikes and two balls on his list, flied to Dave Robertson. McMullin took a strike and a ball and then sent a bounder to Fletcher, who got him at first. Eddie Collins fouled off one and took three balls, one of which was so wild that it threatened collision with the batter's head. Then Collins sent a grounder to Holke. Perritt, covering the base, muffed the throw, but the official scorer, to the onlookers' surprise, recorded it as a hit. While Jackson was getting a base on balls, Eddie Collins stole second. Perritt nearly nipped him there with a quick throw to Herzog, and Umpire Klem, officiating at second, called the runner out, but reversed his decision. As Happy Felsch swung vainly at the first ball offered, Collins and Jackson engineered a successful double steal. It proved of no avail, however, as Felsch grounded to Holke, who made the put-out unassisted. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

GIANTS—Fletcher let a curve pass him, but poked a low fast one for a single to left. Robertson walked out of the batter's box and missed a slow curve. He waited for three bad ones and then bit on a slow one, tapping it in front of the plate, and Schalk tossed him out at first, Fletcher going to second. Faber also was in the hole on Holke, three and one, when the Giant first baseman fouled off the next one. The next pitch was right in the groove, and Holke slammed a liner into center. Felsch came in fast, caught the ball and doubled Fletcher off second, tossing to Collins, who in turn relayed it to Weaver. No runs, one hit, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Zimmerman went to his left to toss out Gandil. Weaver sent a slow curve to deep short and beat Fletcher's throw to first for a hit. Schalk fouled two, and let the next pass as Weaver started for second. He was out, Rariden to Fletcher. Schalk, with two and two on him, sent up a high fly to Kauff. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning.

GIANTS—Rariden opened with a single to centre, taking a crack at Faber's curve ball. Wilhoit batted for Perritt, and slammed the first ball straight to Weaver on the line. Weaver squeezed it and threw to Gandil, doubling Rariden off first. Burns walked on four straight balls. This was Faber's first pass. Herzog, after hearing a ball and strike called, hit to McMullin, who threw to E. Collins, forcing Burns. No runs; one hit; no errors.

WHITE SOX—Tesreau went in to pitch for New York, McGraw's fourth pitcher of the game. Faber took three healthy swings, and went back to the bench for his rest. Leibold waited and was rewarded with a pass, four balls being mixed in with one strike. When McMullin took his second strike, Leibold went out stealing, Rariden to Fletcher. McMullin flied to Burns. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Ninth Inning.

GIANTS.—With two and nothing on him, Kauff popped to Weaver. Zimmerman hit the first ball to Faber, and was out at first, to Gandil. Fletcher went out, Weaver to Gandil. No runs; no hits; no errors.

COMISKEY VERY HAPPY.

Rowland Expects the Sox to Win in Four Straight Games.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—President Comiskey was proud and happy as a result of Chicago's victory over New York today. Both and he and Manager Rowland tonight expressed the belief that the result of today's game assured the Sox the championship of the world.

"I never felt happier in my life than I did in that fourth inning, when the boys went out and knocked in those five runs," he said. "That clinched the ball game for us, and I figure it just as good as clinched the world's championship. The Sox proved their metal in that attack, and it seems now that nothing can beat us.

"We are going down to New York now to show Broadway just how we licked the Giants in the first two games, and if we show them the fight will be all over Wednesday night, provided the weather doesn't interfere."

IRVIN COBB FINDS PATHOS AT SERIES

Father and Four Brothers of Schupp Suffer After Long Trip from Louisville.

THERE WERE LAUGHS, TOO

Chicago Pitcher Not the Only Faber Which Has Lump of Rubber at Its Upper End.

By IRVIN S. COBB.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—We all stood up twice today out at the Comiskey stockade—once for the National Anthem and once for the seventh inning, which also is sacred to American citizens—but otherwise there was no occasion for any display of this high church ritualistic stuff on the part of the visiting firemen from over New York way.

After that one promising flareup in the second inning there was nought for them to do save to sit low in their seats and be inwardly consumed by the corrosive acids of a deep, vain, and most poignant regret. The vital statistics which appear in an adjacent column of this issue tell a sorrowful tale abounding in dire mortalities. Regarding the tally of the box score there is nothing to be said from the Giantesque standpoint which is not acutely painful.

But to the way of thinking of a few of us who happened to be in the secret, the biggest tragedy of all concerned itself not with the disastrous result of the second game of the world's series, but was a special tragedy with a personal aspect to it. Around at the tip of one of the wings of the spread-eagle grandstand sat, when the umpires called time, a little old gentleman, who spoke English with an accent, and four big, strapping young men.

Schupp Family Distressed.

The old man was the father of Ferdy Schupp, star slabman for the Giants, and the quartet who accompanied him were his sons, and all five of them had come from their home on a back street in Louisville to see the baby of the family pitch his team to victory in the greatest sporting classic on the Western Hemisphere.

That is what they had come to see, these five—the five proudest persons in all Chicago, beforehand—and what they saw was poor little Ferdy being hammered out of the box before the game was thirty minutes old. To them probably it was mighty poor comfort to know that the youngster was game enough. The great outstanding fact, so far as they were concerned, was that the little fellow had to take a licking right there before all that whooping horde of partisans of the other side.

Well, if there was no cheer for the Schupp family, neither was there any balm for the tribe of McGraw—no, not a drop.

There were comedy touches to the affair, 'tis true, but it is frightfully hard for a fellow to be cheerful when he is taking part in his own funeral, and playing the rôle of the remains for the second time in two days at that. So the Giants did not perk up even when Faber, the Chicago pitcher, performed the intellectual and physical feat of stealing third at a moment when the base was already bulkily occupied by one Buck Weaver, Esq. In the ensuing congestion around the bag Mr. Faber was tagged right out.

Faber Smiled Withal.

It would seem that the well-known pencil for which this young athlete is named is not the only Faber that has a lump of rubber at its upper end. At that Mr. Faber, apart from a perfectly natural feeling of chagrin over having started a coup and wound up in a pocket, fared much better than the quartet of opposing flingers who participated in these obsequies of even date.

First, there was Schupp, who vanished in total eclipse at an early stage of the sad rites. Then there was Anderson. Anderson did fairly well—nothing spectacular, but fairly well—until Eddie Collins deliberately and cruelly batted the ball at him with such terrific impetus that in pure self-defense Anderson had either to catch it in his two hands or be undressed by the impact. As a modest man Anderson very properly had no fancy for being knocked practically nude by a batted ball before all that crowd, most of whom were total strangers to him, and the shock, in addition to neatly parting his hair in the middle and shifting his wad of eating tobacco from his port to his starboard jaw, so unsettled his nervous system that shortly thereafter he, too, went entirely away from there, wearing upon his face a look which said plainer than words:

Anderson was succeeded by Pol Perritt, a gentleman almost as long and slender as his own shadow at sunset. For all that Mr. Perritt suffered severe backsets at the hands of the White Sox. He remained on the job seemingly as indifferent as an ambulance surgeon, than whom there is no creature more indifferent on the face of the earth, until almost up to the bitter end.

Curtain Down with Tesreau.

Finally when the shades of night were drawing nigh Mr. Jefferson Davis Tesreau, with his face screwed up in lines of resolution until Jeff, who normally is quite a handsome person, was as homely in the face as a hotel carpet, came forth to die in the last ditch and make a holiday for an unfeeling Chicago audience. It was Tesreau who finished for the Giants, but that seemed but a superfluous detail, seeing that they were quite finished already.

On the other side of the ledger bright individual achievements stood forth grandly. There was McMullin still covering third base like an angel and there was Joe Jackson, late of Hominy Creek, South Carolina, performing in such fashion as to qualify him, in the estimation of the Chicago populace at least, for a place in the Hall of Fame along with those other two great Southern members of the Jackson family—Old Hickory and Stonewall. So much in passing for the outstanding features of the pastiming. The crowd, joying in the victory of the local outfit, was as big as yesterday's had been, which meant a capacity crowd, and even more vociferous than yesterday's crowd had been.

To the very pure all things are putrid. Which explains why in New York or anywhere else in the old stamping ground and hating ground of the Puritan along the Eastern seaboard Sunday baseball is prohibited. Chicago on the other hand is more tolerant or more sinful, less bigoted or less careful of its people's morals, just as you choose to look at these things; and so it came to pass that more than 30,000 men and women spent the afternoon in the open air in sincere enjoyment of an exciting, honestly played game.

No Blue Laws Fractured.

In all that great host I, sitting high up in the press stand, saw no man who was drunk unless it chanced to be a man drunk on healthy enthusiasm. In my hearing not a foul word was uttered, and to my knowledge not a single soul there present misbehaved himself or herself. It would have broken the heart of a strict Sabbatarian to behold so many people having such a good time on the Christians' days of rest. Such shameful spectacles would never be permitted in pious New York. We are too godly for such things east of the Alleghanies.

Let us pray for depraved Chicago where the inhabitants are allowed to go to ball games on a Sunday. We need not pray for the White Sox, since they seem to be doing pretty well on their merits, and they have a loyal town unanimously behind them.

All Friday night the true lovers, to the number, some people said, of several thousands, stood in chilled-out, resolute lines outside the park. They had no money for speculators, but they must have had hardihood to spare. Their patience was rewarded when, after they had stood in line through the night and sat on hard seats through the day, they saw their beloved White Legs win the opening game of the series.

Do you think they were satisfied then to take their wearied, sun-dried, wind-chafed frames home and put them to bed? The answer is no, with the falling inflexion, please. Officials of the two managements who stayed until late Saturday night counting up and checking off the day's receipts are the authorities for the statement that hundreds of bleacherites, having issued from the exit gates, straightway faced themselves about and fell into ranks content to spend a second night upon their feet, to the end they might be certain of an early appearance at the ticket window this morning.

Sleep Second Consideration.

Undoubtedly there were a considerable number who went without sleep for forty-eight hours, except such dozing snatches as they caught, huddled up on the hard boards there back of left field and right field, because they just must see Chicago's pets perform. This was one kind of Chicago fan—the bleacher bug, cheering himself hoarse when not engaged in hissing Mr. Heinie. The well-known Zimmerman, who in these parts is considerably detested for the sole reason, so far as I can ascertain, that he quit the Cubs, partly by mutual consent and partly by request, as it were, to join the hated rivals from tidewater.

The other common variety of earnest Chicagoan paid more for his pew. In numbers amounting to a vast multitude he has perched in the grand stand these two afternoons with his adoring eyes riveted upon Comiskey's perfectors, with his lips forming whoops and with his suspicious ears acock for some whisper of disapprobation for his town, his climate, his team, or his State by any person suspected of residing in the Eastern part of the United States. For Chicago has unaugeable bulk in what New York almost altogether lacks—it has local pride.

That is why a victory for Chicago in this series will mean more to the folk out here than the winning of half a dozen series would mean to Broadway's native and naturalized children. That is why, when yelling time comes, the rolling Lake Michigan is fluttered with infinitely more zest, more enthusiasm, and more abandon than characterizes the standing of the broad Manhattanized avenues. That is why in Chicago you can get a fight on your hands for what would provoke silent contempt if you said it in dispraise of New York before a New Yorker.

McNEIL WINS ROAD RACE.

Presentation Club Runner Leads in Brooklyn A. A. Event.

A large entry turned out yesterday for the four-mile road race of the Brooklyn A. A., held over the Highland Park course. The winner was James McNeil, the Presentation Club's distance runner, who completed the journey in 21:25, crossing the finish line about one city block ahead of E. Donahue, a clubmate, who held down second position. The order of finish of the first ten runners was as follows:

J. McNeil, Presentation Club, 21:25; E. Donahue, Presentation Club, 22:20; F. Raddy, Brooklyn A. A., 22:35; M. Gross, Brooklyn A. A., 22:50; J. Ober, Brooklyn A. A., 23:49; D. ## HALPERN VICTOR ON WHEEL.

Wins Championship of New York Division of C. R. C. A.

Scoring victories in three of the four events which made up the program, Max Halpern, Secretary of the New York Division of the Century Road Club Association, yesterday won the bicycling championship of that division in the annual titular contests held on the Pelham Parkway. Halpern's point score for the events was 15 out of a possible 20, and this figure was three better than the total credited to L. Sattler, who finished second. John Marquart, last year's champion, with 8 points, was third.

Halpern finished first in the half mile, quarter-mile, and one-mile races, and in each contest he crossed the finish line with a good margin over his nearest competitor. He was engaged in an interesting duel with Marquart for the honors of the two-mile event when the two riders collided and both were thrown to the roadway. Marquart quickly remounted his wheel and managed to carry off second honors, but Halpern was hopelessly out of the race as a result of the spill, which occurred about 100 yards from the finish.

The summaries:

One-quarter-Mile Bicycle Race.—Won by M. Halpern; J. Marquart, second; L. Sattler, third. Time—0:32 2-5.

One-half-Mile Bicycle Race.—Won by M. Halpern; L. Sattler, second; J. Marquart, third. Time—1:09 2-5.

Road Race for C. Lauth.

C. Lauth, unattached, led home a large field in the first open road race of the Bronxdale A. C. yesterday, covering the four-mile journey in 24:02. Lauth showed in the front for the greater part of the race, and although he was given some opposition early, he crossed the finish line a considerable distance ahead of N. Deegan, St. Antony A. C., who finished second in 24:31, while J. Trimoshic was third in 24:40. Others who finished were: J. Negro, Bronxdale A. C., 24:59; J. Watson, Fort Schuyler, 25:20; C. Snyder, Bronxdale A. C., 25:48; L. Constantino, St. Antony A. C., 26:00; T. Timmons, Fort Schuyler, 26:11; H. O'Hara, St. Antony A. C., 27:04; S. Duffy, Bronxdale A. C., 27:22.

BRISK SULKY RACES OVER THE SPEEDWAY

Clover Patch Makes Fastest Mile in Pacing Race and Leo Dare Wins Colt Race.

With several local trotting and pacing enthusiasts sending new horses to the post larger fields were in evidence yesterday at the third matinée of the Fall meeting of the Road Drivers' Association at the Harlem Speedway. The day's competitions were brisk and exciting, despite the fact that the animals were competing under the handicap of a strong wind, and close finishes were the rule, though but one event went to three heats.

The honors for the newcomers went to J. H. Lawrence, who started two horses in pacing events and won a first and second prize. His J. W. D., a bay gelding, carried off the honors of the 1:09 pacing event, outstepping J. Gilmore's Exultant and W. J. O'Neil's Automatism in straight heats, the times being 1:05 and 1:07½. In the 1:05 pacing event, which incidentally furnished a come-back effort for the veteran pacing queen Clover Patch, Lawrence's bay gelding Harper carried off the second ribbon, finishing second and third in the heats. Harper came down the half-mile stretch in third position in the second heat, but because the fastest time was made in the first brush, in which Harper was second, Lawrence's entry received the second honors over E. A. Meckel's Countess Kohl.

In annexing the honors of the 1:09 pace J. A. Murphy's Clover Patch earned a blue ribbon for the first time in many weeks. She was handled by the veteran driver Jesse Smith, and came down the speedway in impressive style in both heats, although her margin of victory in each brush was comparatively small. Her times were 1:04¾ and 1:07.

M. I. Aronson started two newcomers in Hal Direct, out of Empire-Direct, in the 1:13 pace, which gained the blue ribbon in straight heats, and Josephine B., which finished third in the colt trotting class.

ROSE TREE HUNT RACES.

Three Days of Stiff Sport for the Owners of Steeplechasers.

Rose Tree Hunt Club, one of the sportiest of the many hunt clubs in the Philadelphia section, has decided on a three-day event for this year, the affair being for the benefit of the Red Cross. The dates selected are Oct. 20, 24, and 27, with the usual races over the brush and across the fair hunting country, which is used during the hunt season for the meets of the club. This will give the owners of hunters a fair chance to use their thoroughbreds, and a large number of owners connected with the Long Island hunt and country clubs will send their stables down to Media for a tryout against the cross country horses belonging to the clubs in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia, which are always represented at these out and out amateur affairs, in which the flat races are for farmers' horses, as a rule.

On the opening day, Saturday, Oct. 20, the Agricultural and Middletown Barrens Steeplechases, both over the hunting courses, and the Red Cross Plate, at two miles over the brush, will be decided. The Middletown Barrens will be the test race, as it is over a rolling course of three miles and a half, with plowed fields, stubble, and stiff rail fences to be negotiated.

Seven races are on for decision for Wednesday, Oct. 24, the Rose Tree Plate being for hunters over the three and a half mile course, the Media Plate for jumpers over the two-mile brush course, and the Equity Plate, a two-mile and a half run over the brush course.

Saturday, Oct. 27, has four events over the jumps and two over the flat. The chief event will be the Between the Flags Plate, over a fair hunting country of three miles and a half. There will be two events over the brush course, one at two miles, and the other at two and a half miles, and a short two-mile dash over the hunting course.

Entries will close with Frank J. Bryan, Racing Secretary, 8 East Forty-first Street, this city, on Thursday of this week.

HEARNS CLUB CHAMPION.

Defeats Five Competitors for All-Around Pastime A. C. Title.

Kyran F. Hearne, one of the Pastime A. C. athletes, yesterday showed his versatility by winning the club's all-around handicap championship honors in the annual competition held at Macomb's Dam Park. Hearns, with a handicap of 443 points, compiled a total of 4,402 for the five events, leading a field of nine rivals for the honor. His only victory was in the one-mile run, in which he breasted the tape a winner by a large margin. In three of the other events Hearns managed to gain a placement within the point distribution. Hearns was second in the mile walk, and earned fourth places in the 220-yard dash and eight-pound shotput.

Bodgen had an allowance of fifty yards and showed good form throughout the race. The individual honors of the meet went to Alexander Smith, who captured first place in the 220-yard dash, from the scratch mark, and later gave his club a commanding lead in a half-mile relay race, in which the Mohawk A. ## PLAN BIRD DOG CLASSIC.

Trials on Grouse for Championship Fixed for Week of Oct. 29.

The fifth annual meet of the Pennsylvania Field Trial Club for bird dogs on grouse has been fixed for the week beginning Oct. 29, and will be run over the vast preserve of protected ground at Kane, McKean County, Penn., about midway between Erie and Pittsburgh, where birds are ordinarily very plentiful. There are fairly comfortable hotel accommodations at Kane and the country all about is settled with camps of hunters and clubs where visitors are made welcome for the big Northern bird dog classic.

The three stakes to be decided are the Derby, the All-Aged Shooting Stake and the National Champion Stake, the latter carrying with it to the winning dog the title of the champion grouse dog of America.

All the best bird dogs owned by sportsmen in this State, Connecticut and New Jersey will meet those from Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and some from the extreme Western States, as well as those handled in the States of Kentucky and Tennessee, many of these latter of New York and Eastern ownership.

Entry blanks can be had from H. H. Cahoon, Secretary, Avon, Penn., who will arange accommodations for owners desiring to take their dogs to the trials.

Smithtown Horse Show Oct. 23.

No cups will be awarded at the annual Smithtown Horse Show, to be held next Saturday, as it will be a Red Cross affair, with all the proceeds going to that charity. As usual, this will be one of the leading social affairs of the Smithtown and Islip sections, the show beginning in the morning and continuing throughout the day.

Several firms retain her to give advice in the selection of applicants for important positions. People she has trained are doing this work successfully in a number of organizations.

This series of lecture lessons will be definite, so that every hearer will learn something he can use in his business.

THE COAL SITUATION.

The bituminous coal operators and miners have agreed that the operators will raise wages to an agreed rate if the Fuel Administrator will allow a corresponding advance in prices to consumers. That has the appearance of a combination against the Fuel Administrator as well as against the consumer. For the Fuel Administrator has already fixed a price for coal, and has given the disputants to understand that they must adjust their differences within his price. The situation is interesting because wheat and coal are the only commodities the price of which has been fixed by edict rather than by agreement. There has been some reduction in the price of flour, and there are increasing hopes of a decrease in the price of bread. On the other hand, the farmers are not freely taking the liberal price fixed for their crops, and the outlook is not clear. The coal situation differs from the food situation in that the quantity of the crops cannot be altered by the price this year, whereas the price of coal has immediate connection with the relation of supply and demand. If there is a shortage of coal the blame will be put on the price. That the original price was low appears from the fact that already the price has been raised for some producers. The question now arises whether it shall be raised for all, at the cost of all consumers. There is no reproach in the alteration of a price. In free markets prices alter often. It would be a greater mistake to adhere to a wrong price than to readjust prices justly. The whole question is, What is a fair price?

The difficulty in the situation is that the unions cannot control their men. They were working under an agreement running to 1918 when wages were raised in April. But the revised wage scale cannot hold the men any more than the prior agreement, and there can be no certainty that another increase of pay will hold the men, even if the agreement passes the Administrator. Penalties against the unions are nothing to the men. The unions cannot make the men work any more than the operators if better pay is offered in other trades. The cutting of every price is popular except the cutting of wages. But unless wages are limited, at least to the fulfillment of wage agreements, there can be no reduction of prices in anything. It is not even to the advantage of labor that wages should rise without limit, for pay envelopes buy less as prices rise with wages. Always strikes multiply as wages rise. Seldom is there trouble in the wage market when wages are falling. Labor unrest is usually greatest when wages are highest. The recent strike record is disturbing both in patriotic and economic aspects. Wages now are paid largely out of borrowed billions which oppress all taxpayers. The Washington price fixers are bound to consider the taxpayers as well as consumers of coal. No price can be fixed unless wages are fixed. Sooner or later the question must be faced.

The Fuel Administrator shows commendable stability in a troublesome situation. He denies that there is any real shortage of supply. The present complaints are attributed not to lack of coal but to orders of distribution designed to relieve the railways by using waterways while navigation is open. When frost comes the coal sent to the North will be distributed in the districts now impeded in filling their bins. In free markets such questions of priority are settled by the price. Now they are settled by edict in a trade not represented in the price-fixing process. The coal trade is deliberately excluded from the coal regulation in order that there may be no suspicion of selfish influence. It would seem that two dangers are risked. One is the lack of experience in production and distribution. The other is favoritism in distribution. When a higher price is offered than regulation allows it is proof that some willing to buy and pay will be disappointed. It is a serious responsibility to say which cities or sections can be supplied and which must not defend themselves against the threats of Winter. There is talk of a national coal pile, for the especial benefit of those least able to protect themselves in an extortionate market. There is in this a hint that those able to outbid the poor may not be so well supplied as the poor. The Fuel Administrator is not primarily to blame. He is doing his best. The root of the trouble is that those who have fostered the belief that the coal operators were robbing the public are now unable to control the miners in their intention to have part of the swag by fair means or foul. The offensive idea and the offensive words were plainly used in the debate between the miners and the operators.

THOSE IDLE DUTCH SHIPS.

We direct the attention of the Dutch Government and of those who own the eighty-four Dutch ships now lying idle at our ports to a dock in Philadelphia, where the Swedish ship Mexicano is unloading a cargo which our Exports Board will not permit her to carry across the Atlantic. Three weeks ago another Swedish ship, the Carlsholm, seeking a cargo of wheat but not allowed to have one, sailed from New York with a load of coal for Chile, and she will bring back nitrate. In this there was a lesson for the idle Dutch carriers. The Mexicano, with 5,000 tons of flour, pig iron, and steel on board, had been tied up at Philadelphia for nearly three months. She could get no license for coal or cargo. Repeated appeals to Washington were unsuccessful, and now the cargo is coming out. We need the flour for ourselves and our allies. And we do not allow shipment of metals to Sweden, a country which has assisted Germany with millions of tons of high-grade iron and steel for munitions and even for the torpedoes by which more than 100 Swedish ships have been sunk. There is some evidence that Germany is now in need of steel. The Mexicano's cargo might have gone to a German port.

By this time it must be realized by the Dutch Government, which, it is said, controls by charter a majority of the eighty-four idle ships, that what they have on board cannot be carried to Holland. Why don't they unload? It is estimated that their expenses while lying in our ports have already exceeded $10,000,000. There are reports that Holland proposes to ask our Government for compensation in money. That would be folly. Owners of the ships, or of a majority, may be willing to follow the example of the Mexicano in Philadelphia, but they must have their Government's permission. There is risk of seizure if they fail to do so, and if they should remove the cargoes many of the vessels would be invited to enter our coastwise service. Neither their owners nor the Dutch Government can expect that our Government will allow them to lie here idle much longer, with the grain on board beginning to rot. This wheat and corn should be saved, and the ships should go to work.

THE JUDGE AND THE HOAXER.

What cynical pseudologist or humorous mythmaker feeds the innocence of Judge HYLAN with the Rockefellerian legends which he continues to emit? The Judge sits apart, receiving from what reincarnate Eli Perkins, what arch-hoaxer, that wealth of all-around misinformation about the Gary plan? Has the Judge ever heard of Mr. THOMAS W. CHURCHILL, once an ardent advocate of that infamous system of education? "Rockefeller Steel" system the Judge called it the other day. His prompter must be too great a genius not finally to add Sugar and Rubber to Oil and Steel.

"The Mayor has surrendered the "control of our public schools to the "Rockefeller interests." "The Rockefeller interests" have as much to do with the public schools as the King of the Hejaz has. "Our boys must "have the best possible education "and under decent and honest conditions." That is what they are getting. The loveliest stone in the entire and perfect chrysolite of his speech at a "mass meeting" of 250 souls Friday night is this:

> I say to you, Mr. Mayor, our boys and girls shall have an opportunity to become doctors, lawyers, clergymen, musicians, artists, orators, poets, or men of letters, notwithstanding the views of the Rockefeller Education Board.

They shall. They do. The amount of time given to academic studies in the New York Study-Work-Play schools is exactly the same as in the schools of the old type. Pupils may even become Judges. It is a regrettable if intelligible habit of Judge HYLAN's prompter to dump upon him the most outrageously false statements about the Gary plan. For example, the Judge is made to say that "the tendency of this so-called "Gary plan is to give the children of "the poor one kind of education and "those of the rich, who can afford "to place their children in private "schools, another." The fact is that the system is absolutely democratic and seeks to give all the pupils something of the discipline, the training, the advantages enjoyed by the children of the well-to-do in private schools.

If Judge HYLAN has a prompter, as seems clear and is polite to say, that prompter, straying every day into romantic extravagances, will ultimately indulge his genius for invention so copiously that he will "undo" the Judge like "My Double" in EDWARD EVERETT HALE's story.

BUY YOUR BONDS TODAY.

Begin the week well by buying one or more of the new issue of Liberty bonds, as many more as you can afford or can manage to pay for by thrift and self-denial. They can be bought by installment payments or purchased outright. One fifty-dollar bond will not only help materially in the training and outfitting of a soldier, but it will be a sound and remunerative investment.

Only twenty days remain for the floating of this enormous loan, and it is the duty of every citizen to take his share of the $3,000,000,000 required. If $4,000,000,000 is subscribed, so much the better. The first loan was oversubscribed by nearly $1,000,000,000, and those bonds were not as good an investment as these for persons in moderate circumstances. They were nontaxable, to be sure, but the new bonds will be subject only to the supertax on yearly incomes larger than $5,000.

It is unnecessary to tell any American that the bonds of his Government are as good as gold. In fact, they are better. The best use for gold, at present, is to buy Liberty bonds. Thus far, New Yorkers have purchased only $240,000,000 worth of the bonds. The "only" may seem to be a misplaced word at the first glance, as $240,000,000 is a tidy sum, but before Oct. 27 New York must take $1,500,000,000 of the bonds or fail in its duty. With their country in peril New Yorkers will not fail. They will take their share of the bonds for their country's sake, and in doing so they will be doing well for themselves.

CHECKING THE SUBMARINES.

There is a seemingly authentic if unofficial report from Washington that one of our newer destroyers, not yet in commission, has developed in the trials a speed exceeding by several sea miles the required speed of 35 knots an hour. The knot is 6,080 feet, so that 35 knots are only a few hundred feet short of forty land miles. The new destroyer mentioned in the dispatches is one of a type of which the Government is rapidly completing a large number. With the menace of the German submarine already greatly diminished by the operations of British and American destroyers, of which few are as fast as the American boats now building, it is easy to see why our naval authorities believe that the sea wolves will soon be conquered.

That Germany's undersea campaign has already been checked is shown, not only in the weekly decrease of tonnage destroyed, but more strikingly in the 25 per cent. reduction of marine insurance rates by the United States Government's War Risk Insurance Bureau. The reduction is made simply because of the decreased risk. The Government did not go into the insurance business to make money, and lately it has made good interest on the capital invested. The announcement of the reduction will not be agreeable news in Germany. It is not likely to be widely circulated there.

THE NEW DYE INDUSTRY.

Before the war more than nine-tenths of the dyestuffs consumed in this country came from Germany, whose manufacturers controlled the world's supply of artificial dyes and the intermediate raw materials used in making them. There were five producing companies here, and their output was very small. The industry did not attract American capital because little or no profit could be gained in competition with the low-priced imported colors. War cut off the supply from Germany, and a shortage of dyes here seriously affected industries employing more than 2,000,000 men.

American chemists, capital, and manufacturers came to the rescue, and a great dyestuffs industry has been created. The number of manufacturing companies has risen from five to more than 100. We are making what is needed, and more, so far as nearly all the many varieties and shades are concerned. A large part of the $230,000,000 invested since the beginning of 1915 in new chemical enterprises is engaged in this work. Our exports of dyestuffs in the year immediately preceding the war were $356,000, a negligible quantity. Last year they were $11,700,000. We are making as much as was consumed in the peace years, and receiving for exports more than we were then paying for imports from Germany or elsewhere. To show how formidable the problem was which our chemists had to solve, Mr. CULBERTSON, a member of the Tariff Commission, recently pointed out that the industry required more than 900 distinct chemical products, taken from about 300 intermediates, which must be obtained from ten crude materials supplied by the distillation of coal tar. As he said, the record of achievement "reads like a fairy tale."

We have made ourselves independent in this field. Output, capital invested, and exports are growing. How shall our independence be maintained in the coming days of peace? Germany will strive to regain her old markets. In the past her dyestuffs companies, capitalized at $400,000,000, have worked together for the promotion of foreign trade. There were two groups, acting in harmony, and recently these were united by consolidation. Combinations in that country have been approved, promoted, and assisted by the Government. They have sold abroad at prices much below those exacted at home. Probably in this way they will seek to break down our new dyestuffs industry. We have defenses. The law against "dumping" of imports here, against undervaluation of the goods, is one of them. Existing tariff duties are another. The Tariff Commission has made a careful study of conditions and probabilities, with the aid of chemical experts appointed for the work, at the Commission's request, by the American Chemical Society. It may be, as Dr. HESSE said at the recent Chemical Exposition, that duties on some coal tar products will not be needed and would be only a premium on inefficiency of operation and management. The Commission's aim will be to make duties on a scientific and nonpartisan basis. What changes may be required cannot now be foreseen.

Several speakers at the recent exposition held that co-ordination of our manufacturers would be greatly needed. Some evidently had in mind lawful associations, while others were thinking of combinations forbidden by statute. President STIEGLITZ of the American Chemical Society wants "a "law making possible common agree-"ments and divisions of labor among "competing houses, such as exist "abroad." Tariff Commissioner CULBERTSON said:

> Tariff laws and "dumping" legislation alone will not protect our chemical industries. The German industry attained success by years of research, by conservative financing, and by industrial co-ordination. In the American industry also these must be important, in fact dominant, factors.

The Webb bill, to permit use of combinations or co-operative associations in our export trade, should be enacted. This permission would assist the dyestuff manufacturers in meeting competition abroad. But it cannot reasonably be expected that they will be authorized to make a combination controlling production and prices for the home market. Such industrial co-ordination as has been allowed and used in Germany will not be approved here. The American people want this new industry to live and grow.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Postal Rates Increased by a Third. Of all the many sections of the new tax law, the one that directly affects the greatest number of people—the only one that directly affects everybody in the country except the babies in arms—is the section which raises the rate of letter postage, after Nov. 2, from 2 to 3 cents. The object of this change, of course, is to get more revenue, but the attempt thus to attain that end brings up again the old question whether postal receipts are increased or decreased when rates are advanced.

It is fairly obvious that every elevation of rate decreases to some extent the number of letters written and mailed, but it is also obvious that if this decrease of number is slight it is more than counterbalanced by the increased receipts from the letters that continue to be sent. To the arithmetician the losses and the gains to be expected when the letter rate changes from 2 to 3 cents just equal each other when the number of letters mailed is decreased by one-third. If that should be the result of the new schedule, the Government's only profit from the change would be in the decrease of work to be done by its postal employés and its somewhat smaller expenditures for transportation of mail, but that is not the sort of profit now sought and it therefore does not need much, if any, consideration.

In ordinary times cheapness of mail communication is credited with advantages of a general sort, important, though not easily measurable in terms of dollars and cents. These advantages we can probably afford at present to lose or to postpone till the return of better and safer days.

That the proposed increase of rates will have an appreciable effect on the frequency of what might be called personal and private correspondence seems more than doubtful, but a charge that hardly counts in the individual budget assumes large size in the sort of mail that partakes of the nature of business advertising, and it is just there that the greater part of the effect following the advance must be expected.

The doubling of the postcard rate will probably be a hard blow to the trade in, and distribution by mail of, the little pictures of buildings and scenery which Summer vacationists and country visitors to the cities have come to be so fond of sending to their friends. This, however, is a consequence to be confronted with calmness and resignation by all but the postcard makers.

A Second Effect of Reprisal. To the announcements by the British authorities of a determination to avenge the air raids on London by like attacks on unprotected cities in Germany, the first response was the issuance of orders for the darkening at night of the towns near the frontier that would be chiefly endangered by this adoption of the policy of reprisal in kind. That was to be expected, of course, just as it was to be expected that the Germans, when their own civilian populations were threatened by bombs dropped from the sky, would talk and write about it with all the horror and indignation that have been expressed elsewhere as a result of their own actions along the same lines.

Naturally, between the bombing of a German and an English city there is for them an enormous difference, while they are constitutionally incapable of discriminating between the striking of a first blow and striking back to punish that first blow or to prevent its repetition.

But now comes a second German reaction to the menace of reprisals, and it is one calculated to inspire new doubts as to whether the plan of returning atrocity for atrocity is a judicious one. From Berlin comes a statement, described as "semi-official," to the effect that Germany cannot be protected from aerial attack, now or in the future, unless she continues to hold Belgium, and thereby prevents her deadliest foe from having and using that country as a convenient base of operations for her aviators. In other words, even the proposal to resort to reprisals has supplied the annexationists in Germany with a new argument, and with one that will appeal as more or less cogent to the German antagonists of the Junkers and the Pan Germanist party.

The new policy tends, therefore, to stop the spread in Germany of the propaganda of those who advocate the presentation of terms which the Allies can consider and strengthens the hands of those whose one idea is to fight on for a "German peace" in the extreme meaning of that term. To whatever extent this tendency is manifested, to that extent the policy of reprisals in kind is practically as well as morally questionable. But a policy is not necessarily to be condemned because it is open to question. All the circumstances of the case must receive attention before a decision is reached, and it is not to be denied that there are arguments for, as well as against, reprisals.

Its Truth Makes It Dangerous. Were Representative KITCHIN endowed with a keener sense of humor, he would have hesitated long before he said—and then he wouldn't have said—that "No Government in the world (and I mean that) places an excess profits tax on its officials." The trouble with that statement is not that it probably isn't true, but that it probably is, for as a result of this probability everybody with a mind even moderately agile is provided with an opportunity for telling Mr. KITCHIN that what he said was, in effect: "No Government officials in the world (and I mean that) place an excess profits tax on themselves."

So changed in form, but not at all in sense, his assertion turns from the defense of the 8 per cent. "joker" he intended it to be into a formulation of one of the severest criticisms that the indignant antagonists are making against this particular section of the bill.

A defense that can so easily be transmuted into a confession is one about as poor as could be devised, and its ultimate condemnation, from Mr. KITCHIN's point of view, lies in the fact that it will excite laughter as well as scorn. That is always most dangerous, for the statesman who becomes an object of ridicule is in vastly greater peril than he who exposes himself only to denunciation.

GREEK DEPORTATIONS.

The Needs of the Latest Victims of Turkish Cruelty.

The deportation and atrocious slaughter of the Greeks in Asia Minor, the deportations to the total number of 700,000, by the Turkish authorities have been overshadowed by massacres, larger and more appalling, of Armenians and Syrians.

No attention was attracted by the sack in June, 1914, of Phocee, a Greek city near Smyrna. The account of the destruction appeared in the Revue des Deux Mondes, December, 1914. The narrative by the French archaeologist, M. Felix Sartiaux, an eyewitness, showed that this massacre of the Greek inhabitants of this city by the Mohammedan neighbors and Turkish troops matched every Armenian massacre in its character, though there was less wanton murder.

A year later Greek deportation began on a scale second only to the great crime in Armenia. At least one-half of the Greek population has been deported from the cities and hamlets on the coast of Asia Minor from the Black Sea to the eastern end of Cilicia, or around three-fourths of the coast of this peninsula.

For these acts no excuse or pretext whatever existed in rebellion, resistance, conspiracy or agitation against the Ottoman Empire. This Greek population has always been free from opposition to the rule of the Turkish Government. The only reason for this atrocious crime was and is to take support from the claim of both Greece and Italy to the control of the littoral of Asia Minor on the ground that it has a large Christian population. The deportation of 700,000 Greeks from this section will not leave enough Christians to give body to this plea of Greece and Italy. But this is more than a mere diplomatic or strategic movement. Deportation means slavery and death to the deported. The victory of the Allies will undoubtedly take the Asia Minor littoral from the Ottoman Empire; but meanwhile the need of relief for these suffering Greeks is as urgent as for the Armenians and Syrians.

The Greeks were the first race to be slaughtered in the new development of the Ottoman Empire. The first of these outrages was a century ago in 1818, and this was followed by the Turkish massacre in Scio in which 25,000 were killed, 47,000 deported and only 5,000 left alive. It was this that aroused Europe to action, inspired Byron's poems, and brought personal activity by many Americans on behalf of Greek independence and resulted in the production of our own American Powers's familiar and typical sculpture, the "Greek Slave."

All these suffering nationalities are being relieved by the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief—and since it is most probable that Oct. 20 and 21 will be designated by the President as special days for the consideration of the needs of Western Asia, I venture to draw attention to these facts, and to urge contributions to the wants of the survivors of the Greek deportations. ## THE AMPHITHEATRE OF MORN.

O youth! O mornings of my youth!
How wooing were your twilight stirs,
Around the eaves what sounds of sooth
From fairy minstrel vanishers!

And sometimes laughter, far and fine,
Rang round the hills from tier to tier—
A music-laughter so divine
It rose and circled through the sphere!

It conjured me from sleep profound
On wings of dreams—a sportive throng;
When, softly brushed by feathery sound,
I seemed to pass those hills along.

They bore me on their wings to greet
The Amphitheatre of Morn. . . .
Lo, there, from misty seat to seat,
The cup of godlike mirth was borne;

With chariot races, cloudy-bright,
And dances of the griefless Hours,
And rosy Loves in twinkling flight,
And wind-blown, dim, Auroral flowers;

And shapes Olympian, starry-crowned,
Leaned from their seats those sports to cheer,
While music-laughter ran around,
And died away into the sphere.

(Whence was that symphony divine,
Whence was that cup of airy mirth?
The pipe of birds—the low of kine—
The insect-voices near the earth!)

O youth! O dawns of long ago!
O wings of dreams, how are you shorn!
There is no magic now can show
The Amphitheatre of Morn!

LIGHT ON THE TEUTONS' REPLY TO THE POPE.

Evidence to Show That There Were Verbal Supplements Covering Belgium, Alsace-Lorraine and Italia Irredenta.

Cable dispatches as well as private letters received by Italian ecclesiastics and others in this city from their Vatican friends go far toward clearing up the mystery which has surrounded the Austrian and German replies to the peace note of Pope Benedict of Aug. 1, and to clarify the real purpose and intent of the note itself.

These advices seem to show that the chiefs of the military party in Germany succeeded in having the notes recalled and modified after their dispatch by special couriers to the Vatican, and that the Vatican, on forwarding the modified note to the Chancelleries of the Allies on Oct. 2, caused a postscript to be added by Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, which intimates the nature of the excisions by stating that Germany and Austria are, at least, disposed to entertain a suggestion from the Allies embracing the Pope's basis for peace negotiations: "Complete evacuation of Belgium, with a guarantee of her full political, military, and economic independence of every power whatsoever; likewise evacuation of French territory."

In an interview with Mgr. Frederico Tedeschini, Under Secretary of State to the Vatican, the Rome correspondent of A B C, the well known Royalist-Catholic journal of Madrid, quotes this prelate as denying that the Pope's note, the text of which was then (Aug. 10) known only to the Vatican, contemplated a return of the world to the status quo ante-bellum.

A Christian peace, he said, such as the Holy Father contemplated, must have as its basis not only the restoration of Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine, but that of Italia Irredenta, of Catholic Poland to its own, the return of Palestine to a Christian Government, and the unification of Rumania—the ancient Roman province of Dacia.

These terms were authoritatively said to be his Holiness's private idea of a Christian peace, and the reason he did not set them forth in his note was because he could not, as the head of the Roman Catholic Church, say what would be taken, by the Catholic States of Germany and Catholic Austria, as the prejudiced judgment of an Italian.

What has been published as the texts of the Austrian and German replies to the Papal note were given out by a Zurich news agency on Sept. 21. The reply of Austria had been handed to Mgr. T. Valfre di Bonzo, Papal Nuncio at Vienna, on Sept. 20. The reply of Germany had been forwarded by Mgr. Dr. Frühwirth, the Papal Nuncio at Munich.

As these two notes appeared in the press of the world on the 22d neither was signed and both appeared incomplete—seeming introductions rather. Apparently from internal evidence, Emperor Charles had signed the Austrian note, which was addressed to the Holy Father; but who had composed the German one, who had signed it, and whom its address, "Herr Cardinal," designated are still mysteries.

Between Sept. 22 and Sept. 28 the Pope had read no other versions than those published in the press.

On Sept. 26 Cardinal Gasparri affirmed this to date in an interview with a Roman journalist, saying: "I assure you that the Vatican has not yet received officially the Austro-German reply to the note of peace of his Holiness. So we must confine our conversation to merely the text communicated to the press."

His Eminence was asked: "Do you believe that the official answer will be different from that already published?"

"The answer of Germany and Austria to the Vatican," said Gasparri, significantly, "should not be abbreviated; that published appears to have this fault. An answer which does not embrace all the propositions of his Holiness, even in negative form, does not conform to the term answer."

"Does your Eminence expect that the Pope will succeed in his endeavor?"

"It is for this that his Holiness ceaselessly works and prays. He believes it to be his living duty, as the head of Catholicism, to put an end to this great slaughter and will leave no means untried to make others concede it.

"The German Catholics, while not renouncing their patriotic sentiments, are not deaf to the voice of their spiritual head; just now their aid in this cause is powerful and any attempt of the German Government to paralyze their action would be perilous."

As to his opinion in regard to the internal situation in Germany, Cardinal Gasparri said:

"Can you find in history military events of great importance which have not modified the internal political situation in a country, especially when these events have not brought about the results which had been deemed certain? Have you ever, by chance, dreamed of riches, power, and happiness? And how have you felt on awaking in the morning when you found yourself confronted by a reality very different from the dream?"

A few days before the dispatch of the notes, it is said, the military leaders in Germany learned of their reference to Belgium and France and, encouraged by the formidable array of Admiral von Tirpitz and the new Fatherland Party, succeeded in having the notes recalled and the Zurich News Agency confine its publicity to their introductions, which solely appeared in the press of the world on Sept. 22.

After much deliberation, these introductions were allowed to proceed to the Vatican as "official," which they reached on the night of Sept. 29-30. Meanwhile, however, the Socialist press of both Germany and Austria-Hungary had learned through agents at Zurich and elsewhere of the references to Belgium and France made in the original documents, and published this news.

The German military leaders allowed the views to become current in the allied press and then had it repudiated in the most formal and categorical manner possible by the Imperial Chancellor in Berlin and the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister in Vienna. A message was also sent to the Vatican to set the matter right.

This was accordingly done in the Osservatore Romano, the principal Vatican organ, on Oct. 2, in which it called attention to the apparently conflicting views in regard to the German press reports and the German official denials and the confusion wrought thereby, and then added out of a clear sky:

> The Vatican is in perfect accord with the Socialists throughout the world on the principle of the guardianship of democratic liberty and the protection of constitutional rights by legal methods.

The other Vatican organ, the Corriere d'Italia, even went further and censured the German Government for knowingly mystifying the public. Apropos of this mystification Le Temps of Paris had already said, on Sept. 29, on information said to have been obtained from the Papal Nuncio at Monaco:

> It would be interesting to know whether the German Government actually says that it has made to the Pope no communication concerning Belgium, or really says that it has made such a communication only in the form of a "note verbale," (an oral instruction.)
> If the German Government did not add to the reply to the Pope explanations relative to Belgium, one may ask how is it that certain German papers have been able to announce with so much assurance these supplementary explanations.

The truth is now said to be that, uninstructed by either the Wilhelmstrasse or the Ballplatz, the Papal Nuncios at Munich and Vienna had conveyed these "supplementary explanations" to their colleague, the Nuncio at Monaco, who had, in turn, conveyed them in person to Cardinal Gasparri in the form of a "note verbale."

By Oct. 1, therefore, Pope Benedict was in possession of the introductions to the Austro-German replies, similar in text to what had been given out at Zurich as complete on Sept. 21, and also the "note verbale," referring to Belgium and France, handed to him by his representative at Monaco.

It was his duty to forward what he had received as the "official" notes to the Allies. But should he ignore the "note verbale," without which the Austro-German answers to his Holiness' peace note would be no answer at all?

On Oct. 2 Cardinal Gasparri handed to the British Minister at the Vatican, Count de Salis, the Austro-German replies in the form he had received them from the couriers. But to the German note alone there was a brief postscript added by the Papal Secretary of State, which it was left to the discretion of the recipient to make public or not.

What was this postscript? The first edition of the Giornale d'Italia of Oct. 3 purports to reveal the answer. The second does not—the revelation had been withdrawn. The first edition says:

> The Pope, in communicating to the Governments of the Entente the official texts of the answers of the Central Empires, has added a second note, in which he declares that Germany is ready to evacuate Belgium and Northern France.
>
> His Holiness, therefore, requests the Governments of the Entente to give heed to the proposal of Germany, which is ready to define the conditions of said evacuation, and he offers his mediation.
>
> The presence of the German intentions in the Papal note is due to conversations exchanged between the Nuncios of Monaco and Vienna and the Governments of Austria and Germany. Thus the Berlin denial concerning the "note verbale" of the conditions of peace in regard to Belgium does not set aside the fact that the conversations took place. Nor do we lack documents. The two Nuncios did not confine themselves to expounding their own ideas. The net results of their conversations gave the basis of fact and permitted the Pope to assure the Allies that Germany is disposed to evacuate Belgium and the French Provinces. The Nuncios furnished the Pope with written, not oral, instructions, (rapporti scritti e non verbali.)
> In one of these is set forth the concessions made to Belgium, which, while not absolute, may be discussed in successive diplomatic conversations.
>
> The instruction of the Nuncio of Vienna sets forth the Austrian conditions in regard to Italy.
> Moreover, the Pope expounds his project in regard to the abolition of enforced military service. He would advise the substitution of commercial boycott, in place of war, against the violaters of covenants of peace and the establishment of an international tribunal in which the violations committed should be tried.

It is believed, however, that the article of the Giornale d'Italia goes too far, and for that reason was suppressed, while most of the truth is to be found in the following dispatch which was sent from Rome to the Progresso Italo-Americano on Oct. 3:

> Yesterday the Cardinal Secretary of State delivered to the British Minister accredited to the Vatican, Count de Salis, the replies of Germany and Austria to the peace note of the Pope that he might transmit them to the Governments of the Entente. I have already telegraphed that the Teutonic replies were accompanied by a brief note from Cardinal Gasparri.
> Today I am in a position, having learned it from a high personage in the Vatican, to communicate to you the contents of the note.
>
> The document emanating from the Vatican announces that Germany is disposed to evacuate Belgium and Northern France; offers the mediation of the Holy Father to secure the approaches to peace; espouses a project for the abolition of obligatory military service; proposes the commercial boycott against violaters of the pacts of peace, said boycott to be proclaimed by an International Tribunal.
> The document, as you may observe, sets forth in substance the recent interviews with the Papal Secretary of State.

According to a cablegram received in Washington from Rome on Oct. 5, the Corriere d'Italia says that the rumor that the Vatican has sent a new note to the Entente Powers is untrue. The Corriere explains that the Vatican has only communicated to the Entente the replies which the Pontiff has received from the Central Powers. The Corriere adds that the Pope favors the return of Italian territory under Austrian rule to Italy. G. C.

TRAINING MORE NURSES.

Schools Show Increase of 20 Per Cent. in Their Enrollment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Reports received at headquarters of the Committee on Nursing of the General Medical Board of the Council of National Defense show that the nurses' training schools throughout the country have increased their enrollments this year 2,600. Normally there are about 13,000 students entering the training schools. An intensive campaign to interest college women and high school graduates, not only in war time demands for an additional supply of nurses, but also in the peace time opportunities offered by the nursing profession, has resulted in this year's enrollment showing a total of approximately 15,600, an increase of 20 per cent.

Miss Mary Adelaide Nutting, Director of the Department of Nursing and Health of Teachers College, New York, Chairman of the committee, in a statement, points out that the 700 recognized training schools in thirty-seven States, which have been appealed to by the Council of National Defense, have patriotically responded to the war emergency with a large increase in facilities for training nurses.

The statement also reveals that there will be available in February 1,280 new nurses, who will have completed their course of three years at that time. This number would provide nursing staffs for twelve base hospitals of 500 beds each, which means nursing service for 6,000 sick and wounded soldiers.

NO BOURBON PEACE, PLEA OF DR. ROBBINS

PASTORS SPEAK FOR MAYOR

Emphasize Need of Clean Government During War—Henry Morgenthau Asks Aid for Pershing.

Mayor Mitchel's candidacy for re-election and the world war formed the topics of many of the sermons delivered in the churches of this city yesterday. At the Cathedral of St. John the Divine the Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, preaching his first sermon as Dean, described the rôle that true Christianity must play in making the world safe for democracy, and urged against the conclusion of a peace that would merely mean a "Bourbon" peace and a return to old conditions.

"Every age," Dr. Robbins declared, "has laid upon it some characteristic obligation. Every age must express in its own way its faith in God and its will to advance His kingdom. In the earliest ages these things found expression in the building of cathedrals. In our age the primary interests are political and social. They have been well defined for us in the words which have become the watchwords of the present war, 'to make the world safe for democracy.' That is the splendid challenge of the time, and we must give answer without fear, without reservation, pledging to the heroic task all that we have and are.

"But to make the world safe for democracy how much more than force alone is needed. How above all things there is needed the lifting up of the hearts of the individual men and women who constitute democracies, the training of them in self-control, the ennobling and enabling of them so that they can meet the responsibilities as well as enjoy the privileges of freedom. How there is needed also the fraternal spirit, the international mind, so that the free peoples of the world, not only when drawn together by a common peril and acting for self-preservation, but also when released and safe from peril, may still co-operate, may still link hearts and hands with one another and so maintain the peace and freedom of the world.

"For that the Gospel of Jesus Christ is alone sufficient. Without the spirit of the Gospel no political expedient can make the world safe. Democracies as well as empires may have conflicting ambitions. Democracies as well as empires may be found hostile to one another, kept asunder by prejudices, by suspicions, by aims incompatible with peace. The only thing that can make the world safe is that religion which carries in its bosom earth's redemption. God, who has made of one blood all nations of men to dwell on the face of the whole earth, has sent His blessed Son to preach peace to them that are far off and to them that are nigh.

World Has Been Blind to Message.

"The world has been blind to that message. We have turned deaf ears in the past to His great words of charity. We have been so wise, so prudent, so self-sufficient that His Gospel has been hid from men and nations, and they have gone down together into unfathomable darkness and tasted there the bitterness of death. When that bitterness of death is past, when peace returns, when freedom's cause has triumphed and freedom's victory has been established, let it be a winged victory. Let it not be a Bourbon peace, a Tory peace of return to old conditions. Let it be for us who have named the name of Christ a more faithful turning to Him, a more daring venture upon His teachings, a more faithful, a more fearless reliance on His truth."

Sermons in support of Mayor Mitchel's re-election were delivered by the Rev. Dr. Oscar Haywood, pastor of the Collegiate Baptist Church of the Covenant, in West Thirty-third Street, and the Rev. Christian F. Reisner, pastor of the Grace M. E. Church. Referring to the support that Mayor Mitchel has received from such men as Colonel Roosevelt, ex-President Taft, Charles Evans Hughes, and others, Dr. Reisner said:

"I had rather trust their advice than that of Charles F. Murphy, or of those who have been named even as standing for Mr. Bennett. If there was such a demand for Mr. Bennett, it seems to me that some of the men who have been trusted by the people would recognize the fact and come out for him. Newspapers may be much abused, but they generally sense the situation at least loyally, and they do not find any strong call for the defeat of our present Mayor. A democracy must recognize and reward faithful service of leaders, and if must seek to perpetuate their good work. I am quite willing until contrary proof is offered to stand by the conviction of many of our leading citizens that Mayor Mitchel is the best Mayor New York has ever had."

Says Tammany Has Not Reformed.

Dr. Haywood, in advocating Mayor Mitchel's re-election, said:

"Only a loyal American is competent to represent the people of New York and safeguard their rights and liberties in a time of war. Spies are abroad. Money is being employed by our enemies to corrupt and debauch temptable office holders. Tammany has a history. It is smeared with blood and grease. It is the foulest chapter in the history of American politics. In the days of its domination, Tammany Hall was a conspiracy of thugs and spoilsmen. Defeat has not reformed Tammany. It is as vulnerable to sinister and subtle influences as ever. We love Mayor Mitchel for the enemies he has made. Every disloyal element in this city is opposing him."

Bishop Greer, at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, discussing the absence of the rector of the church, the Rev. Dr. Herbert Shipman, who is a chaplain of the First Field Artillery, announced that he would gladly give canonical licenses with lay readings to those of the laity who made application. Such a course, he said, was necessary in order to carry on the work of parishes where rectors had resigned their pulpits for service with the army.

Henry Morgenthau Speaks.

Henry Morgenthau, in an address before the congregation of the Free Synagogue at Carnegie Hall yesterday, emphasized the seriousness of the European situation and declared that the American people "must not camouflage the situation as it exists at the present time."

"The Emperor of Germany," Mr. Morgenthau said, "was not satisfied with being the ruler of a great nation. He sought to become the ruler of all the nations of the earth, but he overestimated his powers and resources. He sought to establish an epoch of absolutism throughout the world, and he was to be the ruler. It is fortunate for the peoples of the world that the spirit of democracy intervened; and that the great war which is now being carried on halted the efforts of the German ruler in his desire to rule the world."

Describing the horrors wrought by German invasion, Mr. Morgenthau stated that America owned an everlasting debt of gratitude to the soldiers of England, France, and other allied nations who had been fighting for democracy while this country was preparing.

"You of America," Mr. Morgenthau declared, "should be duly impressed with the seriousness of the situation and lend every aid possible to the gallant General Pershing and the soldiers who are now on the scene, and ready at any moment to stand shoulder to shoulder with those who have borne the brunt of the battle up to the present time. You must realize that the fight cannot be won in a few days or a few months. I am of the opinion that it will continue for an indefinite period, and we must lend all support to our men in the field."

In Brooklyn yesterday, Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, at the Plymouth Church, delivered the fourth of a series of six sermons on the war. His subject yesterday was "The Menace of an Inconclusive Peace." He argued that anything except unconditional surrender on the part of Germany would mean the "wreckage of civilization."

LIBERTY LOAN SALES HEARTEN COMMITTEE

Cumulative Effect of Drive Expected to Offset $135,000,000 Deficit of Last Week.

DISTRICT FULLY ORGANIZED

Mayor Mitchel to Open Women's Bank for Subscriptions in Madison Square.

The second week of the four weeks' campaign for $5,000,000,000 of subscriptions to America's second war loan, consisting of $3,000,000,000 of 4 per cent. Liberty bonds, begins today. The share allotted to the New York Federal Reserve District is 30 per cent. of the total, or $1,500,000,000—a weekly average of $375,000,000. Last week subscriptions totaled about $240,000,000, but this week it is confidently hoped that the district will not only furnish its full weekly quota, but will also make up the whole or part of last week's deficiency of $135,000,000.

The vast organization that has been established to push the Liberty Loan in this district is expected to work with greater vigor this week, profiting by the experience obtained in last week's drive. The attention of the public is being directed in many ways—by posters, advertisements, public speeches, letters, and circulars from banks and personal solicitation. All this effort is cumulative in its effect, and as days go by the need of subscribing to the Government loan will be more strongly impressed on the minds of the people, with the result that subscriptions will be forthcoming in larger number and in larger amount.

The Liberty Loan Committee has arranged to put into working order today twenty-seven "clocks" which will show th etotal of subscriptions received in this district and in the country. The Liberty Loan Bank—a miniature reproduction of the Sub-Treasury in Wall Street—will be opened at noon. It has been erected in Madison Square on the plot used for the Municipal Christmas tree. The ceremonies in connection with the opening will include addresses by the Mayor, Job Hedges, and Joseph M. Hartigan. David Bispham will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the Catholic Protectory Band will play. In addition to the police detailed to handle the crowds, the Motor Corps of the National League for Women's Service, a troop of khaki-clad women who are training to be ambulance drivers, will be on duty. The Liberty Bank was designed by Miss Lucille Patterson, a young artist, and the whole work is the special effort of the women of this district. The bank will be open from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. for the receipt of subscriptions. All the bank's clerks will be women.

Medals for the Boy Scouts.

President Wilson will present an American flag, appropriately inscribed, to the troop of Boy Scouts in each State securing the largest number of subscriptions to the Second Liberty Loan during the four-day campaign which the organization will inaugurate on Oct. 22. The Boy Scouts of America secured subscriptions aggregating $23,238,250 from 139,643 homes, in the first campaign, and with the experience thus gained and a more perfect organization they hope to double this record for the second loan. In addition to the President's flags, individual medals for the scouts securing the largest number of subscriptions will be presented by President Colin H. Livingston of the Boy Scouts of America. A gold medal will be given to the winner, a silver medal to the scout having the second best record, and ten bronze medals to boys next on the list.

In the first loan campaign 7,740 scouts received the organization's War Service emblem for collecting ten or more subscriptions. These medals have gone into every State in the Union, the presentations being made with elaborate ceremonies in hundreds of cities and towns. The Boy Scouts of America now number 268,380, organized in 12,284 troops.

The Liberty Loan Committee, in its efforts to encourage small investors to subscribe to the second Liberty Loan, is endeavoring to get all the safe deposit companies in Manhattan and Brooklyn to agree to accept for safekeeping without any charge bonds in denominations of $50 and $100 for a period of one year. The committee has taken this action because of the lack of safekeeping facilities of persons of small means who buy $50 or $100 bonds.

Calls Attention to French Record.

James S. Alexander, President of the National Bank of Commerce, gave out a statement yesterday, in which he called attention to the remarkable response of the French people to the call for loan subscriptions, and pointed out that, with our larger resources and larger population, we ought to make a still better record.

"The flotation of a new war loan after so brief an interval may give rise to the opinion that the American people are being subjected to a very heavy financial strain," Mr. Alexander said. "Comparatively speaking, however, that is certainly not the case. At present there exists a natural feeling of pride and gratification over the admirable response which the first Liberty Loan received. It is estimated that over 4,000,000 people offered $3,000,000,000 to the Government at that time. Compared to this, however, the response of the French people to their great national loan of 1917 has established a record of achievement which we have yet to equal, taking into consideration the relative wealth and population of the two countries.

"This great French loan was announced in November, 1915, after fifteen months of war, during which about $4,000,000,000 had been raised by short term loans and advances from the Bank of France and the Bank of Algiers. Stimulated by the presence of an invader on French soil, bonds aggregating $2,934,557,097 were taken by 3,130,000 persons in twenty-one days. Part of these bonds were taken in exchange for earlier issues amounting to $1,355,454,590, which were converted. As the loan was issued at a discount, the amount actually subscribed was somewhat lower than the debt acknowledged by the Government. The subscriptions were composed of the following elements:

| Cash | $1,161,290,458 |
| Savings banks | 51,652,975 |
| National defense bonds | 433,166,206 |
| National defense obligations | 614,008,109 |
| Short-dated obligations | 26,150,421 |
| Three per cent. rentes | 277,816,370 |
| Three and one-half per cent. amortisable rentes | 4,318,433 |

Subscribers Numbered 1,181,921.

"Of the total number of subscribers 1,181,921 made application through the central subscription agency; 300,798 through the Bank of rance, 19,536 from the army, and 1,627,745 came from various accounts of the Treasury.

"The subscriptions of this loan appreach the amount subscribed to our First Liberty Loan. When we consider that our population is about two and one half times greater than that of France and our wealth is even greater in proportion, we can appreciate what Frace has done and the record she has established for our emulation.

"Of course we have been seriously handicapped in this country by the lack of a tradition of investing similar to that which has been fostered in France for generations, but fortunately the campaign of education inaugurated during our last loan is rapidly overcoming this difficulty. This development, coupled with the growing appreciation of the seriousness of the war, is producing an attitude of sympathetic understanding towards the new Liberty Loan, which offers to us the opportunity of attaining a result proportionate to the achievement of our ally across the sea.

"The emphasis should be laid upon the distribution of the loan. No one doubts it will be fully subscribed. But if the small subscribers and the people of moderate means do not come forward the banks will be put to a strain which will retard the credit machinery of the country and retard the prosecution of the war. That the people as a whole will come forward, no one who understands the American spirit can for a moment doubt."

ISSUES LETTER TO SPUR SALES.

Committee Says Capt. Tucker's Last Word Shows Need of Sacrifice.

To emphasize the need of personal sacrifice of the dollar in the cause of freedom, a relative of one of the heroes of Vimy Ridge has forwarded to the Liberty Loan Committee his last letter before entering that struggle. The writer was Captain V. G. Tupper, of the Canadian Scottish Sixteenth Battalion, the son of Sir Charles Tupper. He was killed at the Battle of Vimy Ridge last April. Captain Tupper's letter follows:

My Dear Father: I am writing one of these "in case" letters for the third time, and of course I hope you will never have to read it. If you are reading it now, you will know that your youngest son "went under" as proud as punch on the most glorious day of his life. I am taking my company "over the top" for a mile in the biggest push that has ever been launched in the world, and I trust that it is going to be the greatest factor toward peace.

Dad, you can't imagine the wonderful feeling; a man thinks something like this: "Well, if I am going to die, this is worth it a thousand times."

I have "been over" two or three times before, but never with a company of my own. Think of it—a hundred and fifty officers and men who will follow you to hell, if need be!

I don't want any of you dear people to be sorry for me, although of course you will, in a way. You will miss me, but you will be proud of me. Mind you, I know what I am up against and that the odds are against me. I am not going in the way I did the first time, just for sheer devilment and curiosity. I have seen this game for two years, and I still like it and feel that my place is here.

So much for that. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for all your loving kindness to me. This war has done wonders to me and makes me realize lots of things I would not have done otherwise. I could write a book about it, but you know what I mean.

Good-by, dear father and mother, and all of you. Again, I say that I am proud to be where I am now. GORDIE.

P. S.—I have $500 or so in the bank in London; it will go to you and I would like you to give it to little Bee Merritt.

Commenting on this letter, a member of the Liberty Loan Committee said:

"When a man is ready to give his life in this spirit, who can hesitate to give his money for the same cause?"

Soldier Accidentally Shot.

While he was showing his mother a new rifle which he intended taking to Camp Upton with him, when he returned there today, Frank Krulish was accidentally shot at his home, 768 Boston Road, Bronx, yesterday. He was taken to Lincoln Hospital in a serious condition. Krulish had been home on leave of absence.

NOTED MEN TO TOUR FOR LIBERTY LOAN

McADOO FINDS WEST AWAKE

Telegram of Secretary of Treasury Scoring Southerner for Refusing Aid Made Public.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Former President William H. Taft, William J. Bryan, members of the Cabinet, and many men prominent in public life will begin a nation-wide speaking campaign tomorrow to impress on the people the necessity of subscribing at once to the Second Liberty Loan.

Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury Department, who is now on his way to the Pacific Coast, will speak in Spokane, Wash., tomorrow. He sent a telegram today from McIntosh, S. D., which read: "The West is enthusiasticalyy for the loan." He added that after several days in the great farming country of the Northwest he was confident the farmers would get behind the campaign. He has found that the people to whom he appealed in all sections were determined to show Germany in unmistakable terms what the United States is ready to do to aid in financing the war.

"There was made public today also a telegram which Secretary McAdoo has sent to Dr. H. E. Stockbridge of Atlanta, President of the Farmers' National Congress, who had refused to aid in the name of the association in obtaining subscriptions to the loan.

Dr. Stockbridge stated that the loan "meets little response from us," giving as his reason the fact that it was alleged that Secretary McAdoo favored the McKellar amendment to the Revenue bill with regard to second class postal rate increases. Mr. McAdoo denied that he favored the amendment, but brushed that phase of the controversy aside and roundly criticised Dr. Stockbridge for his attitude. The Farmers' Congress, through Joshua Strange, Chairman of the Executive Committee, has repudiated Dr. Stockbridge.

Mr. McAdoo's Telegram.

The McAdoo telegram referred to follows:

"Your telegram received. I understand your position to be that you will not assist the Government in selling the next Liberty Loan on the ground that the Administration and I personally are supposed to favor the McKellar amendment, or the proposed increase in postal rates on second class mail matter, which includes farm and other publications. As a matter of fact, I am not in sympathy with this legislation and have said that I thought it had no place in the Revenue bill, that this was an inopportune time to raise the issue, and that it ought to be considered upon its merits in connection with Post Office legislation and not with revenue or Treasury matters.

"But even if I favor it, is that a reason why you should be unwilling to buy or assist in selling United States Government bonds? Is that a reason why you should refuse to lend money to your Government to enable it to supply the gallant sons of farmers and every other class of American citizens who have been drafted or who have volunteered to give their lives to protect your liberty and property the necessary guns with which to fight, the necessary clothing and food to support them in the field, the necessary life insurance, and means to support their dependent families while they are at the front?

"Have you a son who has volunteered or who has been drafted into this noble service? If so, would you fail to buy a Liberty Bond to help him fight to save his country and to protect his own life because the rates on second-class mail matter may be increased? If you haven't a son you cannot feel what every mother and father of a gallant boy must feel when they see that boy go out to fight for his country.

"I am happy to believe that you speak for yourself alone, and that you do not represent the sentiment of any other farmer in America.

"The gallant boys now going into training must fight for the safety and liberty and property of every man, woman, and child in America—you included. If you really entertain the sentiments you have expressed in your telegram it is a pity that these brave men must fight for you, because you are not worth fighting for.

"I withdraw my request for your assistance in the sale of Government bonds. The patriotic people of America will sustain their gallant soldiers and sailors and carry this war to victory without your aid."

The coming speaking campaign will be one of the most extensive staged, even at the height of a political fight. All political parties and religions will be represented by men widely known.

Secretary of War Baker and United States Treasurer Burke will address meetings here tomorrow and Secretary McAdoo will cover the Pacific coast during the week. Ex-President Taft's contribution will be made next Saturday night at a meeting in the great Coliseum in Chicago. Dr. Stockton Axson of Rice Institute of Houston, Texas, will speak at Lancaster, Penn., on Oct. 9; Worcester, Mass., Oct. 10; Nashua, N. H., Oct. 11, and Manchester, N. H., Oct. 12.

A large number of the members of both houses of Congress have made speaking engagements for the vacation period of Congress, and will take a vigorous part in the Liberty Loan drive. Most of them will speak in their own States and districts.

Billy Sunday, the evangelist, was one of the volunteer speakers to offer his services in behalf of the Liberty Loan. In a characteristic message to Secretary McAdoo, he accepted speaking dates at San Francisco, Oakland, and Berkeley, Cal., on Oct. 22. "Rush Liberty Loan dope!" was his urgent telegraphic plea. A mass of data that should stagger Mr. Sunday despite his great physical power went forward to him by mail and telegraph.

Schedule for Speakers.

Secretary Lane will speak in New York, Oct. 18; Samuel Untermyer in Trenton, N. J., Oct. 8, and in Reading, Penn., Oct. 10; Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis in Detroit Oct. 8; Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, in Ohio and West Virginia cities throughout the week; Dr. S. Parkes Cadman in Hartford, Conn., Oct. 10; Henderson Martin, former Vice Governor of the Philippine Islands, in Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 12, and R. Goodwin Rhett, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in St. Louis, Oct. 10; Louisville, Oct. 11, and Memphis, Oct. 12.

Speakers whose itineraries are being arranged include ex-Governor David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, Augustus Thomas, the playwright, of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Representative A. J. Montague, Richmond, Va.; J. Sloat Fassett, Elmira, N. Y.; Oscar S. Straus, New York; ex-Governor Edward F. Dunne and ex-Governor Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, Levy Mayer, Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, John H. Atwood, and Mrs. Antoinette Funk, Chicago; Dr. John Wesley Hill, and Lawrence Chamberlain, New York; Senators Kenyon and Shields, ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, W. S. Shields, Knoxville, Tenn.; ex-Governor J. Franklin Fort of New Jersey, and John Barrett, Washington, Director General of the Pan American Union.

From coast to coast have come reports of vigorous efforts on the part of workers, but all realise that tremendous efforts must be put forth to reach the amount which must be subscribed. The necessity of every citizen putting his shoulder to the wheel in order to make the loan a success is being urged on every hand.

APPEAL BY BOSTON COMMITTEE

Two Million Subscribers Needed for New England's $500,000,000 Quota.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Two million subscribers to the Liberty Loan are needed in New England, it was announced here today. The Liberty Loan Committee said that the results of the first five days of the campaign, in which $26,647,000 in subscription was received, was only fairly satisfactory. It was a much better start than was made in the first Liberty Loan campaign, the committee admitted, and the showing would be improved when Saturday's receipts were tabulated, but it was pointed out that the district now was required to raise $500,000,000 as against $300,000,000 for the first issue. In an appeal for team work on the part of all, the committee said:

"Subscribe now. Do not wait until the end of the campaign as your subscription now will influence others. Wear your Liberty button. This is a privilege and a duty. If this campaign is to be successful in another two weeks a person not wearing a button will be very noticeable. Remember this: Your example helps others; your encouragement helps others."

DATE FOR JEWISH CONGRESS

Executive Committee to Consider Meeting Time Next Sunday.

It was announced yesterday that the Executive Committee for the American Jewish Congress, some of the officers of which are Nathan Straus, Adolph Lewisohn, Colonel Harry Cutler, Louis Marshall, Louis Kirstein, and Dr. Stephen S. Wise, would meet in special session next Sunday afternoon to decide finally upon the exact date of the Congress, which is to strive for full rights for the Jews in all lands at the end of the war and for special opportunities for the development of Jewish life in Palestine. The date previously fixed was Nov. 18 and the Administrative Committee, which has offices at 1 Madison Avenue, has since the delegates were elected on June 19 been busying itself with preparations for the opening of the congress on the stated date.

But owing to war conditions and to the fact that many of the organizations and individuals interested in the congress are now preoccupied with different work which has to do with the furtherance of the aims of our Government it has been suggested that the congress be postponed for a later date. The Administrative Committee which met last week could not reach a decision and the matter was referred to a special meeting of the whole Executive Committee of 130 members, which will take place next Sunday.

FREE 8-LESSON SPANISH COURSE

ALSO

Free Eight-Lesson French Course

On next Monday, October 15th, there will commence in beautiful Gordon-Detwiler Auditorium, Tribune Building, 154 Nassau Street, just opposite City Hall Park, a wonderful free eight-lesson Spanish Course, and also a similar free eight-lesson French Course.

Both of these classes will be identical in every way to the recently enormously successful French Classes to which free tickets were distributed by The New York Evening Globe. Both classes will be taught by the new direct conversational method of the Gordon-Detwiler Institute, which eliminates most all syntax and dry rules of grammar. During either of these courses you should master the fundamental rules of the language you study; also you should acquire a vocabulary of three hundred words and at least three hundred idioms in every-day use. The Gordon-Detwiler Institute is one of the largest Institutes of Languages in the whole world, so you need no other guarantee of the excellence of these eight free lessons in Spanish or French. Both classes will meet for lessons three times weekly, on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The various lessons are repeated numerous times on each class day. For SPANISH you may attend at 11:15 A. M. or 4:15 or 5:15 or 7:15 or 8:15 P. M., and for FRENCH you may attend class at 12:15 or 3:15 or 6:15 P. M., as best suits your convenience. The tickets will not last long. Call at Gordon-Detwiler Institute at once and get yours. Or write for one, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope, to Gordon-Detwiler Institute, Tribune Building, New York, and the next day will bring your ticket to you.

They relate to prices, sale, shipment, and distribution, and place the Federal agencies involved in a strong position to handle the situation and determine whether all branches are meeting the conditions imposed. The rules and regulations follow:

1. The prices for coal fixed by the President as modified by the orders of the Fuel Administrator, shall apply to export and bunker coal.

2. Contracts relating to bituminous coal made before the President's proclamation of Aug. 21, 1917, and contracts relating to anthracite coal made before the President's proclamation of Aug. 23, 1917, shall not be affected by these proclamations, provided the contracts are bona fide in character and enforceable at law, in the absence of further express regulation.

3. If the claim is made that any specific coal has been acquired in accordance with a bona fide contract enforceable at law, existing prior to the time of the order of the President applicable thereto, the burden of proof is upon the parties to the contract to establish those facts.

4. Coal may be bought and sold at prices lower than those prescribed by the orders of the President.

5. The effect of the President's orders on coal rolling when the order affecting such coal was issued, is to be decided by first ascertaining whether or not the title had passed from the operator to the consignee at the time the President's order became effective. If the title had passed to the consignee the price fixed by the President does not apply.

Bars Extra Commissions.

6. Operators who maintain their own sales department, whether in their own name or under a separate name, and dispose of coal directly to the dealer or consumer, shall not charge any jobber's commission. A jobber must be entirely independent of the operator, in fact as well as in name, in order to be entitled to charge a jobber's commission.

7. Free coal shipped from the mines subsequent to the promulgation of the President's order fixing the price for such coal shall reach the dealer at not more than the price fixed by the President's order, plus only the prescribed jobber's commission (if the coal has been purchased through a jobber) and transportation charges.

8. A jobber who had already contracted to buy coal at the time of the President's order fixing the price of such coal, and who was at that time already under contract to sell the same, may fill his contract to sell at the price named therein.

9. A jobber who, at the time of the President's order fixing the price of the coal in question at the mine, had contracted to buy coal at or below the President's price, and at that time had no contract to sell such coal, shall not sell the same at a price higher than the purchase price, plus the proper jobber's commission as determined by the President's regulation of Aug. 23, 1917.

10. A jobber who, at the time of the President's order fixing the price of coal in question was under contract to deliver such coal at a price higher than a price represented by the price fixed by the President or the Fuel Administrator for such coal, plus a proper jobber's commission as determined by the President's regulation of Aug. 23, 1917, shall not fill such contract at a price in excess of the President's price, plus the proper jobber's commission, with coal purchased after the President's order became effective and not contracted for prior thereto.

11. A jobber who, at the date of the President's order fixing the price of the coal in question, held a contract for the purchase of coal without having already sold such coal, shall not sell such coal at more than the price fixed by the President or the Fuel Administrator for the sale of such coal after the date of such order, plus the jobber's commission as fixed by the President's regulation of Aug. 23, 1917.

12. Every jobber of coal or coke in the United States shall file with the Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C., on or before Oct. 25, 1917, a statement showing (1) his name; (2) post office address; (3) date of the establishment of his business; (4) names of stockholders, members and partners of the jobbing concern; (5) financial interests of stockholders, members and partners of the jobbing concern in any mine producing coal. Any jobbing concern which may be established after the issuance of this regulation shall immediately upon its organization file a similar statement with the Federal Trade Commission.

Requires Sworn Statements.

13. Whenever called upon to do so by the Fuel Administrator, all persons, firms, and corporations dealing in and selling coal to consumers at retail, shall return to the Fuel Administrator at Washington, D. C., or otherwise as directed, a sworn statement of facts showing his, her, or its retail margin, between the dates of Jan. 1, 1915, and Dec. 31, 1915, both inclusive; and to furnish such other information as may be required; such returns to be made on a blank form to be furnished by the Fuel Administration, when so requested.

14. Where coal has been confiscated by a railroad for its own use, it may be sold to the railroad by the owner thereof at the price at which it was consigned when confiscated, but at no higher price; provided, however, that if the price at which it was consigned is above the price fixed by orders of the President and of the Fuel Administrator it shall be billed at the price so fixed, unless it is consigned in compliance with a bona fide contract enforceable at law, which was in existence when the price of such coal was fixed.

15. Coal delivered direct to the consumer from the mine, by wagon or truck (whether from wagon mines or other mines), shall be sold at not more than the prices fixed by the President and the Fuel Administrator, plus the actual cost of hauling.

16. Coal bought by a railroad for its own use, as fuel from a wagon mine hauling to such railroad, shall be sold at not more than the prices fixed by the President and the Fuel Administrator, plus the actual cost of hauling.

17. No charge for hauling may be made by an operator of a wagon mine, or paid by the purchaser of the coal, on coal shipped by rail, except where such shipment is made in box cars, in which case an additional charge not to exceed 75 cents per ton may be made. In all other cases the price of wagon mine coal on board cars shall not exceed the price prescribed by the President and the Fuel Administrator for coal at the mine.

18. Until further action of the Fuel Administrator, smithing coal, when use for smithing purposes only, may be sold at the market prices prevailing at the time of the sale.

20. An assignment of a contract for the sale of coal, where such assignment is made after the President's order applicable to the price of the coal covered by the contract, shall be treated as a sale of coal and be subject to all the orders and regulations of the President of the United States and the Fuel Administrator relating thereto.

21. These orders, rulings and regulations supersede all orders and regulations of general application previously issued, excepting:

(1.) The order of the President dated Aug. 21, 1917, fixing prices of bituminous coal modified by sundry orders of the Fuel Administrator and all such orders affecting such modifications.

(2.) The order of the President dated Aug. 23, 1917, defining jobbers and fixing the prices of Pennsylvania anthracite coal, the same being modified so far as it relates to the price of anthracite pea coal by the order of the Fuel Administrator dated Oct. 1, 1917.

(3.) Order of Fuel Administrator, dated Oct. 1, 1917, relative to the shipment, distribution and apportionment of coal reshipped by water at Lake Erie ports; and

(4.) Order of the Fuel Administrator, dated Oct. 1, 1917, relating to the maximum gross margins of retail coal dealers.

(Signed) H. A. GARFIELD,
United States Fuel Administrator.

WATCH MACEDONIA TOBACCO

Some Peculiarity of Soil Has Suddenly Given It Importance.

ATHENS, Sept. 15. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The large American tobacco concerns are keeping representatives over here, watching the development of the new tobacco fields in Macedonia. These have suddenly come into importance, apparently because of some chemical quality of the soil of Macedonia, like that of Cuba, favorable to the production of tobacco.

The American demand has become such that there is now more Macedonian tobacco sent to the United States than any other article shipped from Greece. At first it was treated as a rather cheap weed, but now that its position is established some 20,000,000 pounds have been sold in recent months at 40 to 55 cents a pound.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION IN AMERICA AND EUROPE

Traders have become so accomplished in selling stocks for declines in recent weeks that it is not improbable that they have ceased to take their bearings by the landmarks as they passed, and have continued working on the short side in the belief that no matter what levels prices are resting on, they can be depressed further. For a great many weeks the business world has been uneasy over the prospect of new tax burdens which would make serious inroads upon profits from whatever source derived. The House War Revenue bill was bad; the Senate measure no better; and the Conference bill combined the evils of both, while adding a new one, but while this legislation has been developing each new step has been marked by further liquidation in securities. At some point the liquidation will have discounted the worst possible interpretation that can be placed upon the new legislation. It has been the general experience in this country that investors have seized upon the most unfavorable possibilities in a bad situation, forgetting that business quickly accommodates itself to new difficulties, and in the process they sold securities when they should have been buying them. It may be that the severe declines which took place upon publication of the final draft of the new war tax law did not adequately represent the unfavorable effect which the new measure will have upon industry, but if that shall prove to have been the case, the law is unspeakably bad, for the latest break in prices follows upon the heels of successive declines which have carried prices back to levels that are in many cases well under the lowest figures touched at the worst of the 1907 panic.

Any American Congress is poorly equipped for such a delicate task as the enactment of a new system of taxation. It is a work which should be intrusted to a committee of experts, whose findings could then be brought before the legislators for discussion. The Federal Reserve act grew under the constant supervision of financial experts, who were called upon at every turn to advise with the currency committees. The new war tax law was framed without any reference to the experience of nations much older in the war than the United States, and had the benefit of no expert advice. The experience of Great Britain should have proved invaluable to the framers of the new law, for her statesmen devised a scheme of taxation which has provided as much revenue as may be hoped for under the new law just drawn by Congress, although supplied by about half as large a population and provided it without any derangement of legitimate business. It is hard to understand why Congress completely ignored the original plan to make the profits tax bear almost altogether on war profits. It would have been much better to have levied a tax of 80 per cent. against all increases in profits of 1917 over the pre-war average than to have made an arbitrary and, in most cases, entirely inadequate allowance for pre-war earnings in order to assess a more moderate rate against all increases over the allowance. However, the law is now a fact and objections to it ineffective. Business men will have to make the best of it in the hope that relief will be afforded them if it shall be shown that the imposts are unfairly placed.

One thing is certain, that the work of the salesmen for the Liberty Loan has been made much more difficult by reason of the uneasiness with which a large proportion of the people now regard the prospect of additional demands upon their reduced incomes. A man with a salary of $10,000 has no sooner made up his mind that he can take another $1,000 Liberty bond than it is discovered that a hidden paragraph of the new law threatens him with a tax of 8 per cent. upon $4,000 of his income. That the new campaign has made such substantial progress in the first week under the handicap is a favorable augury for the success of the loan, for it is well known that the average subscriber will wait until the closing days before entering his subscription. It is inconceivable that the loan should fail of a generous oversubscription. As was said by Mr. Vanderlip at the outset of the first campaign, people have got to subscribe to their Government's loans until it hurts. It is not enough to set aside the surplus income in sight for investment; every citizen must commit himself, if necessary, beyond his present means, and then increase his productive capacity to make the payments.

Without doubt the people of this country have gone a considerable way toward reducing useless expenditure in order to help the conduct of the war, but they have only started the work of conservation th[at] must be done. Every electric sign that means the consumption of coal needed for dwellings and factories advertises the countless ways in which saving can be accomplished, once the country becomes thoroughly awake to the fact that we cannot consume as usual at home without depriving the armies of needed supplies. The policy of price fixing is open to the objection that the greatest natural corrective of waste and extravagance is being spared us through an arbitrary holding down of prices. It may be that the advantages are more than enough to offset the salutary effect of high prices in checking consumption, but too much reliance should not be placed upon the results of an appeal to patriotism to go without the usual allowance of sugar and white bread to conserve the supply for export. The required quantities of food, fuel, clothing and munitions must go forward without too sensitive a regard for the comfort of the people at home. They have ways of finding substitutes for articles in which a shortage develops that are not possible to the men in France.

Last week's drive at stocks pressed heavily at times on the railroads, carrying numerous issues to new low levels. The spectre of diminishing net earnings despite increased revenues has alarmed investors, who are unable to see any hope for early relief through a reduction in fuel and labor costs or through a reopening of the 15 per cent. rate case by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The August statements of the principal Eastern carriers added to the depression that has been steadily growing among holders of railroad securities, bonds as well as stocks. The New York Central earned $1,462,000 more than for August of last year, but at a cost of $2,798,000 more, bringing about a reduction in net for the single month of $1,337,000. The Erie's August earnings increased $496,000, at an added operating cost of $1,846,000. The Pennsylvania System carried $6,017,000 more business with a decrease of $141,000 in its net for the month. Some of the conditions against which the railroads are struggling will improve as soon as further progress toward the ending of congestion is made, but the difficulties of earning a fair return on capital invested in a well-established line under prevailing rates have been so thoroughly demonstrated that it is not hard to understand the break in standard railroad bonds to a new low level, and of stocks of some of the leading companies to prices that have not hitherto been seen except in periods of great business depression.

BRITISH LOAN CAMPAIGN ON.

Steady Demand for the New War Issue Is Indicated.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The new national war bonds held the centre of interest in financial circles this week. The subscription list opened on Tuesday, and there was every evidence of a steady demand for the issue. The National War Savings Committee is conducting an energetic campaign throughout the country, and good results are anticipated.

Business in stocks has been moderate, but the sentiment was still favorable, especially at the close, and reflected the further victory on the western front. More attention was paid to investment stocks, investors suddenly realizing the cheapness of the war loan, which now carries practically a full half year's dividend. The price rose to 94¾, and Consols also bettered their position. Other war loans were slightly reactionary.

The railway market was generally quiet, but some excitement developed over the announcement of the Grand Trunk that no dividend was guaranteed on preference stocks for the last half year. The statement caused much surprise, and a heavy slump in all issues followed, although the close was slightly above the low mark.

Brewery issues continued to be absorbed, and there was considerable demand for American Marconi, with an accompanying good rise in price. The demand and supply in the explosive and armament shares market about balanced each other. Reported good development in Shamva Mine caused a brisk rise, but Mexican mining issues shared in the heaviness of silver, which further reacted to 46d per ounce.

Money was in demand in the early part of the week, but closed easy, with surpluses freely offered, the supply being increased by large Treasury bill maturities and a strong demand for short-dated bills by banks, which constituted the chief business of the discount market. The revenue returns for the half year to Sept. 30 showed receipts of £255,222,040, an increase over the corresponding period of last year of £91,2[illegible]. Expenditures were £1,328,052,398, an increase of £423,250,660, the deficiency being met by borrowings, chiefly Treasury bills, Exchequer bonds, and the balance of the war loan.

WAREHOUSE CRY STIRS BUILDERS

MARKS COMMITTEE ACTS

To Prove That Lack of Other Types of Building Helps Retard Movement of Supplies.

Spurred to prompt action by the report that lack of warehouse space in New York is in danger of constituting a menace to the successful distribution of food and supplies to the world, Borough President Marks's Committee on the Alleviation of Building Stagnation set a busy program for itself this week, says The Dow Service Daily Building Reports today.

It was said at the organization meeting last Tuesday that there was hardly a square foot of fireproof warehouse space available at this time in New York, and that it was getting increasingly difficult to obtain storage accommodation even in semi-fireproof buildings. Elliott Smith, President of the Building Material Exchange, who was elected President of the General Committee, with G. Osgood Andrews, Vice President, and George A. Molitor, Secretary, urged that the situation required prompt treatment, if such was the case, and named five committees with instructions to meet at once to proceed with the investigation of conditions such as this.

The committee to determine the actual demand for building construction meets tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the Building Material Exchange, Woolworth Building. It consists of Walter T. Smith, Vice President of the George A. Fuller Company; H. H. Murdock of the Real Estate Board, the Hon. Thomas Rock of the Central Federated Union, Henry Atterbury Smith, architect; Roy Wingate of Cauldwell-Wingate Company; Ernest L. Smith of the Frederick T. Ley Company, Arthur K. Mack of the Record and Guide, Philip Hull, John J. Radley, builder; Hugh Getty, President of the Building Trades Employers' Association; Laurence McGuire, President of the Real Estate Board, and R. A. Bartholomew, district manager of the Ruud Manufacturing Company.

At 3:30 in the same afternoon and at the same place the committee to determine the condition of supply and price of building materials will meet. This committee consists of C. J. Curtin, former President of the Building Material Exchange; Allen E. Beals of the Allen E. Beals Corporation, publishers of The Dow Service Daily Building Reports; Walter C. Schultz of Hoboken, Audley Clarke, dealer, of Brooklyn; Francis N. Howland, President of the Association of Building Material Dealers; R. J. Perrine of the New York Lumber Trade Association, Frank E. Hanley of the Eastern Supply Association; G. Osgood Andrews, Secretary of the National Plate Glass Manufacturers' Association; F. C. Hurd of the Portland Cement Association; Arthur B. Pendleton, Secretary of the National Terra Cotta Society; Herbert D. Lounsbury, front brick distributer; Joseph Paterno, apartment house operator; Colonel John B. Rose, President of the Greater New York Brick Company; William K. Hammond, brick manufacturer; Henry M. Keasbey, President of the National Fireproofing Company; William H. Powell, President of the Atlantic Terra Cotta Company; Ernest R. Ackerman, President of the Lawrence Cement Company; Michael Cohen, President of the New York Building Stone Association; George E. Gifford, Secretary of the Bridge Builders and Structural Society; Herman Plaut, A. E. Davidson of the Chesebro-Whitman Company, Arthur K. Mack of the Record and Guide, Edward Margolies, the theatre builder; S. J. Treat of the New York Lumber Trade Association.

At 3 o'clock Wednesday the Committee on Supply and Cost of Labor, consisting of Walter T. Smith of the George A. Fuller Company, Charles Burns of the Long Island Building Trades Association, and Charles E. Cheney, will meet.

The time for the meeting of the Committee on Building Laws, consisting of Franz Neilson, Secretary of the Credit Association of the Building Trades of New York; President Harrington of the same organization; Orin F. Perry of the Building Material Exchange, F. C. Zobel of the New York Architects Society, Frank E. Conover of the Building Trades Employers Association, Cass Gilbert, the architect, and Robert D. Kohn of the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, has been set for Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

On Friday, after banking hours, President Elliott will meet with the Committee on Mortgage Loans at 3:30 in the Building Material Exchange. This Committee consists of Audley Clarke, President of the Builders Supply Association of Brooklyn; Walter Stabler, Comptroller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; Walter Lindner, President of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company; Frederick A. Snow, Joseph Paterno, William H. Rockford Mills, Edward Margolies, F. C. Zobel, Orin F. Perry, John F. Calhoon, Robert J. Grannis, and C. J. Curtin.

The problems these committeemen, nearly all of whom were present at the organization meeting, will have to meet, include the rather contradictory condition of the materials market and the demand for construction. For instance, zinc is lower, but copper, on which a price has been fixed, is still up.

Metal lath is going up another cent a yard by the fifteenth of the month because contracts made before the war are expiring, and even the Government's fixed price is higher than the level of the old contracts.

This applies to many metal lines. Steel prices have been fixed and deliveries are hard to get, but at the same time there are more than 7,000 tons of fabricated steel ready for immediate delivery in Long Island available to builders. Red cedar lumber is up $2, and so is long leaf yellow pine, while brick is hanging around $8 to $8.25 with little demand. Gravel is up 15 cents a yard, the biggest jump since the war started, and is now quoted at $1.40 for inch and a half and $1.50 a yard for three-quarter inch sizes.

At the same time window glass discounts have been shortened as a result of a 15 per cent. advance by glass manufacturers on the first of the month. This, however, does not yet affect plate glass.

These strangely fluctuating prices reflect a general attempt to make readjustments to meet prospective demand and manufacturing costs. Assurances were made freely that steel at the new fixed base prices would be deliverable here by Jan. 15, and at the same time glass manufacturers will not resume operations until December, instead of this month, and brick manufacturers are going into the Winter on low supplies. Portland cement manufacturers are getting ready for the biggest prosperity in their history, encouraged by two years of postponed building work plus tremendous volumes of new work. The only thing now required is to know actual conditions of demand and supply. Then investors will act.

2 KILLED, 6 HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

ENDS TOUR OF ROADHOUSES

Aged Woman Run Down and Injured in Fifth Avenue—Unlicensed Driver Wrecks Car.

Two were killed and six others injured seriously when a seven-passenger automobile owned by J. T. Castles, Jr., of 868 South Nineteenth Street, Newark, crashed into an auto van near Garwood, N. J., yesterday morning.

The dead are: Alexander Brockt of 55 Hamilton Street, Harrison, N. J., and Charles Meyers, 20 Buffington Avenue, Irvington, N. J. The injured, who were taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, are: Frank Aber of 301 Cadwell Avenue, Paterson, N. J.; Robert Brandt, 36 Norwood Street, Newark; Robert Marthe, 175 Bergen Street, Newark; George Peth, 61 South Sixth Street, Newark, John Redden, 185 South Orange Avenue, Newark, and Leonard Vanderwell, 168 South Orange Avenue, Newark.

According to the police, Meyers had taken his employer, Mr. Castles, home late Saturday night, and then, without the latter's knowledge, had taken the automobile for a ride, picking up several of his friends. They visited several road houses, and were returning to Newark when the accident occurred. The machine was running at a high rate of speed along North Avenue, and Meyers, apparently, did not see the van until too late to turn. The passengers in the auto were thrown out on the road by the violence of the collision.

The van belonged to Shapiro Brothers of Paterson, N. J.

An aged woman, who refused to give her name, was knocked down by an auto operated by Edward Mazer of 712 East 176th Street, the Bronx, at Thirty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue yesterday morning. She was taken to Bellevue Hospital. Several letters found in her possession were addressed to Mrs. Jennie Gardner of Philadelphia. The woman suffered a bad scalp wound.

An automobile owned by Charles Kelly, proprietor of the City Island Garage and driven by Ernest Roberts of 32 Pierce Street, City Island, was wrecked yesterday when a trolley car in First Avenue at 124th Street crashed into it. Patrolman P'stone of the East 126th Street Station found that Roberts had no chauffeur's license and summoned him to the Traffic Court for examination tomorrow.

FOUR DIE IN AUTO WRECK.

WELLS, Me., Oct. 7.—Four residents of Lewiston were killed and one was dangerously injured, when their automobile shot off the road in the darkness and overturned at a curve under the Boston and Maine Railroad bridge, here early today. The dead are: Rick Belanger, Mrs. Emma Belanger, his wife; Mrs. Antoinette Demoure, and Mrs. Anna Hamel. Napoleon H. Hamel, the driver, was hurt. The party were on their way to spend Sunday with relatives at the National Army Camp at Ayer, Mass.

EDITOR DEFENDS FORWARD.

Abraham Cahan Says His Paper Has Been Loyal to America.

Denying that he was pro-German, Abraham Cahan, editor of Jewish Daily Forward, who has been ordered to appear in Washington and explain to the Postmaster General why the privilege of the mails should not be denied to his publication, declared last night that he could not account for the occasion of the notice. Mr. Cahan said he would go to Washington on Friday.

"We are not pro-German, nor are we a friend of the Kaiser," said Mr. Cahan. "We have been anti-Kaiser and anti-junker more vehemently than anyone else. We have been absolutely loyal to the policies of the country since the United States entered the war.

"The Post Office Department is bent on closing up every Socialist paper and the axe falls on us as a Socialist publication, or the Department is laboring under some misconcepeion. By killing the Forward the authorities would be committing a great historical error. The Forward is the great Americaning influence on the East Side."

Mr. Cahan did not deny that the Forward opposed the entrance of the United States into the war, but said he believed in defensive wars, citing the instance of France. He pointed out that the Forward indorsed President Wilson's answer to the Pope and had published three article in praise of it.

The New York Volkszeitung, organ of the German speaking Socialists, which refused an advertisement of New York banks entitled, "Save and Have" on the ground that it was opposed to anything which would assist in the war, publishes this morning a long editorial alleging that the Post Office Department is being used in a systematic campaign to suppress the Socialist press. The editorial declares that the Bolkszeitung will maintain the principles of international socialism so long as it is permitted freedom of publication.

FOR A ONE-LANGUAGE CITY.

Fifth Avenue Association Moves to Teach English to Alien Workers.

Another step in the campaign to make New York a "one-language city" was taken yesterday when the Fifth Avenue Association announced the launching of an Americanisation campaign in conjunction with the Committee on Aliens of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense. The association has become convinced that in enabling non-English-speaking workers to become more familiar with the English language and American ideals it is furthering not only the creation of a more loyal citizenship, but the establishment of greater efficiency and productivity.

A committee has been appointed, consisting of Gage E. Tarbell, Chairman; Harris A. Dunn, Walter M. Maynard, Samuel W. Raeburg, William Geppert, and Robert H. Koehler. This committee will urge members of the association to establish classes in English in their shops, as well as lay before their employes the advantages to be gained by attending evening schools. The Board of Education, through Dr. William P. Ettinger, Associate Superintendent of Schools, on the application of any employer, will provide instructors for shops and stores without cost.

Free French Lessons for Soldiers.

Free lessons in French are given at the Parish Hall of St. Paul's Chapel, 29 Vesey Street, to soldiers, sailors, physicians, and nurses preparing to go to the battle line, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, at 10 A. M., and 1:30, 2:45, 4:00, and 7:00 P. M., under the leadership of Professor Jacques Bars, graduate of the National Conservatory of Paris and the University of Lille, who is at present instructing free of charge from 600 to 800 soldiers at Governors Island. ## VAN DYKE TO OPEN COURSE.

Will Lecture Before Columbia Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Henry van Dyke, former United States Minister to The Netherlands, will open the fifth season of the Columbia University Institute of Arts and Sciences on Monday evening, Oct. 15, with a lecture on "The Conscience of Our Country and the War." Popular lectures on civic, economic, and political questions connected with the war, by well known professors of Columbia and other universities, will be the feature of the 1917-18 program, according to an announcement made yesterday by Milton J. Davies, Assistant Director of Extension Teaching. The institute is connected with this department of the university.

"The particular aim of these popular lectures," said Mr. Davies, "will be the promotion of intelligent patriotism and sound judgment, and the support of our National Government in the present struggle for world-wide democracy."

Noteworthy among the lectures is a series on current history by Professor William Starr Myers of Princeton University. Special events on the program include concerts by the Philharmonic Society of New York, the Symphony Society of New York, and the Columbia University Chorus. John Spargo will deliver a lecture on the "Influence of the War upon Socialistic Thought and Tactics." In addition to the popular series, the institute will offer its usual courses on subjects of art, architecture, drama, literature, travel, science, social science, philosophy and history.

Certain-teed Roofing

CERTAIN-TEED is the best roof, not only because it costs less to manufacture, but also because it is weathertight, light weight, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant, and costs practically nothing to maintain.

It is now used as the preferable type of roof for office buildings, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is demanded. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

WILSON SEES END OF WAR ONLY WHEN ENEMY IS BEATEN

German Autocracy Must Yield to Democracy's Ideals, He Tells Unity League.

DECRIES EARLY PEACE TALK

Can Only Cloud Public Vision, and People's Thought Needs Patriotic Guidance.

LEAGUE OUTLINES PURPOSES

Premature Peace Seditious and Attack on Our Allies Is Attack on America.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Agitation for a premature peace was characterized as seditious, and those who attacked the allies of America in the present crisis were declared to be enemies of their country by members of the newly organized League for National Unity, who were received at the White House this afternoon by President Wilson.

The President gave his indorsement to the purposes of the league in an address emphasizing the need of team play by the forces of American thought and opinion. He expressed the belief that American public opinion, although understanding the war's causes and principles, needed guidance to remember that the war should end only when Germany was beaten and Germany's rule of autocracy and might superceded by the ideals of democracy.

This is the issue which the American people should always keep in mind, the President said, in order to avoid being misled into byways of thought and the resultant scattering of the force of public opinion. Talk of early peace before Germany is defeated is one of the evidences of misdirected thought, he suggested, and should not cloud the vision of those who understand that the United States is fighting now for the same ideals of democracy and freedom that have always actuated the nation.

The President gave warning that it should not be forgotten that German success would mean not only prevention of the spread of democracy, but possibly the suppression of that already existing.

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, senior prelate of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, and Frank Mason North of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, are Honorary Chairmen of the organization, and its list of officers includes men of prominence in organized labor, industry, and finance. Cardinal Gibbons was not present, but the league has received a letter from him subscribing to its principles, which soon will be published.

The league will have headquarters in New York, and will organize at once for service. On its Executive Committee are William R. Willcox, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Vance McCormick, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. It is understood that the machinery of the Speakers' Bureaus of these great organizations may be used in a nation-wide movement to unite the country behind the Government and spread before the people the many acts by Germany which brought about the war.

The announced purpose of the organization is "to create a medium through which the loyal Americans of all classes, sections, creeds, and parties can give expression to the fundamental purpose of the United States to carry on to a successful conclusion this new war for the independence of America and for the preservation of democratic institutions and the vindication of the basic principles of humanity."

Declaration of Principles.

This declaration of principles was adopted:

"In an hour when our nation is fighting for the principles upon which it was founded, in an hour when free institutions and the hopes of humanity are at stake, we hold it the duty of every American to take his place on the firing line of public opinion.

"It is not a time for old prejudices or academic discussion as to past differences. Those who are not now for America are against America.

"Our cause is just. We took up the sword only when international law and ancient rights were set at naught, and when our forbearance had been exhausted by persistent deception and broken pledges.

"Our aims are explicit, our purposes unsoiled by any selfishness. We defend the sanctities of life, the fundamental decencies of civilization. We fight for a just and durable peace and that the rule of reason shall be restored to the community of nations.

"In this crisis the unity of the American people must not be impaired by the voices of dissension of sedition. Agitation for a premature peace is seditious when its object is to weaken the determination of America to see the war through to a conclusive vindication of the principles for which we have taken arms.

"The war we are waging is a war against war and its sacrifices must not be nullified by any truce or armistice that means no more than a breathing spell for the enemy.

"We believe in the wise purpose of the President not to negotiate a peace with any irresponsible and autocratic dynasty.

"We approve the action of the nation's Government in dispatching an expeditionary force to the land of Lafayette and Rochambeau. Either we fight the enemy on foreign soil, shoulder to shoulder with comrades in arms,

Capture One Boatload of Seeadler Raiders

LONDON, Oct. 8.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Melbourne says it is reported there that a whaleboat with a crew of Germans from the raider Seeadler has been captured in the vicinity of the Fiji Islands. The boat contained a gun and machine guns, the dispatch says, and the Germans admitted they had been detailed from the Seeadler to make raids.

The presence of two German sea raiders in the South Pacific was made known in dispatches from Samoa to the Navy Department last week. Both vessels were said to have been manned by the crew o. the Seeadler. Several merchantmen are reported to have been sunk. The Seeadler was active in the South Atlantic last Spring, sinking eleven merchantmen there.

QUITS COLUMBIA; ASSAILS TRUSTEES

Professor Charles A. Beard Says Narrow Clique Is Controlling the University.

FREE SPEECH THE ISSUE

Charles A. Beard, Professor of Political Science at Columbia University, resigned from the university yesterday, giving as his reason that the institution had fallen under the control of a small and active group of Trustees, who, although "without standing in the world of education," "reactionary and visionless in politics," and "narrow and mediaeval in religion," had throttled freedom of expression among its educators.

His action was partly the outgrowth of the expulsion by the university last week of Professors James McKeen Cattell and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Dana for disseminating doctrines of disloyalty in the war, and partly the result of a disagreement that had existed between Professor Beard and some of the Trustees of the university since last Spring. Professor Beard had made an address at that time at a Community Centre conference at the Hotel Astor, in which he protested against the repression of independent views and in which he was quoted as saying that if the nation could not bear to hear some malcontent say "To hell with the Stars and Stripes!" it was doomed to failure. The alleged quotation was later said to have been discussed by the same special committee of Trustees which ultimately demanded the resignations of Professors Cattell and Dana.

Professor Beard was recently credited with having publicly resented the expulsion of the two professors, as were also Professor James H. Robinson of the Department of History and Professor John Dewey of the Department of Philosophy. Both of these two last-named professors expressed regret last night over the resignation of Professor Beard, and Professor Robinson added that some protest would probably be taken to the Trustees "in a dignified way" against the repressive methods recently adopted at the institution.

No Question of Pro-Germanism.

Professor Beard, as did also Professor Robinson, insisted that there was no question of "pro-Germanism" in the controversy; that he was heartily in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war against Germany, but that the opinions of those who did not agree with this program and the war could not be "changed by curses or bludgeons."

This is the letter Professor Beard wrote to President Nicholas Murray Butler of the university:

Oct. 8, 1917.

Nicholas Murray Butler, President Columbia University:

Dear President Butler—

Having observed closely the inner life at Columbia for many years, I have been driven to the conclusion that the university is really under the control of a small and active group of trustees who have no standing in the world of education, who are reactionary and visionless in politics, and narrow and mediaeval in religion. Their conduct, to use the language of a resolution adopted last Spring by one of the most important Faculties, "betrays a profound misconception of the true function of a university in the advancement of learning." How widespread and deep is this conviction among the professors, only one intimately acquainted with them can know.

If these were ordinary times, one might more readily ignore the unhappy position in which the dominant group in the Board of Trustees has placed the teachers, but these are not ordinary times. We are in the midst of a great war, and we stand on the threshold of an era which will call for all the emancipated thinking that America can command. As you are aware, I have, from the beginning, believed that a victory for the German Imperial Government would plunge all of us into the black night of military barbarism. I was among the first to urge a declaration of war by the United States, and I believe that we should now press forward with all our might to a just conclusion. But thousands of my countrymen do not share this view. Their opinions cannot be changed by curses or bludgeons. Arguments addressed to their reason and understanding are our best hope.

Such arguments, however, must come from men whose disinterestedness is above all suspicion, whose independence is beyond all doubt, and whose devotion to the whole country, as distinguished from any single class or group, is above all question. I am convinced that while I remain in the pay of the Trustees of Columbia University I cannot do effectively my humble part in sustaining public opinion in support of the just war on the

LOAN TOTAL GROWS TO 250 MILLION IN ITS POOREST DAY

DAY'S SALES $10,000,000

UNTERMYER TAKES MILLION

Lawyer's Subscription Made Through Suffragists Is Largest So Far for an Individual.

Yesterday appeared to be an "off day" as far as subscriptions to the Liberty Loan were concerned, the estimated total for the New York Federal Reserve District being $250,000,000, an increase of only $10,000,000 compared with Saturday's figures. Formal announcements of new applications were relatively few and small in the aggregate, but at the same time the returns tabulated by the Reserve Bank showed an increase of more than $28,000,000, the total for actual subscriptions placed on file with the bank advancing to $156,250,000. The difference between this latter figure and the $250,000,000 estimate represents subscriptions which have been made but which have not been formally turned in to the Reserve Bank. The total of subscriptions publicly announced by subscribers or their banks approximates $217,000,000, but this figure is naturally much below the $250,000,000 estimate for the reason that a great many subscribers are averse to publicity, and for the further reason that many applications for bonds made yesterday will not be reported until today or tomorrow.

The slump in subscriptions did not surprise members of the Liberty Loan Committee, who said that they had been looking forward to some poor days during the course of the four-weeks' campaign, especially after the close of the first week's effort. For the first seven week days of the campaign this district is about $187,000,000 behind, compared with the required daily average of $62,500,000 if the district is to raise $1,500,000,000 in the twenty-four business days of the campaign. Despite yesterday's poor showing, the committee is very hopeful, and believes that as the campaign advances and the people are aroused to the need of their subscribing to the Government war loan, the daily subscription figures will become larger and larger.

Largest Subscriptions for Day.

The biggest individual subscription yet reported was announced last night by the Liberty Loan Committee of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party as coming from Samuel Untermyer, the lawyer. His subscription was for $1,000,000. For the first Liberty Loan, Mr. Untermyer subscribed $2,000,000 through the National City Bank.

Following are some of the other subscriptions announced yesterday:

| Adolph Lewisohn & Sons | $1,000,000 |
| Brooklyn Savings Bank | 1,000,000 |
| Bank of the Manhattan Company (for themselves) | 1,000,000 |
| United States Rubber Company (through Kuhn, Loeb & Co.) | 1,000,000 |
| Tiffany & Co. | 500,000 |
| Advance-Rumely Company | 500,000 |
| Continental Rubber Company | 300,000 |
| E. F. Hutton & Co. | 250,000 |
| Jesup & Lamont | 100,000 |
| United States and Australasia Steamship Company | 50,000 |

From Boston word was received that the Aetna Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., had filed a subscription for $3,000,000.

The 120 trade committees of the New York district are sending in encouraging reports, and it was said that more than 125,000 men and women had already been personally solicited. Big returns have come in from the Liberty Loan booths established last week in the various parks, and an official statement given out yesterday announced that more than $100,000 worth of subscriptions had been collected in a few days. It has been decided to get every subscriber to the first Liberty Loan to enlist as a solicitor of subscriptions for the second loan. The Liberty Loan Committee sent out yesterday to all banks a printed letter which will be forwarded to all subscribers. This letter requests the recipient to secure five new subscribers to the new loan, and there are appended five subscription forms which the old subscriber is asked to have filled out by his five friends.

Plans for Partial Payments.

Today or tomorrow the Liberty Loan Committee will issue a statement regarding the procedure that should be followed by employers who are carrying bonds for their employes under a partial payment arrangement. A great many salaried persons who have not yet completed their payments on the First Liberty Loan have shown some reluctance to undertake the purchase of bonds of the Second Liberty Loan, and on the other hand, numerous employers have not made up their minds as to just how they can arrange for subscriptions to the new loan on behalf of their employes. Some bankers whose advice has been asked have suggested that the employers obtain the consent of their employes for the sale of the 3½ per cent. bonds and solicit subscriptions for the new loan, the payments made by the employes up to date being credited to their account for subscriptions to the new loan.

In response to a popular demand the Treasury Department has decided to issue $50 bonds in registered as well as in coupon form, that is, persons who lack safe deposit vault facilities will be able to obtain bonds which are made out in their name, and in the event of loss or theft may be reissued. Owners of registered bonds receive their interest payments by check from Washington. Heretofore the lowest denomination Liberty bond issued in registered form

New York Call Summoned to Show Cause Why It Should Not Be Excluded from Mails

The New York Call, the Socialist daily newspaper, published by the Workingmen's Publishing Association, announces this morning that its editors and officers have been summoned to appear before the Third Assistant Postmaster General in Washington to show cause why the privilege of the mails should not be denied to it. It was said last night by Charles W. Ervin, one of the editors, that because of the failure of the mails to deliver the summons promptly those called would not be able to appear at the Post Office Department this afternoon at the hour set for the examination, and would be compelled to ask for an adjournment.

The Call made a statement this morning, in which it said:

"At 4:30 P. M. yesterday The Call was served with a notice to appear before the Post Office authorities at Washington today to show cause why it should not be deprived of its second-class mailing privileges. As these privileges enable The Call to circulate outside the City of New York, this taking away of our second-class mailing privileges would prevent us from reaching any readers without the borders of this city.

"No specific charge of any misuse of the mails is made in the document served upon us. No quotations from any articles which in any manner violate any statute law of the United States as set forth are given. No charges of any character whatsoever are made against our paper. We are asked to show cause why we should not be penalized, and are not told what we have done to merit punishment.

"That it is primarily the Socialist press as such that the Administration wishes to crush recent events prove."

Benedict and Edwin S. Prieth, publishers of the New Jersey Freie Zeitung, a German and English morning paper printed in Newark, were notified yesterday by the Postmaster General that the privileges of the second class mails had been denied it.

The suspension of second-class privileges has no effect on another proceeding against the Freie Zeitung by the Government. This will come up at a hearing Oct. 16. The Prieths and their editors and advertising manager are charged with violating the espionage law by printing false and misleading articles intended to interfere with the military success of the United States.

MAYOR OFF STUMP FOR NEXT 3 DAYS

UNTANGLE BALLOT MIXUP

Corrigan's Name to Appear—Only Mitchel's Name Will Be Opposite Fusion Emblem.

Although Mayor Mitchel's voice gave out yesterday to such an extent that his physician ordered him to do no more campaign speaking for three or four days at least, the Mayor continued his attacks yesterday upon Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and William R. Hearst as being the "sinister influences" back of the candidacy of Judge John F. Hylan, the Tammany Mayoralty candidate. While both Murphy and Hearst are "volubly explaining," the Mayor complained that Judge Hylan continues to ignore the four questions he put to him last week regarding the Tammany candidate's connection with Hearst.

"The most significant thing to date," the Mayor said in a statement to reporters, "is Mr. Murphy's and Mr. Hearst's campaign is that both gentlemen in disregard of their own precedents are volubly explaining. Mr. Murphy is explaining how patriotic he really is in spite of his association with Mr. Hearst and Judge Cohalan. Mr. Hearst is explaining how patriotic he really is in spite of his poisonously pro-German press and his acquaintance with Boio Pacha. Mr. Hylan explains neither Murphy nor Hearst. He doesn't dare even to answer my questions about them. He swallows both together with their unsavory records and past performances.

Says Hylan Covers Up.

"He doesn't even say whether he thinks Murphy the scoundrel Hearst thought him in 1905, or whether he thinks Hearst the friend of Germany that the Kaiser's Vossische Zeitung thought him in 1914. Mr. Hylan tries to cover up his own timorousness and his association with Murphyism and Hearstism by repeating the baseless slanders about Rockaway Park and Dreamland, which I have already conclusively disapproved from the public records. He tries to dim recollection of Murphy election tactics of the past by insinuating that I am in some way responsible for the false primary count, which I myself have exposed through legal action, taken because I would not accept a single vote not fairly cast for me.

Mr. Hylan will have to explain Murphy and his whole long, lurid record before he can explain his own candidacy. Mr. Hylan will have to explain Hearst and his German propaganda before he can satisfy the people of New York that he is the man to administer the police and the other great services of New York during the period of the war with Germany."

The Mayor's campaign headquarters announced that he would not be able to speak in public until Thursday at least. Dr. Frank S. Miller, the throat specialist, told the Mayor he would have to rest his voice or give up his campaign. The Mayor's speaking dates for the next three days will be kept by Job E. Hedges and the Mayor's running mates on the Fusion ticket.

Mr. Mitchel said last night he would not answer at this time the attack made upon him by Charles L. Craig, Tammany candidate for Controller, in connection with the joint report of the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission regarding the new plan for the west side improvement.

The mix-up over the printing of the war ballots for the soldiers, which threatened to bring about legal complications, was straightened out yesterday to the satisfaction of all concerned. It was explained at the Board of Elections that the reason the City Democracy did not have representation on the ballots was because not enough signatures to petitions had been filed with the board, and that the same reason prevailed in regard to the printing of the names of the candidates on the Fusion ticket below that of Mayor. Regarding the omission of the name of Joseph E. Corrigan, independent candidate for District Attorney, it was explained that the error was due to a clerk in the Board of Elections, and that it had been agreed to have new ballots printed containing Mr. Corrigan's name. The incomplete ballots already sent abroad will be recalled and corrected ones substituted. Edward F. Boyle, President of the Board of Elections, made this explanation:

Petitions Lacked Signatures.

"Reports that the names of certain candidates for independent nominations on the Fusion Party ticket and the City Party ticket were omitted from the war ballot are without foundation.

FIRST DAY LIGHT IN REGISTRATION

LIST 38,162 IN MANHATTAN

First Day Gave 75,735 in 1913 and 51,266 in 1916 for This Borough.

Extremely light registration marked the first day this year. In all the boroughs the registration last night fell far below the first day's figures for 1913, the last Mayoralty year, and 1916, which was a Presidential year. Political leaders could give no explanation for the poor showing, but it was predicted that the registration would be heavier as the week elapsed. Both parties made extraordinary efforts to get out a large registration, each district being organized by both Republicans and Democrats and, separately, by the Fusion forces, owing to the result of the Republican primaries.

In Manhattan the registration yesterday was only 38,162, as compared with 75,735 in 1913 and 51,266 last year. The Bronx gave a total yesterday of but 13,448, as compared to 22,895 in 1913, and 15,827 last year.

In Brooklyn the situation was not improved, the total for yesterday being 37,175, as compared to 68,030 four years ago and 46,475 last year. Queens and Richmond also fell far behind the figures of both last year and the first day of 1913. Yesterday's total in all the boroughs was 99,159 less than the first day's registration in 1913 and 26,117 less than the first day's total last year.

In a few of the Manhattan Assembly districts yesterday's total approached the figures of other Mayoralty years, but in most instances they fell far behind. On the east side the registration was extremely light in the northern part of the Bronx, particularly in the Bronx Park, the Bedford Park, and the Kingsbridge sections the registration was comparatively heavy.

In nearly all of the election districts in Harlem, on the East Side, the election district captains reported lower figures than are usual for the first night. There was some falling off in registration in the west Harlem section. In the Ninth Election District of the Thirteenth Assembly District there were thirty enrollments, as against fifty for the first night of last year's registration.

Owing to the fact that the Legislature reapportioned the districts of the city this year it was impossible to make any comparisons by Assembly districts with the results of former years. Yesterday's registration by Assembly districts in all the Boroughs was as follows:

Undersea Craft Fails to Answer Recognition Signals of Night Patrol Boat.

SHOT HITS CONNING TOWER

DANIELS CABLES REGRETS

No Details Given, but Tragedy Is Supposed to Have Occurred in Mediterranean or Adriatic.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—One of those unfortunate incidents that sometimes occur through cases of mistaken identity in naval warfare was announced by the Navy Department tonight when it issued a brief bulletin to the effect that an American war vessel had fired upon an Italian submarine, killing one Italian officer and an Italian enlisted sailor.

When, where, and full details as to how it happened were not disclosed by the Navy Department, but the fact that American destroyers are known to have been sent to the Mediterranean to cooperate with the Italian and other Entente vessels engaged in the quest for the German submarine, and the understanding that Italian submarines have not been operating outside the Mediterranean, inspired the belief here that the incident took place somewhere in that sea, or perhaps in the Adriatic.

The fact that an officer and an enlisted man were killed indicates that the American gunners landed a shot in the submarine's conning tower, the victims being the officer at the periscope and the bluejacket at the wheel.

Secretary Daniels has sent to the Italian Minister of Marine a telegram expressing the sincerest regret that the submarine, belonging to the navy of a nation with which this Government is on terms of closest friendship, should have been the victim of such a case of mistaken identity. The explained cause of the affair is that the submarine failed to answer the established recognition signals, and was therefore mistaken for a German submarine until its identity was establishde.

It is not believed that the incident, which was wholly a mistake, due to the vigilance of the American U-boat chaser and the failure of the submarine to answer, will in any way impair the friendliest of relations that have been established between this country and the Italian Government ever since the visit of the Prince of Udine and the Italian war mission to this country.

The Navy Department has been informed by Vice Admiral Sims that recently an American patrol vessel, while on patrol duty at night, encountered an Italian submarine, and that when the latter failed to answer the established recognition signals, the patrol vessel opened fire, which resulted in the killing of one officer and one enlisted man before the identity of the submarine was established.

Vice Admiral Sims is thoroughly investigating the unfortunate occurrence, and reports will be forwarded later to the department.

"I have learned with deepest regret of the unfortunate occurrence which resulted in an American patrol vessel firing, through a misunderstanding, upon an Italian submarine, causing the death of one officer and one enlisted man on the latter. As our patrol vessels are in European waters primarily for the purpose of co-operating with the Italian and other allied vessels in our common cause, the unfortunate encounter is all the more regrettable. Due to the recent unusual activity of submarines in this region, which has resulted in the loss of several vessels, the patrol has been strictly maintained, and the unfortunate fact that the patrol vessel did not obtain the recognition signals resulted in her opening fire. Please accept on behalf of myself and the American Navy sincere and heartfelt sympathy for the loss of life which has resulted.

"JOSEPHUS DANIELS."

Incidents of this sort, while not of frequent occurrence, happen in all big wars, and considering the remarkable character of warfare that has to be waged against the submarine, and the fact that German and Austrian submarines are understood to have flown false colors at times, it is considered remarkable that the Entente nations have not lost more of their submarines through their identity being mistaken by Entente destroyers.

NEW GERMAN CRUISER STRIKES A MINE

3 Officers and 27 Men Lost as Result of Accident on Trial Run—Vessel Towed to Port.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Arrivals at Amsterdam from Hamburg, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, report that early last week a new German battle cruiser, while on a trial run off Heligoland, struck a mine and was seriously damaged.

Three officers and twenty-seven men were drowned. The vessel was towed to port.

Since the war began Germany is known to have laid down two battle cruisers, both completed, in 1916 or early in 1917. One is the Hindenburg, and the other the Ersatz-Viktoria Luise, or Viktoria Luise II. The first was built at Wilhelmshaven and the second at Danzig.

They are sister ships, and photographs show them to be similar in appearance to the Derfflinger, 28,000 tons, believed by the British Admiralty to have been lost in the battle off Jutland, May 31, 1916.

The two new battle cruisers were designed for a displacement of 27,000; water line length, 698 feet; beam, 95¾ feet; mean draught, 27 feet, and to have a complement of officers and men of 1,100.

Each armament was to be eight 12-inch, twelve 5.9-inch, twelve 3.4-inch; anti-aircraft guns, and four or five submerged torpedo tubes.

Reports Big Increase in German Strikes

GENEVA, Oct. 8.—The Swiss Labor Journal, Mettalurgiste, gives official statistics showing that 68,137 munitions workers from 109 factories in Germany went out on strike during the first three months of the present year, as compared with about 3,000 men from twenty-three factories during the same period in 1916.

The reasons for the strikes were bad and insufficient food and the higher cost of living.

AMERICA MAY USE NEUTRAL TONNAGE

Expected to Take Over Ships Either Under Agreement or by Commandeering.

SIXTY IN NEW YORK HARBOR

Dutch Steamer Nieuw Amsterdam Held in Absence of a Pledge to Return.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Exports Administrative Board, it was said today, had decided not to grant a license for the release of the Dutch ship Nieuw Amsterdam, now in an Atlantic port loaded with foods for the Committee for the Relief of Belgium, as no assurances had been given that the vessel would return to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Negotiations have been going on for several days, but the Administrative Board has remained firm in the position taken, and it is reported on excellent authority that the same policy will apply to all of the neutral ships, aggregating more than 400,000 tons, which are now tied up in American ports.

This means that the neutral tonnage, even though it is not bound for neutral countries contiguous to Germany, must meet the conditions of the Government that it will not seek to "disappear" if licenses are to be issued.

The position taken is believed here to indicate that the United States is determined to obtain use of the neutral tonnage either by voluntary agreement or, as a last resource, by the powers of commandeer.

In local shipping circles it was said yesterday that if America's allies were badly in need of supplies through lack of tonnage the United States Government probably would sequester Dutch steamships in American ports for the period of the war and afterward pay for them whatever sum a court awarded.

There are about sixty ships in New York Harbor under the Netherlands flag, all of which have large cargoes of grain, flour, and other foodstuffs in their holds. The Dutch steamship companies in Holland do not wish to charter the vessels to the United States Government because they say the tonnage is needed to take foodstuffs to Holland.

Steamships would be taken from the coastwise trade on Oct. 15, it was said here, and transferred to the Atlantic trade between the United States and England and France as they were required. The freighters will be utilized first, and the passenger boats will be allowed to remain on this side as long as possible.

The coastwise freight service to New Orleans, Savannah, Galveston, Mobile, Charleston, Tampa and other ports will be maintained, according to local marine men, by Norwegian, Swedish, Danish and other neutral vessels which will be chartered by the Government.

Shipping men in New York said yesterday that the reduction from 6½ to 5 per cent. in the marine insurance rates, which was announced in Washington on Saturday, would make little difference to American owners, because the Government was going to take over all the American coastwise ships. Under the new conditions the Government would follow the example of the International Mercantile Marine Company, it was said, and do the greater part of the insuring on the ships by placing the money in a reserve fund that would otherwise be paid over to insurance companies in premiums.

INTERNED U-BOAT ESCAPES FROM SPAIN

MADRID, Oct. 8.—A German submarine interned at Cadiz has escaped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Spanish Government has taken drastic action to discipline the officials responsible for the safe internment of the German submarine which escaped from Cadiz. On the basis of official dispatches from Madrid the Spanish Ambassador here, Juan Riano, made this announcement:

"In spite of all the precautions taken by the Spanish naval authorities, including the removal of pieces which were supposed indispensable for navigation, the German submarine U C 293, interned at Cadiz, escaped yesterday afternoon, leaving its guns, torpedoes, and munitions on land, where they had been deposited.

"The Spanish Government has opened a court-martial and has also decreed the destitution of the commander in chief and the first adjutant of the arsenal and of the technical commission which examined the submarine, and the release of the general command of the Naval Department of Cadiz, apart from other disposition which it may consider fit to adopt later on."

Several German submarines have sought refuge in Spanish ports during the war, and one of them, which put in at Cadiz, was escorted out of the port later by Spanish torpedo boats. To prevent further incidents of this nature King Alfonso, on June 30 last, signed a decree forbidding submarines of belligerent powers to navigate Spanish waters or enter Spanish ports. It was declared that all such submarines which entered the Spanish zone would be interned.

PARTY COUNCILS DEFER REICHSTAG DEBATE ON PEACE

Situation Caused by Saturday's Discordant Session Is Discussed at Conferences.

ACTION IS EXPECTED TODAY

AMERICA CALLED INVINCIBLE

Gathien Tells Progressives That Indemnity Cannot Be Forced from This Country.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 8.—Owing to the various parties having convoked meetings for this morning to consider the situation arising from Saturday's sitting of the Reichstag, says a Berlin dispatch, the debate, which was planned for today, has been postponed until Tuesday. The chief subject of discussion will be war aims.

According to this dispatch, the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Michaelis, has gone to headquarters.

German newspapers which support the Reichstag majority severely censure Dr. Helfferich, the Vice Chancellor, for his incapacity to respond to the feelings of the Reichstag on Saturday and expect decisive happenings. They are of the opinion that the future of the Government may depend on the debate, in view of the motion of the Independent Socialists that "the Reichstag is of the opinion that the reply of the Government to the interpellation did not meet the intentions of the Reichstag."

Vorwärts asserts that if the motion is adopted Chancellor Michaelis and his colleagues must resign or the Reichstag must force them to do so.

Other newspapers demand a clear statement from the Government on the peace resolution of the Reichstag majority.

George Gothien, Progressive member of the Reichstag, is quoted in a Berlin dispatch as having said at a meeting of the Central Committee of his party that, although the military situation was satisfactory, there was no hope of crushing Germany's enemies on land.

As for the submarine campaign, 7,000,000 tons of shipping had been sunk, he asserted, but no disposition toward peace on the part of England was discernible. A rationing system for foodstuffs had not been even introduced, and no one was able to say when the U-boat would make England more inclined for peace.

"America cannot be forced to make peace," Herr Gothien continued. "We cannot force America to pay a war indemnity. There remains only England. But should we, in order to obtain an indemnity of 10,000,000,000 marks, sacrifice 50,000,000,000 marks and another half million men?"

Germany's allies, Herr Gothien continued, were not inclined to continue the war for Pan German plans of conquest, but were striving for peace by understanding and conciliation, while the Pan German clamor for annexations was finding a bad reception among them. He asserted that the long working hours and insufficient feeding at home increased the desire for peace among the workers, and that strikes might be expected if the war should be continued for aims of conquest.

GIVES GERMAN SCHEME TO DIVIDE THE WORLD

Cologne Gazette Suggests Alliance with Russia and Japan After Crushing Britain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—As viewed through the spectacles of the Cologne Gazette, Germany has the choice of being a full partner in the future "syndicate for the division of the world" or of being an outsider. This syndicate is pictured by the Gazette as a political combination of Germany, Russia, and Japan, but it suggests that before Germany can become a "full partner" in such a "syndicate," the British Empire must be defeated in the war.

"If the Russian chooses the Englishman as his friend," asserts the Gazette, according to advices reaching Washington, "the world power of Germany is relegated to a misty distance. It is indeed doubtful whether, in that event, our object can ever be achieved. Moreover, in addition to this loss, we shall have for a long time to come to reckon with continental struggles which will cost blood, money and strength, and the result of which—with Germany standing at the side of Austria-Hungary against Russia, France, and England—cannot be calculated.

"If there is a way to effect from without, in favor of the rising world powers, the comparatively rapid dissolution of the British Empire, it is only by means of a German-Russian-Japanese world coalition." Of course, such a coalition is at bottom another syndicate for the division of the world.

"The utmost German devotion to peace would not dispose of the aggressive imperialism of the others, but would merely permit Germany's development to decay. We have the choice between being full partners in the future syndicate for division of the world or being despised outsiders.

"If we succeed, by means of Russian and Japanese advances, with German and German-Turkish protection of their flanks, in destroying the English positions in the Middle and Far East, the ultimate reconciliation of Russian and North American Imperialism will be facilitated, because North America will then be unable to co-operate with Great Britain in the Pacific Ocean.

"Perhaps in the later future—to mention only one of the numerous possibilities—the North American-Far Eastern line of separation will run straight across the Australian continent, which, as is widely known, is eagerly coveted by the Japanese.

"If we are able to overthrow the British, and thus to render Russia and Japan decisive service in Asia against England, we ought to be able to obtain permanent recognition of our Turkish and Near Eastern policy and to make the Western edge of the Persian mountains the frontier between the quadruple alliance's sphere of interest and Russia's sphere of interest."

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 8.—The Reichstag has decided to hold up the salary appropriation for Dr. Karl Helfferich's new post of Vice Chancellor, and to return the measure to committee.

In addition to this expression of dissatisfaction over Saturday's debate, the Vorwärts says there is a steadily growing disposition by the majority parties in the Reichstag to accept a vote of lack of confidence as proposed by the radical Socialists on Saturday.

ATTEPMT TO FORCE REICHSTAG REVOLT

Move for Parilamentarization Is Begun Without Waiting for Change of Laws.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sunday, Oct. 7, (via London, Oct. 8.)—The Reichstag debate yesterday on Government aid to the propaganda for the Fatherland Party, which lasted from 11 o'clock in the morning until evening, had the unexpected effect of opening the eyes of many of the members and most Berlin newspapers to the fact that the Parliamentarization of the German Government is not a question of altering the constitution and making new laws, but that the beginning of the process are with us even today. This conception is most clearly expressed in Vorwärts, which concludes its leading article thus:

"To make things still worse, the independent Socialists, when the debate reached its climax, made a motion that the Reichstag declare that the Government's answer to the interpellation was not satisfactory to the Reichstag. Indeed, it is not satisfactory. But what are the consequences of this motion if accepted? There will be nothing left for Michaelis and his friends to do but to pack their trunks.

"Herr Michaelis, of course, had not expected a great political debate. He remained away. Yesterday night came on and the House adjourned. Today is Sunday, which must not be desecrated by a continuation of this debate, but the Reichstag will continue it. How will it be done? Where will it lead?"

The Vossische Zeitung thinks that a decision can no longer be avoided, saying: "It is impossible for the majority parties to pass a vote of confidence in Helfferich, because he does not possess it."

The National-Zeitung does not believe there was be an actual note of censure, but it, too, shares the indignation of the majority party organs over the insufficiency of the Government's reply.

The Tageblatt wants to know what Helfferich considers sufficient importance for a debate to compel the presence of the Chancellor, if the subject in question does not do so.

The Centrist organ, Germania, says it was the Government's duty to deplore the abuses and promise their extermination.

"War Minister Stein and Dr. Helfferich," adds Germania, "actually took this course, but unfortunately they did not stick to it, but assumed an aggressive attitude toward the authors of the interpellation. Stein proved that an excellent soldier need not necessarily be an excellent parttician."

The conservative Kreuz-Zeitung concludes its comment thus:

"Unless all signs deceive us, the Social Democrats' attempt to incite the Government against the Fatherland Party will have quite the contrary effect. The only echo which the Reichstag debate will have among the people will be to cause numerous applications for membership in the party. The party, however, will have to recognize the necessity of letting the dispute over domestic reforms rest until the enemy is defeated as a proper base for a durable German peace."

VIENNESE CALL FOR PEACE.

Europe War Exhausted, Speaker Tells Christian Socialists.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 8.—A dispatch received here from Vienna describes an imposing peace demonstration which was held by the Christian Socialist Party in the Town Hall Sunday. Thousands of persons were present.

Prince Alois Lichtenstein, President of the lower Austrian Diet, opened the proceedings by announcing that the meeting had been convened out of gratitude to the Pope and the Emperor to demand peace by agreement and general disarmament and arbitration as outlined in the recent speech of Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister.

"We offer our hand for an honest peace," said Prince Lichtenstein, "but if it is rejected we shall seize the sword, which, as hitherto, with God's help will decide in our favor."

Councilor Kunschok followed with an eloquent speech in the same tenor and was frequently applauded.

"We are assembled," said the Councilor, "to declare how warm and glowing are our longings for peace. But the leading men in enemy States must be warned against drawing false conclusions from this admission. We want peace, but not at any price. We demand peace in the name of Europe, which is sinking to extinction while her competitors are waxing fat."

Expressing suspicion of President Wilson's demand for a democratized Europe, because, he said, America herself was far from real democracy, Councilor Kunschok concluded his address amid a tremendous ovation by praying for blessings on the peace exertions of Pope Benedict and Emperor Charles.

HAIG THROWS BACK A GERMAN ATTACK

BATTLEFIELD A QUAGMIRE

Rains Make Offensive Operations Almost Impossible, but Can't Damp Tommies' Spirits.

By The Associated Press.

BRITISH FRONT IN [illegible]E AN' BELGIUM, Oct. 8.—A counterattack by the Germans in force east of Polygon Wood, in the region of Reutel, last evening was quickly beaten off by artillery and machine-gun fire. The front involved was over a width of about 500 yards. The attack was preceded by a heavy artillery barrage, which was put down not only in this section but along the greater portion of the new battle line.

The artillery was active on both sides today, but the continuous rain prevented infantry engagements.

It rained hard yesterday, giving an unforgettable demonstration of the nature of the difficulties which the British troops have encountered in many of their recent operations. Within a few hours the entire country had been turned into a mass of deep, clinging mud, through which one made his way with the greatest effort. A stream known as Honnebeke, which is one of the many little waterways that cover not only this section but most of the battle zone, was surrounded by a veritable morass. It would be impossible to cross it at many places.

Shell Holes Are Death Traps.

Shell holes had rapidly filled with water, and ponds were to be seen in which a score of men might easily drown if they were unfortunate enough to fall down the slippery sides. Often a small pool of water covered a considerable shell hole.

A wounded man was being brought back from Broodseinde Ridge. It took four sturdy stretcher bearers to carry him, and they were floundering miserably at every step. It must have taken them several hours to negotiate their journey.

It seemed inconceivable that men could work, much less fight, over such filthy ground. Yet the British soldiers and officers were carrying on steadily yesterday their operations. And in recent days they have often fought over just such territory as this.

Yesterday's rain has turned the battlefront into a quagmire, which it will take many days to dry out. This does not mean that military operations could not be undertaken on either side, but there could scarcely be more trying conditions for fighting. The soldiers encountered by the correspondent were cheerful, despite the fact that they were drenched to the skin with the biting cold rain. At one place a number of men were sitting in the shelter of a muddy bank for a resting spell. They were wet, and by all rights should have been unhappy, but they were singing lustily away at some popular song.

Other bodies of men of similar disposition were seen. All seemed immensely amused at the muddy condition of the correspondent and the two officers with him. Often the soldiers looked up with cheerful grins that said plainly: "How do you like it? Now you know what we chaps have to go through out here."

Devastation East of Ypres.

Nowhere on the western front has the war printed more cruel marks of devastation than in the wide zone east of Ypres, where such fierce and sanguinary fighting has been proceeding at intervals since the British launched their initial attack.

This whole region, much of which in peace times was prosperous farming country, has been turned by the artillery fire into a desolate waste of vast and deep shell craters, which are so close together that in innumerable cases they interlock. Farmhouses have been pulverized and ploughed under in the ruthless sweep of the shells, and village sites are marked by little portions of walls where churches or other big buildings once stood.

Cottages are buried beneath heaps of turned-up earth, and there is scarcely a vestige of grass or other green thing to be seen in miles of tramping. Trees have been smashed into matchwood, and their roots turned up in grotesque shapes to add to the sinister aspect of the country. Here and there, where little forests stood, the hardier trees have clung to their birthright, but their branches have been shorn from their trunks.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Germans made an attack last evening on British positions east of Ypres, between Broodseinde and Hollebeke. The War Office reports that the enemy was repulsed.

The text of the afternoon statement follows:

An infantry attack developed against our positions east of Polygon Wood after the enemy had put down a heavy barrage yesterday at dusk on our front between Hollebeke and Broodseinde. The attack was beaten off by our fire, a few prisoners remaining in our hands.

We successfully raided the enemy's line east of Monohy last night.

Although stormy weather still continues, the artillery was active today, says tonight's report from British Headquarters, which follows:

Stormy weather continued throughout the day, heavy rain having fallen. Both artilleries were active during the day on the Ypres battle-front. There was nothing of interest on the remainder of the British front.

There was a short spell of fair weather on Sunday before the heavy rain which fell almost all day. While this lasted considerable work was done by our artillery machines, and our bombing machines dropped over two and a half tons of explosives on the Staden and Courtrai railway stations and on other targets. The enemy showed marked activity in the vicinity of our newly won territory and attacked our bombing machines ambitiously. Two hostile machines were brought down, and three were driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing.

Berlin Reports British Checked.

BERLIN, Oct. 8, (via London, British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—The War Office reports that British attacks delivered yesterday on the Ypres front were ineffective. The official statement follows:

Army of Crown Prince Rupprecht: The fighting activity in Flanders revived considerably yesterday from midday until evening, between the Houthulst Wood and the Menin-Ypres road. A strong drumfire preceded local English attacks, which developed against some sectors of the fighting front. Storming troops brought up by the enemy did not advance anywhere. They were held down in the crater field by our defensive fire.

ARTILLERY DUEL ON AISNE.

French Repulse Night Attacks Near Craonne and in Champagne.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—French positions on the Aisne and Champagne fronts were attacked last night by the Germans without success, the War Office announces. The artillery duel in Belgium continues. The statement follows:

The artillery fighting was continued in a spirited manner in Belgium and on the Aisne front. The enemy made several attacks against our small posts in the region of Bovettes and Craonne, and also in Champagne, in the sectors of Main-de-Massiges and Mont Haut. All these attempts were repulsed, and we took prisoners. Elsewhere the night was calm.

The official communication issued tonight says:

There were artillery actions at various points along the front, particularly in Belgium and in the region of Hurtebise and Craonne.

BERLIN, Oct. 8, (via London, British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.)—The artillery duel on the Aisne front increased in violence yesterday, according to the report from Army Headquarters, which says:

Army of the German Crown Prince. —On both sides of the Laon-Soissons road the artillery battle waged was of greater violence in the Ailette region to the plateau south of Pargny. In the evening several French companies advanced near Vauxaillon, but were repulsed by our fire.

East of the Meuse there was a strong fire on our positions, and to the rear, between Samogneux and Béonvaux. The effect of our artillery fire frustrated an attack by the French which was being prepared southwest of Beaumont.

KERENSKY AGAIN HAS HIS OWN WAY

TO COMPLETE HIS CABINET

Preliminary Parliament to be Convoked Officially and Organized by the Government.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 8.—After a conference of three hours of members of the Government, including Premier Kerensky, with a delegation representing the Democratic Congress, and with representatives of the bourgeois yesterday, a complete agreement was reached on all questions. The Premier declared that the Government purposed immediately to form a complete Cabinet, so that the reconstituted coalition Government might be able to go to work at once on the basis laid down.

In view of the Government's objections, the representatives of the Democratic Congress withdrew their request that one of their delegates participate in the forthcoming interallied conference in Paris.

M. Tseretelli, at a secret session of the Preliminary Parliament, an outgrowth of the Democratic Congress, yesterday outlined the negotiations with the Government, which, he said, led to a speedy agreement on all points except the responsibility of the Government to the Preliminary Parliament. The question was settled, he added, by an agreement that the Parliament should be convoked officially and organized by the Government. The Parliament would include 120 representatives of non-democratic elements, who would have the right to interpellate the Government, which must reply formally and juridically. The Government would not be responsible to Parliament, but no Cabinet could continue in existence without the confidence of Parliament.

The Parliament indorsed the formula covering the question of the responsibility of the Government to the Parliament by 109 to 84, 22 members abstaining from voting.

An official statement issued today fixes at 730 the number of electoral districts from which are to be elected members of the Constituent Assembly which is to determine the country's future form of Government. Petrograd will have twenty members, Moscow nineteen, the Caucasus thirty-six, Kieve twenty-two, and the Valley of the Don seventeen.

The general railway strike order, which promises a complete tieup of traffic, except sanitary and military trains, became effective Saturday midnight. All passenger trains scheduled to leave Petrograd yesterday, except for the front, were abandoned. The strike was carried into effect in spite of the warning given by M. Nikitin, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, that strikers would have to answer charges of treason, and calling upon the telegraph operators to refuse to transmit the strike order.

The railway strike which went into effect at midnight Sunday and which is intended at the present time to affect through services has only been partially effective, according to information received from the Ministry of Traffic today. Local trains continue running, and the Finnish Railway also is operating. No trains have left for Moscow or beyond from Petrograd.

Premier Kerensky has received word from the Simferopol Railway Union protesting its unwillingness to observe the strike order, declaring it is unpatriotic. A similar attitude has been taken by the Vladivostok Railway employes.

The strike plan contemplates the stopping of all local services tomorrow and all traffic, freight and passenger, on Wednesday unless the demands of the men for an increase in wages are granted.

Delegates of the workmen at all the oil wells in Baku have proclaimed a general strike for Wednesday. This action is taken because the employers have refused the demand of the men that they shall not discharge workmen without the consent of the trades unions.

BALKAN ARMY READY SOON.

1,250,000 Allied Troops to Make Drive in Macedonia, It Is Said.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A glimpse into the Balkan military situation, as revealed by an authoritative semi-official source, indicates that within the net two months, or certainly by the firts of the new year, there will be anternational Entente army of 1,250,000 men ready for the Balkan campaign. This would include the Serbian and Greek forces. Summarizing the Saloniki military situation, this authority said:

"There are 500,000 allied troops at Saloniki. In about two months' time Greece will have 800,000 troops, fully equipped and ready for action. The country is now thoroughly united under the leadership of Premier Venizelos. The Greek army is focused with but one idea, one dream—to re-establish their old bonds of friendship with the Serbians and to take revenge on the Bulgars.

"Telegrams were exchanged between the Serbian Premier, B. Pachitch and M. Venizelos to the same effect, in which they pledged themselves to re-establish the old bond of friendship and to unite in their fight against Bulgaria.

"The troops in Greece are in excellent condition. Plenty of supplies are being received from France and England. The plan of campaign will be to divide the army into two portions, one to go through Serbia, the other to concentrate at Lagos Bay, in Chalcidice, and by way of Gumurjina make for Bulgaria and Constantinople.

"Besides the Allied and Greek forces, there are about 150,000 Serbians. This makes a complete force of 1,250,000 men."

SWEDISH COALITION FAILS.

Parties' Answer to the King Show Failure to Agree.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 8.—The representatives of the Conservatives, Liberals, and Socialists today returned answers to the appeal of the King to form a coalition Government. This answer shows that the attempt has failed. In their reply the Conservatives say that the uncompromising basis for any such Government must be for Sweden to adhere to her constantly proclaimed independent and impartial neutrality and to the maintenance of her commercial connections with both belligerents. They are content to leave constitutional reform to the consideration of a commission of parliamentarians.

The Socialists regard as self-evident the condition that the new Government should carefully and loyally maintain absolute and impartial neutrality, such as has been proclaimed several times during the war from the Swedish side. The next claim on the new Government must be that it should immediately try to realize the claim of the people for constitutional reform. When the Conservatives refused to accept this claim the Socialists declined to participate in the Coalition Government.

After receiving these answers, the King summoned the Speakers of the First and Second Chambers. They will arrive in Stockholm tomorrow.

LAUDS BRITISH GUNNERS.

Duke d'Aosta Also Decorates Them for Their Work in Italy.

By PERCEVAL GIBBON.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY, Oct. 6.—A day or two ago the Duke d'Aosta, in presenting decorations to men and officers of the British batteries, spoke his own and the official Italian mind regarding the share the British have borne in the two great and victorious offensives on this front. As commander of the Third Army, what the Duke says has special value.

He mentioned not alone sheer gunnery, but spoke with unrestrained generosity regarding the manner in which the big artillery men made themselves at home among their Italian allies, earning friendship on all hands. Nothing was ever more wonderful than the manner in which everybody is the friend of Thomas Atkins. Thomas has hooked on to local conditions in shorts like bathing drawers and a Colonial looking felt hat. He pervades the villages along his front like a stimulant atmosphere.

The infectious quality of his speech and manner was brought home to me when recently I narrowly escaped a collision between my car and the usual one-donkey-power country cart. The old peasant lady inhabiting the latter invoked the saints and finished with, "An' what abart it!"

They have had their share of casualties, but these are not severe. The guns have fired during the six months since they began arriving nearly half a million 100-pound shells.

LOAN TOTAL GROWS TO 250 MILLION

has been $100. The registered bond does not carry the same negotiability as the coupon bond, since the registration of ownership must be canceled by transfer.

Nelson Dean Jay, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company and member of the Liberty Loan Distribution Committee, issued a statement yesterday calling on the business community to exert greater efforts in the flotation of America's Second War Loan.

Banker Urges More Speed.

"If we are to make the loan the absolutely essential success it must be," he said, "we must speed up our efforts from now on. There is no such thing as 'well enough' unless we attain the mark set for us, or more. The subscription mark for this district was placed at a minimum of $1,500,000,000, to be raised within the period of four weeks before the subscription closes, yet at the end of the first week we find that the subscriptions aggregate but approximately $250,000,000.

"Our motto must be 'Work.' The pressing necessity for immediate and energetic action on the part of the entire business community is clearly shown by these figures. The time is now here when every man, of large means or small, must ask himself whether he is doing his part. Those who have means and credit must use not only their current funds, but borrow for future payment to the limit of their capacity to subscribe. For others partial payment plans are available and may be employed by every money earner and money saver.

"In order to place the opportunity to subscribe within the reach of every one, several thousand canvassers are now covering the city. They will give information to all in regard to the plans of payment, will receive applications and direct the subscriber to the nearest available bank for the completion of the transaction. This should greatly facilitate the work of subscription and stimulate action."

After advising against using savings bank funds or selling securities to buy Liberty Loan bonds, Mr. Jay said:

"This is not the time to give consideration to differences of opinion in regard to Governmental policies or tax measures. Whatever be our thought about these matters, our individual and national duty is clearly the successful flotation of the present loan and every other thought or need must be held in abeyance until that is accomplished."

W. V. King Pleads for Thrift.

Willard V. King, President of the Columbia Trust Company, declared yesterday that the purchaser of bonds of the Second Liberty Loan would derive much comfort from his investment; first, because of the feeling that he had supported the Government, and second, because of the material benefits accruing from the interest paid every six months on the bonds.

"Thrift," said Mr. King, "is a virtue more honored in the breach than in the observance in this country, and the preacher of thrift is likely to talk to unwilling ears. For so many years Americans have been conscious of their extravagance, and even somewhat proud of it, that they have a feeling that it would be unworthy of them to skimp. So far has this gone that the newly arrived immigrant quickly gets the notion, and it is a matter of common observation that in the homes of the well-to-do the greatest extravagance is shown, not by the head of the house, who could afford it, but by the servants. We are in a fair way to learn many useful things in the course of this war. It is obvious that the close association of men from all stations of life and all parts of the country in the new army will make for a national spirit and a genuine democracy such as we have never before known. That these will not be acquired without hardship is just as evident."

Permission was obtained yesterday from Major Gen. Bell, stationed at Yaphank, L. I., for one hundred draft soldiers to come to this city tomorrow and sell Liberty Loan bonds under the direction of the Advisory Trades Committee. The men will be granted four days' leave, with pay, and they will devote their efforts to canvassing the cloak and suit trade.

Cardinal Gibbons Favors Loan.

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore has written the following to P. L. Goldsborough in response to an invitation to be present at a Liberty Loan meeting arranged by the Baltimore committee:

"I regret that it is not possible for me to be with you this evening, but I wish to assure you that the campaign now instituted for raising Maryland's share of the new Liberty Loan is of the deepest concern to me and will have my hearty co-operation. We must oversubscribe the amount that is expected of us."

In an appeal issued yesterday, calling upon all officers and employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad to aid the Government in winning the war, by subscribing to the second Liberty Loan, President Samuel Rea says:

"Our country is in the midst of a worldwide war, and the Government must have every support to carry it on. Subscriptions to the first 3½ per cent. Liberty Loan were very gratifying. Let us not fall behind in this new 4 per cent. loan. No safer investment can be made."

Every effort will be made to break the record set in the first Liberty Loan campaign, when 53,100 individual employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Lines East of Pittsburgh and Erie subscribed to a total of $3,440,000 worth of bonds. A plan of organization for the vigorous conduct of the campaign will be perfected today at a meeting to be held at 11 o'clock in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association Building, 1,421 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

Representatives of 130 Bohemian and Slovak associations perfected a Liberty Loan Sales Committee yesterday at a meeting in Bohemian National Hall, 321 East Seventy-third Street, and started the work going with pledges of $1,500,000 toward the loan. This sum will be advanced from the funds of the various organizations. In the first Liberty Loan campaign the associations subscribed $1,000,000, and this record is expected to be surpassed for the second loan.

In adherence to its motto, "Aggressive and Efficient Prosecution of the War," which it is carrying into every nook and corner of the Union by a great campaign of "Patriotism Through Education," the National Security League today sent a letter to the chairmen and secretaries of its 280 branches scattered throughout the country urging them to definite action in support of the second Liberty Loan.

WOMEN OPEN "BANK" FOR LOAN SUBSCRIBERS

Mayor Mitchel raised yesterday noon the flag which was the signal for the opening of the "Women's Liberty Loan Bank," which will be a feature of Madison Square and take in subscriptions until the Liberty Loan is completed. The Mayor was scheduled to make the opening address, but asked to be excused because of a hoarseness. The building is a miniature in wood, painted white, of the Sub-Treasury building in Wall Street and has been put up by the National League for Woman's Service in co-operation with the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee.

The idea of reproducing the Wall Street building came from Mrs. Charlotte Barnes, Chairman of the committee, and the league volunteered to finance the undertaking and carry it on. The building cost $700, and the workmen, beginning last Friday morning, completed the work Sunday night. It has four white wooden pillars in front and a flight of steps leads up to the single room inside, decorated with Liberty Loan posters, and having for furniture a couple of tables and a few chairs. The words "Liberty Bank," in gold letters, are across the front.

There will be women bankers to take subscriptions, and office hours will be from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. The "bank" was scheduled to open at noon yesterday, but at 11:30 Miss Louise Murray of 86 Gramercy Park came in to make the first purchase, and the "receiving teller" gladly took her $1,000 for a bond. Miss Matilda Chapman Allen was the second purchaser, and bought a fifty-dollar bond, and Mayor Mitchel sold Miss Maude Wetmore a two-hundred-dollar bond, all before the bank was officially open.

Miss Wetmore, representing the league, presided over the opening exercises and formally turned over the efforts of the league as they are represented in the building and the work to be done there to Mrs. Barnes.

Joseph Hartigan, representing the Second Federal Reserve District of the Liberty Loan Committee, made a speech before the Mayor's arrival, and Job Hedges made the closing address and drew the first men bond buyers.

There was a large gathering of men just outside the park, and to these Mr. Hedges called, as he closed his remarks:

"Perhaps you don't know the police as well as I do. I know they will be glad to help you get through and buy bonds. Make way. Come on."

There were grins on the faces of the bluecoats as they made an opening in the crowd, but for a time no one stirred. Then two young men stepped forward and on a double quick started for the "bank." Just at the steps with a little run one took the lead and was the first man to buy a bond. He was Joseph Ostro of 1,253 Bryant Avenue. His bond was $50. Following the two a number of men went up. Mr. Hedges made a special appeal to Germans.

"I see Germans in the crowd," he said. "They should be in the first ranks at this time. President Wilson says we are not fighting the German people. If the German people on the other side are following the Kaiser unwillingly we should aid them. If not we must whip them both."

Robert Sherower, an American citizen, from Yokohama, Japan, was one of the first to accept Mr. Hedge's invitation. Mr. Sherower purchased a $100 bond from Mrs. Barnes, and asked that it be mailed to him in Japan.

The women had their own cartoonist on duty. He was a young sailor whose card read: "Haile T. Hendrix, Uncle Sam's Navy, N. Y. Address Most Any Place." Hendrix said he had left scrubbing decks for drawing cartoons and was connected with the United States Navy Publicity Bureau, 318 West Thirty-ninth Street. When he saw what the women were doing he got permission to help them and promised them all the cartoons he drew.

Just what is expected of women in the Second Liberty Loan sale and how the Women's Liberty Loan Committee will conduct its share in it to sell bonds to every woman in the Second Federal Reserve District was outlined yesterday by Mrs. John T. Pratt, Chairman of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District.

"As the records of the last loan show, women who understand about the Liberty Loan are always ready to buy bonds," Mrs. Pratt said. "Our plan divides itself into three general lines: First, to see that every woman in the district, whether she lives on Fifth Avenue, in the Bronx, or on a farm in Ulster County or northern New Jersey, knows about the Liberty Loan; what it means in reference to buying food, supplies and equipment for our army and our allies, what it means in maintaining business in good condition by adding three billion dollars to the Government's ability to purchase American manufacturers' materials and to pay for American labor during the war, and what it means as an investment and as an income producer.

"The second part of our campaign is to see that every woman who knows about bonds buys one, or as many more than one as she can afford or will be able to afford if she begins to save something out of her income every day and applies the savings to a bond.

"Our third undertaking will be to see that every woman who has bought a bond sells one to somebody else, and not necessarily to a woman, either. We want to do more than add a billion or two to the record of Liberty bond sales; we want to be able to say that the women stood shoulder to shoulder with the men in every department of their Liberty Loan activity. To do all this requires organization. We have already enlisted the services of over 400 women's societies and thousands of individual workers in all parts of this campaign. Instead of being asked to aid the work in a general way as women's organizations were in the last campaign, each club and society is specifying the particular branch in which it will help.

"In New York City and as many other cities of the district as possible the women will relieve the men of the duties of bond selling in booths at department stores, hotels, restaurants, railroad stations, and mercantile organizations. For this service hundreds of women volunteer bond sellers are being trained by instructors who are specialists in this subject. Many of the booths are already in active operation.

"Women who understand about the Liberty Loan are always ready to buy bonds, as the records of the last loan show. And every woman who has bought a bond is a good bond salesman, because women like to defend their investments to their husbands, their neighbors, and their friends. In the case of the Liberty Loan the defense is so easy that bonds are sure to be purchased on the recommendation of a previous purchaser."

COLLEGES TO WORK FOR LOAN.

Princeton Holds Stirring Meeting and Harvard Enters Drive.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8.—An enthusiastic mass meeting, preceded by a parade, in which undergraduates, members of the Government aeronautical school, and townspeople to the number of 2,000 participated, was held in Princeton tonight in the interests of the Liberty Loan. Sam White, still famed in Princeton's hall of honor as the man who brought the Tigers' football championship in 1911, is Chairman of the local committee.

Princeton subscribed $272,000 for the last loan, and attempts will be made to make the present subscription $400,000. The undergraduates of the university are expected to contribute generously. Alfred Barber, Secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, addressed the mass meeting. He was introduced by President John Grier Hibben.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Harvard students today organized a committee to conduct a Liberty Loan drive next week. Efforts will be made to have every one of the 2,800 students at the university, even the poorest one working his way through college, buy a bond. Arrangements have been made with Cambridge banks to enable subscribers to pay for the bons on the weekly instalment plan. Each student will be personally asked to subscribe and publicity will be given through streamers, posters, and advertising in the college publications.

LOAN DRIVE AT EVERY CAMP.

Spartanburg's Motto "A Million or Bust"—Will Stimulate Rivalry.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP WADSWORTH, SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 8.—A Liberty Loan campaign, by which American soldiers will do double duty—"buy and fight"—is planned by the War Department for every camp, according to an announcement issued today, which stated that Wadsworth's Liberty Loan goal had been set at $1,000,000 by Oct. 27. The drive here is scheduled to start within a few days, and at other camps just as soon as arrangements can be made with banks near them.

The plan is to appoint a staff officer at each camp to take charge of the campaign for each division. He will be empowered to direct the Adjutant of the units in camp to be regimental subscription managers, and they, in turn, will pick three men from each company or battery to see that every soldier, from Colonel to cook, is asked to "do his bit." Every midnight the Signal Corps at the camp will flash into Washington the day's total contribution, and this will be posted on a big bulletin board to be erected there.

The scheme is to extend the movement to our camps abroad and to permit the troops in the Philippines and elsewhere to participate. In order to stimulate the spirit of rivalry which the drive is bound to create, each camp, at home or overseas, will be promptly notified of the daily progress of its rivals.

Major Edward Olmsted, Assistant Chief of Staff, has been placed in charge of the bond drive here, and this evening he completed his staff of assistants. Following the receipt and distribution of 30,000 application blanks, work was at once started on a thirty-foot thermometer, which will record the upward movement of the drive by five thousands. The huge thermometer will be placed in division headquarters. Across its top in letters two feet high will run the slogan, "A Million or Bust."

BOSTON'S TOTAL $29,300,000.

Waterbury, Conn., Heads Honor List in New England District.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 8.—Waterbury, Conn., headed the honor list of New England cities and towns today when the Liberty Loan Committee tabulated reports of bond subscriptions for Saturday. The Connecticut city's total was $801,000, greater even than the figure for Boston, which came second with $440,000. Lowell came third with subscriptions reported for the day amounting to $167,000. The total for this district for the first week was $29,300,000. Waterbury's big day brought its total for the week up to $932,000, almost equal to that of New Haven, which had $983,000, while Hartford led the State with $1,807,000.

Lowell took second place among Massachusetts cities with a week's total of $610,000. Boston, in first place, having $12,500,000. Other totals for the week were: Springfield, $415,000; Worcester, $253,000; Burlington, Vt., $238,000, and Rutland, Vt., $225,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Today's official statement of Liberty Loan subscriptions, which carries the campaign up to noon of last Saturday, shows 13,612 subscriptions for a total of $19,864,340 in the Seventh Federal Reserve Bank district.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 8.—Two big subscriptions to the Liberty Loan were made here today. The Merchants' National Bank subscribed $1,000,000 and the National State and City Bank $750,000. Two other $1,000,000 subscriptions were made last week.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 30.—Governor Arthur Yager has appointed a committee of representatives of all of the banks of the island to work out plans for the sale of bonds of the second Liberty Loan. Herman L. Cochran, cashier of the American Colonial Bank, is Chairman of the committee. For the first Liberty Loan more than $1,000,000 was subscribed in Porto Rico.

SPEAKER CLARK TO TOUR.

Will Start West Friday in Interest of Liberty Loan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Speaker Clark today joined the ranks of the speakers for the Liberty Loan. In response to a telegram from Secretary McAdoo, now touring the West, the Speaker announced that he would make a series of speeches in Missouri, Oklahoma, and possibly other States. He will leave for the West Friday.

Secretary McAdoo's itinerary from Portland, Ore., to Dallas, Texas, was announced tonight as follows: Oct. 19, Portland, Ore.; Oct. 11, San Francisco; Oct. 13 to 15 included, San Diego; Oct. 16, Los Angeles; Oct. 18, Salt Lake City; Oct. 19, Colorado Springs; Oct. 20, Wichita, Kan.; Oct. 21, Muskogee, Okla., (morning.)

Mr. McAdoo will reach Dallas the night of Oct. 21. He will remain away from Washington until about Oct. 26, and probably will make a tour of the South before returning to the capital.

Secretary Baker spoke at a Liberty Loan meeting here today. "Those in charge of the Liberty bond sale," the Secretary said, "ask you to pour out your money, not at the feet of the God of War, but into the lap of the Goddess of Liberty."

Future generations, he said, would ask if the victory had been at the front alone. The answer would be that the victory was won at home as well as by the army of patriots, who through their financial support of the Government made it possible for the army at the front to deliver its most effective blows.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 8.—William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, passed through Spokane early today on his speaking trip in the interest of the second Liberty Loan, and departed immediately for Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. At Coeur d'Alene he said the first duty of America citizens was to support the American soldiers and that $14,000,000,000 must be raised between now and the 1st of next July.

"We can raise this money," he said. "We have got it in American in abundance. There never was a nation so strong in material resources. There never was a nation whose patriotism was more superb."

FORGERY TO BEAT THE LOAN

False Telegram Sent to Keep Hillis from a Big Detroit Meeting.

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—German propaganda in Detroit is blamed for an attempt to prevent or hamper the big mass meeting in the armory tonight, marking the opening day of the Liberty Loan campaign.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn, en route to Detroit for the meeting, received a message stating that the meeting had been postponed. The message bore the forged signature of a member of the local Loan Committee.

Suspecting the authenticity of the message, Dr. Hillis telephoned members of the committee for more information. He was informed that Detroit was solidly behind the Liberty Loan, and that his services were urgently needed.

The effort to stop Dr. Hillis seems to have had a double purpose. The telegram, if its statement had been credited by Dr. Hillis, would have had the effect of dampening the opening of the Liberty Loan campaign, and also would have prevented the Brooklyn clergyman from making his report on German atrocities before a Detroit audience.

"I have had a warning letter in my pocket for several days of efforts made by pro-Germans to embarrass us," said Abner E. Larned, sales manager of the campaign. "At that time the committee took the matter rather lightly, but this morning word was sent out to the workers that they were to report at once the name and address of any individual making pro-German statements.

"Such names will be handed over to the United States Secret Service."

WILL MOVE REPEAL OF TAX INEQUALITIES

Penrose Wants 8% Levy on Earnings Eliminated and Mail Impost Recast.

OTHER SENATORS AROUSED

Action at Next Session Foreshadowed — Simmons Advocates Remodeling Second-Class Rates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Members of the Senate Finance Committee are studying the effect of objectionable features of the new revenue act, with the purpose of offering amendments for the repeal of those provisions which impose double taxation and are regarded as carrying injustice to certain individuals. Senator Penrose, ranking Republican member of the committee, who is opposed to these features, declared today that he would offer amendments to the present act at the next session.

Two of the features which Mr. Penrose will seek to eliminate will be the double tax on professional men and small tradespeople—the 8 per cent. tax on their incomes—and the zone tax on advertising in newspapers and magazines. Mr. Penrose holds that the tax on second-class matter should be increased over the one-cent-per-pound rate, but only after a scientific investigation by the Post Office Committee. Therefore he will offer a bill at the next session to provide for such an investigation, with the idea of having the Post Office Committee report a bill dealing justly with the newspapers and magazines.

Senator Simmons, Chairman of the Finance Committee, today gave out an abstract of his speech on the Revenue bill, in which he objected to the second-class rate provision but upheld the 8 per cent. tax on earnings over $6,000. Discussing the latter, he said:

An Additional Income Tax.

"In the present revenue law and in the House bill the excess profits tax applied only to corporations and partnerships. The Senate committee thought that there was no good reason in principle or otherwise why an individual who was making excess profits should not contribute to the expense of the Government as well as corporations or partnerships, so we added individuals. This amendment, which imposes an 8 per cent. tax on incomes over $6,000, brings everybody engaged in trade and in business under the provisions of this bill and requires them to contribute their mite to the war. The Senate desired to relieve from this tax certain occupations and professions where the earnings were made through personal service, without any invested capital. The conferees of the House, however, insisted that there was no reason in principle why the professional man should not pay a tax, as well as any other American citizen who happened to be engaged in business as a partnership or as an individual. The Senate conferees yielded to the justice of that contention.

"It is a tax very much of the same character as the special tax on munitions, except that it does allow an exemption of $6,000. It is in effect an additional income tax. So is the war profits tax. There is nothing in the nature of a joker in that tax of 8 per cent. on incomes of over $6,000. The levy was deliberate, and, we think, just. It was discussed on the floor of the Senate, and everybody should have known just what it did."

In discussing the second-class rate system Mr. Simmons said:

"The original proposition to impose a tax on advertising matter under the zone system provided for a very much higher rate than we finally agreed upon. The original proposition was that both the rates upon reading matter and the rates upon advertising matter should presently take effect—I think in thirty days after the passage of the bill, or it may have been the 1st of January. That was changed upon the insistence of your conferees; so that none of these rates, either as to reading matter of advertising matter, will take effect until the 1st day of July, 1918, and the increases will be made annually on advertising matter through a period of four years, and on reading matter through a period of two years; that is, the first increase on reading matter will be for the first year only a quarter of a cent, and for the second year another quarter of a cent, making half a cent.

A Movable Zone Rate.

"There is also a provision, inserted by the conference upon the insistence of the Senate conferees, that a publisher shall be permitted to mail his publication from any Post Office and to secure the zone rate of that Post Office; that is to say, if a magazine is published in New York, it may be sent by freight or express to San Francisco and distributed from the San Francisco office at the zone rates applicable to that office. I think that is a provision which will afford in some cases very great relief against what is characterized by some of the publishers as a hardship.

"I want to add that, speaking for myself personally, in the Finance Committee I thought that postal taxes, whether upon letters or upon publications, newspapers, and periodicals, were matters which should be dealt with as a postal measure rather than as a revenue measure. I did not believe then, and I do not believe now, that any tax should be imposed upon the facilities of the Post Office Department except for the purpose of defraying the expenses of that department and that service and its enlargement and expansion. It will be a long time, even if the Government shall finally make a profit from the transportation and distribution of second-class mail matter, as it is making a profit in the carriage of letters, before we shall receive a sufficient revenue from the Post Office Department to make the necessary extensions and enlargements in postal facilities to which the people of this country are entitled and which the best interests of the Government demand.

"I do not believe that we ought to be imposing taxes upon these facilities for the purpose of defraying the expenses of this war. I think this is one subject upon which we ought not to lay our hands. Entertaining that opinion, I felt that it was not a matter for the Finance Committee, but a matter for the Post Office Committee. I was glad, therefore, when we were able to write into this bill a provision that the tax that we impose shall not take effect until July, 1918. I trust that before that time arrives the Post Office Committee will work this matter out in a more satisfactory way than your committee or the conferees have been able to work it out, and that whatever additional tax it is found expedient and proper and just to impose may be imposed, not for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of this war, but for the purpose of raising more money to increase the postal facilities."

PAPER AS WAR MATERIAL.

Basis on Which It Is Proposed to Control News Print Mills.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Developments in the move to bring the newsprint manufacturers under Government control are not expected to assume shape until Congress meets again in December. The resolution from the Senate Committee on Printing will then have a place on the Senate calendar, and the alignment on the proposition of Government control of an important industry will begin.

The report of the committee was the subject of comment among Government officials and Congressmen today. The approaching trial of the indicted news print manufacturers in New York City, it is believed, will reinforce the argument for Government control, as the trial will be employed by the Government to bring out evidence to show extortion.

Detailed plans for taking over newsprint plants have not yet been worked out by Government officials. The aim, it is said, is to deal with paper as with fuel, wheat, and other commodities regarded as war materials. Paper on which newspapers are printed, officials hold, is indispensable to the prosecution of the war against Germany.

The plan in general is to take over the newsprint paper mills and distributing plants, place them in the hands of Government officials, and see that they are conducted in compliance with regulations laid down by the Federal Trade Commission, which would have price-fixing powers. All this depends on the view Congress takes of the matter.

MITCHEL NOON MEETINGS.

Business Men's League Opens Campaign in Broadway Today.

The Fusion Committee of 1917 announced yesterday that noonday meetings are to be held by the Commercial Travelers and Business Men's Mitchel League each week day at 537 Broadway, between Prince and Spring Streets.

The formal opening of the headquarters will take place tomorrow noon. Heads of various city departments will speak. G. J. Corey, Chairman of the League, said yesterday:

"Organized for the purpose of electing an independent administration for the City of New York, with John Purroy Mitchel at its head, we stand for good, clean, honest government and we can only retain it by organization and united work. We are all good American citizens and realize that a coalition government is the only safe and sound one for cities as cosmopolitan as New York is. We are satisfied that New York has been better governed in the past four years than ever before and at this time we cannot afford to swap horses in the middle of the world's war, in which Mayor Mitchel has been a central figure."

MORE G. O. P. AID FOR MAYOR

Young Republican Club Wants Bennett to Quit Campaigning.

The New York Young Republican Club, at a meeting at the Murray Hill Hotel last night, adopted resolutions pledging support to Mayor Mitchel and the entire Fusion ticket and then appointed a committee to consider a proposal to request William M. Bennett, Republican Mayoralty candidate, to virtually withdraw from the race by declaring in favor of his rival and not making a campaign. Under the law Mr. Bennett cannot withdraw as a nominee, but following the example of Judge Flammer, in the Jerome campaign, he can go on the stump and advise the citizens not to vote for him.

The members agreed to make a determined fight in the interest of Mayor Mitchel and the committee will confer with the Brooklyn Young Republican Club and other Republican organizations for the purpose of doing missionary work among the Republican district leaders and workers.

REGISTER TODAY.

Bennett's Friends Charge Republicans and Democrats Shut Their Eyes at Fraud.

SAY TAMMANY ROBBED RUSH

No Opposition to Republican Nominee's Move in Court to Get His Name on the Ballot.

William M. Bennett, who ran ahead of Mayor Mitchel in the Republican primaries, will make the primary frauds, for which more than a score of Election Inspectors have already been indicted, the principal issue in his campaign. This decision was reached by Mr. Bennett yesterday after a conference with some of his friends and supporters who succeeded in convincing him that in the attempt to count him out his political enemies had provided him with a double-barreled moral issue with which he can go gunning for Tammany Hall and Mayor Mitchel.

From reports which have reached the Bennett Campaign Headquarters in the Bartholdi Building, Twenty-third Street and Broadway, his campaign managers have reached the conclusion that the frauds were committed by connivance between the Republican and Democratic Election Inspectors. That in fact the latter agreed to shut their eyes while the Republicans counted Bennett out, if the Republicans would return the courtesy by looking the other way while they changed the vote for Thomas E. Rush, anti-Tammany candidate for a Supreme Court nomination, to aid John V. McAvoy, Tammany's candidate for the nomination. At least one affidavit stating that this was done in an election district in upper Manhattan is in the hands of Mr. Bennett's campaign managers now.

Hamilton McInnis, counsel for Mr. Bennett, filed in the Supreme Court yesterday an order to show cause why the name of Mr. Bennett should not be printed on all the ballots for this city as that of the Republican nominee for Mayor. The order was made returnable before Justice Whitaker and will be argued at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

There will be no opposition from Mayor Mitchel. Abraham S. Gilbert, counsel for the Mayor, after a copy of the order had been served upon him, said:

"Of course, we will consent to an order, directing that Mr. Bennett's name be printed on the ballot as that of the Republican candidate for Mayor."

Despite the ready consent of Mayor Mitchel, it was predicted yesterday that, owing to technicalities, days might elapse before the order can be made effective.

Friends of Mr. Bennett are hard at work trying to obtain an indorsement for their candidate from the Republican organizations in Kings, Queens, Bronx, and Richmond. That the New York County Republican Committee, though it represents the organization with which Mr. Bennett has been affiliated since he became active in politics, will withhold its indorsement has been apparent to them since the meeting last week, where it was forced four to one against the nominee.

Mr. Bennett would not say last night whether he had received assurances from any of the other county organizations. Joseph H. De Bragga, head of the Republican organization in Queens, has called a meeting of the Executive Committee of that body for Wednesday.

"I expect that there will be an indorsement of Senator Bennett," said Mr. De Bragga. "He is the Republican nominee for Mayor and no other course is open to us. Personally, I favor such an indorsement."

Jacob A. Livingston, the Republican boss in Kings, who is supposed to lean toward Mr. Bennett as the "regular" nominee, opened campaign headquarters yesterday at 192 Montague Street, but did not say a word about hanging up the picture of Bennett in it. It was said last night that the meeting of the Republican County Committee to act on the candidacy of Mr. Bennett probably would be deferred until next week, most of the committeemen being busy this week with registration. State Controller Eugene M. Travis, U. S. Senator William M. Calder, and Commissioner of Plant and Structure J. F. H. Kracke, all influential in Republican politics in Kings County, are out for Mayor Mitchel, and under the circumstances Mr. Livingston and his friends have come to realise that they had better go slow in attempting to put through a Bennett indorsement in Brooklyn.

Scouts for Mr. Bennett have been out in the highways and by-ways of the city for many nights studying the methods employed by soap-box orators in making converts. His campaign managers freely admitted yesterday that with the Republican district leaders in Manhattan, where Mr. Bennett must make his big fight, so hostile that they have closed their club houses to the nominee of their own party and in many instances turned them into Fusion headquarters with pictures of Mayor Mitchel displayed conspicuously, the supporters of Mr. Bennett would be compelled to expose themselves to the wintry blasts and make their campaign on the street corners, at least in Manhattan. The Bennett campaign coffers are practically empty.

URUGUAY DETAINS CHARGE.

Holds Teuton Until Her Own Men Are Out of Germany.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 8.—The Uruguayan Government, which has severed diplomatic relations with Germany, has notified the German Chargé not to leave the country until the Uruguayan diplomatic representatives are safely out of Germany.

The Government has asked Congress to approve the utilisation by Uruguay of the interned German ships.

MORE BALLOT INDICTMENTS.

Four Primary Election Inspectors Accused of Falsifying Returns.

The Grand Jury returned four more indictments yesterday in the alleged ballot frauds on Primary Day. In each case the defendant named was an inspector of an upper east side election district. The indictments charged a violation of Section 758 of the penal law in that they falsified the number of ballots cast in their districts.

Bench warrants were issued by Judge Mulqueen, and the men probably will be arrested today.

Assistant District Attorneys Olcott and Wallace expect, it is said, to indict about fifty inspectors in all.

They have thus far obtained a total of twenty-six indictments. Today the prosecutors will present to the Grand Jury the facts in the case of a district leader who was alleged to have inspired his son to interfere with the functions of an election inspector in one of the uptown districts.

CRAIG ASSAILS MITCHEL.

Says His West Side Plan Shows He Is Unfit for Office.

Charles L. Craig, candidate for Controller on the Tammany Hall Democratic Fusion ticket, made a statement last night in which he declared that the plan proposed by the Joint Conference Committee of the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission, for the New York Central's west side improvement, was "the severest arraignment of Mayor Mitchel and Controller Prendergast that has ever been made."

Mr. Craig before he became candidate for Controller was counsel for the West End Association. He said in his statement that the new conditions framed by the conference committee fully vindicated the stand he had taken as spokesman for that organization.

"The committee report is not less than an indictment of Mitchel and Prendergast for malfeasance in office," said Mr. Craig. "It conclusively establishes that there never was the slightest justification for the huge grants to the New York Central of the park and waterfront property that Mitchel and Prendergast worked for to the last. Practically every contention made by me for the West End Association is established and adopted by the unanimous action of the conference committee.

"The joint committee report not only shows that Mitchel and Prendergast are wholly unfit and unworthy to be intrusted with the administration of great funds and property, but it also demonstrates that a very simple solution, just alike to the railroad and to the public, can be had without the intolerable delay and damage to the port development that Mitchel and Prendergast have persisted in, in their efforts to enrich the New York Central at the expense of the people of the City of New York."

TAMMANY APPEALS TO WILSON VOTERS

Charges Mayor Held Aloof in the Last Campaign for the Presidency.

HYLAN'S SPEAKING TOUR

Democratic Fusion Committee Will Be in Charge of Big Meetings.

The aloofness of Mayor Mitchel in the Presidential campaign last year will be used by Tammany Hall and its allies as an argument to alienate Wilson Democrats from the Mayor's candidacy. The first gun in this campaign was fired yesterday by John J. O'Connell, Chairman of the New York County Progressives Committee, who with his following has made common cause with Tammany and the Democratic Fusion Committee in supporting Judge John F. Hylan. Mr. O'Connell in a formal statement took issue with a recent statement by Mayor Mitchel to the effect that he (the Mayor) did not participate in the Wilson meetings last year because Tammany Hall kept him off the platform.

He told of a conversation he had with Joseph M. Price, one of the organizers of the Woodrow Wilson Independent League, on the second Saturday before election, while they were on their way together to a Wilson meeting at Cooper Union, which was being held under the auspices of the league, with Jacob H. Schiff presiding, and Bainbridge Colby, Rabbi Wise, and Francis J. Heaney of San Francisco the speakers. Mr. Price besides being active in the Woodrow Wilson Independent League had been one of the prime factors in the Committee of One Hundred and Seven, to which Mayor Mitchel owed his independent nomination for Mayor in 1913.

Mr. O'Connell, (jokingly)—Is Mayor Mitchel going to preside at the meeting?

Mr. Price—No. You know he is neutral. I have tried several times this week to get him to preside or to go on the platform, but he said he was a Fusion Mayor and would not take sides publicly.

Mr. O'Connell, (with a laugh)—If he is so neutral it is queer that all his running mates and all his heads of departments are actively stumping for Hughes.

Mr. Price—Well, I think neutrality is the proper thing for him, don't you?

Mr. O'Connell—That depends on how you look at it. But Mr. Mitchel might find it awkward when he looks for Wilson's support next year.

Mr. Price—I never thought of that. I will see him about it.

Mr. Price could not be reached last night at his home, 397 West Ninety-third Street. Mayor Mitchel said he could not recall having been asked to preside at the Cooper Union meeting.

The speaking campaign for Judge Hylan and his associates on the Tammany Hall-Democratic Fusion ticket will not really get going until next week. While Judge Hylan will appear at one or two gatherings this week, Tammany and its allies will focus their efforts on getting its voters registered. In the arrangement of the big rallies for Judge Hylan Tammany Hall will keep in the background as much as possible. For this reason the work in connection with the big meetings in Manhattan has been left in the hands of the Democratic Fusion Committee.

Congressman Thomas F. Smith, now that the session of Congress has come to a close, has taken active charge of affairs at Tammany Hall, with Chief Murphy dropping in for a couple of hours during the forenoon to look matters over and meet the district leaders. Yesterday Mr. Murphy was asked regarding the recent report that he might retire either during or immediately after the campaign.

"Did you see that report, Chief?" Mr. Murphy was asked. The Tammany leader grinned.

"Didn't it say that worry and ill-health was driving me into retirement!" he asked. Mr. Murphy was told that something of the sort was said. Then the Tammany leader, glowing with health, arose from his chair, expanded his chest, grinned again, and asked:

"Well, do you think I look sick and worried? I haven't felt better or had less to worry me for many years."

HYLAN GETS A CHALLENGE.

Willcox Asks Evidence to Justify Statements About Schools.

President Willcox of the Board of Education yesterday sent the following letter to Judge John F. Hylan, Democratic candidate for Mayor:

"It can hardly be supposed that a judge accustomed to weighing evidence and rendering impartial judicial decisions based upon evidence, could attack the good name of the public school system of this city without having reasonable proof of the truth of his assertions.

"You are reported to have publicly stated last Friday evening that 'Our public schools are today in control of the Rockefeller interests.' As the official head of the public school system I am unable to detect the slightest indication of such control, nor do I know of any member of the Board of Education or any employe of the department who believes that this statement is true. For the information of the Board of Education and the general public, therefore, I challenge you to produce the evidence which in your opinion justifies such a conclusion."

I. W. W. HEARING PUT OFF.

Prisoners Held Under Chicago Indictments Go Back to Jail.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca, Arturo Giovanitti and Giovanni Baldazzi, the I. W. W. leaders, arrested in New York ten days ago at the request of the Chicago authorities, where they are under indictment charged with conspiracy to obstruct the operation of the military laws of the United States and other offenses involving the sovereignty of the nation, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock yesterday afternoon. By consent the hearing was postponed until next Tuesday afternoon. An application by Tresca to have his bail reduced from $10,000 to $7,000 was denied.

Two men, said to be of German origin, were questioned for hours by officers on Governors Island yesterday. The men came ashore on the island at 2 A. M. from a rowboat and were taken into custody by soldiers. They said they were fishermen who had lost their way. Late in the afternoon they were vouched for by a citizen, known to the authorities, and were then permitted to depart.

FORESAW THE GREEK CRISIS.

Bulgarians in 1915 Were Kept Advised by Pro-German Ministers.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Oct. 6, (Delayed.)—Revelation follows upon revelation in the Parliamentary inquiry into the doings of the pro-German Cabinets of Skouloudis and Professor Lambros. The latest personage to appear before the Commission of Inquiry is M. Naoum, formerly Greek Minister at Sofia.

His evidence gives the measure of the intimacy that existed, at the time of the Greek mobilization in 1915, between official circles in Sofia and the royal court at Athens. M. Naoum testified that the mobilization provoked stupefication and panic in Sofia. The Bulgarian newspapers, however, hastened to announce that division had arisen between the King and Venizelos and that the Greek Government would have to resign. Thereupon M. Naoum rang up the Foreign Office at Sofia and asked for the issue of a denial but failed to get it because, as he says, the Bulgarian political authorities were convinced of the disagreement in question and were only awaiting the resignation of Venizelos, which actually happened. The announcement was deliberately published in advance so as to reassure the Bulgarian public.

NOT SUNK BY SUBMARINE.

Ship Reported Victim of U-Boat Damaged by Collision.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 8.—Two of the crew of the British schooner George Ewart, sunk in collision with an unknown steamship in a storm on Sept. 10 off the coast of Spain, reached here today on a steamer from a Mediterranean port. The Ewart, from St. John's, N. F., for Gibraltar with a cargo of dried fish, had been reported sunk by a submarine, but the men arriving here said the submarine came up after their ship had been so badly damaged in the collision that she had to be abandoned, and submerged again after finding the Ewart in a sinking condition.

The steamer which struck the schooner did not stop to ascertain what damage had been done and the Ewart's crew were eleven hours in an open boat before they reached the Spanish coast. The other members of the crew were sent home by another route.

German Empire or take a position of independence in the days of reconstruction that are to follow. For this reason I herewith tender my resignation as Professor of Politics, to take effect, on the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 9, 1917.

I cannot find words to convey to you what it means to sever close ties of so many years' standing. Above all do I regret to part from my colleagues. As I think of their scholarship and their worldwide reputation and compare them with the few obscure and willful trustees who now dominate the university and terrorize the young instructors, I cannot repress my astonishment that America, of all countries, has made the status of the professor lower than that of the manual laborer, who, through his union, has at least some voice in the terms and conditions of his employment. Holding his position literally by the day, the Professor is liable to dismissal without a hearing, without the judgment of his colleagues, who are his real peers. I am sure that when the people understand the true state of affairs in our universities they will speedily enact legislation which will strip boards of trustees of their absolute power over the intellectual life of the institutions under their management.

In severing relations with my employers I do not leave the great republic of Columbia students, alumni, and professors. With them I have ties that cannot break while I live. And to you, Sir, I am deeply indebted for the courtesy and thoughtful consideration that I have always received at your hands.

CHARLES A. BEARD.

Professor Beard refused last night to add anything to this letter, or to identify the "small and active group" of trustees referred to by him. It was learned, however, that Frederic R. Coudert, William Barclay Parsons, and Francis Sedgwick Bangs had been some of the trustees that had displayed greatest interest in the speech that was delivered by Professor Beard last Spring, and that they had been active, also, in suppressing any utterances tending to promote "disloyalty" among the educators and students at the university.

Mr. Bangs was also one of the members of the special committee of the Trustees that had investigated the charges against Cattell and Dana, and had assisted in drawing up the following report:

"This warning," (referring to a warning that had been issued against disloyal utterances,) "was the final warning of the university to all concerned with it in any capacity, from the highest to the lowest, and expressed the unalterable determination of the trustees that all those connected with Columbia University, either on the rolls of its Faculties or on the rolls of its students, must loyally support all laws of the United States, and that any such person who should oppose or counsel opposition to the effective enforcement of the laws of the United States, or should speak or write or commit any act of sedition or treason, would be promptly separated from the university."

The speech that was delivered by Professor Beard at the conference at the Hotel Astor was a vigorous protest against censorship of free speech.

"There is no authority with the right to censor what I shall say," he was quoted as having said at that time. "And if any one is discontented with the Government and doesn't like the flag, let him come out in the open and say it.

"If we have to suppress everything we don't like to hear, this country is resting on a pretty wabbly basis. This country was founded on disrespect and the denial of authority, and it is no time to stop free discussion."

The speech was widely quoted in the newspapers, and it was generally known at the university that some of the trustees had taken exception to it. No action was taken, however, indicating that there was a desire for Professor Beard's resignation, and his letter came as a surprise to many of the members of the Faculties.

"I regret exceedingly that Professor Beard has resigned," said Professor Robinson last night. "It is not that any of us at the university are pro-German or disloyal. It is simply that we fear that a condition of repression may arise in this country similar to that which we laughed at in Germany. There has been a surprising lot of resentment over the expulsion of Professors Cattell and Dana."

Professor Robinson admitted that he had voiced similar views in a recent address to the members of one of his classes, and that both Professor Beard and Professor John Dewey had also frankly stated their opposition to the expulsion of Professors Cattell and Dana.

Professor Beard is a native of Newcastle, Ind. He is married and lives at 420 West 116th Street. He entered Columbia University as a student in 1902, after having studied at universities in England, Germany, and other European countries, and was appointed a lecturer in history at Columbia in 1904. Three years later he was appointed Associate Professor of Politics, and still later Professor of Political Science.

Dr. John Dewey, Professor of Philosophy, issued this statement last night upon the resignation of Professor Beard:

"I regard the action of Professor Beard as the natural consequence of the degrading action of the trustees last week. I personally regret the loss to the university of such a scholarly man and a teacher of such rare power."

MAYOR QUITS STUMP FOR THE NEXT 3 DAYS

Scattered independent nominating petitions were filed for Controller, President of the Board Aldermen, and for borough, county, city, and judicial offices under the emblems of the two parties mentioned, but in no case did they carry the necessary number of signatures to legalize them. Certain press reports stated that this board had interdicted the placing of William M. Bennett's name upon the war ballot as the Republican candiate for Mayor. This is wholly wrong. Mr. Bennett's name is printed on the war ballot as the Republican candidate for Mayor.

Magistrate Corrigan, before the situation had been straightened out, had prepared a complaint and affidavit to be submitted to the court on an application for an injunction restraining the issue of the ballots. After being in touch with the Board of Elections, Magistrate Corrigan said that the error had been rectified to his satisfaction.

In the city it requires 1,500 names on a petition to nominate. The Fusion people had filed petitions bearing 2,844 names for Mitchel, but the rest of the ticket had only 564 names. The law requires that the ballots cast by soldiers shall not be counted until the sixth Tuesday after the election, and in commenting upon the possible effect of this delay Chairman Emory R. Buckner of the Fusion Campaign Committee said the soldier vote would not involve the election materially, as Mayor Mitchel's plurality would be sufficient without the soldiers' vote, as "no soldier or sailor will vote for Mr. Hearst."

Former Governor William Sulzer announced yesterday that he would support Mayor Mitchel. He said the only issue in the campaign was Murphy or Mitchel, and that he was against Hylan because a vote for him meant a vote for Boss Murphy.

"I am for Mitchel," continued Mr. Sulzer, "because I believe that he is honest, sincere, capable, unbossed, loyal to the public, and because I know his administration, with all its limitations, is a thousand times better than the scandalous administration Boss Murphy from his throne in Delmonico's gave us when he was telling the occupant of the Mayor's office what to do."

Sulzer's Questions to Hylan.

Mr. Sulzer propounded a few questions which he said he wanted Judge Hylan to answer. Some of them are:

Mr. Hylan be honest. While you have much to say about the interests and how they finance political candidates, tell us who is financing your campaign? Is it Boss Murphy or a great railroad corporation, with headquarters in Philadelphia and New York? What have you promised this railroad?

Mr. Hylan, be honest. Stop talking piffle politics, stop dodging newspaper reporters, stop going around in gum shoes, and tell us if you stand squarely and unequivocally with President Wilson regarding all his policies and acts in connection with the war between the United States and Germany? Don't say you are a patriot. Every one says that. Answer yes or no.

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us what promises you made and to whom to get the nomination for Mayor?

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us if you are elected to whom will you give the patronage—Murphy or McCooey.

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us are you or are you not a Tammany organization man, and if you are elected will you or will you not be loyal to the Tammany organization?

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us if you are elected the names of the Tammany district leaders in New York you intend to appoint to office?

Mr. Hylan be honest, and when you denounce the Mitchel administration tell us how you will improve it? What changes if elected you will make, and how will you make them? Be definite.

Mr. Buckner said yesterday that the Fusion Campaign Committee was giving its full attention to getting out a large registration.

"The silent vote," he said, "will be an important factor in this campaign. It generally wakes up too late to register. Our organizations in every Assembly district will work to get out a full registration, and we are being assisted by independent committees and the woman's suffrage organizations. More than 1,000 young men have volunteered to help us in the registration."

WAR PAGEANT FOR DRAFT DEPARTURE

"Kaiser" Marches to the Ferry Handcuffed to "Uncle Sam," with the "Navy" on Guard.

ITALY'S FLAG IN THE LINE

Seven American-Born Chinese Go with Manhattan's Fourth Contingent of Recruits.

The mobilization of the fourth contingent of New York selective draft men began at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning, when 1,171 recruits from twenty-two Manhattan and Brooklyn districts went to Camp Upton. The Manhattan soldiers left from Long Island City, and those from Brooklyn from the Carlton Avenue yards of the Long Island Railroad. With the New York men went about 1,000 men from Dutchess, Putnam, Westchester, Suffolk, and Nassau Counties.

The departure of the men was made the occasion of demonstration in both boroughs, thousands congregating at the entraining points to cheer the men as they changed from civilian to military life. The Manhattan districts affected by yesterday's movement were all in the lower part of the city, and many picturesque incidents marked the going away. Board 94, for instance, marched to the Long Island Ferry at Thirty-fourth Street headed by a brass band and with its leaders masquerading as Uncle Sam, the Kaiser, and the Navy.

The Kaiser was handcuffed to Uncle Sam, while a bluejacket—a real one—from the superdreadnought Texas trailed solemnly behind, ready to take a hand in the affair in the event the Kaiser made an attempt to escape. The Kaiser was dressed as an Imperial Guardsman, and wore a helmet said to have been captured by a French soldier in one of the allied drives. But the Kaiser did not wear a sword. Uncle Sam carried that for him.

We are doing our bit.
You must also do yours.
Buy a Liberty Bond.

About 2,000 persons, half of them youngsters, accompanied the delegation to the ferry. Of the fifty-three men who went from the district seven were American-born Chinamen, one of them, H. Foo Wing, a former United States Government interpreter. John Fercelli, a New York policeman, was also among those drafted.

The men from District 95 came to the station in flag-decorated auto trucks and carried a big pawnbroker's sign beneath which were the words "Hock the Kaiser." The men from Board 91 also paraded to the station and were led by the band of the American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts. A majority of the men from District 95 were Italians, and they carried in addition to six big American flags one equally large Italian flag.

In Brooklyn there were parades, and every board had its own particular emblem. The out-of-town delegations, which went on the same trains with the men from Manhattan, arrived at the Grand Central Terminal at 10 o'clock, and marched to the ferry. Each town was identified by a banner bearing its name.

Today 2,173 men from twenty-nine Manhattan and thirteen Brooklyn districts will go to Camp Upton. Of these men 1,447 will be from Manhattan and the rest from Brooklyn. The districts, the number of men from each, and the place and hour of entrainment follow:

Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall, it was said last night, is to march in the parade arranged for the selected men of Board 118, who go to Camp Upton from the Pennsylvania Station this morning. The parade will be led by Justice Joseph F. Moss and a committee of members of the Anawanda Club, one of whom is to be Mr. Murphy. The detachment will leave Stuyvesant High School, Second Avenue and Fifteenth Street, and march through the district and then to the station. The Catholic Protectory Band and three men to represent "The Spirit of '76" will be features of the procession.

MUST DEFEAT FOE TO END THE WAR

or we fight on our soil, backs against our homes, and alone.

"While this war lasts, the cause of the Allies is our cause, their defeat our defeat, and concert of action and unity in spirit between them and us is essential to final victory. We therefore deprecate the exaggeration of old national prejudices—often stimulated by German propaganda—and nothing is more important than the clear understanding that those who in this crisis attack our present allies, attack America.

"We are organized in the interests of a national accord that rises high above any previous division of party, race, creed and circumstance.

"We believe that this is the critical and fateful hour for America and for civilization. To lose now is to lose for many generations. The peril is great and requires our highest endeavors. If defeat comes to us through any weakness, Germany, whose purposes for world-wide dominion are now revealed, might draw to itself, as a magnet does the filings, the residuum of world power, and this would affect the standing and the independence of America.

"We not only accept but heartily approve the decision reached by the President and Congress of the United States to declare war against the common enemy of the free nations, and as loyal citizens of the United States, we pledge to the President and the Government our undivided support to the very end."

Officers elected were:

Honorary Chairman—His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons.

Honorary Chairman—Frank Mason North, Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America.

Treasurer—Otto H. Kahn, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Executive Committee—Chairman, James M. Beck; Warren S. Stone, Grand Chief International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Oliver Wilson, Grand Master National Grange; Walter George Smith, President American Bar Association; William R. Willcox, Chairman Republican National Committee; Vance McCormick, Chairman Democratic National Committee; Robert E. Speer, Chairman War Time Commission of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America; Colonel P. H. Callahan, Chairman Committee on War Activities, Knights of Columbus; Alfred E. Marling, Chairman International Committee of Y. M. C. A.; the Rev. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi Free Synagogue, New York; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Women's Committee, Council of National Defense; Emerson McMillin, President World Court League; V. Everit Macy, President National Civic Federation; William English Walling, Greenwich, Conn.; George Wharton Pepper, President National Committee of Patriotic and Defense Societies; Dr. R. R. Gerard, President National Fraternal Congress of America, and William H. Ingersoll, National Association of Advertising Clubs.

The league expects quickly to build up a membership which will reach to every part of the nation and wage a consistent fight upon all who are attempting to embarrass the Government, no matter in what branch of labor, industry, business, or religion they may be found.

OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO NEW REGIMENTS

OLD SEVENTH'S RATING BEST

Company Funds Will Be Transferred with Men on Basis of the Number Shifted.

Special to The New York Times.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 7.—Under the reorganization order, details of which were obtained tonight, sweeping changes were made in the officer personnel of New York's former guard at Camp Wadsworth. The transfers, which were based on the desire for greater efficiency in the line, disclosed that of all the units the old Seventh made the best showing, retaining forty-seven of its forty-eight officers. The Third Infantry headquarters at Rochester was rated second as regards the capability of its officers. While the transfer of the officers will begin tomorrow, it is likely that several days must elapse before the previously announced shift of enlisted men takes place.

Providing each company of 250 men, with one captain, two first lieutenants, and four second lieutenants, the reorganized Twenty-seventh Division, as it affects New York city men or regiments, is as follows:

Squadron A of Manhattan and the Second and Third Battalions of the First Cavalry, Brooklyn, the only units here of the federalized New York National Guard, will entrain today for Camp Wadsworth, at Spartanburg, S. The Brooklyn cavalry will go by ferry from Brooklyn to the Jersey shore. Both the squadron and the First Cavalry will take all their horses to camp, although the two commands are to be dismounted and reorganized into machine gun battalions.

ECUADOR, LIKE PERU, BARS GERMAN ENVOY

Announces Dr. Perl, Dismissed by Neighbor, Will Not Be Received Officially.

ACTUAL BREAK FORESEEN

Washington Diplomats Think Little Nation Will Join Others in South America.

QUITO, Ecuador, Oct. 8.—The Ecuadorean Secretary of Foreign Affairs today sent a cablegram to the Ecuadorean Legation at Lima announcing that Dr. Perl, the German Minister to Peru and Ecuador, resident at Lima, would not be officially received by the Ecuadorean Government in case he attempted to come to Ecuador.

The action of the Foreign Secretary is understood to have been taken to demonstrate Ecuador's close affiliation with the union of the American republics.

Dr. Perl, the German Minister to Peru, received his passports from the Peruvian Government on Saturday. It was reported from Lima that he would go to Ecuador.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Without comment or explanation the Ecuadorean Foreign Minister notified Minister Elivalde today that his Government had instructed its Minister in Peru to advise the German Minister there that he could not be formally received at the Ecuadorean capital. Mr. Elivalde will advise Secretary Lansing of his Government's action tomorrow. By State Department officials and diplomats the action of Ecuador has been construed as practically equivalent to a rupture of relations with Germany.

Dr. Perl was appointed Minister to both Peru and Ecuador, and after the declaration of war by the United States he mailed his credentials to Quito. The Ecuadorean Government refused to recognize such informal presentation, and then the Minister tried to procure acknowledgment of his status by sending an agent to Quito to act as Chargé d'Affaires. The agent was not recognized.

Diplomats here were convinced today that Ecuador's refusal to receive the Minister, now that he is willing to go to Quito, was not due to pique, but was carefully calculated as an indication of the country's intention to join the majority of South American nations already aligned against Germany.

Argentina and Chile in the south and Venezuela and Colombia on the north are the only nations of South America whose positions are not clearly defined. Except Colombia, all four have declared their neutrality, but the apparent dominance of Germans in Venezuela and the factional controversy in Argentina have made the future conduct of those Governments problematical. From Colombia nothing more than neutrality has been expected, because of her resentment against the United States on account of the controversy over the building of the Panama Canal.

LANSING NOTIFIED OF BREAK

Receives Text of Decree Issued by Uruguayan President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Lansing today received from Montevideo a cablegram giving the text of the decree issued last night by President Viera of Uruguay establishing the break in relations between the republic and the German Government. The decree follows:

"In view of the authority granted the Executive power by law of the nation of this date, authorizing said power to declare diplomatic and commercial relations broken between Uruguay and Imperial Government and the reasons which have caused the legislative decision which are absolutely shared by the Executive power, the President of the republic at a general Cabinet meeting decrees:

"Article 1.—From the date of the present decree diplomatic and commercial relations between Uruguay and the German Imperial Government remain broken.

"Article 2.—That the respective passports be handed over to the diplomatic representative of that Government, all the guarantees for his personal safety being granted to him at the same time until his removal from the country.

"Article 3.—That telegraphic instructions be transmitted to the functionaries of the republic in office in Germany to the effect that they immediately abandon the German territory, requesting the same guarantees which are granted to the German representative by the Government of Uruguay. "VIERA."

LUXBURG HAS NOT SAILED.

Argentine Officials Admit Ex-Minister Is Still in the Country.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 8.—Officials today admitted that Count Karl von Luxburg, the former German Minister to Argentina, is still in the country. His exact location was not made known.

The admission was forthcoming when it was learned today that a search by a British cruiser of an outward-bound Spanish steamer had failed to disclose von Luxburg, who was supposed to have taken passage on the steamer last Friday and sailed from Montevideo.

ARE FULL GENERALS NOW.

President Signs Commissions of Bliss and Pershing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Wilson today signed commissions as Generals for Major Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, Army Chief of Staff, and Major Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the American forces in France. Though both officers have equal rank, General Bliss takes precedence by virtue of his position as the directing head of the entire army organization. The new grade carries a salary of $10,000 a year, an increase of $2,000 over the pay of Major General.

The grade of Lieutenant General also was revived by Congress, th erank to be given commanders of army corps, but it was stated authoritatively at the War Department today that there was no intention of creating any Lieutenant Generals or army corps in he United States at this time, as the divisional training system is to be continued. The name of Major Gen. Sibert is mentioned as the most likely candidate for the first commission as Lieutenant General when an army corps is organized in France, as he commanded the first troops sent to Europe.

Besides the new commissions for Generals Bliss and Pershing, the President today signed commissions of Army Bureau Chiefs to be Major Generals and commissions for many new Brigadier Generals whose nominations were confirmed by the Senate in the closing hours of the last session of Congress.

NO HITCH IN EMBARGO POLICY

British License for Danish Ship Probably Antedated Wilson's Decree

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The statement, published by THE NEW YORK TIMES, that a British letter of assurance was found on a Danish ship which was prevented from sailing by the order issued by President Wilson has been quoted here by newspapers which condemn the British blockade policy.

Inquiries which have been made by THE TIMES correspondent in a well-informed quarter produce the suggestion that the letter in question antedated the President's embargo decree, although there is a lack of information which would permit a positive statement concerning this individual case.

It is emphatically stated, however, that all British blockade measures are taken in complete harmony with Washington and that letters of assurance are not issued unless it is certain that Washington approves in each case. The system of letters of assurance is maintained by the British Government only as a convenient administrative device. Their issue is in every case dependent upon the wishes of th American authorities.

THE Linoleum Sale of the Year!

10,000 Square Yards—NAIRN Make—Now at an Average Saving of 25 Per Cent

The Nairn factory—one of the largest in the world—is so jealous of the good name of NAIRN Linoleums that it's a by-word among men in the trade.

We purchased at an unusual figure a quantity of Nairn Linoleums, including a quantity slightly imperfect. A trained buyer would notice the slight defects, but no two out of ten homekeepers would. They interfere with the splendid wearing qualities not a particle.

That is the story of the sale. The Nairn people have accumulated 10,000 square yards. They wanted a quick, certain outlet. What more natural than to invite GIMBELS to take them over for the Birthday Sales? This is perhaps the most important news in today's paper for homes.

DETECTIVE TELLS OF HIRING GUNMEN

CAUGHT ON RIVER ISLAND

Had Fled There In Horror After Murder of Policeman—Senator Vare's Name Again Brought In.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Michael J. Sullivan, a private detective of New York, who hired the eighteen Frog Hollow gunmen and brought them from New York for "service" in the Fifth Ward on primary election day, when a policeman was murdered, made a dramatic appearance at the resumption of the hearing today of the murder conspiracy charges against Mayor Smith, William E. Finley, Isaac Deutsch, and their co-defendants.

Sullivan stepped from among the spectators when his name was called, took the stand, and told his story. Quietly, without the slightest indication of excitement or the least evidence of a desire to shield himself, he rehearsed the preliminaries to the engagement of the "musketeers," or the "mob," as he called them; he named the price they were to receive; he told of the purchase by himself of the white ribbon, their badge; of the arrangements made between his chief, Samuel G. Maloney, manager of the Val O'Farrell Detective Agency, and Isaac Deutsch, and finally of his horror at the news of the murder of Policeman Eppley and of his flight.

Sullivan was captured Saturday night by detectives attached to the District Attorney's office on an island in the Delaware River, where he had sought relief, he said, from the mental torture induced by contemplation of the murder. The first the City Detective Bureau knew of the arrest was when Sullivan walked into court. There has been friction between the District Attorney and the police authorities over the handling of the case. It was stated that Sullivan voluntarily turned State's evidence.

Corroborated Other Witnesses.

This witness was the most important of the day. In effect he verified the testimony of Maloney as to the part Deutsch played in the employment of the gunmen, and bolstered up the testimony of preceding witnesses concerning his part in the movements of the gunmen and his work as a go-between for some of the men accused at the hearing.

The witness said the arrangements for the importation of the gunmen were made in the presence of Deutsch, who was contesting James A. Carey's ward leadership and candidacy for Select Council, and a certain Magistrate, who, the prosecution contends, issued in wholesale fashion blank warrants for the arrest on primary election day of Carey followers. Maloney, at this meeting, Sullivan said, gave him $100 to pay transportation expenses of the men brought here and remarked in Deutsch's presence that "the money was to be used in getting the men here for Mr. Deutsch."

Sullivan said that Maloney gave him $100 after the row and told him to "lay low." He fled to a lumber camp on the island in the Delaware River at the Delaware Water Gap, and remained there until he was arrested.

At the request of District Attorney Rotan, Sullivan was held under $5,000 bail for a further hearing Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy.

Conference at Atlantic City.

An entirely new phase of the case was presented by Fire Lieutenant Edwin M. Fair, who declared he had been let in on the game, which was planned as early as July, for police activities in the Fifth Ward. He said he was to lead one section of the "mob" and Lieutenant Bennett the other. By this method it was believed, "everything would be over early." He told of a conference at the Atlantic City cottage of Isaac Deutsch, in which he said the Mayor and Police Captain Kenny participated. Deutsch, he said, told him Kenny declared he "wanted a shot at Carey's head," because the opposition leader had "sneered at him in City Hall."

"He said," declared Fair, "he would send 500 police in patrol wagons into the ward if that number were necessary to beat them up."

It was near the end of Fair's testimony when he delivered a blow which brought such audible expressions of surprise from every quarter of the courtroom that the proceedings were halted while officers shouted for order.

"Deutsch," he said, "gave it out that in case of trouble Senator Vare had made arrangements for bailing all hands."

ROB JAS. M. GIFFORD OF $25,000 IN JEWELS

Upper Floor of New York Lawyer's House Ransacked While Family Is at Dinner.

CHATHAM, N. J., Oct. 8.—A porch climber, working with a companion succeeded in robbing the Summer home of James M. Gifford, a lawyer of Gifford Hobbs & Beard, 30 Broadway, New York, of about 25,000 worth of jewelry while the family was dining this evening.

The robbery was not discovered until Mrs. Gifford, who complained of feeling a draught, ordered the butler to go upstairs and see if a window had been left open. The butler discovered the screen door leading to the porch had been broken and that everything in the room of Mrs. Gifford had been turned topsy-turvey. There was a good-sized closet in the room, and the door of this had also been broken open. In this closet the jewelry had been kept.

Police Captain Heather was called, and Mrs. Gifford told him that the jewelry, mostly hers, was valued at about $25,000. She was so hysterical at its loss that she was not able to make up an itemized list of the valuables taken.

Captain Heather believes that the robbery was the work of two men. He says there was a mysterious ringing of the front door bell while the family was at dinner, and that when the butler went to the door there was no one there. A few minutes later this was repeated. Captain Heather believes that the ringing of the door bell was a ruse to cover the main working upstairs.

In the afternoon an Italian peddler was about the place selling laces, which he said had been smuggled into the country by his brother, who was a sailor.

Mrs. Wilson Praises Work for Fliers

At a meeting of the Aviation Committee of the National Special Aid Society, 259 Fifth Avenue, yesterday a letter from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was read, in which the President's wife expressed her appreciation of the committee's work. Mrs. Wilson has, the letter said, "known of the great work which is being done by the Aviation Committee, and feels the keenest interest in its undertaking." Announcement was made of the receipt of $2,400 from a treasure and trinket sale. With a part of this a demand for warm clothes for aviators had been supplied and 300 sets of sweaters, gloves, and socks were sent to fill the demand.

BUILDING ZONE ATTACKED.

Validity of Action Dividing City Argued in Court of Appeals.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The validity of the so-called building zone resolution of the New York City Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which divided the city into three classes of districts, was attacked in the Court of Appeals today in the case of Estelle P. Anderson against Steinway & Sons.

The action was brought for a specific performance of a contract for the sale of property at 112 West Fifty-eighth Street, Manhattan. The appellant filed a nanswer in the lower court admitting that the plaintiff was willing to fulfill the contract on her part, that she tendered a deed of the premises on Aug. 1, 1916, and that the defendant refused to pay the balance of the purchase money.

Steinway & Sons alleged that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York did, subsequent to the signing of the contract and under the power conferred by the laws of 1916, pass a building zone resolution, and that the block where the plaintiff's property was located was a residence district. Steinway & Sons insisted that the resolution placed an incumbrance on the property and that the plaintiff, therefore, was unable to convey title to the property and that the plaintiff's title was unmarketable.

MISS RANKIN GIVES HOPE.

Member of Congress Says Prospect for Suffrage Is Brighter.

Congressman Jeannette Rankin was at the headquarters of the Suffrage Parade workers, 15 East Fifty-ninth Street, yesterday afternoon, and assisted in arranging the 1,000,000 signatures of women who want the vote which are to be carried in the parade. Miss Rankin said that the prospect of women getting the vote had never been so good as at the present time.

"The women will surely be given the vote in New York," she said, "and that will be an aid in the Congressional work. I do not think that the action of the pickets has injured the cause. All work for suffrage helps to push it along."

Triangle,— and the Doctrine of Antecedent Probability

Which is another way of saying: What has happened before will happen again.

There's no real knowing, I suppose, that soda and acid will "fizz." None, that is, except that, when put together, they always have fizzed. Pretty nearly everything we do is done on that basis—from striking a match to building a battleship. All of which has to do with you and me—and Triangle.

I don't say Triangle Pictures—for they are only a product—I say Triangle, meaning rather an idea than a thing.

The other night I saw Douglas Fairbanks in a motion picture for acting in which they say he was paid $15,000 a week (which is ten times President Wilson's salary)—and I guess it's true.

Then—this afternoon—I was going through some old papers, and ran across Douglas Fairbanks' contract for his first appearance on the screen. It was in "The Lamb"—one of the early Triangle pieces that he made his bow; and I honestly believe, wonderful as he is today, he was even better then, fresher, keener, more magnetic.

There was a memorandum there on Ford Stirling, too.

How well I remember the day we lost Ford Stirling—whom we all thought the greatest living comedian; and how hard it was to cheer my associates with talk of one Charles Chaplin—(to whom we were paying $150 a week).

Yet, after all, Chaplin was a fair substitute, and is earning near a million a year to-day.

* * * *

What fun that bundle of papers was, to be sure, and how it bristled with names you know so well! Sweet Mae Marsh was in it—and Bobby Heron; rollicking Mabel Normand—Mack Sennett (who invented the flying pie), Norma Talmadge and calm, quiet, dignified, deadly William S. Hart.

Interesting! Yes. Stevenson never told a better tale. And, oh, so human.

But back to the big words in the heading. With few—very few—exceptions, the greatest moving picture people have grown into success wholly in pictures. This applies to directors as well as stars. Griffith is a shining example.

And a preponderating majority of moving picture successes have come to success in the Triangle Company or the producing organizations which are a part of it.

Why?

Well, I think I know. And, frankly, the subject seems to interest people so much when they hear it, that I think it will interest you to read it.

I'm printing this mainly for that reason.

And—incidentally—it is good business for people to know about the Triangle kind of success; to realize that Triangle methods are developing every day directors and stories and stars that make the development of Fairbanks and Griffith and Chaplin and the "Birth of a Nation" seem poor and thin by comparison.

I believe that the Doctrine of Antecedent probability is true; that what has happened before will happen again!

Watch it.

FIRST LIBERTY TRUCK FOR ARMY FINISHED

Seventy-two Automobile Plants Turn Out Standardized Parts in Secrecy.

HAS NEW LIBERTY MOTOR

Original Machine Built in Factory Sighted Only from Roof and Under Armed Guard Night and Day.

LIMA, Ohio, Oct. 8.—The first Liberty Motor Truck for the United States Army, product of the greatest motor truck designers of the country and the combined genius of twelve motor truck plants and sixty-two automobile parts factories, was completed here today at a local manufacturing plant.

The standardized machine, of which 35,000 copies will be turned out in the first half of 1918 for the army, is said to represent the perfection of automobile truck development. Its motor power is derived from the new Liberty Motor, recently perfected at Washington by War Department experts.

Lima is preparing for a great patriotic demonstration when the new army truck has its first road test, probably late this week. High army officers, including the Quartermaster General and possibly Secretary of War Baker, are arranging to attend. Following tests at the factory, the truck will start on an endurance run to the East.

The first Liberty Motor truck was built in the gratest secrecy to protect it from enemy eyes. A building without windows and lighted only by skylights housed the truck during the three weeks of its construction. The plant was closely guarded by armed men night and day.

As an added precaution, a second truck was assembled in an Eastern city. As each part was completed here, a duplicate was dispatched to a northern New York town, where mechanics assembled a second machine. If the parts were small, they were sent by registered mail. If too big to ship that way, trusted mechanics carried them personally by train.

Similar precautions surrounded parts manufactured in the sixty-odd factories that contributed to the machine. As each part was completed it was dispatched to Lima with an army representative, who kept factory officials informed of his progress by telegraph. No one company knows the complete design or what other companies made other parts.

The truck was assembled at a local motor truck factory of which Ralph Austin is Chief Engineer. Mr. Austin is Chairman of the standardized motor truck committee of the Council of National Defense, and had a leading part in designing the new truck.

The completed truck is said to be the strongest compared with the load it is designed to carry ever turned out in this country. Every part has been enormously strengthened to cope with the rough usage of war. It carries more than 1,000 pounds of dead weight in excess of commercial trucks of corresponding capacity. The truck will be used only for the army, and will not be placed on the market, Government officials say.

Because of its increased weight it is said the truck is unsuited for normal use because of the large amount of gasoline and oil required for its operation. Also it is said that the factories which have given free use of their patents for the design stipulated that the new truck was to be for Government use only.

In outward design the machine represents no radical departure from the usual army motor truck. However, every part has been so standardized that when the first order of 35,000 trucks is delivered to the army, they could all be torn down, the parts mixed indiscriminately, and 35,000 complete trucks reassembled. All parts are interchangeable, which is expected to give added efficiency at the front.

CAMP NEAR NORFOLK READY

Daniels Enthusiastic Over Progress on Naval Training Quarters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Daniels returned today from a trip to Norfolk full of enthusiasm over the progress being made at the new naval training camp and fleet operating base at Hampton Roads, the extensions at the Norfolk Navy Yard ,and other extensive improvements of the navy in that neighborhood.

"The new naval training camp at Hampton Roads is ready for the reception of men," the Secretary said. "Seventeen hundred will be sent there next week ,and the same number each ensuing week until all the 10,000 provided fo rare stationed there. The entire camp covers 400 acres, and embraces more than 150 buildings. Good progress is being made in the work of construction, and when it is completed we shall have an ideal training station.

"Construction is going forward so rapidly on the big drydock at the Norfolk Navy Yard, which will accommodate the largest vessels afloat, that it is expected to have it ready six months ahead of the time originally fixed for completion. The foundation, the engineers report, is the best possible; the excavation is practically completed, and the site is ready for the concrete work."

Fifteen other camps for naval recruits are completed. That at Pelham Bay Park, New York, accommodates 5,000 men, and was opened on Oct. 1, work having begun July 10.

The camp at the Philadelphia Navy Yard for 5,000 men was finished Aug. 30, after a hundred days of work. Quarters for 5,000 were erected at Newport in thirty days, having been completed several months ago. At Mare Island, Cal., site clearing began May 8, and barracks for 5,000 men were ready July 14. The Puget Sound cantonment for 5,000 is nearing completion.

In Brooklyn a camp for 3,000 was erected in a city park between July 1 and Aug. 1; at Charleston, S. C., quarters for 1,000 men were built in twenty days, and 4,000 others in five weeks.

Other camps are located at Hingham, Mass.; at Portsmouth, N. H.; at Cape May, N. J.; at Norfolk, Va.; at Key West, Fla.; at Pensacola, Fla.; at New Orleans, and San Francisco.

Work is proceeding on the new camps at Gulfport, Miss., and San Diego, Cal., extensive exposition grounds at both places having been taken over by the Navy Department.

The Loom for the Mill—The Dictaphone for Mail

You know that Bliss, Fabyan & Co., and other great textile concerns, employ fine modern looms and methods to speed up production and minimize waste.

HOOVER WILL TEST 5-CENT WAR BREAD

Philadelphia Experiment to Fix a Standardized Method of Mixing and Making.

EXPERT TO TEACH BAKERS

Trade Commission Will Report Cost of Manufacture—Wide Difference in Prices.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Philadelphia is to be the scene of an experiment by Herbert C. Hoover, national Food Administrator, in the preparation of a 5-cent loaf of war bread. It is proposed, also, to establish a standardized method of mixing and making the bread. The new war loaf, it is said, will save sugar, lard, and milk, and yet be wholesome. The Department of Agriculture has sent D. R. Jacobs of the Bureau of Chemistry here to instruct bakers.

"The exact weight of the new loaf I cannot tell at present," Mr. Jacobs said, "but its size will effect a considerable saving over present prices. After the experiment is tried out in this city we shall establish the same methods and recipes in every section of the United States. We are satisfied that if the bakers carry out instructions they will be able to put the new bread on the market at a profit that will allow them to continue business as usual."

According to Mr. Jacobs, the new bread is the result of a long series of experiments which were successful.

Trade Board Report Today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Recommendations will be made shortly by the Food Administration for a standardization loaf of bread which it is believed can be sold, under the new flour prices, at a considerably lower rate than is now being charged. A sixteen or fourteen ounce loaf probably will be favored and the public will be asked to place the ban on fancy rolls and bread and to cooperate with the bakers to cut down delivery charges.

The Food Administration and Federal Trade Commission have been at work on investigations into baking costs with the view of working out a program for the baking industry which will bring practical results and a report by the commission will be presented tomorrow. It has been found, it is understood, that there has been much waste and extravagance which Herbert C. Hoover, the Food Administrator, believes all will endeavor to stop.

Reports received by the Food Administration from fifty-two scattered points throughout the country show that bakers have been charging almost any price that they can obtain. Dealers in districts only a few miles apart have been charging prices which vary in some instances more than 100 per cent. Some of the figures seem to indicate that a sixteen-ounce loaf for 8 cents should provide the bakers a very reasonable profit if even the smallest effort at economy were made.

Wide Variance in Prices.

In Pleasantville, N. J., for the week ending Sept. 1, a 16-ounce loaf of bread was selling for six cents. This was the lowest price record reported for the United States. For the same week a 16-ounce loaf was selling for 15 cents in Rock Falls, Ill.; Eastport, Me.; Red Bank, N. J.; Miami, Okla.; Gallitzea, Penn.; Nashville, Tenn.; Laramie, Wyo., and Newport, Conn.

The high price record went to Paragould, Ark., where, in the week ending Sept. 8, 20 cents was charged for a 16-ounce loaf. In Eagle Pass, Texas, a 16-ounce loaf sold for 7½ cents. It sold for eight cents in Lansing, Mich.; Houston, Texas, and Chippewa Falls, Wis., and for 15 cents in Grinnell, Iowa; West Point, Miss., and Lowell, Mass.

A 14-ounce loaf sold for six cents in Lock Haven, Penn., and Nashville, Tenn.; seven cents in Winfield, Kan.; Grafton, W. Va.; Evansville, Ind., and Ann Arbor, Mich.; 10 cents in Jefferson, Iowa; West Point, Miss., and Corvallis, Oregon, and 15 cents in Paragould, Ark.; Ridgewood, N. J., and Abington, Mass.

A 12-ounce loaf sold for five cents in Rock Falls, Ill.; Brownsville, Texas, and Douglas, Ariz.; six cents in Santa Monica, Cal.; Annapolis, Md.; Westminster, Md.; Camden, N. J., and Renova, Penn., 10 cents in Paragould, Ark.; Ridgewood, N. J.; Gloversville, N. Y.; Lock Haven, Penn.; Herrin, Ill.; Peru, Ind.; Monongahela, Penn., and Nashville, Tenn., and 12 cents in Laramie, Wyo.

TESTIFIES AGAINST WIFE.

Would End Her Suit Against Former Admirer and Take Her Out of Court.

Supreme Court Justice Giegerich last night directed a sealed verdict in the $50,000 breach of promise suit of Mrs. Gladys Teed Walde against Dr. Francis D. Griffin, a dentist. Raymond Leonard Walde, instructor in science at the Scarsdale High School, who married the plaintiff on May 19, was a witness for Dr. Griffin, and said that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Teed, compelled him to leave his wife when he wouldn't agree to testify in her behalf because his conscience forbade it.

"If I had my way about it I would take my wife out of this courtroom this minute, stop this suit, and make a woman of her," said Walde.

TALLEST POLE PUT IN PLACE

Steel Mast 207 Feet High Erected in Front of Bronx Armory.

The largest military staff in the country, made of the mainmast and boom of the American cup winner Columbia, was put in place yesterday in front of the Eighth Coast Artillery Armory, Jerome Avenue and Kingsbridge Road, the largest armory in the world. The mast is 207 feet long, weighs seven tons, and is made of sheet steel reinforced. It was placed twelve feet in the ground in a concrete bed.

Colonel E. F. Austin, in charge of the Eighth Coast Defense Command, and Colonel W. Walk, U. S. A., District Commander of the Middle Atlantic Coast District, made a special trip from Fort Totten to view the erection of the mast. Major S. G. Teets, Commander of the Depot, was also present.

Fourteen contractors refused the offer before W. Konop, of Ravenswood, L. I., consented to place the mast in position. The Columbia won the America cup in 1899 and in 1901. The sailing yacht was designed by Nathaniel Persher and was owned by J. P. Morgan.

Virginius Mayo Asks Court to Reduce Miss Meyer's Award.

Supreme Court Justice Goff heard argument yesterday on an application by James W. Osborne, counsel for Virginius St. Julian Mayo, for the reduction of the $100,000 verdict returned against Mayo by a jury that heard the suit of Miss Wilhelmina Meyer for $250,000 damages because she was induced to live with Mayo for years under the belief that she was his wife. Mr. Osborne said that even if the plaintiff is allowed $10,000 a year, at which rate she alleges she lived with Mayo, she is entitled to only $80,000 because by the longevity tables Mayo has only eight years longer to live. He also pointed out that Mayo has already given the plaintiff $15,000 in real estate and $15,000 in jewelry.

Edmund L. Mooney for Miss Meyer contended that she should be compensated on the basis of her station in life as the wife of one of the prominent and wealthy residents of New Haven. He said that she suffered a loss of prospects, and that each year she lived with Mayo was a continuing loss. The court reserved decision.

1,000 LONGSHOREMEN OUT FOR MORE PAY

Clyde and Mallory Ship Loaders Demand 45 Cents an Hour and 85 Cents on Sunday.

WANT A NINE-HOUR DAY, TOO

Managers Call Strike Unfair and Unpatriotic, as Vessels Are in Government Service.

Just as the North River water front had settled down after the strike on the Chelsea piers, because a foreman did not suit the longshoremen, trouble was started again last night by 1,000 men employed on Piers 36, 37, and 45, operated by the Clyde and Mallory Steamship lines, who struck for more pay.

The longshoremen are getting 40 cents an hour, 60 cents for overtime, and 65 cents for Sunday and holiday work. They have demanded 45 cents, 65 cents, and 85 cents, longer time for meals and a nine-hour instead of a ten-hour day. The management refused the demand and the men walked out.

H. H. Raymond, President of the Clyde and Mallory lines, said yesterday that the longsoremen had violated their contract, which did not expire until Dec. 31 next. He added that the men had been well treated in the matter of wages, and that their strike was not only unfair but unpatriotic, as the steamships were engaged in Government work.

"Here is a summary of wages paid by our lines to the men on the piers," Mr. Raymond continued, "which will give some idea of the increases they have received in the last two years. In 1915 they got 30 cents an hour and 33 cents for overtime and holidays. In the Fall of that year the rate was raised to 32 cents, 40 cents, and 45 cents for Sundays and holidays. In 1916 the longshoremen signed an agreement at 35 cents, 50 cents, and 65 cents, which we increased voluntarily to 40 cents, 60 cents, and 65 cents. The more wages they get the more they demand, and now it has got to the point where we must make a stand."

Superintendents on the piers along the North River said yesterday that men who could not sign their names were making from $60 to $75 a week working on ships, and that such incomes had turned their heads. It would be well, it was suggested, for Liberty bond salesmen to come down to the piers on Saturdays when the longshoremen are paid and get some of their money.

The strike had not spread last night to the Atlantic liners at the Chelsea piers, but leaders of the strikers threatened to call out 6,000 longshoremen today if the Mallory and Clyde lines did not settle.

Paul A. Vacarelli, General Organizer and Vice President of the International Longshoremen's Association, said last night that the proper officials had not been consulted about the strike, and that he thought that he ought to have been informed about it. He said he did not agree with the strikers, because whatever the matters in dispute might be they could have been settled amicably.

MEXICAN REBELS IN FLIGHT.

Gonzales's Men Pursued by Troops After Sacking a Town.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 8.—Revolutionary bands of General Porfirio Gonzales today were reported headed for Mendez, a small interior town in Tamaulipas, closely pursued by Government troops.

Reports from isolated points near the border say a detachment of Gonzales's troops, under command of a man named Rodriguez, sacked the town of Treviño in an effort to obtain a large amount of money possessed by three citizens, but failed, the men escaping with the money.

Citizens of Mier, Mexico, learning of a prospective attack, prepared to resist it, but Government troops arrived in time to thwart the attack.

BILLIE BURKE AS THE FAMILY ANGEL

Rescues Her Aristocratic Household by Three Engagements with One Marriage.

The Author of "A Successful Calamity" and "Annabelle" Attempts a Star Vehicle.

Angela.....Billie Burke

Of our writers of light drawing-room comedy Clare Kummer is undoubtedly the most sophisticated, the most bewitchingly, bafflingly subtle—and if she is our only writer of that description the statement is all the more indubitably true. Billie Burke is unsophisticated to the point of native wildness, and so far from subtle that countless millions dote on her. When the subtle dramatizes the obvious, what is the result?

At the Hudson Theatre it is a far more amusing evening than might have been expected. The thousands who delighted in "Good Gracious Annabelle!" and "A Successful Calamity" may find "The Rescuing Angel" below Miss Kummer's high standard; and the millions who have delighted in Miss Burke may wonder vaguely what her new vehicle is all about. But the indications are that it will be seen and laughed at by parties of both the parts.

Angela is daughter of an amiable aristocrat "whose fortune has dwindled without his noticing it." Coming home from a trip to Honolulu, she finds the mortgagee, so to speak, on the veranda, and announces that she is to be a rescuing Angela. Two very multi-millionaires have fallen in love with her, under the influence of a Honolulu moon shining over the Pacific Ocean, and have followed her home. Neither has spoken, but she has only to choose.

It happens that when she departed she was engaged to the boy next door, and she appears to have no especial preference between the two Honolulu moonlighters; but no matter! The mortgages shall be removed from the metaphorical veranda—just how, she will know when the time comes!

Her first choice is the rough diamond millionaire, whose father was a prizefighter and a saloon keeper. Apparently the choice is accelerated by the fact that the chief intellectual interest of the other millionaire is in gathering and relating statistics.

The boy next door she whimsically ignores. But, being very much a boy, he "rises to the occasion" and "takes matters into his own hands." In short, he goes to the bridegroom of an hour and tells him that he has been married for his money. This makes the rough diamond very rough—to a vase of roses on the table. Angela flees to her home and proposes to the statistical millionaire. Dear me, how the adorers of Miss Burke's native woodnote wild must be puzzled by such conduct. Good gracious, Angela!

Those who have come to know Miss Kummer through Annabelle do not say, "Good Gracious!" They laugh, quite delightedly. For they know that though Angela speaks and acts thus monstrously it is out of a sophisticated sense of the realities of life and a whimsical delight in projecting them against conventional notions.

Impulsive she is, in a true, feminine way; but she is also mysteriously subtle, satirical. And it presently transpires to the initiate that she is really in love with her rough diamond son of a prizefighter and respects his lineage. For, in addition to being a good prizefighter, has was also romantic. When the political gang bust his saloon, did he not die of a broken heart?

So in the end we have her coming back to him and offering to right the vase herself and put back the roses in it. But even here she is still mastered by that whimsical, indwelling sense of the facts of life, and their very comic way of impinging upon our ideals. "Sad as this moment is," she says as she finally embraces her husband, "I suppose it is the happiest of our life."

It cannot be said that Miss Burke is very successful in projecting that portion of Annabelle which is subtle and subcutaneous. Where Lois Fisher's Annabelle was almost static in immobility, with wide-open eyes that opened a window to her mental insides, this Angela is a creature wholly cutaneous—which is, of course, to say, wholly cute. And she agitates considerably.

When the lines admit of an outward, emotional rendering, she fairly falls upon them. It must be more than a little mystifying to those who do not know the other Good-gracious lady. Yet there has evidently been much able stage managing, and the result is far better than it might have been. Angela is interesting throughout, often most amusing, and always charming.

Frederick Perry is a very satisfactory rough diamond, with quite the simple, manly bearing which is needful. As the statistical suitor, Roland Young is so blankly, gravely, and therefore truly in the secret of Miss Kummer's humor, as to be quite irresistible. A real Annabelle sort of lady must have been seriously tempted to take him, even with his statistics.

Robert McWade gave an astonishing impersonation in the part of a lawyer named Meyer Kolinsky, whose interest in Angela's matrimonial projects was somewhat in the nature of a Schatchen—by far the freshest and most laughable performance of the evening, though beautifully restrained in method. As Angela's amiably vacuous parents, Marie Wainwright and Claude Gillingwater also caught the subtle, sad Kummer manner.

One and all, in fact, the cast which Arthur Hopkins has provided is admirable to perfection. The three scenes are in the restrained and decorative manner of Robert Edmund Jones.

Mrs. Thomas Whiffen at the Palace.

The veteran actress Mrs. Thomas Whiffen provides the sole novelty at the Palace this week with a sketch called "Where There's a Will There's a Way," a well-mannered but artless playlet obviously compounded for the purpose of supplying Mrs. Whiffen with a vehicle. The program, as a whole, is excellent, being made up of such dependables as Nora Bayes, Eddie Leonard, Duffy and Inglis, and the ever-amusing Joe Jackson.

WAR TAX MAY BEGIN NOV. 1.

Managers Learn That a Mistake Is Likely to Shorten Time One Month.

It was learned here yesterday that the war tax on theatre tickets, which was to have become operative on Dec. 1, probably will go into effect on Nov. 1 instead. Ligon Johnson, counsel for the United Managers' Protective Association, said that he had been informed over the long-distance telephone by Congressman Kitchin that a mistake had been made in the engrossing of the bill, and that November had been written instead of December. The bill had been signed by the President, he said, in that form.

If such were the case, said Mr. Johnson, the managers would have no recourse but to submit. The shortened time, however, means that rapid arrangements will have to be made, and a decision will be reached in Washington this week as to the way in which the tax is to be collected. The amusement provision, as amended by the House and later approved by the Senate, provides only for a direct tax of 10 per cent. on the box office price, with no assessment of any sort on premiums.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The opening of "The Claim," which was to have taken place tonight at the Fulton, has been postponed until Friday.

"Daybreak" will end its engagement at the Harris Theatre on Saturday, and "Romance and Arabella," a comedy by William Hurlbut, will be produced there by Joseph Ritter next Monday. Laura Hope Crews will have the leading role, and the company will include Alice Augarde Butler, Alice Putnam, Jennie Lamont, Felix Krembs and Harry Ashford.

Frank Craven has been engaged for the principal role in "Going Up," a musical comedy which Cohan and Harris are soon to produce.

James Montgomery's war play, "Drafted," had its first performance at Albany last night and will be brought to New York in a few weeks. Among those in the company are Emmet Corrigan, William H. Thompson, Pauline Lord, Lizzie Hudson Collier, Allan Dinehart and Harry C. Browne.

Lowe's Seventh Avenue Theatre, at Seventh Avenue and 124th Street, which has been housing vaudeville and films, opened last night as a legitimate playhouse. "Good Night Paul," recently seen at the Hudson, is the first week's attraction.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

THE marvelous growth of Sonora (1917 sales 100 times those of 1913) is due solely to intrinsic value. A phonograph merely "as good" or "slightly better" could never have achieved such results in the face of the vigorous competition and extensive publicity of older established machines.

If you want "The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World" you must buy the Sonora.

For a Calm, Cool Smoke

—there is nothing like VELVET. There is nothing hot or hasty about VELVET, either in its making or its smoking.

Every grain of VELVET that goes into your pipe has been aged in wooden hogsheads for at least two years.

Those two years give to VELVET its mildness, its mellowness, its cool smoothness.

Subject: HOW TO SIZE UP MEN.

Dr. Blackford has studied people in all parts of the United States and Canada and in eighteen foreign countries for the past eighteen years. She has learned how to judge the real characters of men and women by looking at them. She has taught her methods to thousands of business and professional men. She formulated the Blackford Employment Plan, by means of which many corporations and firms are now saving money by selecting employes well fitted for their work. Several firms retain her to give advice in the selection of applicants for important positions. People she has trained are doing this work successfully in a number of organizations.

This series of lecture lessons will be definite, so that every hearer will learn something he can use in his business.

Oftentimes people find standing room only at Dr. Blackford's lectures. So it will pay you to order seats early.

ANTI-GERMANS TO THE SOUTH OF US.

Uruguay's action in breaking off diplomatic relations with Germany is another symptom of the strong and growing anti-German feeling in the republics to the south of the United States. On Uruguay's part this feeling is well known. Last Summer her President declared in an Executive Order that no American country that should come into a state of war in defense of its rights would be treated by Uruguay as a belligerent. Uruguay gave a cordial welcome to the visiting American naval squadron. Her seizure two weeks ago of the German vessels at Montevideo was a sufficient notice of her intentions, which at any other time Germany would have answered by a declaration of war.

It may be presumed that Uruguay's latest step is intended to have an effect on her big neighbor, Argentina. The gross insult to the Argentine Minister of Foreign Affairs revealed by the publication of the von Luxburg telegrams and his sinister "sunk without traces" advice to the German Foreign Office were enough, without the submarine controversy, to arouse a great State, high-spirited, disgusted with the broken German promises in which the Argentine Minister at Berlin lately expressed such artless or infatuated pro-German confidence. VON LUXBURG had to be smuggled out of the country, and several other South American countries indicated their unwillingness to receive that ornament of diplomacy even in transitu. There was violent popular indignation. Both branches of the Congress voted to break off diplomatic relations with Germany. The Radical President, Mr. IRIGOYEN, for reasons not understood, setting up the technical reason that he wished a conference of the two houses on the matter, has so far suspended action.

Uruguay reminds the Argentinians and South Americans generally that in the world-contest of democracy with autocracy there should be a solidarity of the republics. A genuine Pan Americanism, a union of all the American States in this hemisphere in defense of the common cause of republicanism, in defense also of international law, has been manifesting itself. An immense region, where German capital, German commerce and industry, German propaganda, have long been powerful, has largely turned against Germany. Panama and Cuba, which immediately followed the United States into the war, may be said, by their enemies, to have been influenced by interest or by gratitude to the United States; from the German viewpoint they were "coerced." They obeyed, in fact, a generous sentiment. They saw on which side the friends of freedom stood. Neutrality, at most a benevolent neutrality, was all that could be fairly expected of them. They might have rested on a "correct" attitude. They wanted to help democracy. In Cuba there were strong German interests. Hayti is under American control. Her rupture with Germany the Germans might consider the result of "coercion." What must they think of Costa Rica, whose present Government has never been recognized by the United States; of Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, of Brazil, Bolivia, Peru, Uruguay? Of the three A B C Powers, Brazil will have nothing to do with Germany, which has had so great hopes of German influence there; Chile has expressed her sympathy with the defense of international law by the United States, Argentina is on the brink of a rupture. In the very countries where German money, German interests, and German propagandism have been relied on so long, two republics are at war with Germany, nine have broken diplomatic relations with her, and others are seen to follow.

This is not merely a part of the general judgment of mankind on Germany, and an illustration of German "efficiency," diplomatic and otherwise. It destroys German hopes for increasing trade and influence in Central and South America after the war. What do the German people think of these new triumphs of the masters that have brought them to ruin?

The dead line against Germany lengthens. The embargo against her neighbor neutrals grows tighter. Her merchant marine in South American ports is added to the shipping of the Allies.

INTERBOROUGH POSTAGE.

Hitherto it has been only a sentimental grievance that letters sent to street addresses in the various boroughs of Greater New York were delayed in delivery if addressed to "New York City" unless they happened to be intended for Manhattan. The Manhattan office would exhaust itself in finding a Manhattan address, but would not deliver in other boroughs where the address might easily be found.

Something of the rigor of this practice has been abated, but it now is announced as a policy in calculating postage. The New York Postmaster is quoted as saying that under the new law postage must be calculated by postal districts, and that three cents will be collected on letters passing between boroughs. Two cents will take a letter from the Battery to Van Cortlandt Park, but it will cost 3 cents to send letters across the East River bridges. The new law does not change the international rate, and letters sent over seas at the old domestic rate will continue to go at the same rate.

Congress probably did not intend it, but that is not a good reason why letters should not pass between boroughs in this city as they pass between wards in other cities. The trouble springs from the fact that letters are addressed according to the popular understanding of geographical facts, while the Post Office has an organization all its own of which letter writers are ignorant. It would be easier to get the Post Office to change its custom than for the Post Office to get letter writers to take notice of its interior organization and address letters by postal districts. Besides, New York has the same right to local rates as any other city. New York may have its domestic troubles about centralization vs. home rule, but it will be a unit against Washington on this issue.

If the new law is going to divide New York into postal districts, it will have to divide some other cities. New York was indifferent on the sentimental issue, but it will shriek over the extra cent until letters addressed to the boroughs are delivered as letters to one city instead of to five. Nobody cared when Brooklyn riders took a car to "New York," for it cost the same fare. But Brooklyn and the Bronx and the rest will discover now that they all are in New York City, whatever the Post Office may say about it.

GOVERNMENT AND THE PAPER-MAKERS.

Will the manufacturers of print paper in the United States actually force the Government to take possession of their mills, operate them, make and distribute paper to consumers at cost plus a reasonable profit to the owners of the mills? It would be a very serious matter, unsettling, disturbing, alarming to the industries of the country. The step proposed by the resolution of the Senate Committee on Printing, is something very different from the action taken by the Government in the case of wheat, steel, and coal. There the Government merely fixed the price. But under the Senate resolution it would take the paper mills away from their owners, operate them by a force of men in the Federal employ, and sell to consumers at cost plus a profit determined by itself to be reasonable. The Government, not the manufacturer, would make paper; the Government, not the owners of the mills, would determine what profit they should make.

The resolution and the report accompanying it are of extraordinary interest, not merely to the makers and consumers of print paper, but to all the industries of the country. The body of consumers affected includes all the newspapers and periodicals and the book publishers of the country. The Federal Trade Commission reported that at prevailing prices print paper will cost the publishers in 1917 more than $105,000,000, an increase of $35,000,000, or more than 50 per cent., over former prices. The Commission declares that of this $35,000,000, $17,500,000 represents "additional profits to the manufacturers." The manufacturers have had their warning. The Trade Commission undertook to negotiate an agreement for a reduced price, but that came to nothing. The Department of Justice has procured the indictment of some of the largest paper manufacturers, charging an agreement in restraint of trade. The manufacturers are aware that many of the smaller newspapers of the country have been compelled to pay a very high price; large consumers from $3 to $4.50 per hundred pounds, while the board declares that small publishers have paid as high as from $7.50 to $9 a hundred pounds at the mill for paper which, before the war, sold as low as $2 a hundred pounds delivered.

All these things are known to the manufacturers, yet they put themselves in the position of defying the Government, while continuing to demand these extravagant prices from publishers. For these reasons the Senate committee presents and recommends the adoption of the resolution intended to carry into effect the recommendation submitted to Congress by the Trade Commission some time ago:

> (1) That all mills producing, and all agencies distributing, print paper and mechanical and chemical pulp in the United States be operated on Government account, that these products be pooled in the hands of a Government agency and equitably distributed at a price based upon cost of production and distribution, plus a fair profit per ton.
> (2) That pursuant thereto some Federal agency be empowered and directed to assume the supervision and control thereof during the pendency of the war.

Co-operation by the Canadian Government would be sought for the control of the paper mills operated in the Dominion, which send 75 per cent. of their product to the United States. If co-operation were refused, paper could be imported from Canada only on condition that it came through a Government agency which would control its distribution.

This Senate resolution is a plain and final warning to the manufacturers of print paper that they must take heed to themselves. If they continue to defy the Government, it is practically certain that the resolution will be adopted, that we shall see Government operation of the paper mills, Government control of prices and profits. As one of the largest consumers of news-print paper, THE TIMES does not want to see that happen. This paper has always opposed Government ventures into business, and it would deeply regret the establishment of a precedent such as that contemplated in the resolution. As we have said, the effect on business would be very disquieting.

There is but one way to keep the Government out of the papermaking business. It is for the manufacturers of news print to come to their senses, abandon their excessive demands, and their most unwise defiance of the Government, make reasonable prices to publishers for the coming year, and put themselves in line with the men in control of other great industries who have very sensibly made agreements with the Government for the regulation of prices. The manufacturers are not asked to surrender their profits, they are asked merely to accept reasonable profits, like other manufacturers. Their present prices are extortionate. The Trade Commission has established a case against them. Since it is impossible for them to make a good defense of their present position, and since, in resisting all attempts to dislodge them from it, they incur visible and serious dangers, we should think they would have the wisdom to seek shelter while there is yet time.

If the manufacturers of print paper, as the Government charges, have illegally combined to raise prices, they know how to combine to lower prices. Of that the Government would make no complaint. Every consideration of prudence and self-interest should prompt them, without delay, to take the only course that will avert the very serious consequences involved in the adoption of the Senate resolution.

LA FOLLETTE'S DEFENSE.

It is to be hoped that the committee which is investigating Senator LA FOLLETTE will not allow itself to be engrossed in the question of what Mr. BRYAN said or did not say about the Lusitania. It is not of the least consequence whether Mr. LA FOLLETTE spoke the truth or did not when he cited Mr. BRYAN as knowing of the existence of a munition cargo on that vessel. There are only two questions at issue. One is whether Mr. LA FOLLETTE was correctly reported as denouncing the war in his St. Paul speech; and the other is the question not whether he should be deprived of his right to speak his mind, but whether he should be compelled to exercise that right somewhere else than in the Capitol of the nation.

Mr. LA FOLLETTE, in his address of defense, posed as a defender of free speech. If he had been a private citizen instead of a member of the Government, he could have taken that ground with some appearance of plausibility, whether his argument on the subject of free speech was correct or not. A private citizen who is arraigned on a charge of sedition might be justified in such a defense. But Mr. LA FOLLETTE is a part of the Government that is charged with the duty of protecting our soldiers and doing what it can to insure their victory. The charge against him is that, instead of performing his part of that duty, he is using his office of trust to handicap and nullify their efforts and put obstacles in the way of their victory.

If an officer or soldier in the army should utter seditious views, he would not be permitted to remain in the army. The right of free speech has that limitation, among others. But no officer or soldier is more truly a part of the army of the United States than Mr. LA FOLLETTE and his fellow-Senators are. Congress is a part of the Government, and as such is supposed to be leading these soldiers of ours into battle. When one of these leaders, instead of leading, tries to thwart and hinder the soldiers whose welfare is placed in his hands, his offense is morally worse than it would be if instead of being a Senator he were a Second Lieutenant.

Mr. LA FOLLETTE talks movingly of "our young men" who are "being taken by the hundreds of thousands," and has the sublime assurance to say, "Nothing must be left undone for their protection." This from the man who has gone up and down the country uttering words for the encouragement of their German enemies and for the bewilderment and disheartenment of their Russian allies! If Mr. LA FOLLETTE feels that his mind will not be easy unless he utters these words of disheartenment for Russia and of encouragement for Germany, let him take off his uniform. Let him cease to hold a position which makes it incumbent upon him in honor to support the war, to do his best to insure victory. If he feels that he must do what he can to thwart victory and paralyze effort, let him not do it at the head of the column. There is no issue of free speech in his case. Let him do his talking as a private citizen. The harm he does is not in what he says so much as in the office he holds. If he cannot discharge the duties which plainly lie upon the holder of that office, let him give it up, and let Germany and Russia understand that it is not LA FOLLETTE the officer who is talking but LA FOLLETTE the private citizen. If he were a private citizen, his attacks on the war, he is supposed to be helping to guide might be seditious or might be merely wrong-headed, but in his official position they wear an entirely different aspect. They then become nothing less than treachery to the national cause on the part of one of its Generals.

REGISTER TODAY.

It would be well for New York if every voter registered in 1916 could register again this year and cast a vote in the municipal election. This is a year in which precedents should be abolished. The issue is of vast importance. There is danger of the destruction of honest city government. If every man who really believes that the control of the Board of Estimate by Tammany Hall would have results disastrous for the city will register today, if he has not already registered, and vote without fail Nov. 6, there can be no doubt that the Fusion ticket will be elected. But there must be no trifling, no disposition on the part of any citizen to leave the work to others.

Today is the second day for registration. The books will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. You may register in the same hours every day until Saturday, when the registration will begin at 7 in the morning and last until 10:30 at night. There will be ample opportunity, therefore, for all voters to register, and there should be a Presidential year registration. The old device of putting forward a Republican ticket, which can only help Tammany, has been resorted to after a term of enlightenment. Mr. MITCHEL must have the vote of every intelligent and independent supporter of good government. Register today, if possible, and make his election certain.

LIBERTY LOAN HINDRANCES.

On behalf of the Federal Reserve Bank it is said that those who pay for their Liberty bonds first will get them first, ahead of those who pay on the installment plan. Failure to deliver the bonds "over the counter," as it were, was a hindrance to the first Liberty campaign, and it is agreeable to remark that it does not now exist. But it is also necessary to remark that all who pay in full lose their interest until Nov. 15. A month's interest at 4 per cent. is not a great matter, but there are those who find it necessary to consider it. Among them are those who would be likeliest to pay in full through their experience in the use of money. Only the inexperienced would be attracted by the delivery in the manner proposed. The fault is rather with the regulations than the statute authorizing the loan. If it were thought worth while, the regulations might be altered now. At least a memorandum might be made to prevent repetitions of even these slight hindrances.

That they are not vitally important appears from the Washington summary of the progress of the loan throughout the country. "Every district which has reported has shown "subscriptions far ahead of the record established during the first few "days of the former campaign." That is particularly true of this district. The large subscriptions were prompt and full, but already there is a similar response from the small subscribers in the country districts. Until the last few days of the former campaign the districts outside Greater New York took practically nothing. In the first week of this campaign some outer districts have already taken up to 44 per cent. of their share, and have hardly begun their work yet. It is because the prospect is so promising that it is possible to note some hindrances which it would seem might be removed, or at least avoided hereafter.

Therefore Mr. BENNETT is doing all in his power to elect Judge HYLAN and end good government at the City Hall.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

One Reason Is Not Sufficient. To explain the fact, so surprising to many, that of the young men recently drafted for military service more from the country than from the cities have been rejected for physical defects, the doctor in charge of the Federal Public Health Service in Baltimore presents a plausible theory. The difference is due, he says, to the failure, as yet, of the rural communities to give their children the benefit of the systematic medical examinations to which the pupils in most urban schools have for some time been subjected. The natural result, he thinks, is that in the country the boys suffer in after life from lack of skilled attention at the time when it is most effective, while the city boys are not thus handicapped.

That regular medical examination of school children is a commendable procedure cannot be denied, of course, but a like superiority of the city boys in strength and development was noted as long ago as the civil war, and then no children in either city or country received any medical treatment except at home. Some other explanation, therefore, must be sought, and it is probably a complex one, no single factor sufficing to cover the whole ground.

The common belief that country life is more healthful than city life seems to have no basis beyond the greater darkening of the skins of the country folk through exposure to the sun, and the assumption that pallor means illness. But "tan" proves little or nothing as to physical condition, as anybody can see who compares the average farmer of 60 with the average stockbroker of the same age. The former is usually a more or less broken man, while the latter much oftener is hale and hearty. The typical country boy is commonly put to hard work too soon, his food is not likely to be either well chosen or well cooked, and farmhouse sanitation and hygiene usually violate many of the rules on which health depends.

The Baltimore man forgot, too, that the pick of the country boys gravitate toward the city, leaving behind the unadventurous and unambitious, who are likely to be in one way or another below par physically as well as mentally. That is not as true now as it used to be, but the effect of this sort of selection is still to be seen in all the country districts.

Forfeited German Approval. Germans must have had a moment of satisfaction when they read—if they were allowed to read—the report of the speeches delivered at the National Socialist Congress now holding in Bordeaux. For, early in the proceedings, one of the orators announced, with the apparent approval of all his hearers, that it would be useless at this time to raise or discuss the question of which nation was responsible for starting the war.

That is good German doctrine, and, coming from a French Socialist, the assertion was calculated to cause much joy in the country where the desire to let that dangerous question severely alone, and to talk only about the present and the future, is naturally very strong. Unfortunately, from the German point of view, however, the speaker who made the contention so pleasing to the Germans hastened to explain that discussion of responsibility for the war was needless because that question had already been settled beyond dispute, and further debate, to be profitable, would have to be based on the certainty that the Central Powers began the great conflict.

As the truth of that assertion seemed self-evident to the delegates who heard it, the whole German case, in effect, was thrown out of court by these French Socialists. Therein they agree with the whole non-Teutonic world, or with so much of it that the remainder is undeserving of consideration from anybody except professional mathematicians. The facts with regard to the starting of the war are indeed on record, and the record can never be changed.

The Germans can say, accurately enough, that they are fighting in self-defense now, but their contention that the war was forced on them is veracious only if they mean that there would have been no war had there been no opposition to their advance against their neighbors. And that, really, is what they do mean—that is their real grievance against the other belligerents. Wolves would feel a like indignation toward sheep that unexpectedly developed fighting strength and the inclination and the ability to use it.

A Marriage Over the Telephone. Marriage by proxy was not very uncommon among the high and mighty, in other days, when, for one or another reason held good, it was deemed desirable to bind the contract before the parties to it could meet face to face. The law recognized the validity of such unions, and does so still, in most countries. A little different from the old-fashioned proxy marriages was the one reported yesterday as having been solemnized when the groom was in Camp Mills and the bride was way down in Georgia.

The ever-convenient telephone was called into use and it enabled the two to hear the officiating clergyman and to answer his momentous questions as well as if they had been standing before him in the customary attitudes.

A wedding ceremony so conducted would lack some of the impressive features and the solemnity to which we are accustomed, but there is no excuse for fearing that the knot was not tied fast, and it is little more than conceivable that any question will ever be raised as to the identity of those who stood at the two ends of the wire. Still, an ingenious novelist might devise a plot wherein the villain of the tale managed to deceive one or the other of the true lovers, and the subsequent complications might fill many exciting chapters.

Voices suffer curious changes when passing through the telephone, and it is the commonest of occurrences for close friends to recognize a distant speaker only after he or she has answered that frequent question, "Who is this?" Yet a vast amount of business in some ways as important as marriage is conducted safely over the telephone every day, and this curious extension of the service may become quite popular in time, especially with nervous grooms.

Isaac N. Seligman.

On my return from the mountains I was shocked to hear the sad news of the sudden and untimely death of Isaac N. Seligman. Mr. Seligman was one of our best citizens. He was a man of kindly disposition, of undoubted integrity throughout his long and successful career, and an ardent and untiring worker in all good causes. He was one of nature's noblemen. He will live long in the memory of his fellow-men, and his life will stand out as a shining example to this and coming generations.

ADOLPH LEWISOHN.

DR. ELIOT'S PLAN.

Objections to Any Informal Peace Negotiations.

Beyond establishing a common ground upon which all the belligerents can debate the terms upon which peace can be concluded, Dr. Eliot, in his article in yesterday's TIMES, fails to suggest anything that has not already been done, if the Pope's message may be considered as "informal steps toward peace"; nor is there anything in his proposal that will not happen in the natural course of present events. Dr. Eliot's proposal is tantamount to a "peace without victory." For have not all the nations and their people involved in the present struggle officially and unofficially stated their aims and their purposes in this war?

The only steps which can possibly determine this war are those which are being followed now, namely, the vigorous prosecution of the war by the Central Powers, as well as the Entente Allies, for it must be decided now whether the world is to proceed along economic lines, or whether it is to arm itself to oppose a rule under which "might makes right." The defeat of autocratic Germany will mean a victory for the German people and instead of remaining, as Dr. Eliot intimates, "a source of anxiety and dread for all Europe," reformed and democratized Germany will become the hope of the world.

This war will not be concluded by a negotiated peace; that would simply be the repetition of a "peace of paper." A peace without victory will be a victory for Germany without peace for the world. When peace finally comes, it will be the "peace of victory."

JOSEPH TAUSEK.

New York, Oct. 8, 1917.

President Eliot's call for a peace conference appearing in THE TIMES today is no more timely than his others for the same purpose. The unspeakable atrocities, tortures, and devastations of the three years and two months just past do not inspire considerations pointing to peace.

The work of the millions of brave men fighting for justice, liberty, the right to exist, and all humanity cannot stop short of subjugation to the point of unconditional surrender. Nothing less than this will answer present and future purposes, so that hereafter nations, big and little, shall be secure against the inroads of trained savages, and that sacred treaties may no longer be regarded as "scraps of paper."

RUSH C. HAWKINS.

Breckinridge and La Follette.

I have read with interest E. C. Coulter's letter published in today's (Sunday) TIMES. As a Northerner I agree with Mr. Coulter, a Southerner, in the view he takes of your comparison of John C. Breckinridge with La Follette. He is right to resent it. Still I believe he has missed the point, and, if I may say so, I believe THE TIMES also has missed it. Whatever the ethics of Breckinridge's defection from the Union, he was at least honest and honorable enough to come out into the open—to declare what he was, what his views were, without trying to disguise his intent under the cloak of Judas speech. One may, in fact, imagine Breckinridge's opinion of a La Follette. One also may picture his sensation at hearing himself compared with such.

But let me add that, in my opinion, the real point at issue in this affair has so far been overlooked. It is not that a United States Senator should become, and be, a traitor—the occasion in this instance is a mere canker, an accident; the point to be considered is that caustic treatment, the one cure, cannot be applied offhand. Remove the cause and the sore will cure itself.

Balkan Expose Wanted.

Speaking of spies and intrigues, I wish some raider would bring away the archives of Berlin and Vienna and let us see if we could find there anything about the origin of the second Balkan war four years ago. Officially, I believe, that war was caused by hot-headed soldiers at the front; but there were suspicions expressed at the time that it was actually fomented by somebody to the northwest. Certainly the causing of that war, whoever did it, was one of the greatest of recent international crimes before the present war, and was an act of decided unfriendliness to Bulgaria.

The Russian Word for "Indemnity."

In today's issue of THE TIMES in the article headed "Charges Falsehood by People's Council" Henry L. Slobodin, says the People's Council mistranslates the Russian declaration or intentionally inserts the word "indemnities," a word that does not, he claims, exist in the Russian language. I do not desire to dispute nor affirm Mr. Slobodin's contention as to the correctness of the translation. I do, however, wish to state that the word "indemnity" exists in the Russian language and is translated "voznagrajdenie," and, furthermore, is very frequently used.

The Park Reservoir Walls.

Will you permit the correction of an error into which you inadvertently fall, when, in this morning's issue, you describe the south reservoir in Central Park as "surmounted and surrounded by solid masonry?" The reservoir walls are made of earth, with a clay core; they are faced on both inner and outer slopes, with stone.

MY SONG.

The song I sing is the nation's song,
The song of the brave and free;
The notes of the bugle's call belong
To the strains of my melody.
I sing of the flag of my native land,
The flag of the proud and true,
And I bravely stand and your cheers demand
For the red and white and blue!

The song I sing is the soldier's song,
He lives in the glad refrain.
When duty calls—his to vanquish wrong
And bring sweet peace again.
I sing the song that the patriot sings
As he marches to the fray,
And the message stings as the music rings
On the valiant winds of day.

My song is the hero's song as well—
His death in the theme is told.
The chords that spoke in his funeral knell
My softer notes enfold.
I sing the song that the hero sang,
His breast seamed deep with scars,
The song he sang as his freed soul sprang
To the bright blue field of stars.

My song is the voice of the heart that knows
A woman's lonely grief.
It throbs to the rack of those sacred woes
Which may never know relief.
I sing the song of the lips that sigh
And weary eyes that weep,
And my strains shall die where their loved ones lie
In their dreamless, noble sleep.

DELAY NEWSPRINT TRIALS.

Prosecution Discredits Intimation of Settlement—Report Criticised.

Trial of the five members of the Executive Committee of the News Print Manufacturers' Association and two others who were indicted on a charge of having combined to increase the price of news print paper, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, which was set down for yesterday in the Federal District Court, was adjourned by Judge Learned Hand until Nov. 12 by agreement of counsel. The report of the Senate Committee on Printing, made public yesterday, had increased the interest in the proceedings, and there was disappointment among those in the courtroom when the adjournment was announced. In this report the Senate committee accused the news print manufacturers of extortion, and advocated Government operation of the mills for the rest of the period of the war.

Later in the day a representative of a big news print manufacturer said that the adjournment probably was the first step in a settlement of the criminal proceedings, and that an amicable arrangement might result which would make the recommendations made by the Senate committee in its report and the trial of the indicted men equally unnecessary. Mark Hyman, special prosecutor for the Government, said he did not believe there would be any settlement.

No member of the News Print Association could be found yesterday who would discuss the Senate report. The report was severely criticised, however, in a statement prepared by the representatives of one of the biggest news print manufacturers and issued anonymously. The statement follows:

"The report of the Senate Committee on Printing contains some conspicuous inaccuracies. These are copied from various reports of the Federal Trade Commission and from reports of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. The Trade Commission states that news print paper used during 1917 will cost the publishers more than $105,000,000. The Trade Commission is in possession of information showing that over 300,000 tons of this paper was actually sold in 1917 at prices far below the $50 a ton figure which they have used in their calculations, and their figure of $105,000,000 is a deliberate misstatement.

"The Trade Commission's own report to Congress shows that the earnings of the International Paper Company during 1916 were increased through the sales of products other than news-print paper, although the Senate Committee's report is worded so that the ordinary reader would assume that the entire increase in profits during 1916 was on newsprint sales. The same thing is true of the Laurentide Company, whose earnings in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, were largely augmented through the sales of pulp, box board, and electric power.

"Instead of newsprint mills having earned 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. during the last ten years, there is not a single mill built during that period that shows anything like this profit on the capital invested. The American Newspaper Association states some facts which have not gone through the awkward formality of having occurred.

"The majority of the larger publishers of the United States are strongly opposed to Government regulation or distribution of newsprint paper and are on record to this effect. Mr. F. P. Glass's letter of July 5 to Senator Smith states that the resolution indorsing Government regulation was approved 2 to 1. This result was arrived at by overriding the vote held at the Washington conference of the American Newspaper Association, and submitting the proposition by letter to the smaller publishers throughout the United States, who, knowing very little about the matter, voted for Government regulation, because they thought they could not be any worse off than they are now. The larger publishers, who have looked into the matter closely, realize the danger of Government regulation.

"The experience of the Fuel Administration in Washington up to date ought to be a warning to newspaper proprietors on the question of controlling the distribution of newsprint paper.

"Instead of there being a number of casualties in the newspaper field since the price of paper advanced, the net result has been an increase of daily newspapers. The only large newspaper that has gone out of business recently is the daily edition of The Cleveland Leader, which sold its franchise only, without any plant or physical assets, for $750,000 to its morning competitor, The Cleveland Plain Dealer. This would indicate that newsprint paper at 3 cents a pound had not depreciated the value of successful morning papers.

"The attitude of the Government towards newspaper publishers might best be arrived at by comparing their action on the second-class mail rates, which bear very unfairly indeed upon the newspaper publishers, instead of hitting the magazine publishers, who ought to and can afford to pay a higher rate."

The threat of Government control of the paper mills found quick reflection in the market for International Paper Company shares on the Stock Exchange yesterday. The common stock, which sold above [illegible] last year and in the neighborhood of 50 early this year, dropped to 22¾, a net loss for the day of 3¾ points. The preferred stock was not traded in, but the "stamped" preferred—so designated in the company's process of readjusting its finances—dropped more than 2 points to 54¾. The maximum of the year, established last June, was above 77.

HARKNESS MEMORIAL BEGUN

Cornerstone of Group of Buildings at Yale is Laid.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 8.—The cornerstone of the Memorial Quadrangle at Yale University, which will be a group of buildings given by Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness in memory of her son, Charles W. Harkness of the class of '83, was laid today in the presence of a large gathering of university and municipal officers, Faculty members, and alumni. On this date two hundred years ago the first building was started for Yale College on the New Haven campus.

The cornerstone was laid at the corner of High and Library Streets, in the rear of the university library. The group will be of Gothic style with enough dormitories to accommodate the entire junior and senior classes. To make way for it the Peabody Museum, Pierson dormitory, the D. K. E. House, the old heating plant, and a dozen other buildings have been razed. The main entrance, Harkness Tower, will be in High Street.

The exercises at the cornerstone included a memorial address on Charles W. Harkness, by Horace D. Taft, '83, of Watertown, Conn., the placing of the stone by Edward S. Harkness, '97, brother of Charles, and the acceptance of the quadrangle by President Hadley of the university. Charles W. Harkness was a large holder of Standard Oil stock and was a Director in a number of railroads.

TO REVIEW 'PIRATING' CASE.

Supreme Court Grants a Hearing on Decrees Against Hearst Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Supreme Court decided today to review Federal decrees which restrained the International News, or Hearst, Service, from "pirating" news from The Associated Press.

This action does not stay the operation of the injunctions already existing, court officials said, but merely provides for a review, to which there was no opposition by The Associated Press.

The case of The Associated Press against the International News Service for pirating Associated Press news was decided by the Circuit Court of Appeals of this district. There was no right of appeal to the Supreme Court, but both sides petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari to review it. The Associated Press being anxious to secure a decision of the highest tribunal in the United States on the subject.

The petition of The Associated Press for a writ of certiorari recited that it "would be content to rest its rights upon the decisions below without requesting the Supreme Court to assume the burden, except that nothing but a decision of the Supreme Court can assure this great service a sound and indisputable foundation and forestall a great quantity of costly and harassing litigation all over the country in both Federal and State Courts."

WOULD HAVE CITY PASTEURIZE MILK

Mayor Outlines Plans for Municipal Plant and a System of Distribution.

LABOR AND FEED HIGH

Cornell Professor Tells Investigating Committee of Conditions That Hamper the Farmers.

Mayor Mitchel yesterday sent a letter to the committee now inquiring into the recent rise in the price of milk in this city, asking that body to consider the desirability of the city establishing pasteurizion plants and a distributing system whereby the city will act as the distributor of milk from the producers to the consumers. He also asked the committee to consider the practicability and economy of the city establishing a plant for the pasteurizing of milk used in city institutions. As an alternative proposition he requested the committee to determine the feasibility of establishing a milk distribution system under a franchise grant. In his letter the Mayor in part said:

"The duty of considering this action has been placed squarely upon us by the Legislature, which authorizes action by the municipality whenever the city is faced with actual or threatened deprivation of necessaries by reason of excessive profits or otherwise. The soaring price of milk is a case in point. If the present uncontrolled commercial system of handling milk causes waste in the method of delivery, or opens the door to excessive charges due to private control, we must find means whereby the burden thus unnecessarily and unjustly placed upon the community can be removed. Between excessive profits and the lives and health of children there can be but one choice.

"The law confers upon the city the right to sell necessaries 'through such agencies as it may determine.' Please, therefore, consider the possibility of establishing a milk distributing system under a grant of franchise or franchises or otherwise. Should any franchise be granted by the city it must be on terms which place in the hands of the municipality absolute control over profits, and the system must reserve to the city ample power for the strict regulation of the industry."

The Mayor also asked the committee to consider the establishment of a zone system whereby the expense of delivery of milk in the city might be reduced.

The only witness examined yesterday by the committee was Professor G. F. Warren, Professor of Farm Management in the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University. Before beginning the examination the Chairman, Dr. Charles E. North, said he wished to correct the impression that seemed to prevail that the examinations were being conducted from the standpoint of the milk dealers. This he denied, and said that when the dealers came to the stand they would be as carefully examined as were the producers.

Professor Warren declared that the whole question was one whether the farmer should get enough on which to keep a farm. He said that labor and feed were high and that there had been a decrease in dairy herds in the State.

"Unless farm wages are raised I believe that farm labor will slip away and in the Spring New York City," this country, and our Allies will have to face a serious condition," he asserted. "If the war keeps up another year, if we let labor slip from the farms, and if we have even a moderate crop there will be a shortage, but if there be a poor crop it means a famine."

Commissioner of Accounts Wallstein examining Professor Warren, suggested that he tell exactly what data he had. When the witness began to read Mr. Walstein said:

"If this witness is to be allowed to shape the line of testimony during this investigation I intend to withdraw from this inquiry at once."

"This examination will go on just as you care to have it go on, Commissioner," replied Dr. North.

The committee wished to know all about the figures given by Professor Warren to R. D. Cooper, President of the Dairymen's League, and which figured in the fixing of the October price of milk. The witness said that these had been hurriedly handed to Mr. Cooper. Though these figures were hastily worked out from memory he insisted the cost of production of 100 pounds of milk as given to Mr. Cooper agreed with scientific standards. There was an apparent discrepancy between the miscellaneous percentage of costs between the figures Professor Warren gave Mr. Cooper and those he gave to the committee. In Mr. Cooper's table Professor Warren gave the percentage for miscellaneous expenditures at 18, and in his latter table 29. He explained that the 29 was gross, and that from it should be deducted the 11 per cent. which the farmer gets in return from the sale of calves, &c. The Cooper figures, he added, were based on statistics in Broome County and represented 798 cows.

The witness said the major costs of producing 100 pounds of milk were 38.1 pounds of grain, 61 pounds of hay, 97.2 silage, and 2.83 hours of labor.

"For nine years ending with October, 1915," he said, "the average price received by farmers in October in the '26-cent freight zone,' was $1.63 per 100 pounds of milk. In not one of these years did the price vary as much as 8 per cent. from the average of the nine years. In the same years the average price in November was $1.97. In only one year did the price vary as much as 5 per cent. from the average.

"For seven years, beginning in 1907, the Borden's June price of milk in the '26-cent zone' was $1.10, except in 1909, when it was $1.05.

"But the things that milk is made of, grain, hay and labor, vary in price. The price of milk should change with varying feed and labor costs and with the season; but if the prices go down in the Summer, they must go up in the Fall. If prices go up when feed and labor are expensive, they should come down when these are cheap.

"Retail milk prices must be quoted in terms of ¼ or ½ cent changes in price if the changes in prices paid to farmers are to be promptly reflected in retail prices."

Professor Warren said that the average yearly cost of 100 pounds of milk was $2.89. He also expressed the opinion that the formula used by the Dairymen's League was too low.

Asked whether the cost of producing milk could not be lowered, Professor Warren said: "If the costs of hay, grain, silage, and labor are not lower I don't see how you can lower the price."

Dr. North, referring to his connection with the Borden Milk Company, yesterday said:

"My selection for the work of this committee is not based on anything but my knowledge of the milk business and my expert ability in dealing with the questions that may come up. I am associated with the Borden Company as a consulting expert, experimenting with milk to reduce the bacteria count and in an endeavor to get farmers to produce cleaner milk. I am carrying on these experiments with the consent of the Dairymen's League and have been asked by Mr. Cooper, President of the Dairymen's League, to start the same kind of work at Little Falls, N. Y. Mr. Cooper and the officers of the league indorse it. I have 1,000 dairy farms under my supervision."

Hearings will be resumed on Thursday. District Attorney Swann announced that the investigation by the Grand Jury to determine whether the Dairymen's League violated the Donnelly Anti-Trust act when it raised milk prices will be begun today.

YAPHANK DRAFT MAN WEDS, THEN DESERTS

Buys Big Auto to Take Bride to Camp, Changes His Mind, and Gives It to Mother-in-Law.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS

Said to Have Explained Affluence by Stories of Winnings on Horses and Stocks.

George E. Hiscox, Jr., 28 years old, of 946 St. John's Place, Brooklyn, and Miss Pearl Masters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Masters, of 1,146 Napier Avenue, Richmond Hill, Queens, who were hastily married on Sept. 27, in order, as they said, that Hiscox having been drafted, could report at Camp Upton on the following Saturday, never reached Camp Upton, according to Arthur Hatch, of William T. Hatch & Son, brokers, of 71 Broadway, New York.

Hiscox was a clerk for the Hatch firm. He and his bride, according to their announced plans, were to go to Yaphank together on Saturday in a $2,000 automobile that Hiscox acquired recently, and Mrs. Hiscox was to board in Yaphank while her soldier-husband was in training at Camp Upton. Apparently, neither Hiscox nor his bride ever reached Yaphank. If they are not there, their whereabouts is a mystery, even to the bride's parents.

Arthur Hatch said late yesterday that Hiscox was short in his accounts with the firm, but he declined to indicate the amount. Mr. Hatch also declared that George E. Brower, a Brooklyn lawyer, who is the Chairman of the local Exemption Board of District 64, Brooklyn, had told him yesterday that Hiscox never reported at Yaphank, and had been listed as a deserter, with a reward of $50 for his arrest.

Hiscox and Miss Masters were married in the parsonage of the Rev. Rolla Hunt, pastor of the Richmond Hill Baptist Church. The wedding was arranged in a day, for Hiscox called up his fiancée in the morning and told her that he had just been notified to report to his Draft Board on the following Saturday to go to Yaphank. On the day of the wedding Hiscox said he had wound up his affairs with Hatch & Co., by whom he had been employed for several years. On the day after the wedding, Mr. Hiscox and his bride started in his big automobile for a twenty-four-hour honeymoon. Then it was arranged, he said, that they were to go to Yaphank on Sept. 30 in the car, so that they might have the use of the machine during his time off duty. His bride was to board in the village.

This plan, it now appears, was changed. Mr. and Mrs. Hiscox returned to the bride's home in Richmond Hill on the night before he was to go to Yaphank, and he presented his new $2,000 car to his mother-in-law. He said he and his bride had concluded that they didn't want the machine at Yaphank. They departed next day, presumably to go to the training camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Masters, the bride's parents, are in moderate circumstances, and the gift of the big automobile was most acceptable. Mr. Masters conducts a small factory for the manufacture of smokers' articles.

Mrs. Masters told friends yesterday, before the news of the disappearance of Hiscox became known, that she had heard nothing from her daughter since the latter left on Sept. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Masters expected to motor to Yaphank in the new car on Sunday to visit the young couple, but were prevented; but, so far as they know, the couple are at Camp Upton.

Hiscox and Miss Masters had known each other for a year or two before their marriage. Hiscox led the Masters family to believe that he had a large salary from the Hatch concern, and that he was, moreover, exceptionally lucky in playing the races. He considered it a poor day when he did not win from $50 to $80 on the horses. On several occasions he bought automobiles for Miss Masters, as well as a costly diamond engagement ring. The money for these things, he said, came from his salary, through his winnings at the races, and the use of stock "tips" that he said he obtained through business connections.

A few months ago Hiscox presented Miss Masters with an expensive roadster. A few weeks before they were married they decided that it was not roomy enough, so, by trading in the roadster and paying $1,500 cash, as he said at the time, the big touring car was purchased, which Hiscox later gave to his mother-in-law.

Arthur Hatch declined yesterday to say what salary his firm paid Hiscox, and whether or not it was sufficient to enable him to buy and maintain a $2,000 automobile.

Mrs. Alexander Masters said last night that she had not heard a word from her daughter since she left on Sept. 29 with her husband to go to Yaphank, and that she had no reason to believe they were not there.

COUNCIL OF DEFENSE TO EXCLUDE SELLERS

Committees Will Be Reorganized to Represent Industries Instead of the Government.

COMPLY WITH LEVER LAW

Powers Transferred to War Industries Board—Many Will Resign to Help Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Plans for the reorganization of the Council of National Defense and its many advisory committees along lines which, it is believed, will give the most efficient service to the Government have been formulated and will soon become effective.

Many of the powers once held by various committees composed largely of representatives of great industries already have been vested in the War Industries Board by President Wilson. It is probable that the next step will be to accept the resignations of about 300 members of the advisory committees who have been, under the law, agents of the Government. Most of these committees will be reorganized, not as agencies of the Government, but entirely as representatives of the industries in which the members are interested.

Under the Lever food control law, severe restrictions were placed upon the members of the advisory committees of the council, making it practically impossible for corporations they represented to have business dealings with the Government if they participated. As a result twenty-two members, among them some of the most prominent business men in the country, resigned.

The members of the War Industries Board, of which Frank A. Scott is Chairman, have severed their private business relations. Under the reorganization plan, it is believed that the Government will still profit from advice it may seek from the members of the former advisory committees, although they will enter no negotiations with the War Industries Board or other Federal agencies as representatives of the Government.

The selection of the War Industries Board as a central body and the plans for the reorganisation of the advisory committees of the Council of National Defense are the result of an effort to take advantage of early mistakes and confusion and obtain the greatest efficiency. There have been similar steps in other directions and one of them has led to the proposal to establish the War Trade Council to succeed the Exports Administration Board and to have charge of exports, imports, and those provisions of the trading with the enemy legislation which deal with trade and commerce.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY.

Department to Parade and Schools to Have Exercises.

This is Fire Prevention Day in New York City and other cities of the nation. It will be observed here by a great parade of fire-fighting equipment and members of the department, starting from the Municipal Building at 11 o'clock this morning, and by exercises at schools and many public addresses. Fire Chiefs of ninety-six other American cities have sent statements to Commissioner Adamson of their plans for the day.

The parade this morning, after leaving the Municipal Building, will follow this route:

Centre Street to Lafayette, to Eighth, to Second Avenue, to Twenty-third Street, to Fifth Avenue, to Fifty-ninth Street, to Second Avenue, to Seventy-second Street, to First Avenue, to Houston Street, to Sheriff Street, to Grand Street, to the Bowery, to Park Row, to starting point.

"We burn up $250,000,000 worth of property yearly in America.

"Nearly all of these fires are due to carelessness; three-fourths of them start in your homes.

"It is the duty of every patriotic American to help stop this needless waste in this time of war.

"Since fire prevention began in New York City five years ago an average reduction in the annual fire loss of $1,581,916 has been made in this city.

"With your co-operation this reduction can be made far greater still."

NAVAL DENTISTS KEPT BUSY

Two with American Flotilla Abroad Have Treated 1,000 Men.

BASE AMERICAN FLOTILLA IN BRITISH WATERS, Sept. 30, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Keeping in repair the teeth of the American officers and bluejackets over here is a big task ably performed by two dental surgeons who hold the rank of Junior Lieutenants, on the two tenders or mother ships now based on this port. These two men since the arrival of the flotilla in these waters, have treated no less than 1,000 of the personnel of the ships for everything from a common, everyday toothache to a major operation on the molars.

On their respective ships these two surgeons preside over dental parlors on a par with those to be found in the best equipped of American cities. Here urgent cases are treated immediately, others by appointment and in regular order. The dentists are always "on the job." They are subject to call at any time of the day or night. All work is done at the expense of the Government. No gold crowns are put in, nor is any bridge work done. This class of work not only is too expensive, but there is no time for what is called "fancy" dentistry.

But Uncle Sam makes it his business to watch over the men's teeth, and has made teeth inspection a part of the regular routine of ship life. It is part of the efficiency scheme. Uncle Sam knows that to keep his men fit and in good health care of their teeth is just as essential as care of their food or clothing. Therefore, a man with the slightest symptom of trouble with his molars is sent off to the dentist whether he likes it or not, and he is required to follow the doctor's advice and to arm himself with a tooth brush and tube of paste.

BEEFLESS MENUS COMING.

Practically the Whole Country Will Adopt the Suggestion.

Practically the entire United States will observe today as a Beefless Tuesday. In many cities meatless menus will be featured. The Society of Restaurateurs in a notice sent out yesterday requests its members to omit beef, lamb, and pork on all Tuesdays.

John McE. Bowman of the United States Food Commission has reports from every hotel association, restaurant organization, and many other public dining room bodies that they will make Tuesday beefless for the period of the war.

"A number of these associations as well as individual caterers are going to make the day meatless," said Mr. Bowman, "and we believe that practically every public dining place will soon adopt the meatless Tuesday menu."

Beefless Tuesdays began in New York last week, and were well received by diners. The hotel men report that not a complaint was received, and many compliments were paid.

THE SUCCESS of the Liberty Loan depends upon the person who buys a $50 or $100 bond. The banks are doing all they can. They are putting every available dollar behind the Government.

But victory rests with you. The amount you lay aside out of your earnings must buy the food, uniforms, guns, ammunition, shelter, and transportation for our troops.

The Government doesn't ask you to give. It asks you to lend. It starts a savings fund for you when you buy a Liberty Bond and pays you 4 per cent interest.

This institution urges you to put every possible dollar into Liberty Bonds. As our share, we have subscribed $1,000,000. If there is any way in which we can help you arrange your subscription, call upon us today.

GIANTS GRIMLY DETERMINED TO WIN FIRST GAME ON HOME GROUNDS FROM WHITE SOX

STILL IN THE FIGHT, GIANTS COME HOME

Back in New York, McGraw's Men Regain Confidence and Prepare for Battle.

McCARTY LOST TO TEAM

Heavy-Hitting Catcher Unable to Play in the First Contest of World's Series Here Today.

Smarting under the severe chastisement they received from the White Sox in Chicago, the Giants, fighting in the last ditch, will face Rowland's confident club in the third game of the world's series at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. The shock of that unexpected reversal in the Windy City Saturday and Sunday has left McGraw's men numb with surprise. They fail to figure how their opposition could have been so weak. With promise of fair and cooler weather, the New York Club officials were confident that there would be no postponement, unless, of course, the weather prediction is all wrong and there is a continuance of last night's rain.

New York fans are impatient to see the Giants go forth and get revenge for the sound thrashing they have thus far encountered in the series. The game will start at 2 o'clock and the 25,000 lower stand and pavilion seats will be placed on sale at 9 o'clock. It is estimated that more than 35,000 will see the game.

The Giants scattered and disappeared just as soon as they arrived in town last night, and were a pretty sad, dejected lot of athletes. The Sox players were greatly surprised at the ease with which they defeated the much heralded McGraw club Sunday, and all, when they arrived last night, voiced the sentiment that they would take the next two games here and equal the record for winning the world's series in four straight, which was established by the Boston Braves in 1914.

To add to the gloom of the Giants, the condition of Catcher Lew McCarty's injured arm is such that it is not probable that he will be able to get into today's game. Last night his right shoulder, which was badly bruised, was stiff and sore and it is not likely that he will be able to play until tomorrow.

McCarty's Absence a Blow.

McCarty was injured trying to touch Leibold at the plate in Sunday's game. He missed the runner, dived over him and landed on his shoulder. The shoulder was examined by Trainer Eddie Mackall, and while no bones were broken, the shock of the bruise has left the injured member very stiff. McCarty has proved the most effective of the Giant batsmen against the Chicago pitchers thus far and his loss will be sorely felt.

There is one outstanding feature of the Giants' downfall in the first two games in Chicago, and that is, McGraw's players did not approach anywhere near the game of which they are capable. They acted as if they were stale, and the listless, colorless game they played was nothing like the performances they have put up during the championship season. McGraw and his players look for a reaction today. Those who are close to the club figure that once on the Polo Grounds all the stage-fright and nervousness which the club displayed in Chicago will disappear.

The Giants face an enormous handicap in going against the Sox today with two victories to the credit of Rowland's men. To regain full confidence the Giants must take the next two games. Today's struggle will be the climax, for if the Sox should win at this first clash at the Polo Grounds the chances of taking even one game in the series will be mighty slim.

Fight Up to the Pitchers.

A great deal depends on the pitchers. Sallee was barely short of success in the opening contest in Chicago, and the White Sox players do not hesitate to praise his wonderful control and generalship. The Sox say that Sallee's pitching closely resembles the cross-fire pitching of Eddie Plank, when the great Athletic star was at his best.

Manager McGraw said last night that he had not decided which of his boxmen he would send to the mound today. While it is believed that Sallee would be the safest choice on the basis of his performance on Saturday, it would not be at all surprising if McGraw would call upon Rube Benton, if Rube shows anything like his true form in warming up.

McGraw still has confidence in Ferdie Schupp. It was the young southpaw's inexperience which caused him to crack before the howling mob of Chicago fans Sunday. Ordinarily he has been a cool youngster under fire, but the excitement of this Chicago baseball holiday got on his nerves, and the ball failed to respond as it usually does. Schupp always has been a better pitcher at the Polo Grounds than he has on other parks, and his best ball has been pitched before a friendly home crowd. With all these things in his favor, there is a possibility that McGraw will show his confidence in the Louisville southpaw and send him against the Sox again.

If Benton was at his best, it is believed that the Sox would have a tough time against him. One of his greatest faults, however, is wildness, and he must be just right before McGraw will trust him with the big job. Perritt was far from effective Sunday, although he went in just as the Sox were warmed up in an unrelenting batting rally. The way they were going when Pol came to the rescue, it is doubtful if any pitcher could have succeeded any better than he did. They were swinging ferociously at the first ball, and were landing with deadly accuracy.

Russell May Pitch for Sox.

Reb Russell is more than anxious to go against the Giants today, and Manager Rowland may give him the honor. The sturdy left-hander is said to be in great shape, and if he warms up satisfactorily he will surely get the assignment. Rowland is in a position now where he does not have to worry about his pitchers as he did before the series began. He has in Cicotte and Faber two men upon whom he can rely to baffle the Giants in case his other pitchers fail. It is Rowland's plan to save Cicotte for tomorrow's game, for if Russell can fool the Giants with his left-handed shoots today the Sox are anxious to send in Cicotte a second time and settle the series with four straight games.

One thing in the Giants' favor in facing the Sox at the Polo Grounds will be that Heinie Zimmerman will be in a position to play his normal game. Before the jeering, hostile crowd in Chicago, which kept after him continually throughout both games, Zimmerman was not himself. Every move he made was greeted with the most unsportsmanlike demonstration ever seen at a world's series game. Zim was helpless before the howling multitude, and the hostile demonstration completely spoiled his chances of doing anything which would help the Giants. Zim had about all he could do not to make errors every time the ball was batted or thrown at him. In Chicago he was a dejected, defeated player, while at the Polo Grounds he should be full of fight and aggressiveness.

New York fans also look for a big improvement in the playing of Arthur Fletcher and Charley Herzog. The work of these two and Benny Kauff has been the big disappointment of the series. The middle of the Giants' batting order has gone to pieces, and if there is no dying kick left in their play the last chance of turning the tables on the American Leaguers is gone.

On account of McCarty's injury, Rariden will probably get the catching job, but he will not be as effective as McCarty, who is badly needed for his hitting. The White Sox found it easy to steal on Rariden on Sunday.

White Sox Clever Club.

There is no question now in any one's mind about the White Sox being a smart, resourceful baseball club. They showed that they could solve McGraw's hit-and-run attack, and every time a Giant player got on first base, both Cicotte and Faber began throwing pitchouts, which proved a very effective weapon against the hit-and-run offense. The rapidity and ease with which Rowland's men changed their offensive tactics against the Giants marked them as a club of the greatest resources. When the Giants were all set for the sacrifice game, they found no trouble in crossing the McGraw players by springing the hit-and-run style of attack.

There is no denying the fact that the outlook for the Giants in the coming two games at the Polo Grounds is a deep indigo. There must be a complete change in the spirit of McGraw's men if they hope to match the fearless, fiery attack of the White Sox. The playing ability is there, if it can be brought forth. New York will have to enter the battle, however, with far different feelings than it exhibited in Chicago. It is an unusual sight to see a club of Giants walk on to the field with the listlessness which they exhibited at Comiskey Park.

The Giants must go into the game today prepared to fight, and fight hard. Their backs are against the wall, and if they don't win today, they may be unable to win a single game. Manager McGraw is not disheartened. He has seen this same club come back from deeper slumps than this one, and he hopes to see it blossom out again and play the snappy, skillful baseball that it has played all season.

The Giants were in this same kind of a slump just before the series with Philadelphia here toward the end of the season, and yet when they looked the worst they exhibited great recuperative powers and went in with a never-say-die spirit, which is the only thing that will save them in today's struggle. If they don't play any better than they did in Chicago they are lost.

Chicago Strategists Score.

In the two games thus far played, the White Sox have beaten the Giants at every phase of the game. Their pitching has been better, their base running has been far superior and there has been no comparison between the batting ability of the rival clubs. Even in strategy and generalship, Rowland has had the edge on McGraw. With Rowland coaching on the first base line at Comiskey Park and with Kid Gleason handing out advice on the third base line, there has not been a single move by McGraw which has not been met and solved.

The Giants have had too much confidence in their drive. When this drive, which has smashed its way through the National League during the last season, was working, it was a valuable scoring weapon. But when the drive is subdued with the effective pitching which the Sox boxmen have been showing, the Giants were helpless. They realize that the only way they can win is with long smashing hits, and every one of them swung at the Chicago flinging as if they wanted to drive the ball out of the park. This ferocious attack is all right when it works, but it looks foolish when it fails.

If once in today's game the Giants can concentrate their latent batting ability against one of the Sox pitchers, the crowd may rush out of the Polo Grounds singing the praises of McGraw's men. If they are not able to bring this, their most effective weapon, into play, well, the world's series of 1917 will go down as a disastrous explosion of one of the most overrated clubs in the history of the game.

It does not seem possible that the Giants have not something in reserve in the way of attack and fighting spirit to balk the onrushing of the Sox in the remaining games. New York fans, like the players, have not given up the ship yet and are confident that McGraw's men will fight until the last man is out.

IRVIN COBB SAYS SOX ARE FRETTING

Chicago Worried Lest Bad Weather Postpone Winning of Third Game Until Tomorrow.

By IRVIN S. COBB.

Special to The New York Times.

ABOARD WHITE SOX SPECIAL, NEAR ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—We are now coming East with the invaders. We left Chicago last night an hour and a half behind the funeral train bearing the New York team and the chief mourners and the members of the family of the bereft and the active and honorary pallbearers. This was done by deliberate design.

After reading the accounts of yesterday's game the officials of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central roads decided not to send the two specials out at the same time. They were afraid the White Sox would run through the Giants even though the rival troupes did travel over separate lines, and, following their usual custom, finish in front.

These canny railroad folk had no desire to anticipate probable events of Tuesday at the Polo Grounds. They gave McGraw's crowd a ninety-minute start. At that, none of us would be surprised to hear before night that we had passed the National League outfit without checking up somewhere between here and the terminal stations.

All day we have ridden through a rainstorm. This circumstance gives members of the Chicago team some concern. Some of them are inclined to the fear that they may not win the third game of the world's series Tuesday. If weather conditions interfere they doubt whether they can win it before Wednesday.

Almost Tired of Zim.

The Comiskeyites are taking things easy as they journey toward the seaboard for their invasion of the enemy's territory. Several among them are quite saddleworn from having ridden Heinie Zimmerman so enthusiastically. They treated Heinie as informally as though he had been a merry-go-round with rides free.

No matter how the series terminates—whether it ends in four games or drags out to five—it is a safe bet that Heinie will be glad to see his second trip West cut off nice and short. Out Chicago way he is almost as popular as a pest-house and nearly as lonely as one, except when he is playing.

At the ball park these last two days he did not lack for company. Thousands of persons, most of whom, doubtlessly, were strangers to him, lost no opportunity of hailing Mr. Zimmerman by his own name and by other names as well. And when he batted—only as the official scores show he didn't—the applause, uttered with the reverse English on it, was well-nigh deafening.

Benny Kauff is another popular superstition, or myth, for whom these Chicago Jacks the Giant Killers appear to have lost all dread. Puns are odious, but not among ball players. They are courageous enough to pull puns or even to wear traveling jackets belted high under their armpits and trousers which are too long in the legs to be short trousers and too short in the legs to be long trousers. Today, when they think of the figure which Benny cut each time he has gone to bat in this series, they refer to him as that bad-hacking Kauff.

Senator Carter Had a Story.

As I sit here aboard our cozy train, watching the rain trickling in streams down the car windows, like the tears of a fan who bet on the Giants to win, I am strikingly reminded of a story which I heard years ago from the late Senator Tom Carter of Montana.

As the Senator told the tale, there was a little, fire-eating Kentuckian there who rode with Morgan's Raiders during the four years of the civil war and came out at the end of it still entirely unreconciled and unreconstructed. Since he had to live under the United States Government, he moved to Montana, which at that time didn't have very much government—Federal or otherwise—and there, on all occasions, he gave loud, vehement cheers for the late Southern Confederacy.

On the first Fourth of July after he arrived in the West the Union veterans of the camp had a parade and a celebration. With his thoughts seething within him and his eyes burning at sight of the hated blue uniforms worn by his recent enemies, the little Kentuckian watched the procession go by. He managed to restrain himself until the Grand Marshal came along, mounted on a horse. The Grand Marshal was a lanky ex-Vermonter, as outspoken in defense of his cause as the Southerner was in his.

The former raider dashed out into the road and seized the Yank by one leg.

"Git down off'en that hoss," commanded the Kentuckian. "I'm goin' to lick the daylights out of you right here and now jest to prove that a Southern gentleman is a better man than any Northern mudsill that ever lived."

The Vermonter leaped out of the saddle and in three minutes had pounded the Kentuckian into a state of battered helplessness. Bystanders pried the victor off the prostrate form of the vanquished. As the Vermonter, who had not suffered so much as a scratch in the onesided encounter, started to remount, the Kentuckian with difficulty sat up in the dust, and, opening one bruised eye, he shook a warning finger at his adversary and in a tone of deadly purpose he said:

"Let this be a lesson to you, because from now on I'm a'goin' to serve you this way ever time I meet you, suh."

I was reminded of this story after reading in today's papers the threatening dispatches sent from the field hospital last night by John J. McGraw immediately following the holocaust of the afternoon.

AVIATORS WIN ON GRIDIRON.

Eleven from Camp Borden Beats All-Syracuse Team.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 8.—An all-Syracuse football team from Syracuse, N. Y., was defeated at the university stadium today by an eleven picked from United States college men training for aviators at Camp Borden. The score was 21 to 0. It was the first game of American rugby staged here and attracted a large crowd, the proceeds going to war charities.

The players:

Camp Borden.—Ralston, Minnesota; Ruffle and Motter, Princeton; Price, Northwestern; Russell, Denver; Crane and Loudon, Dartmouth; Shea, Princeton; Goldswaite, Harvard; Hoover and Hitchcock, Cornell.

FORDHAM TO MEET NORWICH

First Home Game to be Played Against Vermonters Saturday.

Fordham's first home football game will be played Saturday with Norwich University. 'Varsity candidates yesterday started a week's preparations to enable the locals to give the Vermonters a proper welcome. A short scrimmage was held after a long signal drill.

"Bill" Erwig rejoined the team after a ten-day sojourn with the hospital squad. He ran through the plays with a lot of dash, but as his poisoned hand was still bandaged, he was unable to get into the scrimmage. The prep. team was invited to oppose the 'Varsity in the first of the annual season clashes, but Coach Siskind declined the issue.

HARVARD LOSES GOOD END.

R. G. Stone Leaves Gridiron for Cadet School for Ensigns.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Another Harvard football player gave up his football togs for war regalia today. R. G. Stone, considered one of the best ends on the squad, announced today that he had entered the Cadet School for Ensigns at Cambridge, and was ineligible therefore to represent the university on the gridiron.

Notwithstanding the fact that not a football veteran remains on the squad, and that every week the younger players are entering some form of war service, the football management has decided to keep the game going. Next Saturday the team will play the Dumpkins Island Naval Reserves, and on Nov. 27 will go to the Ayer cantonment to play the Depot Brigade eleven, coached by Charley Coolidge, the old Harvard end. Efforts are being made to arrange for other games.

RUTGERS HARD AT WORK.

Coach Sanford Driving Eleven in Preparation for Syracuse.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 8.—George Foster Sanford is pushing the Rutgers football team to the limit in preparation for the game with Syracuse on Saturday. The 90-to-0 victory over the soldiers of Fort Wadsworth showed that the team has plenty of speed, and the work this week will tend to develop that speed as much as possible.

Tom Gargan, the freshman star, has entirely recovered from a wrenched ankle, and will probably start at half back, and Mack Hummell, the husky end, is again in uniform after an enforced rest due to a strained shoulder. Both will be in shape to play against Syracuse.

LIBERTY BONDS FOR FANS.

Great Drive Will Be Made by Salesmen at Polo Grounds.

Loyal rooters for the Giants are preparing to dig down deep in their pockets today—Fans' Liberty Loan Day—when the first of the world's series games will be played here. To set the others a good example, Harry N. Hempstead and Charles Comiskey, respective owners of the Giants and the White Sox, have each purchased several thousand dollars' worth of the gold certificates and each member of the two teams has subscribed to the new bonds.

Harry Stevens and Groundkeeper Fabian yesterday supervised the work of setting up a whole new series of signs advertising Liberty bonds in the big lot under Coogan's Bluff. Instead of the usual advertisements the field slogans read today: "Buy Liberty bonds and help knock the Kaiser out of the box." "The world's heaviest hitter, Uncle Sam. Buy his bonds." "Our boys are fighting in France. Don't let them fight extra innings." "Buy Liberty bonds and help win the European world's series."

Several large Liberty bond banners wave alongside of the championship flags of bygone world's series contests, and over the quarters of both teams patriotic bond streamers show to good advantage.

Three red, white, and blue bond booths have already been constructed at the Polo Grounds, and from these bond salesmen will tell the fans all about the big loan drive before the game.

INDIANS BREAK THE ICE.

Turn on Reds and Capture Fourth Game of Ohio Series.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 8.—Cleveland, by defeating the Cincinnati Reds here today, 8 to 0, still has an outside chance to win the major league championship of Ohio. The series stands, Reds, 3; Cleveland, 1. Solid hitting off Toney, who won from the Indians in the opening game at Cincinnati last week, defeated Matty's men. Toney was replaced in the third by Regan, who was not very effective.

The score by innings:

| | | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|---|

CARDS WIN ST. LOUIS TITLE.

American League Team Beaten in Seventh Game of City Series.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 8.—The St. Louis Nationals won the city championship by defeating the St. Louis Americans today, 6 to 1. Of the seven games played the Nationals have won four and tied one.

The score by innings:

| | | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nationals | 0 0 0 0 0 1 2 3 0 | 6 | 10 | 0 |

MISS WAGNER LEADS AT NET

Shuffle Doubles Provide Good Sport at Montclair A. C.

Shuffle tennis doubles, the invention of the women of the metropolitan district, furnished merry sport for some twenty contestants in an event held at the Montclair A. C. yesterday. Miss Marie Wagner led in the point scores with a total of 40 out of a possible 57. Miss Bessie Moore was second with 35, Mrs. Albert Humphries had 34, and Mrs. D. C. Mills and Mrs. Long 33 each. As a final test Miss Wagner and Mrs. Long paired against Miss Moore and Mrs. Mills and won one set at 6—0. Mrs. Albert Humphries was entitled to a place in this final play between the first four, but was forced to leave on an early train.

The other point scores were Mrs. Embree Henderson, 32; Mrs. W. H. Pritchard, 32; Miss Caroma Winn, 29; Mrs. J. Eberhard, 29; Mrs. Ingo Hartman, 29; Mrs. Bernard Stens, 28; Miss Edith Bagg, 28; Mrs. Percy Wilbourn, 27; Mrs. L. Z. Murray, 27; Mrs. Sheppard, 24; Mrs. W. H. Denton, 23; Mrs. W. E. Conklyn, 23, and Mrs. Albergea, 22.

FAME FOR TEDDY ROUSSEAU.

Mayor Mitchel's Secretary Has a Race Horse Named After Him.

Theodore Rousseau, secretary to Mayor Mitchel, is about to blazon the pages of sporting history and be subject to compliment or commiseration, according to how the colt turns out, by having a race horse named for him. Walter J. Salmon, who recently purchased the French bred colt by Sardanapel from Delbert Reiff, has registered the colt at the Jockey Club under the name of Teddy Rousseau.

The colt which now bears this illustrious monaker is a good-looking brown fellow, and if he follows the habit of his sire and namesake is certain to be a winner.

CLINE VS. DUNDEE TONIGHT.

Lightweights Will Box at Manhattan A. C.—Other Bouts.

Boxing fans from out of town who are making the trip to this city to view the world's series, which opens here this afternoon at the Polo Grounds, and the local enthusiasts will be able to see a promising lightweight bout tonight at the Manhattan A. C., where Irish Patsy Cline, the clever Harlem boxer, and Johnny Dundee, the local Italian, will be opponents for ten rounds. The contest brings together two of the leading local contenders for Benny Leonard's championship title, and with the large delegations expected in the city for the baseball the club management expects an overflow crowd.

The match will contrast Dundee's aggressive style and sensational rushes with Cline's cool cleverness, and should furnish an interesting contest. Billy Roche has been selected to referee the bout, and it is expected that the winner will get a match with the champion, Benny Leonard.

Lightweights will also furnish the feature ten-round bout this evening at the weekly show of the Pioneer Sporting Club, where Joe Welling, the Chicago lightweight who recently enlisted in the naval reserve, will box Jimmy Duffy, the sturdy west side boxer, in the principal ten-round bout. This contest will be between boxers of known ability as heavy and consistent hitters and it is expected that either one of the principals will win decisively. There will also be another ten-round exhibition, with three four-round bouts and one six-round match.

Chess Universally Played.

Frank Janet of Mount Vernon proposes to meet the need of Uncle Sam's soldiers during their hours of leisure by the encouragement of the study of chess strategy, which, he says, will be found equivalent to a universal language, inasmuch as most of the officers in the foreign armies and a large percentage of the soldiers in the ranks are able to play chess.

LOCAL FANS AWAIT OPENING GAME HERE

Arrangements Made for 36,000 Persons at Polo Grounds—Crowd Gathers Early.

With the arrival in New York late yesterday afternoon of the contending teams in the world's series and the shifting of the scene from Chicago's South Side to New York's hollow, shaded by Coogan's Bluff, local fandom has begun to sit up and take further notice. The enthusiastic ardor of New York has been dampened greatly by Chicago's two victories, but the outcome of the opening games will have no effect on the crowd at the first New York battle today.

Every arrangement for the care of the 36,000 persons who will sit in at the Polo Grounds opening of the world's series has been perfected by the management of the local National League champions. Harry N. Hempstead, President of the Giants, had to forego the doubtful pleasure of seeing the Chicago games, to see to it that New York's baseball patrons would have every possible convenience. He has given personal attention to every detail, and last night wanted the fans to know that there would not be a slip-up in the proceedings.

The New York Police Department has co-operated with the management of the Giants and there will be a special detail around the Polo Grounds today to keep the fans in line and to prevent any unnecessary congestion. The police will establish a dead line for vehicular traffic on Eighth Avenue at 155th Street. No automobiles will be allowed closer to the Polo Grounds than the above cross street excepting on the Speedway. Automobile parking spaces, under care of the police, will be established on the Speedway from 155th Street to the bottom of the hill at the Harlem River. Automobiles also may be parked in 154th and other cross streets below 155th and also in Manhattan Avenue.

Those who wish to purchase tickets at the gate today will be asked to form in lines on Eighth Avenue. No tickets will be sold at the Speedway entrance, and only reserved seat and box seat tickets will be accepted at the Speedway entrance. This does not mean that reserved seat holders will have to use the Speedway entrance, as the management wishes it to be known that reserved or box seat tickets will be accepted at all entrances.

The gates will be opened shortly after 9 o'clock this morning and at the same time the sale of 27,000 unreserved seats will be started. These tickets will be $1 and $2. The $2 seats will be in the lower grand stand and the $1 seats will be in the uncovered bleachers which circle the outfield.

Only one ticket will be sold to each person, and the management reserves the right to revoke the license of this ticket unless the purchaser passes into the grounds immediately. All the upper structure and ground floor ticket windows on Eighth Avenue will be opened for the sale of tickets. If the congestion gets too great on the upper structure, which is just at the end of the elevated terminal, the management will close these windows and tickets only will be sold from the ground floor windows on Eighth Avenue.

At midnight there were more than a hundred "early birds" in line, each clutching at least a dollar and each prepared for an all-night wait for the ticket windows to open. This number was being augmented almost every minute by newcomers until the police estimated that there would be several hundred in line by 6 o'clock this morning regardless of the rain. Vendors of sandwiches and coffee reaped a small harvest from the crowd of fans who were willing to do without sleep, shiver through a none too comfortable night, stand in line for hours, and then sit for hours more waiting for something to happen worth while, just to see two baseball teams give battle.

Improvised stools, chairs, beds, and even hammocks were common. The crowd was not noisy and for the most part the all-night variety of fan waited with a stoic patience. Several of the leaders admitted that they suffered with a mercenary object, and that they hoped to get a big offer for their places this morning. The early crowd, however, was not so great as had been anticipated, since there are so many tickets to be sold today that most of the fans believed their chances just as good this morning with sleep as if they had spent the night on the hard pavement.

There is little choice in the unreserved seats. Almost every chair in [illegible] stand affords a perfect view of the field, and there is nothing to block the bleacherites' view of the field. Most of the early fans confessed to a desire to get a chair along the third-base line, where they could be close enough to watch the antics of Heinie Zimmerman. Needless to say these fans came from the Bronx.

The National Commission has provided entertainment for the fans prior to the game. The Seventh Regiment Band will dispense popular, patriotic, and syncopated tunes starting at 12 noon. There will be several soloists, who will sing patriotic songs, and the stands will be crowded by representatives of the Liberty Loan Committee, each with order blanks for the bonds. The day is to be known as Liberty Loan Day, and at every entrance will be some one ready and willing to offer bonds for sale.

Led by 200 Woodland Bards, for years supporters and rooters for the White Sox, Charles Comiskey, the owner of the Chicago club, arrived in New York about 6:30 last evening. The entire party was quartered at the Biltmore Hotel and the Manhattan Hotel. The Bards came on a special train, and with the avowed intention of getting a place close to third base, where they could continue to worry Zimmerman. Further, the Bards hope to return after tomorrow's game shouting the chant of the world's series champions.

Several more special trains carried hundreds of Western rooters into New York. Most of the hotels felt the influx, and rooms early were at a premium.

CARLISLE, Penn., Oct. 8.—Coach Harris put the Indian Braves through light limbering-up exercises at this afternoon's practice. Particular attention was paid to the forward pass in preparation for what is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season against West Virginia at Morgantown on Saturday. LeRoy, Tibbetts, Charles Walker, and Miles practiced place kicking. No scrimmage will be held until Wednesday.

LESS WEIGHT ON WELDSHIP.

Leading Jumper Gets Better Chance for United Hunt Feature.

Handicapper Frank J. Bryan has been a little more lenient to Edward M. Weld's great jumper, Weldship, in allotting the allowances for the United Hunts Double Event, which will be the feature of the Autumn meeting at Belmont Terminal Saturday.

The second half of the race, to be decided Saturday, will be a more strenuous test for the steeplechasers than was the Spring portion, which was contested over a two-mile course. In the coming contest the field will be required to travel over three miles of the course, which is one of the stiffest in this part of the country. As the conditions call for a sweepstakes of $500 for each half of the event, the best jumpers in the country are engaged. Eleven horses have been named by leading owners.

Weldship, beaten at Piping Rock last Saturday when shouldering 166 pounds, is asked to carry 160 in the Double Event and to concede five pounds instead of ten to the Greentree Stable's Cherry Malotte, which defeated him at Piping Rock. Mr. Weld has another smart performer entered in St. Charlcote, which, with 151 pounds, is next in order of weight to Cherry Malotte. The weights follow:

FAMOUS TRAINER IS DEAD.

John Powers, Well Known on Turf, Stricken Suddenly.

John Powers, owner of Harry Shaw, and other racehorses, and one of the best-known trainers of thoroughbreds, died on Sunday night of acute indigestion. In addition to racing horses in his own name, Powers trained for William P. Orr, who owns the great sprinter Leochares. It was while dining with Mr. Orr in New York that Mr. Powers was attacked with the illness that resulted in his death.

He was considered one of the best of the Western trainers, and in his day had saddled more than 500 winners. Among the horses trained by him were Knight Errant and Rose Tree II., the sire and dam of Roamer. He also trained the great race horse Jack Atkin. Mr. Powers was one of the most popular of the small owners, and had a big following whenever he said a horse was fit. It was only on Saturday that he sent Lucius to the post at Aqueduct a strong favorite. Mr. Powers made his home in Sheepshead Bay, but his body will be shipped to Lafayette, Ind., where his sister resides.

MABEL TRASK WINS STAKE.

Outbrushes St. Frisco in Two Heats at Lexington Meeting.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 8.—A splendid racing program of five events, including the Castleton Stake, which was won by Hazel Trask, and the champion Futurity, won by Opera Express, were the features of today's grand circuit meeting. The contests were exciting, and many close finishes were seen during the afternoon.

The meeting of Mabel Trask and St. Frisco overshadowed all else, and, considering the cold, raw day, a good crowd was present. Following his old tactics when racing against the stallion, Cox laid Mabel Trask in behind and trailed until the head of the stretch was reached, when he pulled out and outbrushed St. Frisco in the stretch. The time of the two heats was 2:05½ and 2:05, and in neither heat was the mare fully extended. She was a $200 to $90 favorite over the field.

The Champion Futurity, worth $5,000 was won by the outsider, Opera Express, bred and owned by W. B. Dickerman. Opera Express and Bonnie Del, winner of the third heat and second money, sold for $6 in pools, totaling over $200. Lotto Watts was the favorite, with General Yorke second choice. The race produced some of the closest finishes of the meeting. The second and third heats were particularly close.

Measles, a winner Saturday, repeated in easy style today, taking the 2:17 trot in straight heats. Frances Belmont was the principal contender.

The 2:08 pace, which was a two-horse race, was hard fought throughout the five heats. Princess Margaret won the first two heats, but could not overhaul Hal Conner in the next three. Ira , favorite in the 2:14 trot, lost the first heat to David Look, due to a break, but won the next two in handy style. The summaries:

PADDY IS SURPRISE OF LAUREL RACING

A. K. Macomber's New Purchase Responds to Clever Handling of Buxton.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 8.—A. K. Macomber's Paddy furnished the biggest surprise of the present meeting when he won the Laurel Junior Purse for two-year-olds this afternoon from a high-class field. Even with Buxton in the saddle the experts could not give this recent purchase of Mr. Macomber's a chance, and the few admirers of Buxton who play any horse he rides probably were the only ones to profit from the victory.

The favorites, which included such well-known performers as Kashmir, Compadre, and Matinée Idol, were never in the hunt, and W. A. Brown's Fragonard, another outsider, finished second to the son of Irish Lad. The mutuels sold on Paddy paid at the rate of 45 to 1, a remarkable price for a horse owned by a big stable and ridden by a crack jockey. Kashmir, ridden by Robinson, the supposed good thing of the race, finished third.

George Odom sent the Brighton Stable's Ed Roche to the post for the Kenwood Handicap in the best form that he has shown for a long time. There was a smart field for the event over the mile and a sixteenth route, but little Rowan held all the contestants safe with Ed Roche. He was well up with the pace all the way, and drew into a good lead in the stretch. R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Straightforward, which finished second, made a good bid to catch Ed Roche, but failed by a small margin.

There was another shock for the form players in the fourth race for mares. The Cleveland Stable's Dorcas, a dual winner at the meeting, and W. M. Jefford's Fenmouse were the favorites, but Shuttinger hustled James W. Corrigan's Diversion along at such a lively rate that the public choices had no chance. Diversion won with a little in hand in the fast time of 1:39 3-5. Fenmouse just beat Dorcas for the place.

RICH PURSE FOR RED CROSS.

Owners of Hourless and Omar Khayyam Agree to Donate $10,000.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 8.—A telegram was received today by Matt Winn of the Maryland Fair Association from August Belmont announcing that if Hourless won the race with Omar Khayyam on Thursday the $10,000 purse would be turned over to the Red Cross. As soon as this became known to Mr. Viau, owner of Omar Khayyam, he immediately countered with a similar announcement, so that whichever horse loses the Red Cross will be the winner of $10,000.

When Omar Khayyam and Hourless meet they will not only make turf history but will compete for a cup with a history, which has been presented to commemorate the event by Edward B. McLean. It is a wonderful specimen of the goldsmith's art, and was created in 1833.

The cup was first offered to be run for by Colonel Showers, a well-known patron of the turf in India, and was won at different times by various owners. The conditions prescribed that in order to become the property of an owner it should be won three times. In 1868, thirty-five years after its first running, J. A. Garstin, an Englishman, won the cup, and horses in his colors won it the two following years.

The cup drifted to America, and Mr. McLean, while on a visit to New York, discovered it in an antique shop. It is one of the handsomest trophies ever offered for a racing contest.

Victory Only Road to Peace and Safety!

Make the World Safe for Business

Every business man should buy Liberty Bonds as a prime investment, as well as from motives of patriotism. By furnishing funds to help win the war you are helping to put the world of business back on a safe and enduring basis, free from the menace of future militarism and the peril of future wars.

Every indication points to the fact that the United States Government War Bonds will enjoy an extraordinarily broad, active market. The size and the broad distribution of these issues may be expected to make them readily transferable from hand to hand.

Already Liberty Bonds are being used in making payments of various kinds, and the Secretary of the Treasury has predicted that the bonds of $50, $100 and $500 denomination will circulate with almost as much freedom as currency of like denomination.

For this reason—among others—the bonds of the Second Liberty Loan of 1917, are a particularly attractive investment for the business man, who desires to keep surplus capital liquid. Liberty Loan Bonds can be turned into cash readily, a stable value being assured by the privilege of conversion into any later war issues bearing a higher interest rate. And they are the best of collateral—the basis of a loan anywhere, immediately. And they yield 4% interest.

Victory is the only road to peace and safety!

Go to your bank to-day and enter your subscription for Liberty Loan Bonds. Every dollar you invest is doubly useful—to the nation and to yourself.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Dull Session Ends with a Fresh Break in Prices—Good Crop Prospects.

Until the last half hour yesterday the stock market was dull and price ranges confined to a narrow range, but the close was preceded by a sharp drop in many issues which left the day's final prices much under those for last week. The break was apparently based on no new developments and activity was not sufficiently increased to indicate the inauguration of another wave of selling. Prices simply began to melt away with few supporting orders to check the declines. Steel common had sold at 108⅛ in the morning; it broke to 105⅝ in the late afternoon, and closed within an eighth of the low at a loss of 1½ for the day. Utah Copper fell from 89 to 86⅝, closing off 1¼; United Cigar Stores reached a new low level on this move by selling at 102¾, closing off 4⅝, with Tobacco Products off 3; Peoples Gas dropped back to 58, off 5; Liggett & Myers to 186, off 4, and General Electric to 137⅛, off 2⅜. The drastic report on the print paper industry introduced in the Senate resulted in the selling of both classes of stock of the International Paper Company, the common losing 2⅜, and the preferred 2⅛. The closing was irregular, but comparatively few stocks retained any part of the advances shown earlier in the session, while losses of a point or more were quite general. The day's turnover was the smallest since Sept. 27.

There is undoubtedly a considerable amount of liquidation going on this market, and it is hardly fair to emphasize the part which the bear tactics of a few large operators have played in the decline. There has been no effort to depress bond prices, yet high-grade bond issues have moved sympathetically with stocks until they stand today in relatively the same position. The Liberty 3½s were both active and weak yesterday, selling down to 99.54 for full lots, and to 99.50 for smaller denominations. These prices are practically the lowest at which this issue has sold, although bonds of the $100 denomination changed hands at 99 when the $1,000 certificates touched bottom at 99.52 on Aug. 27. Conditions in the money market were not unfavorable to the market. Call loans commanded 4½ per cent. yesterday, and traders do not look for any stringency.

Of much wider influence than the movement of prices yesterday was the Government's Oct. 1 crop report, which was better than most people had expected, in view of the reports of killing frosts in scattered localities. The indicated total wheat yield is 659,800,000 bushels, which is a decrease of only 7,800,000 from the Sept. 1 forecast, and an increase of an even 20,000,000 bushels over last year's harvest of this important staple. The corn crop has gone through its critical period in safety and will be up to expectations. The Government's report indicates a 1917 yield of 3,210,800,000 bushels. That represents a decrease of 36,700,000 bushels from the previous forecast, but it is 627,554,000 bushels more than the 1916 crop. Most of the other important crops will exceed those of last year, the exceptions being flax, rice, apples, and hay. The yield of white potatoes is estimated at 452,900,000 bushels, which compares with the short crop of 285,400,000 bushels, which caused such distress last year. There was another sharp rise in the prices for cotton yesterday following reports of a frost scare threatening important producing sections.

LONDON MARKET CHEERFUL.

Large Business Transacted in War Loans and Gilt-Edged Securities.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The stock market was cheerful today, with a large business in the war loan and gilt edged securities generally at hardening prices. Oil, rubber, and mining stocks commanded increased attention, and coppers and shippings were firm, but Argentine rails ruled easy and American securities were neglected. Money was plentiful, and it was difficult to find employment for funds. Discount rates were easy. The banks report an increased demand for the new war bonds.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 61 francs 50 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent loan, 88 francs 40 centimes.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Petition for Extra Holiday.

A petition circulated among Stock Exchange members yesterday for an extra holiday Saturday was generously signed, and will be acted upon by the Governors tomorrow. The Board of Governors in recent years has been opposed to the granting of special days off, but if the sentiment of members of the board stand as an indication of what is to happen there will be few votes opposed to the petition. A two-day holiday would be welcomed by brokers who have been suffering from nerve fag from the long period of persistently declining prices. Should the other sessions of the week preceding Columbus Day be as discouraging to bullish partisans among the traders as the first session, they, too, would be glad of relief from a sight of the ticker. The Cotton Exchange has pointed the way by voting to remain closed from Thursday afternoon to Monday morning.

Tobacco Stocks and Pools.

The ancient market adage to the effect that "the higher they go the further they fall" has had a full demonstration of late in United Cigar Stores and Tobacco Products. Yesterday's decline of 4⅝ points for the former and of 3 points for the latter set the closing levels 24½ and 18⅝ points, respectively, under the highest prices of the year. And the maximum quotations were established not so very many weeks ago. The swing upward bore numerous earmarks of pool operations, accompanied by much gossip of "favorable developments" which would ultimately show that the strength of the shares had been justified. Outside of increased earnings the favorable occurrences have not yet appeared, and the declines of the stocks in the last several sessions have indicated some hurried selling.

More One and Two Dollar Bills.

For some time banks all over the country, particularly those in the smaller cities and towns, have been complaining of the scarcity of one and two dollar bills. A bill just signed by the President is expected to relieve this scarcity. The Controller of the Currency, in commenting on this new legislation, says: "Since the resumption of specie payments Jan. 1, 1879, no banknotes of smaller denomination than five dollars have been furnished to national banks for issue, and the issue of five-dollar bills by national banks has been limited to one-third of their total circulation, the other two-thirds being notes of higher denominations. Under this new law every national bank will have the right to issue up to $25,000 of its circulation one and two dollar bills, and the limitation which has heretofore prevented national banks from issuing a larger proportion of five-dollar bills is removed."

Subscriptions Through National Banks

A statement issued by the Controller of the Currency shows that of 7,604 reporting national banks 1,207 sent in for the first Liberty Loan subscriptions in the aggregate to 10 per cent. or more of their total resources. Banks to the number of 621 subscribed to the extent of not less than 5 per cent. of their resources. The States having 20 or more national banks each subscribing to Liberty bonds on their own account to the extent of not less than 5 per cent. of their resources were: Pennsylvania, 76 banks; Illinois, 63; Indiana, 55; California and Kentucky, 32 each; Texas and Iowa, 30 each; Ohio, 27; Kansas, 26, and New York and Oklahoma, 23 banks each.

Liberty Motor Criticism.

Criticism of the Liberty Motor is still heard here and there among people in the financial district who should know better, but who apparently have not yet been able to rid themselves of the vague fear that the Liberty Motor's success will in some unexplained way be prejudicial to the interests they hold in certain private airplane manufacturing companies. As a matter of fact, nobody knows better than the responsible officials of those very companies that the exact opposite is the case, and that the immense orders they are getting from the Aircraft Production Board for planes, spare parts, &c., in most cases representing very handsome profits, are as much dependent upon the success of the Liberty Motor as is any other part of the Government's aviation program. Moreover, the Liberty Motor is purely a fighting motor, and will not in the least interfere with their development of types in which reliability and durability rather than maximum power and speed and minimum weight form the foundation for peacetime aviation rather than war service.

The Director of Ocean Traffic.

With the arrival of P. H. Carey, the United States Shipping Board's new Director of Traffic, on the scene of action, shipping men yesterday were hopefully awaiting further word from Washington to clear up the uncertainties which still overhang the industry regarding the operation of the Government's wholesale commandeering order, which goes into effect next Monday. Just at present the shipping industry is in a state precisely analogous to that in which the steel business spent most of its Summer and from which it has not yet entirely emerged, waiting first for prices to be fixed and then, after they had been fixed, for information as to what the fixing really meant. Very little business is being done on South Broad Street, for the simple reason that nobody knows what will happen to any offer he makes or any charter he agrees upon after Oct. 15.

How Is the Campaign Going?

The report from Washington that Secretary Daniels has signed contracts for all the huge additional program of destroyers, for which he obtained an extra appropriation of $350,000,000 emphasizes how little the New York financial district, once the best-informed community in the country, now knows about what is really going on. Some of the big men know, but the very manner in which they learned impressed upon them the necessity of keeping their knowledge to themselves. Nobody else can do more than guess. There have been intimations of sub-surface tension between the Navy Department and the Shipping Board because of the fear that the destroyer program may cut in on the steel supply the Shipping Board needs for its merchantmen, but it is very hard to learn anything about the reasons for this feeling.

Southern Railway Finances.

For every dollar collected from the people of its territory for passenger or freight service during the month of August, 1917, the Southern Railway, according to a recent compilation by its Controller, spent $1.28 in the same territory. The total disbursal of the road in August was $8,402,015, of which $7,041,911 was spent in the South, while passenger and freight receipts in the South amounted to only $5,497,540. The total gross revenue of the road for August amounted to $7,853,628, an increase of 20.89 per cent. over that for August, 1916. At the same time, however, operating expenses, taxes, &c., increased 27.35 per cent.

A Message from Our Soldiers to You

Few men know the American soldier better than Major-General John F. O'Ryan, of the New York State troops. Read what he says about the mental attitude and physical needs of the army now going to France:

"The soldiers of the United States have a direct interest in the success of the next Liberty Loan. It is said that an army moves on its belly. This means that the army must be fed, clothed, equipped, armed and supplied with ammunition, and this cannot be done without ample funds. The obligations of the soldier at the front are trying obligations, but they cannot be effectively fulfilled without the cooperation of the citizens at home.

"There is another aspect of the subject which is important and interesting. The history of warfare shows that soldiers in active campaign are more emotional than are the same class at home. This is caused by the character of their experience, involving, as it does, privation and the witnessing of unsightly scenes. Soldiers in campaign are tremendously affected for better or for worse by the influence of home news. If they feel that their scarifices are not in some substantial measure shared by those at home, the tendency for them is to feel that they are carrying the entire burden of national obligation—that they have been offered as it were as a national sacrifice.

"On the other hand, if home news shows that the people are not only watching and applauding, but are substantially supporting the conduct of the war, they are stimulated in their zeal.

"Nothing possibly could better serve to increase the optimism of our fighting forces, and to cause them to feel that the people are back of them and supporting them, than to learn that the next Loan, which is to be used in the furtherance of victory, has been over-subscribed."

This, then, is what the American lads who will fight for you, your country and your flag, expect you to do for them.

They want to know whether you propose to back them up. They want to know whether you are ready to take the responsibility of seeing that they are properly fed, clothed and armed. They are waiting to hear you say: "I'm with you, boys, to the last penny I can make and scrape. Don't worry about that—we're thinking of you, and praying for you, and working for you. Go in and win."

There is just one way you can send that heartening answer to the appeal of the American Soldiers.

Liberty Bonds as Business Insurance

Every business man should insure his business against the danger of future wars. Unless our enemy comes at least to realize that warfare is not a profitable industry, we can look forward to "a recuperation of its strength and a renewal of its policy," as the President of the United States has pointed out. We are waging this war that it may be the last international conflict, in the earnest and justified hope of a permanent peace.

Insurance Against Warfare

Every dollar invested in the Second Liberty Loan of 1917 is so much insurance against the danger of warfare in the future. Our President has said: "This agony must not be gone through with again."

It is for us to see that these words are made true. We are in this war for this deliberate purpose. To this end the Government of the United States is offering the Liberty Loan for subscription by the public. The measure of our success in our war loans will be the measure of our success in this war.

Duty of Business Men

Every American business man who hopes to keep his business free from the menace of future wars should subscribe to his share of the Liberty Loan. This is simply a matter of common prudence and business foresight, as well as of patriotism.

Your bank will accept your subscription for Liberty Loan bonds. Call and talk it over with them, and subscribe for your share. The bonds are the world's best investment. Their safety speaks for itself. They bear 4% interest. They are quickly marketable and are the best collateral available.

Buy Liberty Bonds for an investment and for insurance against future militarism and future wars!

CROP REPORT SHOWS BUMPER YIELD AHEAD

Some Drop in Estimates During September, but Harvest Will Be Large.

GAIN IN OATS AND RICE

Corn, Despite a Reduction, Will Be a Record Crop—Potatoes, Beans, and Tobacco Also High.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Considerable losses were recorded in some of the country's principal farm crops, as a result of conditions in September, but today's Government report indicated there would be record crops of corn, oats, rye, white and sweet potatoes, tobacco, and beans.

The loss was heaviest in corn, which showed a reduction of nearly 87,000,000 bushels since Sept. 1. Other losses were: Spring wheat, 8,000,000 bushels; barley, 2,180,000 bushels; buckwheat, 2,331,000 bushels; white potatoes, 8,985,000 bushels; sweet potatoes, 907,000 bushels; apples, 537,000 bushels; sugar beets, 118,000 tons; kafirs, 4,329,000 bushels, and beans, 4,155,000 bushels.

Some crops, however, showed improved conditions, especially oats, with a gain of 47,382,000 bushels, making it a record crop of 1,580,714,000 bushels, or 31,000,000 bushels more than that of 1915. Other gains were rice, 1,019,000 bushels, and tobacco, 21,837,000 pounds.

A comparison of the Oct. 1 forecast with that made from Sept. 1 conditions indicates the effect of weather and other conditions on the crops during September. The forecasts (in millions of bushels) follow:

| Crop. | Oct. 1 Indications. | Sept. 1 Forecast. | 1916 Crop. |
| Winter wheat | 417.3 | 417.3 | 481.7 |

August exports of wheat, corn, and mineral oils decreased to a marked extent, while exports of oats doubled and fresh beef recorded a 500 per cent. increase, the Department of Commerce announced today. The great bulk of shipments went to the Allies.

Breadstuffs worth $45,000,000 were exported during the month, an increase of $10,000,000 over a year ago. Cotton, leading the list in value, recorded a rise of $33,000,000 to $63,000,000, although the quantity shipped, 459,667 bales, was only 8 per cent. greater than in August, 1916. Five million bushels of wheat were exported as against 11,000,000 bushels a year ago. Meat and dairy products worth $24,500,000 were exported, a $5,000,000 increase.

Total exports of breadstuffs, meat, and dairy products, cotton and cottonseed oil and mineral oils were $155,576,612 as compared with $108,422,881 in August, 1916.

TO RETIRE RUBBER BONDS.

Offers to Buy In Securities a Year Before Maturity.

The United States Rubber Company is offering to buy in the $12,000,000 outstanding ten-year collateral trust 6 per cent. bonds, the Morgan & Wright debenture 5 per cent. bonds, and the 5 per cent. debentures of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company at 102.35 and accrued interest for the first named issue and 101.25 for the other two. The issues do not mature for more than a year, and the offer of retirement will be held open only until Oct. 27 to those bondholders who present their securities at the office of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

In announcing the terms for retiring the bonds yesterday, President S. P. Colt said that action had been taken at this time with the hope that the cash paid out would be put into Liberty Bonds. Parts of the issues have been exchanged for the 5 per cent. refunding bonds sold by the company last Spring.

COTTON SOARS AGAIN

October cotton yesterday, on the local market, sold at a higher price than on any previous day this season, reaching 27.20, which is 20 points higher than its high level in the big bull movement of last June. Realizing forced the price down to 27 cents flat, the same price that had previously ruled as high. October, however, was only the leader yesterday in one of the liveliest Mondays the market has seen for a long time. Every one of the active and most of the inactive months soared well above 25 cents, and the close was only a little below the best prices at a net advance of 93 to 98 points for the entire list.

Official predictions of frost over a great part of the belt, with freezing temperatures in northern Arkansas and Oklahoma, combined with the known lateness of the crop and the consequent unusual degree of danger, were responsible for the sharp rise above Saturday's figures. The lowering of marine insurance rates on the lessened submarine risk also played its part in the spirited early buying, even before the weather report came out.

The market opened firm at an advance of 13 to 41 points. There had been nervousness over frost predictions on Saturday, but the general impression had been that the cold wave would pass without damage and that warmer weather would develop over Sunday. Frost was reported at only a few points in the eastern belt, apparently without causing any damage, but the weather map showed prospects for colder weather. The official forecast, when published, indicated freezing temperatures for northern sections of the western belt with frosts extending southward to Texas and from light to heavy frosts in northern parts of the eastern belt. These predictions stimulated the buying movement, and before midday active months had sold 109 to 113 points above Saturday's closing figures. There was realizing at this level, also some Southern selling, causing reactions of 25 to 30 points, but no one was much inclined to sell pending the outcome of frost predictions, at any rate, and a good part of the losses were recovered on a renewal of trade buying late in the afternoon.

Both foreign and domestic trade interests were credited with buying on the advance, while there was covering and a broadening outside demand. There was also buying on private reports that the crop was deteriorating before the cold weather set in. Exports for the day were 12,993, making 910,117 so far this season, against 1,076,000 last year. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were about 50 to 88 points higher.

SHOE MACHINERY CASE JAN. 7

Supreme Court Decides to Expedite the Government's Suit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Supreme Court today decided to expedite the Government's anti-trust suit against the United Shoe Machinery Company, and fixed Jan. 7 for rehearing arguments.

The suit was dismissed by the lower court, which held the company blameless. The Government appealed to the Supreme Court, which heard arguments last March, and later ordered the case reargued at the present term.

The war will have no effect upon the Government's prosecution of the five great anti-trust suits now pending. Solicitor General Davis said today that agreement had been reached with attorneys for the International Harvester Company whereby the dissolution suit brought against that company would not be considered by the court until after the arguments in the steel suit, to be called in January.

The Coal Trust cases will come up in their regular order and will be reached late in November.

Offer More British Treasury Bills.

J. P. Morgan & Co. offered yesterday another $15,000,000 of British Treasury bills at 5½ per cent. interest per annum, the same rate which the offering of last week commanded. There are outstanding at the present time approximately $50,000,000 of the Treasury bills, of which about $14,000,000 were taken by the banks last week.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

The Government report on Spring wheat placed the indicated yield at 242,450,000 bushels, compared with last month's estimate of 250,000,000 and last year's final crop of 158,142,000 bushels. This, together with the previous report on Winter wheat, makes a total indicated yield of 659,797,000 bushels, compared with last year's crop of 639,886,000 and the crop of 1915 of 1,025,801,000 bushels. Receipts at primary points continue moderate, compared with last year, and the visible supply increased only 23,000 bushels for the week, making the total 7,412,000, compared with 62,627,000 a year ago.

CORN.

The Government report on corn, published after the close of the market, made even a better showing than had been anticipated. The trade had been looking for a loss of about 70,000,000 bushels from last month, but the figures were only about 38,000,000 less, the total being 3,210,795,000 bushels, compared with last month's estimate of 3,248,000,000 and a final last year of 2,583,241,000 bushels. The market showed resistance to bearish influences, closing near the top, with net gains of ¼ to 1c. The visible supply showed an increase for the week of 90,000 bushels, with the total 1,226,000 bushels, compared with 5,200,000 a year ago. In the local cash market No. 2 old yellow corn was quoted at $2.07 and No. 2 mixed at $2.03, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

Evidences of renewed export demand for oats, together with the firmness in corn, gave that market a firm undertone, and final prices were ⅝c to ⅝c net higher. Exporters were said to be buying futures, which will later be converted into cash oats, and were also said to have taken about 400,000 bushels during the last few days. The visible supply increased 434,000 bushels for the week, and the total is now 14,697,000, compared with 40,214,000 bushels a year ago. The local cash market was steady; standard quoted at 66½@67c; No. 2 white, 67c; No. 3 white, 66@66½c; No. 4 white, 65½@66c; fancy clipped white, 68@70c; ordinary clipped white, 66@68c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was irregular and feverish early and closed strong and higher for ribs and pork, while lard was comparatively little changed. The hog market was easier, but the situation is looked upon as strong, and price changes in the general market were thought to be due largely to technical conditions. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 23,000; estimated for Tuesday, 12,000. Kansas City received 5,000 and Omaha 2,100.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil experienced a sensational advance, closing 100 points net higher for October, which at one time was up 175 points, while the late months closed at about the top, with net gains of 48 to 65 points. The fears of frost in the cotton belt and the strength in the cotton market contributed to the day's advance. Total sales were 58,600 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

The coffee market was more active yesterday. There was a good deal of switching from near to late months, including exchanges of December for July at 60 points and of March for July at 36 points. Aside from this there appeared to be a better supply of orders around the ring than for some time, but they were pretty well divided and fluctuations were irregular, with the close net 3 points lower to 5 points higher. A fair demand was reported for spots, with quotations on the basis of 8⅝c for Rio, 7s and 9⅝c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

There were no transactions in raw sugar and it was reported that Canadian interests had withdrawn as buyers, but it was thought possible to sell to operators at 5¼, cost and freight. The market, however, was bare of offerings. While there was a good demand for refined sugar at 8.50c, business was being limited to regular customers and orders cut to the lowest possible point. Refiners who are still in the market, not being able to secure raw supplies, cannot fill their domestic trade and the situation is becoming more acute daily. Both the domestic beet and Louisiana crops are late and little relief can be expected there for the time being. Spot prices for Cuban raw sugar follow: Centrifugal, 6.90c; molasses, 6.02c; cost and freight, 5⅞c.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 6,632 packages. Buyers are still holding off, and market suffered a further sharp decline, with an unsettled feeling at the close. The Exchange sales of creamery extras were mainly at 44¼c, and the goods are now quite generally bought at that. Undergrades also suffered in about the same proportion. Renovated a little easier. Ladies and packing stock favoring buyers. Creamery, higher than extras, per pound, 44½@45¼c; extras, (92 score) 44¼c; firsts, (88 to 91 score,) 43@44c; seconds, (83 to 87 score,) 41½@42½c; thirds, 40½@41c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 43@43½c; extras, 45@45½c; firsts, 44@44½c; seconds, 43@43½c; State, dairy tubs, finest, 44c; good to prime, 42@43½c; common to fair, 39@41½c; renovated extras, 43c; firsts, 42@42½c; lower grades, 39@41½c; imitation creamery, firsts, 40½@41c; ladles, current make, firsts, 39@39½c; seconds, 38½c; lower grades, 37@38c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 38½@39c; No. 2, 38c; lower grades, 36@37½c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 6,830 cases. Market irregular. Very fancy eggs, showing a large proportion of new-laid quality, are in comparatively light supply and held with some confidence. The market is still burdened with large accumulations of medium and lower qualities which are pressing for sale at very irregular prices, the general range of prices showing no material change. Storage eggs are still dull and favor the buyer under increasing pressure to sell. Nearby white eggs of fancy quality are scarce and firm; undergrades irregular and meeting a slow market. Fresh gathered, extras, per dozen, 45@46c; extra firsts, 42@44c; firsts, 39@41c; seconds, 37@38c; thirds and poorer, 32@36c; fresh gathered dirties, No. 1, 36@36½c; No. 2 and poorer, 30@35c; fresh gathered checks, good to choice, dry, 33@34c; undergrades, 30@32c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, storage and insurance paid, 37@38c; firsts, storage and insurance paid, 36@37c; seconds, storage and insurance paid, 34@35½c; lower grades, storage and insurance paid, 33@34c; refrigerator, State whites, 41@43c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 60@63c; ordinary to good, 48@58c; gathered whites, good to fine, 45@60c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 42@48c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby hennery browns, 48@52c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 42@46c.

LIBERTY BONDS

Every time you see a sturdy, clear-eyed American lad in khaki, this should be your thought:

"That boy is going to France to fight for his country and mine. He is leaving his work, his home, his family, his native land that he loves so well. He is ready to die, if need be. He has made up his mind to that.

"What can I do to help him—to make sure that he is warmly clothed, well shod, well fed, properly cared for when ill or wounded, and adequately armed to fight and win? Is it within my power to save him—to bring that fine, strong young body home to those who brought it into being, nourished it into manhood, and to whom it is more precious than all other earthly possessions?"

NOTEHOLDERS ORGANIZE.

Seek to Rehabilitate Federal Dyestuffs and Chemicals.

Two committees have been formed to look after the interests of noteholders in the Federal Dyestuff and Chemical Corporation, which was put into receivers' hands a few days ago. One is headed by Alvin W. Krech, President of the Equitable Trust Company. The other members are George A. Coulton, President of the Union National Bank of Cleveland, J. D. Maguire, head of the Maguire Rubber Company, and Charles W. Holloway. With the exception of Mr. Krech the committee members are Directors of the corporation.

The other committee, which has sent a letter to noteholders, consists of F. de C. Sullivan, a Director of the Mecanics and Metals National Bank; Frank C. Wilsey, a Director of the Coal and Iron National Bank; Henry W. Martin of Martin, Berwin & Co.; Frank H. Van Dusen of Troy, and Leonard T. Saunders. The committee says in its letter that it represents about $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 6 per cent. notes outstanding.

The committee objects to the continuance of John W. Herbert, former Chairman of the Federal Dyestuff and Chemical Corporation, as one of the receivers. Note owners are asked to communicate with the committee in regard to ways and means for putting the company on its feet again.

This is the initial payment on the third of these credits arranged by Bonbright & Co., Inc., the first two of which, aggregating $30,000,000, having already been repaid by the French banks.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

All through the last hour of trading on the Consolidated Stock Exchange stocks were pressed for sale. The principal issues closed at or only fractionally above the day's lowest prices. The market had opened steady and in the initial dealings some stocks recorded light gains. Almost immediately, however, the market turned weak, but by the end of the first hour buying orders began to pour in and the earlier losses were offset.

BAKER PAYS TRIBUTE TO OUR BUSINESS MEN

Says They Have Helped to Make Army One of the Best Armed and Equipped in the World.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Oct. 8.—Secretary of War Baker, addresing the annual meeting of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce tonight, declared that the manner in which the business men of the country had gathered to the support of the national Government, in its supreme emergency of war, was making "a stronger nation, a greater democracy, and a greater hope for mankind." The Secretary said that he wanted the business men to know that he was proud to pay the tribute and that as a result the nation would become a wonderful world factor for peace after the war.

"I believe that under the example of America, we will be able to make such arrangements that war will give place to the virtues of peace for many years to come," said the Secretary. He praised Congress for creation of the Council of National Defence which, he said, had prepared the country's resources.

Reviewing the organization of the national army, Mr. Baker said that it had been by a nation totally unaccustomed to war, but which had not only subjected itself to a selective draft, but had diverted its industries into many unaccustomed lines of production. "Even Germany was never able to do this," he declared.

"Let me say to you that when our army takes its place abroad it will be armed as well as any and better than most," declared Mr. Baker. He said that for every soldier abroad now there were five rifles in France, and every regular and National Guardsman at home has a rifle, while the stream of rifles, now 100,000 a month, will soon be 200,000.

The young men in the army, said Mr. Baker, will be surrounded by safer conditions than ever known before. This had been done by adopting "the wholesale spirit of the youth of America," remarked the Secretary, who said the curative policies of the colleges had been put in force. "We are making a wonderful army. We are making it by American processes. We are going to have a very, very low sick rate," said he.

The Secretary said there had been no Aladdin's lamp or fairy wand about the building up of the equipment and ordnance supplies and the launching of a great ship building program, or the start on the immense airplane construction. What has been done has been accomplished through hard work and the mobilization of American inventive and business genius. The speaker declared there was no doubt that America was next on the German program, and said, "we must win this war or admit democracy a failure."

In making a plea for co-ordination of financial resources such as there has been of business, Mr. Baker said the country must buy of Liberty bonds "until it hurts."

GOVERNMENT FURS SOLD.

Alaskan Sealskins Bring Lower Prices Than They Did in Spring.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 8.—A total of 3,329 Alaskan seal skins belonging to the Government were sold at auction here today for a total of $110,000. The skins sold for an average of $33.50 each, a price of 12 to 20 per cent. below the prices realized here last April.

More than 15,000 undressed skins of Lobos Island seals sold for $15,500. These skins were a consignment of the Uruguyan Government. The Federal Government's shipment of blue fox pelts from Pribiloff Islands sold for an average of $80 each, though the better skins brought $90 to $162.

N., C. & St. L. Strike Is Off.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8.—With both sides expressly stipulating that their action was taken as a patriotic duty, striking clerks of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway returned to work today under an agreement by which the company will pay all the strikers for the time they have lost, the differences to be settled later.

Wool Jersey for Bathing Suits.

One factor in the increased call for wool jersey that has developed recently is the number of manufacturers of bathing suits for women who are said to be taking large quantities of these fabrics. The shades reported most sought for this purpose are black and blue, with a fair scattering of rose, orange, green, and old gold. Though prices for the coming season will be high, owing to the woolen situation, manufacturers apparently are planning for a banner season.

Vests for Women Coming In.

The English polo jacket is exerting a strong influence on designs of sport suits and costumes for next Spring. Imitation vests and in some instances separate waistcoats are already proving popular, it is said, with these merchants planning for the Palm Beach trade. The vests are made without sleeves in most cases, though some are shown with the short, semi-fitting type and have a very mannish appearance. In riding habits, the vest is in one piece with a short skirt to be worn over bloomers of the same or contrasting material.

Millinery Trade Thriving.

The millinery trade, which was expected by many to be the hardest hit by the effects of the numerous calls on women to economize, is said to have experienced, to the contrary, one of the best seasons in recent years. "To be sure," said one authority in the trade, "women are exercising more care in their purchases, and are not so reckless of value as they once were. But value once determined, they are buying as formerly, and in most cases are spending, though this is due principally to higher prices, considerably more money than last year."

Pace Setter Is Now the Thing.

In order to stimulate business through various territories in which sales have not been satisfactory, a certain well-known food purveyor is working the pace setter scheme. In other words, one of the best and highest salaried men on the force is sent out to comb the territory, and the mark he sets is the mark that the "ordinary" salesman who follows him has to shoot at. It is made clear to the latter that if he wants a better salary he has got to beat the high level set by the "star." If he wants to keep his job, he has at least to equal the latter.

The Rise in Cotton Is Helping.

Judging from the way business in wash and white goods came to local jobbers through the mails yesterday, the recent rises in cotton here are making retailers sit up and take notice. The character of the demand did not differ from what has been outlined before, the steady call for novelty dress ginghams continuing to be a feature. In certain quarters of the market here wholesalers have disposed of tremendous quantities of these goods, and it is now practically assured that the question of meeting deliveries some months hence is not going to be an easy one.

Crepe de Chine Waists Favored.

Waists of crêpe de chine, tailored and with high collars, seem, according to reports from local manufacturers, to be making great inroads on the front position in popular favor formerly held by georgettes with rolling collars. The two-in-one collar, or that which can be worn either high or open, has been considerably improved in the later models, making it smarter in appearance when open than were the older types, and thus is meeting with much more general acceptance. White seems, just now, to be much more widely sought than flesh color, in georgette as well as crêpe de chine.

Burlap Prices Advance Again.

There appears to be no limit to the extent which standard burlaps are advancing in this market because of the continued demand and scant supply available. Sales of 40-inch 10½-ounce goods have been made as high as 15.95 cents, with 16 cents the asking price yesterday. The quotation on 10-ounce goods in the same width was 15¾ cents, sales having been made very recently as high as 15.65. The asking price for 8-ounce 40s was 12 cents, with the last business reported at 11¾ cents. Reports from Calcutta indicate a steadily advancing market, the comparative figures favoring this city in spite of the rise here.

Delayed Deliveries Will Hurt.

The difficulty that is being experienced in many parts of New England in getting deliveries of goods bought from this and other markets is going to work a hardship on both the retailers and the salesmen before very long. A salesman carrying a line of hardware sundries said yesterday that he was selling more goods through that section than ever before, but that there seemed to be no way of getting even a fairly prompt delivery. "The result is," he went on, "that my customers are going to get their stuff through in full just about the time I start out on my last trip for the year. Can you imagine my doing business under those circumstances?"

Wholesalers Somewhat Amused.

In the face of the circular sent out to the trade by a certain Middle Western house, offering large quantities of domestics at prices lower than they could be replaced at now in the primary market and advising buyers not to overbuy, even at those prices, the 100-point rise in cotton here yesterday caused some amusement among sellers of competing lines. It was known that the concern in question is well covered in the goods tendered, through purchases made at lower prices earlier in the year, and there was no criticism of its action from a merchandising point of view. It was the coincidence that caused the humor.

Gray Goods Prices Unsettled.

The sharp rise in cotton here yesterday caused most sellers of printcloths to put prices up a quarter of a cent all along the line. Buyers were not keen on paying the advance at once, which kept business smaller than was expected in view of the good inquiries. Sheetings were none too active, either, though the demand for them was at least fair. In certain quarters of the market good sales of drills, both narrow and wide, were told of at advanced prices. Printcloth prices, which were largely nominal, closed this way:

WAR TASK FOR W. N. KERNAN

Will Be Knights of Columbus Commissioner with Army Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Resigning as Vice President and general counsel of the New York State Railways and Mohawk Valley Company, Walter N. Kernan of Utica and New York City, will devote himself to the work of the Knights of Columbus Committee on War Activities in Europe until the end of the war. He will sail tomorrow for England, and after a few weeks spent in that country will go to Paris, where he will establish offices as Knights of Columbus Commissioner with the American overseas army.

Under Mr. Kernan's direction, the erection of Knights of Columbus recreation buildings will begin in France. He will be surrounded in his Paris headquarters by a staff of assistants, and nearly one hundred field secretaries, who will join him in the next few weeks. While in England he will make arrangements for a work similar to that which the Knights of Columbus are doing for the American soldiers, to be done for the soldiers of the British army.

Mr. Kernan's work will be gratuitous. He has received the indorsement of Cardinal Gibbons, Farley, and O'Connell. Mr. Kernan is a son of Francis Kernan, who served as United States Senator from New York from 1875 to 1881.

MAYO NOT IN WASHINGTON.

Daniels Denies Admiral Will Confer with Benson This Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Daniels today authorized a denial of a published report that Admiral Mayo would confer in Washington this week with Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, regarding the results of the former's conference with British naval officers in London.

Mr. Daniels said that Admiral Mayo was not now in Washington and would not be here this week, and would not take part in a conference during the week with Admiral Benson on joint naval operations by this country and Great Britain.

For military reasons and as a matter of personal safety the Navy Department does not consider it proper to state whether Admiral Mayo has returned to this country or when he will return, and considers it unwise to print information purporting to detail the movements of prominent naval officers unless authorized officially by the department.

Ever since the United States entered the war, and for eight weeks prior to that date, American and British naval experts have collaborated.

BEGIN LA FOLLETTE INQUIRY.

Senate Committee Will Hold No Public Hearings at Present.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Beginning investigation today of the speech of Senator La Follette before the Non-Partisan League at St. Paul, the Senate committee in charge of the inquiry mapped out preliminary procedure, and then adjourned until Thursday, to await further information from La Follette, and also from W. J. Bryan. No public hearings will be held for the present, Chairman Pomerene announced. The committee believes it possible that the investigation will be concluded within a few days, possibly without any open testimony.

Senator La Follette today changed his plan to issue a public statement regarding his declaration in the St. Paul speech that Mr. Bryan told President Wilson of ammunition aboard the Lusitania when the vessel sailed from New York on her last voyage. His statement probably will be made to the committee. No other statements in La Follette's speech are being investigated at this time, Chairman Pomerene said. Mr. Bryan has denied the statement.

Belligerency of Greece Recognized.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The statement was made officially at the State Department today that the United States Government fully recognizes the belligerency of Greece. This assertion came in response to queries predicated on press dispatches from Athens to the effect that the attitude of the United States toward Greece since that nation had entered the war had not been fully defined.

BREAD CARDS FOR ITALY.

Estimate That She Will Need 3,000,000 Tons of Wheat from Us.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Oct. 7.—The introduction of bread cards into Italy is most interesting, since bread, as in no other country, represents the staple food of the large majority of the population, and the consumption of potatoes and meat is comparatively limited. In fact, since the beginning of the war the Government had been obliged to establish a maximum price for wheat produced in Italy, but, the Italian crop being insufficient, the Government purchases the difference abroad and sells it at home for less than half the market price to itself. Indeed, adding the actual rate of exchange on foreign money, it costs the Government double the price at which it disposes of it to the consumer.

A semi-official communication published tonight states that this year's crop of wheat will be 1,000,000 tons less than last year. Thus, as last year's importation amounted to 2,000,000 tons, this year Italy needs 3,000,000 tons, which she hopes to receive from America.

The bread cards, which were decreed for Oct. 11, have been postponed to Nov. 1. This is causing comment and inferences, especially as it follows an intimation from the Turin and Milan municipalities that they would not accept the bread cards, considering them unnecessary. Signor Canepa, Food Controller, had issued a circular saying he could not make exceptions for Turin and Milan and that what had been ordered must be executed. Therefore, this postponement is taken as meaning either that Signor Canepa is encountering more difficulties or simply that the organization for distributing the bread cards is incomplete.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

One of the choicest vacant corners on upper Fifth Avenue figured in an important transaction yesterday, involving properties which were said to have been held at over $1,000,000. Oliver Gould Jennings purchased the large parcel at the southeast corner of the avenue and Ninety-sixth Street, 100.8 feet on the avenue by 150 on the street, from Sumner Gerard, who bought it about four years ago. Several fine residences have recently been erected in the neighborhood, including the Carhart and Fabbri homes on the north side of Ninety-fifth Street, just off Fifth Aveue, while in the Ninety-sixth Street block are the homes of Ogden Codman, Mrs. Lucy Drexel Dahlgren, and F. deR. Wiseman. The block front on the avenue to the north, between Ninety-sixth and Ninety-seventh Streets, was purchased some time ago by the late Mrs. Flagler-Bingham. The corner acquired by Mr. Jennings was held at $700,000.

In part payment Mr. Jennings gave his four-story English basement residence at 7 East Seventy-second Street, 28 by 102.2, held at $300,000, which he vacated a short time ago, after the completion of his new home at 882 Fifth Avenue, adjoining the southeast corner of Seventieth Street. ## Education Notes.

The report of the Faculty Committee on Employment of the City College, issued yesterday by Professor Frederick B. Breithut, executive Secretary, shows that 730 students were assisted by the college employment bureau to obtain positions during the year, and that they earned an aggregate of $20,619.62. This is a marked increase over activities for the previous year, when only 486 men were placed. During the coming year the employment bureau hopes to enlarge its activities, and it is now appealing to the alumni as well as to the business men of the city for their co-operation and support.

The Brooklyn Teachers' Association is conducting a class in methods and practice of muscular movement penmanship. The class meets under the direction of C. C. Lister at the Brooklyn Training School for Teachers on Thursdays at 4:15 P. M. This course is carefully planned to meet the needs of public school teachers.

The course in methods of teaching freehand perspective, given by Miss Grace Ellingwood Rich, under the auspices of the Brooklyn Teachers' Association, will meet on Thursdays, excluding Oct. 11, at 4:15 P. M. The course in methods of teaching working drawings and constructive work meets at the Brooklyn Training School for Teachers on Tuesdays at 4:15 P. M.

The Isaac Pitman Shorthand Writers' Association will meet at 8 P. M. on Oct. 12 at the Packard School, Thirtieth Street and Lexington Avenue. Amy Weaver will speak on "Incoming Mail from Letter Carrier to File," Edwin A. Bolger on "What I Look for in My Inspections," and Emma B. Dearborn on "Teaching Typewriting with the Aid of Musical Accompaniment."

A special course in reference to the great war and its problems has been arranged by the City College of New York, to be given at the Brooklyn branch under the direction of Dr. A. G. Fradenburgh. This course will begin on Thursday, Oct. 11, and registrations may be made any evening this week at the office of the college in the Boys' High School.

Dr. Vincenzo Viccaro, graduate of the University of Naples, teaches Italian at the South Brooklyn Evening High School for Men, Fiftieth Street and Sixth Avenue, Brooklyn, on Tuesday and Thursday of each week from 8 to 10 P. M.

The Stuyvesant Free Evening Trade School, organized by the Board of Education, has just opened its doors for another season. The steadily increasing demand upon the facilities of the school shows that it supplies a want for mechanics and others, who, through working at a certain trade, have little opportunity to learn all about it. Many of its pupils and graduates are now employed in navy yards on Government work.

Evening School 34, Amethyst Street, Bronx, will be open from 7 to 9:30 o'clock on Oct. 19 and 26 to register pupils. Classes in mechanical drawing and electrical installation have been opened in addition to the regular commercial and industrial classes and classes for teaching foreigners English and civil government.

This week will mark the opening of lunch services in thirty-six schools in Manhattan and the Bronx. The event is of unusual interest at this time because of its bearing upon the whole food question. The service of lunches in New York schools is attacking one phase of this important question, viz., the provision of palatable, nutritious food for school children, who, because of unsatisfactory home conditions, are undernourished.

The proposed transfer of Principal Irving A. Hazen from the New Utrecht High School to the Richmond Hill High School is opposed by citizens of that section of Brooklyn, by the Bath Beach Taxpayers' Association, and by the teachers, general organization, and pupils of Mr. Hazen's school. Appeals have been made to Mayor Mitchel and to the High Schools Committee of the Board of Education to prevent his transfer.

REGISTER TODAY.

This is registration week. Today, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

SUSPECTED AS AGENT IN SPY OPERATIONS

WEALTHYMAN UNDER WATCH

Has Been Under Suspicion for Months as Being Close to von Bernstorff and von Papen.

Secret Service agents of the United States are following a new trail, which they believe will lead to the arrest of the men who were the go-betweens of von Bernstorff and the various spies who were sent from the United States during the first two and one-half years of the war to England and France, and probably Russia also, to gain military and other information which Germany wanted. One of the men, who is believed to know much concerning Bernstorff's activities in this line, is said to be a wealthy resident of a neighboring city. He is an American citizen, and is believed to have been one of the principal links in the German spy chain.

For months agents of the United States Government have suspected that a certain man, whose name for obvious reasons cannot now be disclosed, was one of those closest to Bernstorff, von Papen, and the other German head plotters in the scheme which was hatched about a year ago to send a number of Americans into England to get information as to movements of allied shipping in order, as Bernstorff hoped, to simplify the task of the German submarine commanders operating in the North and Irish Seas.

Four of the men who were employed by the German Ambassador and his aids to carry out this plot are now serving sentences in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, following their conviction of having conspired on American territory to wage war against the Allies. One of these men is Albert O. Sander, a former reporter on Das Morgen Journal, who is a German subject, and the other Charles W. Wunnenberg, who when arrested claimed American citizenship.

Not until the Bolo Pacha investigation did the agents of the Governments finally land a clue which gives every promise of leading to the source of the spy plot. It was Hugo Schmidt, the representative of the Deutsche Bank, and who, at the command of Bernstorff, paid to Bolo Pacha $1,683,500 as the price of Bolo's betrayal of his country, who in a moment of forgetfulness mentioned the name of one of the men long under suspicion as a subordinate of Bernstorff in the spy conspiracy.

Schmidt, who when on the stand in the Bolo investigation, was very much excited, had stated that he had once given Bernstorff $250,000, which Bernstorff had deposited in the Corn Exchange Bank. When asked if that was the only payment he had made to Bernstorff, on orders received from Berlin, he finally admitted that he had paid several thousand dollars to a certain man prominent in manufacturing circles in a neighboring State. The man he named is one of those suspected in the spy plot.

The man to whom Schmidt referred first came under suspicion when a young woman was arrested last February. This woman, whose name has never been disclosed by the Secret Service, was taken into custody on the arrival of the steamship on which she came to America. She was under examination more than a week, and it is understood to have made important admission regarding the operation of the German spy system.

LONG TRIP TO YAPHANK.

Soldiers Complain of Train Delays That Eat Into Furloughs.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP UPTON, YAPHANK, L. I., Oct. 8.—Seven thousand sleepy soldiers arrived at the camp railroad station this morning just in time to report for reveille. They had been on trains from New York more than six hours returning from their forty-two-hour week-end leave. A quarter of their short furlough was spent on the round trip between Camp Upton and New York.

Both officers and men are indignant over the treatment they get from the railroad. Special trains were scheduled to leave the camp station for New York on Saturday at 1 P. M. So crowded were the trains that men standing in the aisles overflowed onto platform and steps, and even to the coal pile of the engine tenders. Although these specials were due in New York shortly after 3, they did not arrive until 5:30. The run from Jamaica to New York took forty-five minutes. Conductors passed through the cars collecting tickets and would not allow trains to proceed until all tickets had been received.

On the return trip trains leaving the Pennsylvania Station at 11:45 were due at Camp Upton station shortly after 1 this morning. They did not arrive until 6, the passengers having been up all night.

"The railroad does not seem to realize," said an officer who was up all night on a train, "that Camp Upton is the largest city on Long Island, except Brooklyn, and yet we have the poorest train service. Only local trains stop at the camp station."

A telegram arrived at Company G barracks, Three Hundred and Seventh Infantry, addressed to Morris Cohen. It read:

"Exemption claim allowed. Papers have been forwarded."

Captain C. M. Bull, Jr., looked over his rolls and found three Morris Cohens in his company. The men were called to the orderly room, the telegram was read to them, and all three stretched out their hands for the message. Pending further details, Morris Cohen will remain in camp.

Exonerates 13 Negro Soldiers.

FORT BLISS, Texas, Oct. 8.—Thirteen of the 156 negro soldiers held here in connection with the rioting in Houston on Aug. 23 were ordered released yesterday and have returned to Columbus, N. M., to rejoin their regiment. Their release was ordered, it was announced, on the recommendation of the Board of Inquiry, which found that they had no part in the rioting.

ARREST MEXICAN CONSUL.

Martinez Accused of Defying Local Draft Board.

Jesus Martinez, the Mexican Vice Consul at New York, who was twice called for examination by the Draft Board of the 140th District, of which Charles H. Tuttle is the Chairman, but who, acting under orders from his superior, Juan T. Burns, the Mexican Consul General, ignored the summons and announced that he would not comply with the law, was arrested yesterday morning by agents of the Department of Justice and held in $5,000 bail for a hearing at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Martinez deposited $5,000 cash and was released.

Martinez was arrested in his apartment at 640 Riverside Drive. He did not appear in the least surprised when the agents of the Department of Justice announced the reason for their visit and accompanied them, without protest, to the Federal Building, where he was subsequently arraigned before United State Commissioner Hitchcock, charged with violating the provisions of the selective draft law. The prisoner made no statement of any kind when arraigned.

Under the provisions of the selective draft law all men between the ages of 21 and 31 years in the United States, aliens as well as citizens, must register and must appear for examination when called by the board of the district in which they live. In the case of aliens they are immediately exempted when they present the proper affidavits which prove them to be citizens or subjects of foreign countries. Martinez was informed that his appearance at the board would amount to a formality and that there was no question but that he would be promptly exempted on the filing of his papers.

When Martinez received his notice to appear before Board 145 Consul General Burns wrote a letter to the board in which he told the members that under no consideration would he permit Martinez to appear voluntarily for examination. In a subsequent statement he referred to the board members as men who could only be compared to the "savage hordes of Villa." Chairman Tuttle referred in turn to Secretary of State Lansing.

Burns and Martinez acted on the presumption that consular agents enjoy the same status as diplomatic representatives. Martinez was informed yesterday that that was not his status, and that instead of being an accredited Mexican diplomatic representative to the United States he was only a commercial agent and as such was amenable to the laws of the United States.

Consul General Burns has referred the case to the Mexican Ambassador.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Mexican Embassy has taken up with the State Department the question of the status of Mexican nationals affected by the local draft boards in Arizona, a matter which has threatened the exodus of Mexicans from that State into Mexico. Mine owners have also addressed the State Department on the subject because they have been threatened with a serious labor shortage at Prescott.

HARRIS ESTATE $485,891.

Property Mostly Interests in Theatrical Enterprises.

William Harris, the theatrical manager, whose home was at Bayside, left a net estate of $485,891.20, according to the report of Transfer Tax Appraiser Warren B. Ashmead, of Queens, filed yesterday. The debts were $177,183.33, and the personal property was worth $636,767.09.

The largest items were stock in the New York Theatre Company, $80,600; Klaw & Erlanger Amusement Company, $18,000; Metropolis Theatre Company, $10,000; New Lyceum Theatre Company, $20,000; Charles Frohman Company, $38,200, and the Amusement Company of Illinois, $24,900. A note given by the New Lyceum Theatre Company is valued at $129,700.66, and there is a claim against the estate of Henry B. Harris for $145,024.12. The decedent owned a half interest in "The Thirteenth Chair" company, which is valued at $51,250. His life insurance was $34,000, and insurance held by Mr. Harris on the life of Hazel Dixie, the actor, amounted to $14,310.33. His interest in leases of the Hollis Street and Colonial Theatres, Boston, and the Powers Theatre, Chicago, are valued at $20,000.

Posed as Secretary Daniels's Son.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 8.—Joseph Levy of Pittsburgh, who pleaded guilty of personating Frank Daniels, son of the Secretary of the Navy, was sentenced here today to two years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta. Levy obtained loans and letters to prominent persons, and succeeded in gaining admittance to the New York Navy Yard.

THINK BANKER WAS SLAIN.

Friends of Peoria Financier Demand an Investigation.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 8.—Several mysterious features in connection with the death of Jesse Barker, the banker, who was found shot to death last night in the bathroom of his home here, caused Coroner Elliott to delay the investigation today. Attorneys who represent the family of the dead man have demanded an investigation, believing that it is a case of plain murder.

Mrs. Jesse Barker, who had been away from her home here for several weeks directing her divorce suit in the Chicago courts, returned this morning.

Joseph Well, Mr. Barker's attorney, was one of the first to arrive at the home after the shooting, and though the revolver still was clutched in the dead man's hand, the attorney states that the position of the body was such that the bullet could not possibly have fallen into the place where it was found unless it had struck the wall and glanced off. There is no mark on any of the walls to show where a bullet had struck.

Long Island Road Bars Trespassers.

A vigorous campaign to prevent trespassing on railroad property has just been launched by the Long Island Railroad. Today large placards bearing the following warning notice are being posted at every possible point where the public can see them: "Don't trespass on the railroad. It is a criminal offense in the State of New York. New law, Section 1,990, Penal Code, effective Sept. 1, 1917, provides arrest and fine as the penalty for walking on or along railroad tracks or on the railroad right of way. It will be strictly and vigilantly enforced on the property of the Long Island Railroad Company." Thousands of persons in the United States, the railway officials said, are killed and injured annually because they disregard the law against trespassing on the railroads' private right of way.

REGISTER TODAY.

This is registration week. Today, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

POLICE CAPTAIN ACCUSED.

Charged with Tapping Wire to Aid Friend's Divorce Case.

District Attorney Swann began an investigation yesterday into a complaint which charged a Brooklyn Police Captain with having unlawfully tapped the wires of a hotel in Manhattan to obtain divorce evidence for a friend. According to the complaint, the Police Captain arranged with the operators to listen in on the hotel wires by pretending that he was engaged in the performance of official police duty.

The District Attorney had one of the operators of the hotel before him yesterday. He also obtained from the Police Captain a written admission that he had tapped the wires in question. The officer, however, insisted that he had done so only in an official capacity, and requested the District Attorney to give him an opportunity to be heard before proceeding with the matter any further.

The prosecutor declined to make public yesterday either the name of the Police Captain or the complainant.

Football Star Quits Politics.

Edward Dillon, formerly a football star at Princeton, who entered politics in Newark this year, has suddenly dropped out. Nominated by the Democratic Party for State Senator from Essex County, he made an unsuccessful fight to have the party adopt a plank in favor of local option, but this was vetoed by James R. Nugent, leader of the Essex Democracy. Mr. Dillon yesterday wrote Nugent that he desired to withdraw, as he was "too real a Democrat to sacrifice his principles to party expediency."

Connolly Files $100,000 Libel Suit.

The $100,000 libel suit brought by Borough President Connolly of Queens against Robert W. Higbie, his opponent on the Fusion ticket, on the ground of alleged false statements made by Higbie in a campaign speech, was filed in the Supreme Court of New York County yesterday. This action was taken because of the prominence of the parties in their home county.

ASKS 3-CENT STAMP RULING.

Postmaster Patten Seeks Definite Status of New York Mail.

Postmaster Thomas G. Patten will ask Postmaster General Burleson today for a ruling on the new postal regulations of the war tax law, according to which a three-cent stamp will have to be placed on a letter in Manhattan for delivery in Brooklyn. The law goes into effect next month, and Mr. Patten, at his home in Long Branch last night, said that he expected to have the matter cleared up long before then.

Mr. Patten explained that the three-cent rate on letters from Manhattan to Brooklyn or from Long Island City to Greenpoint arises from the fact that the organization of the Post Offices in New York City do not conform to the organization of the Municipal Government. The New York Post Office has jurisdiction in Manhattan and the Bronx, while Brooklyn, Staten Island, and Long Island City are separate postal districts, with Postmasters in charge.

Under the new law it will be obligatory on any one mailing a letter into another postal district to place a three-cent stamp on it. This is the interpretation placed on the law by the local Post Office authorities, and it is this point that Mr. Patten will ask Washington to pass on, for it has been pointed out that, as the law says that letters marked for delivery in New York City must have a two-cent stamp, this should not mean delivery only within any one of the postal districts comprising New York City, but within any part of the city.

According to the interpretation of the new law, a situation is presented whereby a letter mailed at the Battery will be delivered at the city line at Yonkers for 2 cents, while the same letter mailed at the Battery will have to have a three-cent tax on it for delivery in Brooklyn, another postal district. In the same way, a letter mailed at Greenpoint will have to bear a three-cent stamp if it is marked for delivery in Long Island City, a short distance away.

The Road to Health Is Open

If you have been run down by overwork, if you have not regained your strength after a siege of illness, if fatigue comes easily and you are pale and listless, and your appetite is poor, take Pepto-Mangan. It will help bring back your old-time joy of living unless you are afflicted with a serious malady. For Pepto-Mangan builds the body by enriching the blood.

"The Red Blood Builder"

Almost invariably a run-down condition is due to blood impoverishment. When the red blood cells become weak and diminished, the organs of the body do not work properly, because they become clogged with poisons, which infect the entire system.

Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood and sends it bounding through the veins carrying new life and strength everywhere by increasing the number of red blood cells.

Begin a course of Pepto-Mangan today; your improvement will soon be noticeable, and you will enjoy its rich color and mildly aromatic taste. Pepto-Mangan cannot impair the digestion.

The Case of the Railways as Reflected by the Nation's Newspapers

The press in all sections of the United States, representing varied editorial policies, is almost unanimous in its expressions concerning the problems at present confronting the railways.

New York Tribune

"The railroads are a military agency of the first importance. They are doing their full duty. But generosity of spirit and patriotic appreciation ought not to be all on one side. When Congress passed the Adamson law it put itself under a moral obligation to furnish the carriers with revenues to meet the increase in their payrolls. It is under a moral obligation at all times to keep the railroads in a state of efficiency."

Seattle Post Intelligencer

"It is as imperative for the national defense that the railroads have the money with which to equip themselves properly as it is that the government should have the money with which to finance the other operations of war. The railroads have no money save that which is invested by the people in their securities or that which is paid them for services. The money to equip them properly must come from these sources, for there are no others."

Philadelphia Public Ledger

"The people of the United States are in a better frame of mind to do justice to the railroads than was the case a few years ago. It is beginning to be realized that punitive regulation has gone far enough. This treatment has deprived the railroads of the power of initiative in many directions, and the country has suffered in consequence."

Minneapolis Tribune

"Just now the nation is vitally interested in the railroads as a factor of defense. The carriers are entitled to a fair rate of profit as a matter of common justice, but superior to this right for consideration at this time is the duty of the nation to itself to see that, so far as the railroads are concerned, it is adequately safeguarded against dangers from without."

Baltimore Sun

"There has never been a time when it was more important that the transportation service of the country be maintained at the highest level of efficiency than the present. And the patriotic conduct of the roads since the declaration of war, their willingness and eagerness to cooperate with the Government, entitle them to the goodwill of the public."

Washington Post

"Vast capital is necessary for the improvement and extension of all the railroads, and this can be obtained only by a governmental policy that will safe-guard investment in railroad securities. The period of railroad baiting has long since passed, but the work of reconstruction has not yet begun."

These editorial comments are only a few of very many dealing with one of our great national problems, and are submitted here for the thoughtful consideration of the public.

Single Pierce-Arrow trucks have taken over the work of many horses and done it quicker, better and cheaper. They have developed new business by increasing delivery radius and opening up territory quite beyond the reach of horses. Standardized Pierce-Arrow fleets have replaced less efficient trucks and done more work at less cost.

What Pierce-Arrow trucks have done for other business men they can do for you.

Pierce-Arrow Motor Trucks

for example: JAMES BUTLER, Inc., operating over 400 chain grocery stores in and about New York, recently sold twenty-five trucks of three other makes and standardized its transportation service with Pierce-Arrows. This was the result of superior efficiency and economy shown by its first Pierce-Arrows. The Butler Pierce-Arrow fleet now numbers fifty trucks.

BURLESON TELLS NEWSPAPERS WHAT THEY MAY NOT SAY

Forbids Impugning the Government's Motives or Improper Attacks on Our Allies.

BARS ANTI-DRAFT CAMPAIGN

Will Suppress Papers Asserting Wall Street or Munition Makers Control Government.

REGULATIONS ARE READY

Executive Order Prepared by President Under the Trading with the Enemy Act.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Restrictions on commerce and communication authorized by the Trading with the Enemy act will be put into effect within a few days under an executive order which President Wilson had virtually completed tonight after conferring with Cabinet members, Vance McCormick, Chairman of the Exports Administrative Board, and Acting Secretary Crosby of the Treasury.

Postmaster General Burleson announced after the Cabinet meeting that the provision authorizing the Post Office Department to license foreign language newspapers already was in operation, and that within ten days the department would begin to issue licenses. A number of papers already have filed applications and scores are expected within the next few days.

The Postmaster General said that publications need not fear suppression under the Trading with the Enemy act's censorship provision, unless they transgressed the bounds of legitimate criticism of the President, the Administration, the Army, the Navy, or the conduct of the war.

What Newspapers May Not Do.

"We shall take great care not to let criticism which is personally or politically offensive to the Administration affect our action," he said. "But if newspapers go so far as to impugn the motives of the Government and thus discourage insubordination, they will be dealt with severely.

"For instance, papers may not say that the Government is controlled by Wall Street or munition manufacturers, or any other special interests. Publications of any news calculated to urge the people to violate law would be considered grounds for drastic action. We will not tolerate campaigns against conscription, enlistments, sale of securities, or revenue collections. We will not permit the publication or circulation of anything hampering the war's prosecution or attacking improperly our allies."

Mr. Burleson explained that the policy of the foreign language newspapers would be judged by their past utterances, and not by newly announced intentions.

"We have files of these papers, and whether we license them or not depends on our inspection of the files," he said. German language newspapers not licensed will be required to publish English translations.

Mr. Burleson said no Socialist paper would be barred from the mails unless it contained treasonable or seditious matter.

"The trouble," he added, "is that most Socialist papers do contain this matter."

Division of the Work.

Under the tentative draft of the executive order, the censorship of mails, cables, and radio and telegraph communication would be intrusted to a board including representatives of the Post Office, War and Navy Departments, and the Exports Administration. The Navy, which now censors cables, and the War Department, which exercises control over telegraph communication to Mexico, probably would retain those functions, while the new problem of censoring mail, directed particularly to Spain and the northern European neutral countries, would receive special attention from the Army and Exports Administration representatives on the Board of Censors.

Mr. Burleson is anxious that his department refrain as much as possible from the work of actually opening and censoring mail. Consequently the postal authorities probably will limit themselves to merely co-operating with the active censors.

Control over imports and exports, vested in the President by the Trading with the Enemy act, will be delegated to the exports administration, which will enlarge its work to include the many intricate problems presented. Instead of merely licensing exports, it would then have a more positive authority to forbid, under heavy penalty, exportations suspected of being destined to Germany or her allies.

The license control over enemy insurance companies, vested in the President, probably will be turned over to the War Risk Insurance Bureau of the Treasury, although this point is understood to be still under debate, as Commerce Department officials are said to be anxious to administer the insurance company licenses. Regulation of foreign exchange and export of coin and bullion would be given to the Federal Reserve Board, which already licenses gold movements under the Exports act.

It is understood the Commerce Department will have custody of enemy property in the United States. The act provides that the President shall appoint an official for this work, but the President is represented as anxious not to create offices distinct from existing departments.

REGISTER TODAY.

This is registration week. Today, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

Exports Board Helps Allies to Get Supplies of Cotton

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Stoppage of cotton shipments to northern European neutrals has resulted in such a surplus of the staple in this country that the Exports Administrative Board determined today to permit for an indefinite period the exportation of raw cotton to the Allies without licenses. When the licensing of exports became effective Sept. 7 last, the board permitted the exportation of cotton to the Allies without permits until Oct. 31 next.

It was explained that there is ample cotton in the United States to supply the nation's needs, including the increased quantity needed in the army and navy, and still have a great deal for shipment to the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Japan, and Russia.

TO SUE COLUMBIA, CATTELL'S THREAT

UNIVERSITY COUNCIL TO ACT

Law Professor Draws the Line Between Seditious Propaganda and Free Speech.

A charge by Professor J. McKeen Cattell, expelled last week from the Chair of Psychology at Columbia University for disseminating disloyal doctrines in the war, that Professor Edwin R. A. Seligman, head of the Department of Economics at the university, had praised his views on the war and had called the Trustees "fools" and "idiots," added an unexpected complication last night to the incidents developed by the resignation of Charles A. Beard as Professor of Political Science at the university. Professor Cattell intimated that, following a suggestion from Professor Seligman, he would take his dismissal to the courts, adding that a "lawsuit will bring out facts concerning the President, (Nicholas Murray Butler,) the Trustees, and the university which will not be of service to them."

Professor Seligman, replying to the charge, asserted last night that not only had he never made the statements attributed to him, but that Professor Cattell's "memory is as treacherous as his conduct is ungenerous."

What the effect of this new controversy will be on a report that was to have been formulated today by the Committee of Nine of the University Council, of which Professor Seligman is Chairman, was a subject of serious consideration last night among members of the Faculty. The committee met yesterday to discuss conditions at the university, as well as the resignation of Professor Beard, and had intended to submit a report to the University Council recommending changes that would result in "closer co-operation" between the various Faculties and the Trustees, and that the objection would thereby be removed that the Trustees were repressing free discussion at the university.

The passage between Professor Seligman and Professor Cattell, and the meeting of the Committee of Nine, which is composed of prominent teachers and deans, were, however, not all the developments of yesterday, following Professor Beard's resignation.

Rumor of Student Strike.

While the Committee of Nine was meeting in Professor Seligman's office, Talcott Williams, head of the School of Journalism, was busy investigating a rumor that the students of the school would quit their classrooms in a body while President Butler was making an address on conditions in America as a protest against the repressive methods of the Trustees. An anonymous notice that such a demonstration would take place had been posted on the bulletin board of the school, but the protest failed to materialize, although President Butler made his address as arranged.

During the day, also, about 100 alumnae and undergraduates of Barnard College met in Brinckerhoff Theatre, Milbank Hall, and arranged for a mass meeting at the same place today to protest against the resignation of Professor Beard. They also adopted the following resolution:

"We, the undersigned undergraduates and alumni at Barnard, having abruptly lost the extraordinary privilege of studying American politics under Dr. Charles Austin Beard, when on Oct. 8 Professor Beard resigned from Columbia University, express our keen distress at the deprivation we thereby sustained."

No names, however, were signed to the resolution, it being announced that if the names of the protestants became known their plans for the meeting today might be frustrated.

Meantime it was rumored last night that still another demonstration would be held today, and that handbills would be distributed on the campus at 9 o'clock this morning, asking all students to quit their classes at 11 o'clock and assemble on the steps of the library.

Finally, it was reported last night that several of the professors at the university, anticipating any action that might be taken by the Committee of Nine, had sent a letter to President Butler, demanding that the Trustees of the university grant a "Magna Charta of Academic Freedom" by divesting themselves of control over educational matters and restricting themselves solely to matters of finance and material affairs.

Several professors issued brief statements for the newspapers, expressing their sympathy with Professor Beard, and only two, so far as could be learned, asserted that they thought his action unwise. One of these was Professor Ellery C. Stowell, who said that "freedom of discussion" such as contended

President to Order Makers and Distributers to Operate Under Licenses.

TWENTY STAPLES ON LIST

DEALERS' BOOKS TO BE OPEN

All Concerns with $100,000 Business a Year Affected—200 Conferences Held.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Food Administration is on the trail of the food profiteer, and by an extensive licensing system which will reach even the retailer doing a gross annual business of $100,000 will endeavor to put an end to hoarding, speculation, and extortionate profits between producer and consumer. Co-operation is sought and expected in carrying through the program, but the big stick will be wielded, if necessary, to put virtually all the staple foods under Government control.

Announcement was made tonight that President Wilson, within a day or two, would issue a proclamation under the provisions of the food control law which will place the machinery in operation by Nov. 1. After that time licenses must be obtained and regular reports submitted by the individuals or firms included in the edict, which will cover dealings in all of the foods "forming the prime basis of life."

Eggs, poultry, milk, meats, vegetables, sugar, flour, bread, wheat and other cereals, fish, and canned goods are among the commodities which, it is understood, will be in the list. Practically the only foods to be omitted will be those classified as luxuries, over which no drastic legislation will be attempted at this time.

Dealers' Books To Be Open.

Middlemen and others will be forced at all times to open their books to the agents of the Food Administration, under the penalty of having their business taken over. In any case where it is found that false reports have been submitted the offender will be prosecuted. Regulations under which the persons affected may conduct their business will be promulgated. Violation of them will mean prosecution and the surrender of licenses.

The general program to be observed, as set forth by the Food Administration tonight, includes a free outlet and a ready market for the consumer, no manipulation nor speculation, no hoarding, elimination of unfair or unreasonable profits, and stopping of discriminatory and deceptive and wasteful practices which in any way restrict supply or distribution.

Such practices, it was pointed out, had been illegal since the food control law was signed by the President, and it was admitted that numerous violations had come to the attention of the Food Administration and had been corrected. The licensing system will give the Government a complete check on the operations of all who would seek to profit at the expense of the consumer. It is made known that when discovered such illicit operators will feel swiftly the firm hand of the Federal agents.

Meat packers, cold storage warehouses, and grain elevator owners who seek to hoard foodstuffs for longer periods or in greater quantities than the Food Administration permits will find themselves facing a determined foe, and the middleman will meet the conditions as to methods and profits which are prescribed or surrender his right to continue business. That is the program so far as these branches of the industry are concerned which it is proposed to carry out.

To Stabilize Retail Market.

It is expected that the licensing system for retailers, which will include only those doing an annual business of $100,000, will reach the larger concerns such as chain stores, some of the department stores in the big cities which have grocery departments, and the big baking industries. It is believed that prices to consumers quoted by large concerns under the new system will largely control and tend to stabilize the entire retail market.

If this situation is not developed through the laws of supply and demand, patriotic co-operation, and the powers exercised under the present Food Control bill, Congress probably will be asked for further legislation which will give complete control of the retail field to the Food Administration.

The Food Administration, which has the full support of President Wilson in the campaign, is convinced that by ending manipulation and restricting the profits of the middleman the cost of essential foods to the retailers and, therefore, to the consumer should be appreciably reduced and the danger of a sharp rise in prices averted.

Here is a formal announcement of its plans, approved by Herbert C. Hoover, which was issued tonight by the Food Administration:

"The President will shortly issue a proclamation requiring all persons engaged in the import, manufacture, storage, and distribution of certain foodstuffs to secure a license from the Food Administrator.

"These will embrace meat packers, cold storage warehousemen, millers, canners, elevators, grain dealers, wholesale distributors, retailers doing a business of more than $100,000 per year, who handle the commodities to be set out in the President's proclamation.

"The issuance of the proclamation has been somewhat delayed by the Food Administration, owing to its desire to complete the numerous conferences which it has been holding with the representatives of the various trades and of producers and consumers. Some 200 such conferences have been held with

Germans Buy Argentine Hides in Anticipation of War's End

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 9.—Coincident with the American demand for Argentine dry hides to meet military orders, and renewed British buying as a result of the lifting of the leather embargo, the Germans here are buying heavily, and their competition in the market is helping to increase prices.

German brokers say they are buying on German Government orders. They express confidence that the war will end in January or February. Prices of hides have risen 12 per cent. in the last ten days.

REGISTRATION AGAIN FALLS OFF

FAR LESS THAN IN 1913

Two Days' Total Is 179,272—Last Year It Was 248,254—Mayor Disappointed.

The falling off in this year's registration continued yesterday. In every borough in the city except Queens the registration for the second day was lower than the registration on Monday. In Queens 2,187 more people registered yesterday evening than on Monday. In Manhattan, Brooklyn, Bronx, and Richmond, not only was there a large falling off in yesterday's figures as compared with the day before, but the result for the two days was far below the totals for previous years, including 1913, the last year a Mayoralty election was held, and last year, which was a Presidential year.

For the first two days in 1913 the total registration in New York City was 342,556. For the first two days this year it was 179,272, a falling off from four years ago of 163,284. Brooklyn fared as badly as Manhattan and the other boroughs, except Queens, showed no better results.

In Manhattan yesterday's registration was far below that of the total for the second day in other years. It fell 6,742 below Monday's figures. Yesterday's total for the borough was only 31,420 as compared to 38,162 on Monday. For the second day in 1913 the registration was 50,833 and on the second day last year it was 48,300. For the first two days four years ago the Manhattan total was 134,968 and for the first two days last year it was 99,566. For the first two days this year just 69,582 persons registered.

Following are the registration figures by boroughs for the second day of 1913, 1916, and this year:

| Borough. | 1913. | 1916. | 1917. |
| Manhattan | 50,233 | 48,300 | 31,420 |

| Richmond | 3,807 | 2,364 | 1,825 |

NAVY BUILDING 787 SHIPS; COST IS $1,150,400,000

Contracts Just Let to Five Companies for New Destroyers Calling for $350,000,000.

NUMBER A MILITARY SECRET

Will Be Largest, Fastest, and Most Formidable Afloat, Secretary Daniels Announces.

NEW PLANTS TO BE BUILT

Will Be Auxiliary to Private Shipyards and Be Owned by the Government.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Secretary Daniels today awarded contracts to five shipbuilding companies for the construction of $350,000,000 worth of destroyers. This is the biggest contract for vessels of this type ever awarded by any Government. When these destroyers have been completed it is expected that the United States will have the largest fleet of destroyers in the world.

With the award of these contracts the war construction program of the American Navy was brought to a total of 787 vessels, including all types, from superdreadnoughts to submarine chasers. Some vessels have been finished in the last few weeks and are now in service. The rest of the program is being pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. The total cost of the program is estimated at $1,150,400,000.

Commenting on the contracts awarded today, Secretary Daniels said:

Statement by Secretary Daniels.

"These destroyers will be built by five companies which have had experience in building this type—the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation, Boston; the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, Camden, N. J.; Cramps Shipyards, Philadelphia; the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Newport News, Va., and the Union Iron Works, San Francisco.

"This is the biggest project we have ever undertaken. Three months ago it looked as if it could not be done. Orders had already been given for all the destroyers the yards could build, and almost as many as the new program calls for are now under construction or contract. To build rapidly the additional destroyers requires a great extension of shipbuilding facilities and the erection of new plants for building engines. The companies were unwilling to invest millions in these additions, so the Government must build and will own the new plants and extensions which will be used by the builders.

"We are putting every energy and facility behind this project. Some of the new destroyers are promised for delivery in nine months, all within eighteen months. These vessels will be of the latest and largest improved type, which has just been tried in our service and found to be unsurpassed by any destroyers in the world. The plans are all ready, and the adoption of a uniform type will enable us to reduce the number of types of engines and parts and to turn them out in much less time. The principal trouble is in getting forgings and auxiliaries, but the manufacture of these has been arranged for, and we will make every effort to prevent delay in delivery of materials or machinery.

"Thousands of men will be required to man these destroyers and we are now busy training them. By the time the vessels are completed the crews will be ready. The spirit of the men in the navy—officers and enlisted men—is such that the destroyer service appeals to them, and many more than enough to make up the complements apply for service in this type of ship, which is the best weapon afloat against the submarine menace."

Number to Be Built a Secret.

The total number of destroyers to be built is held to be a military secret. The work has been apportioned according to the capacities of the existing plants and the auxiliary plants the Navy Department will erect. All of the concerns have built destroyers for the Government before. The awards of contracts were limited to companies prepared to rush the work. The apportionment was made under mutual agreement, with an understanding concerning the plants to be put up by the Navy Department, but to be operated by the companies.

The basis of the price for the construction, Mr. Daniels said, was cost plus, with guarantees that the cost should not be above a certain figure, and, if below that figure, the companies to receive a bonus. A great quantity of material has been assembled for the work, but there are still serious, but not insurmountable, difficulties in the way. To solve these, which relate principally to the supply of materials, the matter has been taken up by the Navy Department with the War Industries Board, so that there will be no conflict, and also to provide for the "right of way" of materials for the destroyers.

The ships will be as large as any destroyers in the world, Mr. Daniels said. On this point there had been an extended discussion, the General Board of the Navy finally agreeing that the saving of two months' time in the construction of smaller boats would not equal in value the advantage of having the larger uniform ships. Some of the builders, too, favored the larger type, declaring that, as they were to be standardized and the plans having already been prepared and approved, it would be possible to construct the larger vessels as quickly as smaller.

"The new destroyers will not be sur-

BRITISH AND FRENCH SMASH THROUGH WIDE GERMAN FRONT NORTH OF YPRES; PLOT IN THE GERMAN NAVY FOR PEACE

Move for New Peace Offer Reported in Berlin; Only Another Feeler, Washington Believes

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9.—Germany and Austria-Hungary have agreed to make another peace offer to the Allies, the Deutsche Tageszeitung of Berlin says it learns on good authority.

The offer will have as its basis no territorial aggrandizement, the surrender of Belgium and French territory, the renunciation of positive territorial acquisitions for payments in money, and no indemnity on either side.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Only mild interest is taken in official quarters in the report from Amsterdam, credited to the Deutsche Tageszeitung, that the Central Powers have agreed to make another peace offer to the Allies. There is no confidence in German good faith in Washington. If this new peace offer is made, it will mean nothing, in the opinion of officials in a position to know the attitude of the Wilson Administration.

"The usual bait," was the way one authority characterized it. "Camouflage," said another.

German camouflage in regard to peace negotiations has excited amusement in the most authoritative quarters here—an amusement born of a conviction that German statesmanship and diplomacy are stupid. Surprise is expressed that the German people have not recognized this weakness on the part of their masters.

German statesmen, it is suggested in Washington, are deluding themselves with the belief that the people of the allied nations, or a large part of them, are being influenced gradually by the view that Germany is actuated by a real desire to have the war brought to an end. The truth of this appreciation or Germany's attitude is not denied in official circles here, where there is a thorough understanding of German and Austrian anxiety for peace, but officials are confident that the American people, at least, are well aware of the reason for Teutonic solicitude to have hostilities cease and are not deceived by it.

The Kaiser and the small group around him are supposed to have been led astray as to the sentiment of America by the speeches of Senator La Follette and others who follow his leadership. In some quarters the feeling prevails that their utterances are prolonging the war by encouraging Germany to fail to recognize the inevitable.

The terms of the reported German and Austrian offer are just as unsatisfactory to this Government, it is gathered, as those suggested by the Pope.

Reichstag Told of Plan to Compel the Government to End the War.

LAID TO RADICAL SOCIALISTS

Von Cappelle Makes Announcement of Plan to Which Michaelis Had Referred.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 9.—Vice Admiral von Capelle, German Minister of Marine, announced in the Reichstag today that a plot had been discovered in the navy to for ma committee of delegates on the Russian model and to paralyze the fleet, so as to force the Government to make peace. The guilty parties have been arrested and have received their just deserts, the Minister added.

Admiral von Capelle attempted to link the Radical Socialists with the plot. He said the ringleader had discussed the plot with Deputies Haace and Vogtherr in the Radical Socialist conference room in the Reichstag Building. The Deputies had called attention to the dangerous nature of the plot and had advised the greatest caution, but had agreed to furnish propaganda material.

Socialist Deputies interrupted the speaker with cries of dissent. Deputy David of the Majority Socialists demanded the Government produce proof and that the Reichstag should suspend judgment in the meantime.

Chancellor Michaelis earlier in the session had referred to the affair, rumors of which evidently had gained public circulation. He declared he could not co-operate with or recognize a party which put itself beyond the pale by activities directed against the Fatherland.

The disclosures in connection with the Radical Socialists, if they are true, came most opportunely to help the Government out of its embarrassment over the interpellation regarding pan-German propaganda. Admiral von Capelle hammered home his statement with a declaration of the necessity for a proper "enlightenment" of the military forces.

FOE'S MAN POWER EBBING, FRENCH SAY

Officially Report "a Clear Decrease" in Germany's Total War Strength.

EXPECT DECISION IN 1918

British and French at Top Efficiency, with Our Troops Soon to Add Weight to Their Blows.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Proof that Germany has reached the zenith of her military man power was given to the public tonight when the French High Commission to the United States issued a highly important statement on the western front situation based on official data cabled to Washington by the French General Staff.

"Germany has made her supreme military effort," says the High Commission's statement, after making a careful analysis of the extent to which Germany has been forced to send new divisions to the western front in the efforts of her General Staff to resist the incessant pounding of the British, French, and Belgian forces.

In another part of the statement, after showing that Germany has been forced to call out part of the class of 1919 and has been compelled to break up newly formed regiments to reinforce her fighting units, the French Commission asserts that for the first time during the war "a clear decrease in the total strength of the German forces is on record."

"Both Franco-German fronts, on the Aisne, 1917, and Verdun, 1916, have already been compared, and it has been noted that they are practically of the same length. It has been stated that the German forces occupying them before the attack were equally comparable: twelve and fourteen divisions. It is known today that during the same period, from May to September, the Germans engaged twenty-five fresh divisions at Verdun, and that they have been obliged to engage forty-five on the Aisne. Furthermore, during an equal period the French took 5,863 prisoners at Verdun and 8,553 on the Aisne.

"This comparison included only a small sector of the French front. But it showed a very interesting result, due to the increase of the material forces of the Allies and the improved French fighting methods since adopted by the other armies, and also, as testified by the German Staff itself, apropos of the battle of the Somme, in explaining their defeat, to the perfect use of technical methods.'

Constant Attrition of German Forces.

"If the above comparison is extended today to the entire Franco-English front, if you consider that from April 15 to June 15 the enemy engaged 106 divisions against the Anglo-French forces, and, finally, if one bears in mind that the successes of the British offensive at Ypres obliged the enemy to engage fifteen divisions during the last ten days, you can understand why the German losses on the western front grow heavier and heavier. (They admit the loss of 116,000 men during the month of May, 140,000 men are esti-

FRENCH GAIN 1¼ MILES

BRITISH TAKE POELCAPELLE

All Haig's Objectives Gained in Operations Over Ground About 10 Miles in Extent.

FIGHTING IN A SEA OF MUD

Attack Launched at Dawn, with Allied Airplanes Co-operating Effectively in a Clear Sky.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Attacking early this morning on a wide front, the British and French armies near Ypres made notable advances north and northwest of that city. The former drove the Germans from their last positions in the town of Poelcapelle and pushed on for nearly two miles to the northwest of that place. Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig reports all his objectives gained and the capture of more than 1,000 prisoners. The French took more than 300 prisoners.

The French troops, operating on the left of the British line, north of Ypres, pierced the German positions to a depth of a mile and a quarter on a front of more than a mile and a half, capturing the villages of St. Jean de Mangelaere and Veldhoek, with numerous blockhouses, and reached the southern edge of Houthulst Wood, about seven miles north of Ypres.

To the south of the main British advance Haig's men pushed northeast from the Gravenstafel ridge to a point about 1,000 yards southwest of the village of Passchendaele, on the heights of the same name. A little further south, between the Ypres-Roulers Railway and the village of Broodseinde, which was already in their hands, the British forced the Germans a considerable distance down the eastern slope of Broodseinde Ridge.

Advance Made Through Swamps.

Today's gains, although made under a clear sky, were won by fighting over ground which the recent rains had turned into a swamp.

From Draelbank, the most Western point on the front of the French offensive, to Reutel, the eastern and southern limit of the hard fighting experienced by the British forces, the length of the irregular battle line is rather more than ten miles.

As a result of today's victory practically all the observatories commanding a view of the great plain of Flanders are now in the possession of the allied forces.

Attack Begins at Dawn.

An Associated Press dispatch from the British front in Belgium says:

"Another big attack was begun at dawn today against the German positions to the east and north of Ypres by both the British and French armies, and had met with great success in the first few hours of the fighting. In many places the allied forces had battled their way forward to a depth of 1,200 yards or more within the enemy territory, and reports from all along a wide front indicated that everything was going in favor of the assaulting troops, despite the exceedingly bad condition of the ground, due to the last few days' rain.

"On the north the French had surged across at the Posbeek and Broenbeek Rivers in the direction of Houthulst Wood, and at an early hour were reported to be fighting around Mangelaere, about 1,500 yards beyond their original front lines. By 8:30 o'clock they had secured several hundred prisoners.

"Further to the South the British had pushed the Germans back to Poelcapelle and were fighting well in the eastern outskirts of the city around a big brewery. British troops on the Gravenstafel Ridge had carried their drive forward to the Passchendaele Ridge and were resting about 1,000 yards southwest of the town of Passchendaele.

Force Germans to Lower Ground.

"Between the Ypres-Roulers Railway and the village of Broodseinde the assaulting forces had pushed forward for a considerable distance down the eastern slopes of the Broodseinde Ridge, on the lower ground. East of Ypres, in the zone embracing Reutel and Polderhoek, where there has been such bitter fighting recently, the British were carrying out strong operations, and it was reported that success had been achieved here also.

"Just north of Broodseinde, at Daisy Wood, the Germans were holding out strongly. The British had pushed forward and surrounded the wood, and bot fighting was proceeding. The British also met with strong resistance at Polderhoek Château. They reached this position early in the attack, but were forced by heavy machine gun fire to withdraw a little for the moment. At the latest report they had again made an advance.

"A meagre report received just as this dispatch was filed said that the Germans were counterattacking heavily astride the Ypres-Roulers Railway.

"The air service is doing fine work, notwithstanding the gale of wind which is blowing. Six German airplanes which ventured over the British lines at a height of 9,000 feet were engaged in battle by British airmen, and a spectacular fight is proceeding.

"Prisoners were being brought back in large numbers soon after the fighting began. The battle opened at 5:30 o'clock under a clear sky, but the ground had been turned into a morass in many places by the recent heavy rains. It was especially difficult for operations along the northern section of the attack, where there are so many little rivers which are bordered with marshy ground.

"The gunfire from both the British and French artilleries was terrific at the hour of attack, and the preliminary bombardment had been intense for days. The German artillery was replying weakly this morning at most places."

A Brilliant French Victory.

"Amid one of the most terrific hurricanes of artillery fire the French army, co-operating in conjunction with the British, early this morning, won a brilliant victory, which carried the troops forward to a depth of half a mile along a front of about a mile, stretching from Draeibank to Wydendreeft. More than 300 prisoners and a number of cannon and machine guns fell into the hands of the French, and their advance took them to a position where they command the western border of the forest of Houthulst.

"The movement was a pivoting one, as a result, virtually all the observatories dominating the vast Flanders plain are now in the hands of the Allies.

"The attack was preceded by a howling wind storm, accompanied by a drenching rain, which made the ground a quagmire. The correspondent passed over the French side of the battlefield on the evening preceding the attack and found everything and everybody ready for the difficult work of the morrow. But underneath the feet the ground gave way, while the atmosphere resembled a shower bath. No garments could withstand the penetrating qualities of the elements. Hair around shellholes were filled to their brims with water, and the only protection of the French troops toward the enemy were the drenched sandbags piled up. Here the shelterless troops had passed the day and night awaiting orders to go over.

"At length, soon after 5 o'clock in the morning, definite orders arrived and the troops were glad. They went forward with great rapidity, despite the conditions, circling the shellholes and slipping through the deepest mud. They knew, however, that the success of future operations depended on their efforts today. When they reached their first objective points they found the Germans crowded in nests of craters, which hereabouts form the first lines, the building of trenches in this section of Flanders being impossible owing to the watery soil.

Catch Germans Changing Troops.

"Good luck had made the advance coincide with the period when the Germans were changing the troops occupying their front lines. A German division was just handing over the lines to a fresh division recently arrived from the Russian front. The French, with wonderful dash, were upon them before they realized the situation and killed many of them.

"There was a short respite before the next forward movement was undertaken in co-operation with the British, who were advancing simultaneously on the French right. Slithering along over the broken and muddy ground, the French troopers made their way quickly toward Mangelaere, which soon fell into their possession.

"The whole scheme of operations for the day had been carried out long before noon. The infantry's advance was greatly assisted by the daring of the aviators, who would not permit the weather conditions, which presented the greatest danger for the airmen, to interfere with the work of recording the artillery preparation. The French aviators ascended and flew low over the German lines, taking capital photographs of the destruction caused by the guns, and then returned in the fearful gale to their bases to turn in their reports. Meanwhile not a single German airplane was seen in the air.

French Consolidating Gains.

"The result of the day's fighting, in addition to the men and material captured, is that the forest of Houthoist, which comprises five or six miles of thickly wooded ground, is now virtually flanked on both sides. As far as can be learned, the wood contains considerable artillery and large numbers of machine guns, but the Germans must find extraordinary difficulty in keeping them supplied.

"For the moment the French troops are occupied in consolidating the ground won, which, although small in extent, represents an invaluable gain, as it deprives the Germans of their points of observation."

Germans Expected No Attack.

A dispatch from Reuter's correspondent at British Headquarters in France says the Germans held their front much more heavily than in recent battles, which suggests to the correspondent a return to their earlier defensive tactics, depending rather upon man power than upon concrete.

"The Germans were taken by surprise," says the correspondent. "Prisoners frankly confess the probability of an attack in such weather and over such ground was not thought of. How little it was expected was shown by the fact that two German divisions which had to bear the brunt of the onslaught only completed taking over the line at 3 o'clock this morning and were wholly unfamiliar with their surroundings.

OFFICIAL NEWS OF VICTORY.

Haig Reports All Objectives Taken —French Airplanes Co-operate.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The British troops have effected the complete capture of Poelcapelle and have advanced nearly two miles to the northwest of that village in their drive in Flanders today. According to the report from Field Marshal Haig tonight, the British operations were very successful. All objectives have been gained and the number of prisoners already exceeds 1,000.

Following is the text of the night communication:

A heavy rain fell continuously during the afternoon and evening of yesterday, causing the ground to become soggy and very difficult for the passage of troops.

Notwithstanding the stormy weather and the waterlogged condition of the ground, our troops succeeded in launching an attack at 5:20 o'clock this morning, in conjunction with the French on our left, with very successful results.

The front of the attack extended from a point southeast of Broodseinde to St. Jansbeek, (St. Jean River,) one mile northeast of Bixschoote. On the extreme right the Australian troops moved forward over the crest of the ridge east and northeast of Broodseinde, securing all their objectives.

Mile Gain Toward Passchendaele.

On the right centre a third line territorial division, comprising Manchester, East Lancashire, and Lancashire Fusilier Regiments, advanced one mile northward along the ridge in the direction of Passchendaele, capturing all its objectives under most trying and difficult circumstances with great determination and gallantry.

In the centre, between the main ridge and Poelcapelle, a considerable advance was made, which includes the capture of many fortified farms and concreted redoubts.

Two Miles Beyond Poelcapelle.

On the extreme left of the British attack English, Welsh, and Irish troops and the guards have taken all their objectives and gained the outskirts of the forest of Houthulst, nearly two miles north-northwest of Poelcapelle.

On our left flank the French crossed the Broenbeck stream, which is in flood, and also gained the outskirts of the forest of Houthulst, capturing all their objectives, including several hamlets and fortified localities.

More than 1,000 prisoners already have passed into the collecting stations.

Aviation: The weather was even more unfavorable for flying on Monday than on previous days. Much work was done, however, in aerial reconnoissance, and some artillery work was carried out. Two enemy machines were driven down out of control. Ground targets also were attacked with machine-gun fire. Two of our airplanes are missing.

The text of the British afternoon statement says:

At 5:20 o'clock this morning we again attacked on a wide front east and northeast of Ypres in conjunction with our allies on our left. Reports indicate that satisfactory progress is being made on all parts of the battle-front. The weather continues stormy.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The capture of the villages of St. Jean de Mangelare and Veldhoek, with numerous blockhouses, is reported in the French official communication of tonight dealing with the operations Tuesday in Flanders. The total advance of the French reached to a depth of one and one-quarter miles, to the southern outskirts of the Houthoulst Wood, and on a front of more than a mile and one-half.

In Belgium an attack launched by us this morning was carried out with particular brilliance. After having crossed the marshy Broebeck Brook our troops captured with admirable spirit, along a front of two and one-half kilometers, the enemy defenses, despite the difficulties of terrain and the bad atmospheric conditions. The villages of St. Jean de Mangelaere and Veldhoek, as well as numerous farms turned into block houses, fell into our power.

Our advance, which reached a mean depth of two kilometers, has brought us to the outskirts of the Houthulst Forest.

Our airplanes, despite the wind, which blew a tempest, co-operated actively in the attack, using their machine guns at a low altitude against the enemy infantry and assuring communication with other arms.

The number of prisoners so far counted exceeds 300, of whom twelve are officers.

On the Aisne front the artillery action at times was violent in the region of La Royère Farm and along the whole Ailles-Craonne sector.

The text of the afternoon statement follows:

In Belgium this morning at 5:30 o'clock we attacked, in conjunction with the British armies, positions of, the Germans south of Houthulst Forest between Draeibank and Wydendreft. The battle continues to develop favorably for us.

On the Aisne front there was marked artillery activity, notably in the region of the Pantheon.

In the Champagne we were successful in penetrating the German lines near the Butte of Tahure. After destroying the dugouts our forces returned with prisoners.

On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun region) the artillery duel continues in the sector north of Chaume Wood.

There is nothing to report from the rest of the front.

Allied Gains "Limited," Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 9. (via London.)—The gains of territory by the Eentente forces in the latest battle in Flanders have been limited to the stretch of territory between Draeibank and Poelcapelle, says the official communication issued by the War Office tonight. The Entente attacks elsewhere were repulsed, says the communication.

Following is the text of the night communication:

In Flanders a fresh battle developed from the fighting earlier in the day, which still continues between Draeibank and Gheluvelt. In spite of repeated assaults the gain of territory, according to latest reports, is limited to the stretch of territory between Draeibank and Poelcapelle. For the rest the attacks were repulsed.

On both sides of the Staden-Boesinghe Railway and north of the Ypres-Menin Road British infantry attacked today, the War Office announces. Fighting is in progress.

The text of the announcement reads:

Western Theatre, Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht.—In Flanders the artillery duel, in spite of the stormy, rainy weather, is strong between Houthulst Wood and Zanvoorde. In the evening the enemy concentrated his gunfire in a violent outburst against some sectors. After an agitated night, the artillery activity increased along the whole front to drumfire.

On both sides of the Staden-Boesinghe Railway and north of the Ypres-Menin Road the British infantry advanced to attack. Fighting is in progress.

With the other armies, apart from firing which lasted throughout the day northeast of Soissons, there were no great fighting operations.

DUTCH LINE AGREES WITH EXPORTSBOARD

Ships Getting Coal for Trips to Java Will Return with Cargoes for America or Canada.

PROBABLY WILL BRING SUGAR

Local Agents Not Yet Told of the Agreement — Hollanders Here Ask to be Sent Home.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9.—The Nederland Steamship Company announces that it has acquiesced in the American conditions for granting bunkering facilities, which provide that the company's vessels for every voyage between Java and the United States shall make a return voyage with cargoes exclusively American or partly Canadian.

The agents of the Nederland Company said yesterday that they had not received any official instructions regarding the sailing of the steamships now in this port, but understood that arrangements were being made with the Government at Washington for them to go to Java and return to the United States with sugar and coffee.

One hundred and fifty men, all of whom had booked passage on the Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam, met in the Breslin Hotel yesterday to consider ways and means to get to Holland. Most of them were natives of Holland, and some of them have been waiting for more than two months to get home. A few were American lawyers and business men who had affairs to attend to at The Hague.

The Nieuw Amsterdam, which is loaded with Belgian Relief supplies, has been refused a license by the American authorities, and there is no indication that she will sail soon. There has not been a Holland-America ship sailing for about two months. The Hollanders are not permitted by the British authorities to sail on an English ship, because there is no certainty of their getting from England to Holland, and they would be a considerable distance from home if they sailed on a Spanish boat.

It was decided to appeal to the Holland Minister at Washington and to the American State Department. It was said that some of the Hollanders waiting for the ship to sail are officials from Sumatra and Java and other East Indian points who have important business at home. Others were business men who said it was imperative that they get home.

The sentiment was expressed that Americans should help the Hollanders get home, inasmuch as the Dutch had helped Americans who left Germany by way of Holland to get to the United States.

Some attending the meeting reported that their funds were depleted by long residence in New York hotels, and a collection was taken up to aid them temporarily. Jac. Smits of Naarden, Holland, was Chairman of the meeting. Others who aided in calling the protest meeting were N. B. Van Eyk of Boskoop, Holland, and I. Vam Beuschen from Java.

HOLLAND REDUCES LIVE STOCK SUPPLY

Slaughter of Animals Is Ordered by the Government Owing to Lack of Feed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In an interview today Julius E. Van Der Wielen, head of the Netherlands mission to the United States, asserted that Holland has begun the slaughter of part of her live stock because of the shortage of feed:

On July 12 last, he said, it was officially proposed that live stock be killed in the following proportions, the reduction being necessary because of the lack of feed:

Poultry, 50 per cent.; pigs, 50 per cent.; sheep, 95 per cent.; young horses, 50 per cent.; other horses, 25 per cent.; young cattle, 30 per cent.; cows and bulls, 20 per cent.

A further reduction will take place, it is said, if Holland is compelled to rely upon her own production of feed.

Mr. Van Der Wielen said Holland was in "a very tight hole" just now; the bread ration period had been extended; many foodstuffs, including all fats, were under Government control, and prices had gone up to a point beyond the reach of the working people. Last year, he said, the Government had to supply about 80,000,000 guilders for the purpose of assisting the people to purchase foodstuffs, and for the same purpose this year the figures will reach 120,000,000 guilders.

BRITISH CASUALTIES 17,505.

Week's Total Includes 3,276 Killed, 14,229 Wounded or Missing.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—British casualties reported for the week ended today amounted to 17,505. The losses were divided as follows:

Killed or Died of Wounds—Officers, 311; men, 2,965.

Wounded or Missing—Officers, 862; men, 13,367.

RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT MERELY ADVISORY

Drops Demands on Cabinet—To be Called "Temporary Council of Russian Republic."

PETROGRAD, Monday, Oct. 8.—The Provisional Government apparently has won a complete victory over the preliminary Parliament, an outgrowth of the Democratic Congress. M. Tseretelli, one of the leaders of the Parliament, today informed Premier Kerensky that the Parliament had withdrawn all its demands that the Government be responsible to it and had acceded to the Government's plan that the Parliament act merely in an advisory legislative capacity.

The Parliament has been named officially the "Temporary Council of the Russian Republic," and will sit until the Constituent Assembly convenes. It has been agreed that "the Council shall have a right to put questions, but not demands; to initiate legislation on State questions, and to deliberate on measures which the Government lays before it."

The Government will work out the whole program for the Parliament, at the first sitting of which Premier Kerensky probably will personally lay before it the Government's new program. At the suggestion of the Government 120 members of the bourgeoisie will sit in the Parliament.

Premier Kerensky today officially informed all those selected last Thursday of their appointment to the new Coalition Cabinet. M. Masioff, to whom the Ministry of Agriculture was offered, declined on the ground that the interests of his party required his attention. M. Skobeleff, Kerensky's choice for Minister of Labor, has not decided whether he will accept.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Russian diplomats here appear to be convinced now that the Bolsheviks have been finally overthrown and that Premier Kerensky is once more firmly established in the supreme power.

It was said at the embassy today that the Bolsheviks were greatly discouraged by their first attempt to obtain control of the Government on July 8, when disturbances caused by them were suppressed by the provisional authorities, and again during the Korniloff movement, when the Bolsheviks seized upon that occasion to overthrow the coalition administration. The action of the democratic conference in upholding the principle of a coalition Cabinet was asserted to reveal the total defeat of the extreme radicals.

HELD FOR AIDING GERMANS.

Deutsche Zeitung Editor Accused of Complicity in Escape of Fay.

AIKEN, S. C., Oct. 9.—Albert Orth, editor of the Deutsche Zeitung of Charleston, was indicted on five counts by a Federal Grand Jury here today, each of the indictments relating to alleged assistance rendered by Orth to fugitive Germans.

Orth is charged with rendering assistance to Captain Robert Fay, German officer and bomb plotter, who escaped from the Atlanta Federal Prison last August.

CAPRONIS AT CATTARO CAUSE GREAT HAVOC

Italian Aircraft Bomb Destroyers, U-Boats, and Munition Depots at Austrian Base.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Details of the successful aid raid which a squadron of Italian airplanes of the Caproni type made last night upon the Austrian naval base of Cattaro, in the Southern Adriatic, reached Washington tonight in a semi-official dispatch stating that it was a complete success. The raid, which was participated in by Gabriele d'Annunzio, the poet, who is now a military aviator, was intended to prevent the concentration of Austrian submarines and destroyers to prey on Entente shipping. Here is the semi-official report on the raid:

"The Italian command having learned that the Austrians were concentrating naval forces at Cattaro, gave orders to a large squadron of Caproni airplanes to raid this Austrian naval base of the Southern Adriatic. The squadron left its base at midnight last night, (Monday,) crossing the Adriatic over a course of 230 kilometers (180 miles) and flying at an altitude of 12,000 feet. When the squadron reached Cattaro, the planes descended to a few hundred feet over the destroyers and submarines anchored in the bay. Several successful hits were scored and fires started. Great fires were also caused in munition depots and military buildings by bombs dropped by other Italian airplanes.

The Austrian batteries opened a tremendous fire against the raiding Capronis, which, however, remained over Cattaro until 3 o'clock in the morning, when, having accomplished their mission, they returned to their base. Gabrielle d'Annunzio took part in the raid."

An Italian military critic repeated today that the objective of Italian offensives against Austria was Lubiano, (Laibach,) and while titanic struggles must precede its capture, he said, the value of its capitulation to the Entente cause justified Italy's past efforts and her plans for future campaigns to reach it.

The fall of Lubiano would isolate Croatia from Austria-Hungary, and as the Croatians desire independence or inclusion in the proposed Jugoslav-Serbian State, the capture would go far toward making the realization of that aspiration possible. It also might be expected to have another far-reaching political effect, this authority asserted. He said it would open the gates of Hungary to the Italian armies and produce great dissatisfaction with the further conduct of the war by Austria and possibly result in a new attitude of Hungary, forcing Austria to conclude peace.

A dispatch received here from Rome today stated that the Trentino paper La Liberta, which is now published in Italian, reproduces an Austrian document containing the sentence by the Court of Innsbruck of forty-four soldiers of the Irredente Provinces who at the beginning of the war had been sent to the Galician front, where they were made prisoners by the Russians. As soon as their identity as Italian subjects of the Irredente Provinces was established the Russians set them free and returned them to Italy. The Innsbruck court has tried them and sentenced them to death, but the sentenced Italians were declared to be safe in Italy.

ORGANIZE TRADE COUNCIL.

Bankers and Commercial Bodies Begin Educational Campaign.

The Joint Committee on Trade Acceptances, representing the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the American Bankers Association, and the National Association of Credit Men, held a meeting yesterday at the Irving National Bank and decided upon a campaign of education in the interest of the trade acceptance.

A permanent organization, to be known as the American Trade Acceptance Council, was effected. Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman of the board of the Irving National Bank, was selected as Chairman; R. H. Treman, Deputy Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as Vice Chairman; J. H. Tregoe, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, as Secretary, and W. W. Cox, Assistant Secretary of the National Association of Credit Men, as Assistant Secretary.

Tentative plans were made for the dissemination of information regarding the widespread adoption of the trade acceptance in place of the open book account, in order that business resources of all the country here may be kept as liquid as possible and, therefore, prepared to support the increasing financial and credit necessities of the Government.

It was strongly urged in discussions which followed that the wide adoption of the trade acceptance at this time would bring into existence a larger volume of sound, self-liquidating commercial paper which will be eligible for rediscount by the Federal Reserve Banks, thus strengthening mercantile credit transactions and through rediscounting, providing the basis for the issue of currency with which to meet any crisis or emergency which may grow out of the war.

1. A Central Committee to have general direction of the work and composed of Chairmen of the committees representing the three national organizations concerned, Lewis E. Pierson, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; R. H. Treman, of the American Bankers' Association; Kenneth R. Hooker, of the National Association of Credit Men.

2. A Committee on Organization, Plans and Speakers, to consist of George Woodruff, President First National Bank, Joliet, Ill.; Frank H. Randel, manager Philadelphia office, Auto Car-Sales and Service Company, Philadelphia, Penn.; Oliver J. Sands, President American National Bank, Richmond, Va.

3. A Committee on Literature and Publicity, to consist of Dr. J. T. Holdsworth, Dean of the School of Economics, University of Pittsburgh; W. F. H. Koelsch, Vice President, Bank of the United States, New York City; Edwin B. Heyes, Credit Manager, W. & J. Sloane, New York City.

It is the purpose of the Joint Committee, after consultation with all types of commercial and financial associations, as well as trade bodies, to have prepared pamphlets, special articles, and other forms of literature, intended to inform all classes as to the advantages of the Trade Acceptance and the necessity of its wide adoption and universal use at this particular juncture in American business.

PROMISES TO CURB PAN GERMAN PARTY

cases of minor importance of higher officials influencing the lower ranks in favor of the Fatherland Party had come to the Government's knowledge and that the necessary action would be taken. It was not to be denied, he said, that the army command concerned itself with a comprehensive plan of propaganda to provide mental stimulus and arouse knowledge of life and economic conditions in the fatherland. To keep politics out of the army was desirable, but mistakes were inevitable. If politics were kept out of the army, the Chancellor remarked, it was natural that criticism in the army of the reply to the Pope's peace proposal would be inadmissible.

Dr. Michaelis laid down the principle, which applies to Prussian officials as well as to those connected with the Imperial Government, that all are free in their political opinions and are permitted to belong to any party so long as the empire is not endangered thereby. In their political activities, he said, officials should observe reticence, so that the public might not lose faith in their impartiality.

Agrees to Stop Compulsion.

To force or induce subordinates to adopt an attitude in favor of any party, the Chancellor continued, would be to abuse official positions. This would not be permitted, he said, and obedience to this principle would be enforced in cases brought to his attention.

As regards the army, the Chancellor said, all political propaganda would be excluded.

"The Governments of the Federal States are endeavoring to regard all political leanings with complete objectiveness and to do full justice to every political opinion," said the Chancellor. "I adopt this attitude because I am convinced that every political party honestly desires to do its best for the common weal. It is to be greatly regretted that this mutual faith should have been pushed into the background in the course of the controversy in the last few weeks, and that mutually antagonistic forms of propaganda should have been the result.

"Every German readily and gladly makes the sacrifice of blood or treasure demanded from him. I believe that among us there is hardly any one who, remembering what he has had to give up, does not gulp down his upsurging grief with the reflection that it had to be."

The Chancellor remarked that Germany's opponents also were compelled to make sacrifices, and said that if this were kept in mind the agitation which had made its appearance should become impossible.

Lieut. Gen. von Stein, Prussian War Minister, said there was no intention of putting politics into the army, but that, on the contrary, it was intended to prevent this, and that any attempt at propaganda in behalf of any party had been prohibited.

Dr. Helfferich, Vice Chancellor, explained that he had concluded his statement at the plenary session on Saturday when he left the platform, so that the general report that he had broken off his speech on being interrupted by the Left was erroneous. He said no fault could be found with the subject matter of his speech, and that if fault was found with the tone it must be remembered that before uttering the words he had been assailed by not overfriendly shouts.

Georgs Ledebour, the Social Democratic leader, expressed dissatisfaction with the Chancellor's statement, and defended his vote of want of confidence.

A Conservative member complained that the Chancellor had not mentioned the supplementary estimate for the office of Vice Chancellor, which had been referred back to committee and was the sole matter at issue.

The motion to abolish the propaganda service, introduced by the Independent Socialists, was defeated, and the supplementary estimate for the office of Vice Chancellor was adopted without alteration, only the Social Democrats voting against it. The session was attended by Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann and Vice Admiral von Capelle, Minister of the Navy.

There is growing displeasure in German Parliamentary circles against Dr. Helfferich, owing to Saturday's events in the Reichstag. The General Anzeiger of Düsseldorf prints a report that Dr. Helfferich will resign the Vice Chancellorship in a few weeks, if not sooner.

mated by the Allied Staff during the month of June, &c.)

"This is because the fighting on the western front, as a matter of fact, practically never ceases. Whether in the French sectors of Verdun or the Aisne, and in the English sectors of Arras and Ypres, the fighting is only discontinued at one point to be taken up at another. In addition to the big attacks, a quantity of carefully prepared small actions which have been crowned with success, and of which the bulletins are not able to give a clear idea, increase the attrition of the Germans.

"This constant activity, coinciding with the weakness and inaction of the Russians, also explains why the Germans are obliged to maintain, and succeed in effectually maintaining, three times larger forces on the French front than on the Russian front. (In the beginning of the Summer there were 156 German divisions to 700 kilometers [about 434 miles] on the French front, as against 130 Austro-German and Bulgarian divisions, seventy-seven of which were German, on the eastern front.) It is known that the Russian Winter practically puts a stop to all active operations, and that the reaction of the internal events in Russia on the eastern front has allowed Germany to consider it during four months as a veritable reserve for the western front.

"It clearly appears at present that the German Staff, remembering the critical situation in which they found themselves following the Anglo-French success in the Somme in 1916, fear to see their western front broken by the allied offensives in 1917.

"All the measures they have taken have been defensive in character, intended to strengthen their resistance in the face of Anglo-French forces. Not content with declining to give battle and withdrawing a portion of their front on the Hindenburg position, they have transported to the western front between January and April a certain number of divisions drawn from the eastern front. As this did not suffice, they have drawn the picked men from each of their companies on the eastern front, and, with the assistance of the class of 1918, have formed twenty-seven new divisions, twenty-six of which have appeared in France.

"They have then exchanged their picked troops of the eastern front for the inferior ones of the western front, (Landwehr.) Finally, once the battle began, in order to hold out they have successively replaced, number for number, sixteen exhausted divisions from the French front by fresh divisions from the eastern front.

"However, in spite of using all these methods, of which the latter have only been possible this year due to the trouble made by the Russian revolution, Germany has made her supreme military effort.

"This is evidenced by the two following statements, which should be compared for future enlightenment:

"1. After the withdrawal of the twenty-seven divisions above mentioned, Germany had intended to create ten more divisions with the regiments of the series 601-602. Not only has she been obliged to abandon the latter part of her program, in spite of calling out a portion of the class of 1919, but she has been obliged to break up several newly formed regiments to reinforce her fighting units, and, for the first time since the beginning of the war, a clear decrease in the total strength of the German forces is on record.

"2. At the very time that her total strength is diminishing, Germany finds herself obliged to increase her reserves on the French front to forty divisions with the sole aim of providing relay and resistance. Therefore, just as the effective strength of the Germans has been broken in the open field on the Marne and Ypres and the trench warfare at Verdun her facilities for manoeuvring—that is to say, the possibility of transporting valuable reserves from one front to another—is prevented at present by the continuity and intensity of the Anglo-French offensive. Germany has still great powers of resistance, which will take all the allied forces to break, but she is capable of executing very rigorous local offensives but her resources are diminishing at the very moment when the military situation requires that they should increase. That is the principal point.

Expect a Decision with Our Aid.

"On the other hand, the British and French armies have reached their full strength in men and material, and are capable, with the help of America, of maintaining the enormous strength which they have gained to the end of the war. To this strength will be added the great American Army, which will arrive as quickly as possible, as three years of war have demonstrated the value of time and the advantage of each day gained.

"This shows the decisive character attending the operations of 1918, when the three great democracies, England, France, and America, will unite their entire strength in attacking the enemy, in conformity to the only sound principle of war."

for by Professor Beard "should not be confused with the treasonable propaganda of Professors Cattell and Dana." The other was Professor E. W. Cunliffe, Associate Director of the School of Journalism, who asserted that he did not think Professor Beard had any reason for resigning. "I am not in sympathy with his action," said Professor Cunliffe.

President Nicholas Murray Butler refused to make a statement on the controversy, as did also most of the Trustees.

Cattell's Letter to Stone.

The charge by Professor Cattell against Professor Seligman was contained in a letter Cattell wrote to Professor Harlan F. Stone, Dean of the Columbia Law School. Professor Cattell had asked Professor Stone to express his views on the legality of the expulsion, and upon the refusal of Professor Stone to do so, sent copies of the letter and Professor Stone's reply to the newspapers. This is Professor Cattell's letter to Dean Stone:

Garrison-on-Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 4, 1917.
Professor Harlan F. Stone, Dean of the Law School, Columbia University:

Dear Mr. Stone: I fear that you disapprove of my views on war, though they were shared by most of my colleagues a few months ago; but I am sure that you know that the letter which I wrote to members of the Congress did not oppose "the effective enforcement of the laws of the United States," and was not an "act of sedition or treason," the alleged grounds of my dismissal by the trustees.

Do you care to give me advice on the legal questions involved in the case? Professor Seligman, speaking as acting dean of the graduate faculties and Chairman of the Committee of Nine of the council, told me last Spring that if I were dismissed he hoped I would take the question before the courts in the interest of academic freedom. He said that I had accomplished more than any one living to improve university conditions; that the trustees are "fools"; that most of them are "idiots." He wrote to me (Jan. 27) indorsing the expression of my opposition to war as follows:

"I want to congratulate you on your admirable letter which appeared in The Post on Thursday. So many of our scientific friends have lost their balance that it is refreshing to note the utterances of one who sees straight. Sooner or later we shall all come around to your standpoint."

Whatever may be the opinion held of me by the trustees and university authorities, I shall soon expire, desirable from every point of view that you should consult some one who has no connection professionally or otherwise with the university.

Yours sincerely,
HARLAN F. STONE.

Professor Cattell's reply to this was:

Garrison-on-Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 6, 1917.
Professor Harlan F. Stone, Dean of the Law School, Columbia University:

Dear Mr. Stone: I had no intention of asking you to act as my counsel in a lawsuit against the trustees of the university for the pension due me and for libel. I wrote to you because I though that you might, in consultation with others and in the interest of the university, wish to correct the unwisdom and injustice of the trustees in disregarding the recommendation of the Faculty Committee that I be given the pension that I have earned. I ask no favor from the university or from any one connected with it. But I do not wish to cause the university any injury other than will result from the ill-advised and illegal action of the trustees.

Unless you advise me to the contrary, I shall understand that I may show this correspondence. Very truly yours,
J. McK. CATTELL.

Seligman Contradicts Cattell.

Professor Seligman was at a meeting at Columbia University when he was informed last night of the text of Professor Cattell's letter.

"So far as the alleged statements of mine are concerned," said Professor Seligman, "I can only regret that Professor Cattell's memory is as treacherous as his conduct is ungenerous. In the first place, I never stated anything of the kind. I never advised him to sue the Trustees in case he was dismissed. On the contrary, I had only a short time before signed a letter expressing my complete dissent from his general attitude in the university.

"Not only his memory is treacherous, but his conduct is ungenerous, for all last Spring I did my very best to save him from what has now turned out to be a well merited fate. I have not the least desire to enter into a personal altercation with Professor Cattell, and can only reiterate my profound regret that he has seen fit to inject personalities and inaccuracies into a record that has already been marred by so many lapses from dignity, wisdom, and good taste."

Professor Seligman will preside this morning at the meeting of the Committee of Nine of the University Council. This committee was appointed several months ago after the Trustees had, on several occasions, criticised statements about the war and kindred subjects made by various professors at the university, and after it had become apparent that the friction between the Trustees and some members of the Faculties was developing dangerous possibilities.

The members of the committee were chosen from the personnel of the University Council, which is made up of Deans and other representatives of the Faculties, and, in addition to Professor Seligman, consists of Professor J. E. Russell, Dean of Teachers College; Professor W. A. Dunning of the Department of Political Science; Professor John Dewey of the Department of Philosophy, Professor J. C. Egbert of the Department of Philosophy, Professor H. E. Hawkes, Acting Dean of Columbia College; Professor S. W. Lambert, Dean of the Medical School, Professor G. B. Pegram, Acting Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science, and Professor E. H. Thorndike of the English Department.

At their meeting yesterday the committee discussed the situation thoroughly, and came to the conclusion, it was said, that "closer co-operation" between the Trustees and the Faculties was imperative, if the university was to continue its most progressive work. Several members of the committee, while sympathizing with Professor Beard, expressed regret that he had added to the difficulties of the institution by resigning.

"We admire his courage," a member of the committee said, "but we also deplore the fact that he considered it necessary to resign. It adds to the difficulty of correcting the conditions of which he complained."

Will Prepare Formal Report.

The object of the committee in meeting today is to reduce its convictions to a formal report to present to the University Council on next Tuesday. There will be no meeting of the Trustees until the first Monday in November, but it is not impossible that the report of the Committee of Nine may be taken up with a special committee recently appointed by the Trustees to consider seditious or unwise utterances at the university. It was this special committee that forced the resignations of Professors Cattell and Dana.

The Trustees, when they do meet, probably will select a new Chairman, as William Barclay Parsons, the regular Chairman, is in Europe.

Following is a statement sent to THE NEW YORK TIMES last night by Professor Ellery C. Stowell, Associate Professor of International Law:

Professor Beard's resignation is a most regrettable event in that Columbia loses one of its finest men and teachers, and at the same time his withdrawal confuses the issue of free speech, which, in my opinion, is not in any way involved. We have to consider three phases of this situation: First, the dismissal of Professors Cattell and Dana; second, the manner in which this action was taken by the Trustees, and third, Professor Beard's resignation.

The free expression of opinion and the carrying on of a propaganda are quite distinct. If in the ordinary course of my lectures, correspondence, or even in reply to a bona fide inquiry I stated my views in regard to our entry into the war, any attempt to discipline me for what I have said would be an infringement of free speech, but when on the other hand I write to members of Congress urging them to enact legislation which will impede the vigorous prosecution of the war to victory, I am carrying on a propaganda of a seditious nature in that case, and when further I employ the university letterhead I am bringing in the university into a matter in which it is not properly concerned. A professor, like any other individual, is free to carry on a propaganda, but he may properly be dismissed from the university whenever his propaganda is itself treasonable or seditious.

Calls It Rank Sedition.

In time of peace it is better that much unjustifiable propaganda should go unchecked rather than that the university authorities should be suspected of any attempt to interfere with the freedom of action and freedom of speech of professors, but after war has been declared by the constituted authorities, every propaganda will be considered as acting for the loyal members of the community. It is to be hoped that they will in the future consult the Faculty before taking action, but it is no less important that the Faculty members make it clear that they approve the dismissal of the professors in question.

If we are to win this war it is necessary to have the whole strength of the country behind the Commander in Chief. Any one who starts a propaganda of resistence or who tries to force the hand of the Government by compelling it to state its terms of peace is interfering with that centralization of power which is necessary for the effective conduct of the campaign. Every individual is free even now in war times to state his views. It is only when he attemps to organize opinion by means of a propaganda that he is arrested.

The day has not yet arrived when a people engaged in a life and death struggle will permit a minority to start a back fire to embarrass it at home. Those who are not for the vigorous prosecution of the war take action to oppose it at their peril.

Many people do not perceive that wars are now fought in great part far from the cannon's roar. The enemy will attach as much significance to the number of subscribers to the Liberty Loan as they do to events upon the field of battle. By such means the people in war time indicate their confidence in the Government, and when there are signs that this confidence is failing the Government has to give heed.

As long as it does possess the confidence of the country it is not to be tolerated that agitators carry on an active propaganda against the war or any measures which are vital to its success. A sentimental tenderness toward sedition would cost this country the lives of hundreds of thousands of its brave defenders. I believe it would have a wholesome effect if we were to sbregat a few spies and traitors. It is the hour for every loyal citizen to act. The time for paralyzing discussion is gone.

The Executive Committee of the American Union Against Militarism yesterday sent Professor Beard a telegram congratulating him on his "courage in resigning."

LOAN TOTAL JUMPS TO $285,000,000

But $500,000,000 Should Be in Sight to Insure Billion and a Half Quota.

BIG INCREASE EXPECTED

Hanover Bank Takes $10,000,000 and Irving Bank $5,000,000 More.

URGES AID OF FOREIGN BORN

Gov. Strong of Reserve Bank Says 80,000,000 Should Become Government Stockholders.

About $35,000,000 was added yesterday to this district's total for subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan. This brought the figures up to $285,000,000 for the first eight days of the four weeks' campaign. The New York Federal Reserve district is still behind in its subscriptions, for if the daily average had come up to the minimum allotment of $900,000,000, the result of the eight days would have shown a total of $300,000,000; and on the basis of subscriptions amounting to $1,500,000,000—which is the aim of the Local Liberty Loan Committee—the total for the eight days should have amounted to $500,000,000. It is expected that as the campaign advances subscriptions will increase and the final goal will be attained in the closing days when applications will flow in from all quarters.

The official figures of the Federal Reserve Bank showed a gain of $18,599,600 yesterday, the total of tabulated returns amounting to $174,849,600. The official bank figures are always below the estimate by reason of the fact that subscriptions are frequently announced several days before they are actually filed by the subscriber with his bank, and sometimes there is delay in the bank reporting to the Reserve Bank.

Day's Leading Subscriptions.

Following are some of the subscriptions announced yesterday:

Some of the cities included in the New York Federal Reserve District have made an exceptionally good showing. Stamford, Conn., has sent in subscriptions amounting to $1,300,000, or 76 per cent. of its full quota of $1,701,000, and Newark, N. J., has supplied applications totaling $15,017,550, or 48 per cent. of its allotment of $31,005,000. Brooklyn has turned in only $10,000,000 of its $54,148,600, or 18 per cent.; and Buffalo, N. Y., has obtained subscriptions of $7,523,200, or 13 per cent. of its quota of $55,600,500.

Bonds to be Ready Soon.

It was announced yesterday that within a few days a supply of the new 4 per cent. Liberty Loan bonds would be received from Washington, and that it would then be possible for cash subscribers to receive the bonds upon the payment of their subscription. In other words, facilities will be afforded for the sale of Government bonds "over the counter"—an improvement over the system obtaining during the first loan campaign when banks gave subscribers only their receipts.

The Liberty Loan Committee issued the following explanatory statement on the conversion privileges of Liberty Loan bonds:

15-30-YEAR 3½S.

This issue of 3½s is convertible into any subsequent issue of bonds bearing a higher rate of interest issued during the war, provided the holder converts within six months from the date of the new issue. For example, the holder of the present 3½s can convert into the proposed 4 per cent. bonds provided he does so before May 15, 1918. If he does not choose to convert into this issue, he still retains the right to convert into any subsequent issue, provided again he does so within six months from the date of such subsequent issue.

If he converts into the present issue of 4 per cent. bonds, he then becomes subject to all the conditions of every kind, including the conversion feature of the 4 per cent. issue, except that the bonds issued upon such conversion are to be identical with the 3½s as to maturity of principal, interest dates, and terms of redemption.

The 3½s have the right to exchange into any subsequent issue par for par with adjustment of interest.

10-25-YEAR 4S.

The new 4s (or the 4s which are converted from the 3½s) are convertible into the next issue bearing a higher rate of interest, (if such issue runs over five years,) provided the holder elects to convert within six months from the date of this next issue. The bond then becomes subject to the terms of convertibility or non-convertibility of the new issue. If the holder fails to make the conversion within six months, his conversion privilege terminates.

The 4 per cent. bond is convertible at par into a subsequent issue at the issue price, but not below par, with adjustment of interest. In other words, if a subsequent issue is put out at a premium, the holder of the 4 per cent. bond, when converting, must pay the premium.

Gov. Strong Speaks to Trade Leaders.

Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in an address before about 200 industrial leaders of the city—members of the Advisory Trades Committee—said that the 80,000,000 people of foreign birth or parentage should be made "stockholders in the Government of the United States." He said that the two aims of the committee in charge of the loan were, first, to raise the money required, and, secondly, to see to it that the bonds had the widest possible distribution. "It would be better to sell three billions in bonds to thirty million people than to sell thirty billions to three million people."

Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. issued a statement yesterday explaining the nature of a Liberty bond, placing special emphasis on the fact that it was the obligation of the Government, backed by the people of the United States.
